

MARIE SUNDELIUS
MEMORIAL HALL
8:30 P. M. FRIDAY

The Tar Heel

BASKETBALL TONIGHT
CAROLINA vs DURHAM Y
TIN CAN, 8:30

VOLUME XXXV

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1927

NUMBER 35

Tar Heel Basketeers Win 2 of 3 Games from Y Quints

SALISBURY WINS IN LAST TEN SECONDS

Vanstory and Hackney Brothers, Captain Bunn and Rufus, Are Outstanding Stars.

The Tar Heel basketeers sacrificed the last week of their Christmas holidays to engage in a tour of the state and warm up for the coming net season by playing several of the fastest independent basketball teams in the state. In all, the Tar Heels played three Y. M. C. A. aggregations and two of the settos resulted in impressive victories for the college lads.

The lone defeat of the holiday season was experienced on Thursday, December 30, at the hands of the celebrated Salisbury outfit. The Salisbury quint won the undisputed independent basketball championship of North Carolina last year, and this year is composed of practically the same line-up, reinforced by the advent of two Clemson college stars. The University quint was barely nosed out by the Y champs in the last minute of play by the score of 29 to 28.

The Tar Heels won their initial appearance of the 1926-27 season Wednesday night, December 29, at Greensboro, when they defeated the strong Greensboro Y aggregation 35 to 21. A splendid crowd, apparently a bit partial to the Carolina athletes, witnessed the contest in the new Greensboro Y. M. C. A. building.

The first few minutes of the game were very close, but before long the superior speed of the college lads began to tell on their opponents and they forged into the lead, which they held until the end. The count at half time was 20 to 14.

The Hackney brothers were the outstanding stars of the night, while Vanstory played a nice defensive game for the Tar Heels.

The winners were a bit erratic in their passing and somewhat off in their shots, but this was to be expected in the first game of the year.

(Continued on page four)

BASKETEERS MEET DURHAM Y TONIGHT

First Varsity Home Game Scheduled for Tin Can Tonight at 8:30.

Basketball fans will have an opportunity tonight to witness the Carolina quintet in action on their home court for the first time this year, when they engage the fast Durham Y five in the Tin Can at 8:30.

Coach Ashmore has been giving his men intense work since the opening of school and the team that trots out upon the floor tonight will more than likely throw a different light upon the dope forecast concerning a weakness in this year's prospects at the Southern title.

The Durham Y aggregation always boasts an excellent crowd of basket shooters, numbering among their group such old college stars as Sis Perry, Brick Starling, Heflin, Baer and Mangum. This team is no cinch for the best teams in the section and the exhibition that they will give tonight will probably cause the Tar Heels to exert themselves quite a great deal in order to annex a victory.

Chas. M. Meredith, National Editorial Association vice-president, who addresses the Third General Session of the Newspaper Institute at 2:00 today.

ALUMNI MEETINGS WERE FEATURED DURING HOLIDAYS

Dr. Chase Spoke To the Granville County Alumni.

GRAHAM AT GREENSBORO

Dr. Bernard, R. B. House, F. F. Bradshaw and E. B. Jeffress Make Addresses.

About thirty chapters of the U. N. C. Alumni Association held meetings during the Christmas holidays in all sections of the state. Talks by members of the University faculty, including President H. W. Chase, Frank Graham, F. F. Bradshaw, W. S. Bernard, and R. B. House, featured several of the meetings.

Prof. Bernard's address on "The Government of the Balance Sheet" before the Nash county alumni at Rocky Mount Dec. 28, probably attracted more space and comment in the press of the state than the talks delivered at any of the other Alumni gatherings. He made a fiery attack upon the "Undemocratic and un-Jeffersonian" ideas of Governor McLean and the present state administration.

President Chase spoke at the banquet of the Granville County Alumni at Oxford Dec. 28. His subject was "The Ideals of the University," and he outlined its past accomplishments and future aims. He also spoke at the Wilson County meeting at Wilson Dec. 29.

R. B. House made talks at the Warren County meeting at Warrenton, the Halifax County meeting at Scotland Neck, and together with F. F. Bradshaw, before the Vance County men at Henderson. M. C. S. Noble delivered the chief address before the Sampson County Alumni Dec. 29. Dean F. F. Bradshaw was the chief speaker at the Richmond County gathering Dec. 28.

