Virginia Military Institute, fresh from a victory over Davidson's Wildcats, will journey to Chapel Hill Saturday with hopes of revenge for the long string of defeats administered by the Tar Heels.

Previous records during the present season place the two elevens on an even footing in the world of football dopsters. Each team has displayed strength at times, but the results of most games played have been far from encouraging for both the Keydets and Carolina. V. M. I. was not picked to win against Monk Younger's felines last Saturday. The victory, decisive as it was, indicates a marked improvement in the playing of the Lexington outfit. Davidson made only half the number of first downs accredited to the Virginians, and were forced to employ defensive tactics during a large part of the contest.

Carolina's offense worked to better effect against N. C. State the past Saturday than has hitherto been the case this year. The Blue and White squad came through the fray in excellent physical shape and is expected to be at the summit of its strength against the invaders from Lexington.

In past contests the Tar Heels have had a decided edge on the Flying Squadron. Out of seventeen games played the Chapel Hill team has won ten, dropped five, and tied two.

To pick a favorite next Saturday would require use of imagination rather than facts. Football fans throughout Virginia and North Carolina look forward to the meeting on Emerson Field next Saturday with considerable interest and speculation. A large crowd is expected to witness the approaching encounter between the Tar Heels and their ancient rivals from the Old Dominion state.

Trackmen to Run

The University students will get their first sight of Coach Dale Ransom's varsity and freshman cross country teams Saturday when they engage in a meet with the teams from State college. The meet is to take place between the halves of the Carolina-V. M. I. football game.

State college varsity defeated Davidson last week by finishing its seven entries before a single Davidson man had crossed the finish line. Carolina easily conquered Duke at Durham last Friday in its first meet of the season. These two meets are the only basis upon which the two teams can be compared. The Tar Heels, however, will face their strongest opposition in North Carolina when they race against the technicians from Raleigh.

Pritchett, who has been unable to run because of illness, will be back in shape by Saturday. Goodwin, another two mile

We Are Sorry

Through an error the TAR HEEL announced in its Calendar a series of lectures by Major E. L. Swann this week. Major Swann will not be at Carolina this week, but will probably be brought here under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. some time during the month. A tentative date for his lectures was held open in the date book on the Executive office, and was therefore placed on the University Calendar, where the TAR HEEL received the information.

MILITARY COURSES RESOLUTION MEETS DEATH IN DI SENATE

Bledsoe Makes Fiery Speeches
for Preparedness Training—
Kennett is Leader of the Opposition

In one of the most interesting meetings of the quarter, the Di Senate voted, 30 to 4, against compulsory military training in colleges.

The resolution: Resolved that the Di Senate go on record as favoring compulsory military training in all colleges and universities in the United States, was sponsored by Senator Hudgins, who made an excellent presentation in its behalf. He was assisted by Senator Bledsoe, who made several fiery speeches. The opposition was lead by Senator Kennett. Senators Norwood, Eaton, Alexander, Byron Glenn, Crissman, and Neal also spoke opposing the resolution.

Although the proponents claimed that great physical benefits, and no militaristic regime would result from this measure, the contention of the negative that a morally corrupt militaristic spirit would ensue, and that this military training was out of place in a college program, carried the day.

Gimghoul Castle Is A Replica of Mediaeval Saxon Stronghold

Piney Prospect, Site of Edifice, Was Once a Setting for a Fatal
Lovers' Duel Over a Colonial Lass

By Thad M. Reece

One of the most unique pieces of architecture to be found anywhere in the United States is that of the Gimghoul castle on Piney Prospect a half a mile East of here. The structure, which is in keeping with the age of knighthood upon the ideals of which the Gimghoul order was founded, represents in every way possible a stronghold of pre-Norman England. Like the castle sites of old Saxon England Piney Prospect is a hill that tops the neighboring ridges by several hundred feet. From this commanding position a magnificent view of the lowlands East can be had. The enemy—were this the glorious age of knighthood—could be seen approaching long before he could get within striking distance of Gimghoul castle.

Description

The stone-work of this building was done by Waldensians from Valdese, a small village near Morganton. The type of masonry is imitation dry-build which was common in England as late as the eleventh century. Plans were furnished by N. C.

UNIVERSITY TO HELP ESTABLISH COLLEGE HOTELS

The University of North Carolina, through the efforts of Daniel Grant, Alumni Secretary, is cooperating with other leading colleges of the United States in a movement to establish intercollegiate hotels in some 40 large cities throughout the nation.

The hotels selected will serve as centers of activity for college alumni, giving special service in the way of college rosters, information about alumni in the city, and furnishing rooms for alumni assemblies. Then too, the intercollegiate alumni hotels will carry on extensive advertising in the alumni publications of the country.

This plan is expected to be of benefit to the college man and to the hotels also. The hotels will receive a high grade of patronage, and the college alumni will have a better opportunity of meeting their friends.

