Carolina Boxers Will Mix With Va. Tech In Tin Can Tonight

Pre-Season Record of Techmen Shows Much Stronger Team Than Last Year's.

Both Teams Enter Affray with Clean Slate for Season

Shuford Back in Uniform—Nash Johnson Suffers Broken Nose from Florida Battle—Russell Will Replace Johnson.

(By Henry C. Lay)

The University of North Carolina will meet V. P. I.'s boxing team in the Tin Can tonight at 8:30. The Gobblers will be fighting to keep their record clean as they have already defeated Washington and Lee twice this season. Carolina so far has an unblemished slate with their win over the University of Florida last Monday night.

Washington and Lee has an excellent array of skillful mittmen and it was quite a feat for the Virginia Techs to gather in two victories. Last year V. P. I. fell victim to the Tar Heel's onslaught of blows, but they have a vastly improved team this season. Captain Shuford and his teammates will be fighting to repeat their victory of last year and to keep up the hundred per cent record.

Ern Carpenter will represent Carolina in the bantamweight class. He put up a classy bit of boxing against Florida and many spectators have said that his was the best bout of the evening. In the eliminations held Thursday Jack Baird and Christy Matheson fought to a draw and it has not been decided which man will go into the ring for Carolina. Both of these men are fast and skillful boxers and should bring in the bacon.

COACHES SOUND CALL FOR WINTER GRID PRACTICE

Collins and Cerney Return To Teach Latest Football Tactics.

PRACTICE TO BEGIN WED.

Football has returned, perhaps a bit out of season, but nevertheless it is here. The old familiar "thud" of body on turf, or boot against leather will once more resound back and forth on old Emerson field, as the Carolina gridiron coaches issue their call for winter practice a little earlier than winter practice has ever been called before. In fact, it might not be a bad idea to call the practice spring practice instead of winter practice, as the weather is pleasant enough at present to deserve the title of anything warm.

Practice will definitely start Wednesday afternoon and equipment will be issued Monday and Tuesday at the stadium.

Coaches Collins, Cerney, and Fetzer will all be on hand to welcome old man football back to the realms of North Carolina. The coaches are particularly emphatic on the importance of the winter practice. The best and only time for men to learn the underlying principles and fundamentals of the game is in the after season practice. Every candidate will receive individual at-

GRAIL HOP ENDS WEEK-END DANCES

Brilliant Affair Is Planned as Climax to Week's Social Activities.

BEAUTIES FLOOD CAMPUS

The Order of the Grail will play a major part in the social activities of the week-end by giving its first dance of the winter season in Bynum Gymnasium tonight.

Coming on a week-end marked by an unusual number of social functions which were led off last night with much gaiety by the Junior Prom the Grail enjoying the atmosphere thus created should offer one of its most popular dances of the season. A large number of girls here for the Junior festivities will grace the Grail hop tonight and these, added to the ladies to be imported tonight, will furnish a good collection of feminine talent. The Carolina-V. P. I. boxing match here tonight will also augment the number of visitors to the Hill. The Carolina Buccaneers have been engaged to furnish the music at the Grail event, from nine until twelve.

BRANSON TO SPEAK BEFORE N. C. CLUB

His Subject Will Be "The Essential Qualities of Citizenship."

Dr. E. C. Branson will address the North Carolina Club Monday night at 7:30. His subject is to be "The Essential Qualities of Citizenship." Is it only on rare occasions that the students on the campus have the opportunity to hear Dr. Branson speak, and a large number are expected to turn out Monday night.

The meetings are held fortnightly, on Monday evenings in Room 112, Saunders Hall promptly at 7:30.

WRESTLING COACH

Coach Chuck Quinlan, head coach of wrestling, has served efficiently as trainer of Carolina athletic teams and now is again in the spotlight as coach of Carolina's greatest wrestling team.

MATMEN PREPARE FOR BIG SEASON

Only One Position As Yet Undecided; Many Veterans Appear.

The Carolina wrestling team is settling down to a final week of work before the first meet of the season. The mat game has always proved an immensely popular one since its introduction as a varsity sport here five years ago. This year, the second that the game has been under the direction of Coach P. H. Quinlan, has seen more candidates for positions on the wrestling team than ever before.