At Charlotte the meeting of the Mecklenburg County Alumni Dec. 29 was featured by address by Mayor E. B. Jeffress, Greensboro, in which he attacked the system of taxation prevalent in the state at present. Representative Clyde Hoey was the leading speaker at the Cleveland County meeting in Shelby.

At Greensboro Frank Graham made a spirited address to the Guilford County Alumni. Other speakers of lesser importance completed the program of talks, which were the best in the history of the Alumni Association.

Ralph H. Graves, syndicate editor, Doubleday, Page and Company, former city editor New York Times and New York Evening Post, and recently managing editor World's Work, who will speak on "Syndicates and Circulation" today at 2:30.

DEAN ROYSTER IS BACK HOME

Graduate School Head Has Been Doing Research Work in England.

Dean James F. Royster, of the University faculty, has returned from an extensive trip abroad and will now resume his work here as dean of the graduate school.

Dr. Royster and his family left Chapel Hill for Europe some last spring. Dr. and Mrs. Royster and Miss Martha Royster came back this fall, but Chauncey Royster remained in a French school.

Most of Dr. Royster's leave was spent in England where he did research work in the British Museum. Immediately upon his arrival in this country and before he returned to Chapel Hill, Dean Royster attended the meeting of the Modern Language Association in Boston.

Kemp's Orchestra Now Makes Jazz For Winter Revue

The Winter Revue presented at the Strand Roof, New York City, now has for its musical entertainers Hal Kemp's University of North Carolina orchestra. This orchestra has been in New York for several months and has successfully entered the city's favored group of jazz musicians. Kemp's New York appearance followed a popular career at the University and in many cities of the South.

C. A. P. Moore spent the holidays in New York.

Three Day Session of North Carolina Press Institute Opened Here Last Night

UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL HONORED AT CHICAGO MEET

Green, Dean Elect, Is Made Member of Executive Committee of American Association of Law Schools.

The University of North Carolina obtained another recognition of her excellence recently when Dean-Elect Abner Leon Green of the University Law School, now professor of law at Yale, was elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Association of American Law Schools. The Association was assembled at Chicago, December 29-31, with sixty-three of its sixty-four member schools represented.

The University of North Carolina Law School was one of the few schools with a hundred per cent attendance, and was the only law school in the South so signalized. In fact our Law School was more than a hundred per cent in attendance, since not only the entire faculty attended, but Dean-Elect Green and Mr. R. A. McPheeters, Research Assistant in Social Science and Instructor of Commercial Law in the University School of Commerce, also were present.

While there Professor C. T. McCormick read a very interesting paper, which received considerable favorable comment and praise. This paper, "Lie-Detectors and the Law of Evidence," dealt with the recent contributions of psychology to the practical administration of law. The use of serums, galvanometers, association word tests, and other methods were carefully considered as means of discovering the truth of testimony. This paper is notable particularly in showing the trend of the law toward recognition of the younger sciences and a more scientific administration of justice.

The membership of the Association is limited to those schools whose faculty, library, entrance requirements, and instruction measure up to the high standard set by the Association.

Kendrick Smith spent Christmas in New York and Canada.

John H. Casey, professor rural journalism, Missouri University School of Journalism. He will speak on "The Country Weekly" at 10:00 tomorrow morning.

MARIE SUNDELIUS IS HERE FRIDAY

Music Department Brings Metropolitan Opera Prima Donna Soprano Here for Concert in Memorial Hall.

Marie Sundelius, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be presented to local concert-goers Friday at 8:30 P. M. in Memorial Hall by the University Music Department. She will be accompanied by Paul J. Weaver, who will also play for her at the concert to be given in Greenville next Monday.

As a member of Metropolitan Opera Company for the past five years, Marie Sundelius ranked first or second among the company's principal sopranos. She is not only the possessor of a wonderful voice, but is also a charming artist with a pleasing stage appearance.

The program will be a varied one, beginning with several operatic arias and running through a number of modern compositions to a brilliant waltz, which closes the concert.