Among the universities and colleges endorsing this plan are: North Carolina, Lehigh, Cornell, Harvard, Vermont, California, Columbia, Ohio, Michigan, Massachusetts Tech, and Wellesley.

HIBBARD INVESTIGATES WESTERN UNIVERSITIES' ORIENTATION METHODS

C. A. Hibbard, Dean of the School of Liberal Arts, has returned from a tour of several of the more prominent of the mid-western universities. He was interested primarily in the methods of orientation employed, the work being done in the field of the Fine Arts, and the means used in securing a more perfect adaptation of the exceptional student. While away Dean Hibbard visited the University of Illinois, the University of Chicago, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Iowa, the University of Minnesota, observing the work done in these fields for the exceptional student, the Fine Arts, and orientation.

Orientation is not essentially for freshmen; this work in some

GRAIL CONFETTI BALL CANCELLED ON ACCOUNT OF THE COMPETITION

Owing to the fact that there are several other dances and social functions to be given this week-end, it has been decided not wise to give the Grail Confetti Dance Saturday night in honor of the Monogram Club as previously planned.

The official Carolina-V. M. I. dances are to be given Friday and Saturday nights at the Washington Duke Hotel, there will also be a private dance given by one of the orders on the "Hill" Saturday night. In view of these events members of the Monogram Club and Grail feel that there is no need for another dance to augment the above.

The Order of the Grail will give its next dance Saturday, November 20. There will also be a dance given on Friday night, November 19, at the Washington Duke Hotel.

Paul Olive, who graduated this summer, has accepted a position with the Christian and King Printing Company in Durham.

RED CROSS DRIVE HERE ON CAMPUS IS DISCUSSED BY THE Y CABINETS

The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet Monday night was occupied mainly with discussion of the annual Red Cross campaign on the campus for the year, the annual meeting of the National Council, and the National Student Conference at Milwaukee, on December 28th.

The Red Cross campaign will be held during November, but the plan of the campaign has not yet been worked out. Norman Block, Donald Jonas, and S. G. Chappell were appointed to draw up plans for the campaign. Mr. Comer talked to the Cabinet concerning the annual meeting of the National Y. M. C. A. Council at Chicago, which he attended as a delegate last week. He reported that the Student Department made its first successful step in its attempt to secure more freedom in its program by defeating the proposal brought before the Council to restrict the Student Branch and give more power to the State Department. He stated that the major part of the meeting was consumed by the controversy, and that the appeal of the College bodies for an organization to bring them closer together was greatly advanced.

The National Student Conference, to be held in Milwaukee, December 28, to January 1, was brought before the cabinet as one of the most significant Inter-Collegiate events of the present student generation. This conference will be concerned with facing the issues of today's life, through addresses, data, sessions, and free discussions. The attendance is restricted.

Radio-Active Sterilization of the Insane Is Explained to Phi

Resolution Favoring Impotency of Irrational People is Passed by Vote of 22 to 14—Smoking Motion is Downed

At the meeting of the Phi Assembly, Tuesday night, the resolution was favored that all incurable insane should be sterilized, in a manner to be prescribed by the State Board of Health. The interest evinced in the question necessitated an extra time period.

The majority of the speakers seemed to heartily support this resolution. Mr. Spivey concretely explained the question and cleared up many false conceptions concerning sterilization. Castration, according to him, is not the means to be employed for sterilization. It is rather a scientific radio-active process that painlessly renders the patient sterile without depriving him of his normal sexual capabilities. In its last analysis sterilization is but an harmless operation which is a necessary social factor in decreasing the ever-growing number of insane that mounts at the rate of twelve

THREE HOURS IS GIVEN TO DAILY STUDY BY FROSH

Tar Heel Time Survey is Success
—Startling Information is Disclosed on Cards

INFORMATION TO BE USED BY UNIVERSITY

One Scholar Spent 48 Hours in Travelling During the Week

According to statistics compiled from the recently-completed survey of the students' time made by the TAR HEEL, the average freshman spends three hours and thirty-five minutes every day in studying. On class and laboratory he spends three hours and eight minutes a day and self-help work takes up an hour and two minutes of his time. He devotes forty-one minutes each day to athletics, twenty-eight minutes to bull-sessions, twenty-four minutes to religion and religious work, eighteen minutes each to music and social activities, and fifteen minutes to attending the Pick.

A large number of the survey cards were turned in, and those sponsoring the study received valuable information from the results. Authorities will probably apply the facts learned about the students' use of their time to adjustments in curriculum and schedules.

Beginning with the distribution of the cards in Chapel Friday, Oct. 22, the students kept a daily record of the distribution of their time until the next Friday (Oct. 29), when the cards were turned in. Accuracy was stressed as one of the prime essentials of the survey.