Brown Will Speak Here Monday Night

Writer and Lecturer Speaks on "Creative Spirit or An Inquiry into American Life."

Rollo Walters Brown, lecturer in English at Harvard University will appear here Monday night at 8:30 in Gerrard Hall. The subject of his address is "Creative Spirit or An Inquiry into American Life."

Mr. Brown has lectured at many universities and other institutions of learning, where his interpretation of the creative spirit as exercised in routine life has made an interesting discussion. The tendencies of the American organizations to stifle the natural creative spirit he explains in manifold ways. The theme of the lecture will present Mr. Brown's original suggestions for refashioning the world.

The author of this survey has written several other books which have received with favored success. Dean Briggs, his most recent work, is praised widely for the inspired biography of the "best loved college teacher in America." Mr. Brown speaks with the same creative spirit as is found in his writings.

The Di Senate will hold its first meeting of the New Year on next Tuesday evening. Lee Kennett is the new speaker.

AT CAROLINA INN

Prominent Members of Fourth Estate Gathered Here for Annual Meeting.

WEEKLY IS FEATURED

North Carolina Press Association, S. N. P. A. and Department of Journalism of University Working Jointly.

The third annual newspaper institute, held this year at Chapel Hill, got well under way last night with addresses by President Chase of the University and Don C. Seitz, associate editor of the Outlook.

An unusually interesting program has been carried jointly by the North Carolina Press Association, the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, and the University of North Carolina. This program includes addresses by men prominent in journalistic fields, special group discussions of the various phases of newspaper work, and entertainment by the University Glee Club and Kike Kyser's Orchestra. Among the prominent speakers are Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke, editor of Pictorial Review, Chas. N. Meredith, R. H. Graves, Don Seitz, and J. H. Casey.

One of the important problems to be discussed at the meeting this year is that of the weekly press. This topic is expected to draw the attention of men and women in the weekly newspaper field all over North Carolina.

Last night's program consisted of a general discussion of "Institute Objectives," led by A. C. Honeycutt, J. A. Park, and O. J. Coffin; an address of welcome by President H. W. Chase; and a talk on "Business Management," by Don C. Seitz, formerly of the New York World and now associate editor of the Outlook.

Today's Program

Today's program begins with a breakfast meeting of the executive committee at 8:00. This will be followed by the second general session at 9:00, with A. L. Stockton, Greensboro Daily News, as chairman. William C. Wood, United States post office department, will discuss "Postal Legislation and the Press" and B. Arp Lowrance, field secretary of the N. C. Press Association, will discuss "The Field Secretary's Work." At 10:00 an address, "The Economics of Advertising," will be delivered by L. D. H. Weld of the H. K. McCann Company, New York City. From 11:00 to 12:45 there will be group discussions on advertising, circulation, and news handling. In the weekly newspaper group there will be special discussions under the leadership of L. B. Weathers of the Cleveland Star.

Thursday's Activities
The third general session will (Continued on page four)

Hal Breard Confined To Infirmary With Pneumonia

H. A. Breard, president of the Publications union, is in the infirmary recovering from an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Breard was unable to spend the holidays at his home in Monroe, La., being confined to his bed through the Christmas season. Reports from the infirmary say that he is convalescing nicely and will probably be dismissed early next week.

Scientists' Interpretation of God to be Presented at Night Services of Methodist Church

How scientists interpret God will be presented at the Sunday night services at the Methodist church during the month of January. The new plan for Sunday night services will include discussions by a group of four representative scientists of the North Carolina faculty, and one discussion by Dr. W. A. Smart, Emory University. In a manner said to be conducive to students' individual thinking these men will explain their personal ideas about God.

The services will begin at 7:30 p. m. and there will be special music.

Dr. Francis P. Venable, a former president of the University and widely known chemist, will interpret "My Idea of God" next Sunday night.

- The others in order:
- January 16. University Sermon (subject not announced).
- By Dr. W. A. Smart of Emory University.
- January 23. What God Means to Me.
- By Dr. Archibald Henderson.
- January 30. My Idea of God.
- By Dr. M. R. Trabue.
- February 6. What God Means to Me.
- By Dr. Wm. MaeNider.