The position in only one class is still undecided. No outstanding candidates have been uncovered in the 115 lb. class. It is considered probable that Motsinger, veteran grappler, may be able to train down to this weight, leaving the 125 lb. class open. The candidates for

Policy of Annual Editor Embroils Him in Fierce War with Senior Class

Editor of Yackety-Yack Defends His Position—Seniors Indignant over the Omission of Their Write-ups—Suit Threatened—Possibility of New Year Book—Seniors Meet Tuesday Night to Settle Matter.

EDITOR DECRIES USE OF FLATTERY IN YACKETY-YACK

Urges Seniors To Do Some Rational Thinking Before Attending Meeting.

BOSWELLS FORGET FACTS

Among the much discussed questions now going the rounds of the campus is this: Shall there be senior write-ups in the Yackety Yack? Opinion seems to be divided; the sticklers for tradition cannot bear to have their Yackety Yack show any deviance from the previous ones or else they cannot forbear the satisfaction of having their vanities tickled by a stock write-up which tells what "a good true pal" each senior is and how abounding he is in golden qualities of which he never dreamed.

On the other hand, a large group of students realize the utter absurdity of write-ups and are desirous of doing away with them in order to improve the quality of the annual. Among this group may be found the editor of the Yackety Yack and also the staff of the annual, men who have had some experience in annual work and realize—from past experience—the impossibility of securing good write-ups and the advances of no write-ups at all rather than mediocre ones.

JUNIORS INITIATE SOCIAL WHIRL BY BRILLIANT PROM

Third Year Men Set Precedent at University with Dance Last Night.

GRAND MARCH A SUCCESS

Last night those of the campus who rank as honored Juniors flung cares aside and celebrated; paying tribute to themselves at one of the season's most enjoyable social affairs. The class of '28 offered an innovation in the way of University socials as a Junior dance is unprecedented in the annals of local society. The success of last night was such as to predict that the plan will be adopted by succeeding classes in future years.

The Junior Prom, inaugurating the social whirl of the week-end, set a pace which if followed or attained by the affairs which succeed, will mark the present season as one of brilliant social attainments. Girls from all corners of the state, a glorious, gay, glad, galaxy of girls glitteringly gowned gathered to grace the Gymnasium with glamorous gaiety. The third year men joined in the celebration of class glory and the enthusiasm of class spirit reached inspiring heights during the evening. The beautiful decorations executed by the decoration com-

SENIOR MEETING CALLED TUESDAY

Effort Will Be Made To Bring Conflict to A Close.

NO FORMAL DISCUSSION

Tuesday night at 8:30 at Swain Hall, there will be held a special senior smoker. There will be no invited speakers, and the meeting will be given over in its entirety to the discussion of the problem of Senior write-ups in the Yackety-Yack.

The question is expected to receive a final thrashing out at this time. Fifteen minutes will be given to each side of the argument. It is expected that Al Moore, Yackety-Yack editor, and A. K. Smith, business manager, will present their side of the case. Several conferences have been held lately between the Senior class executive committee and Yackety-Yack officials, in an effort to come to some agreement. Zack Williams and H. A. Wood, members of the executive committee, will probably present the senior's side of the case.

After the discussion, a vote will be taken on the question. If the class upholds the Yackety-Yack, that will naturally close the subject. However, if they continue to oppose it, it will then be the Yackety-Yack's move, and they will be expected to yield to popular sentiment.

Refreshments will be served, and smokes will be on hand, but the smoker will be a strictly business one. There will only be the two fifteen minute presentations of the question, no formal discussion being permitted.

As the meeting will be one of extreme importance to all members of the class of '27, it is expected that every senior will be present at the final public thrashing out of this subject.

TIGER BASKETEERS FLOP FINANCIALLY

Clemson Team Unable to Raise Adequate Funds for Trip.

The basketball game, scheduled for tonight with Clemson, has been called off by the Clemson college authorities. The only reason given by the South Carolinians for their sudden decision not to meet the Southern champions is that the team could not scrape together enough financial consideration to make the trip.

The University officials were informed of the canceled game to late to arrange another for this week-end, and the students will have to do without their Saturday night dose of basketball.

A game has been arranged for Saturday afternoon with Coach Belding's Tar Baby basketeers as the opposition for the varsity. The varsity-fresh game starts around four-thirty and will be free to all interested enough to journey down to the Tin Can.

MUST HAVE OUR WRITE-UPS, WAR CRY OF SENIORS

Ominous Rumbles Heard As Tar Heel Reporter Interviews Prominent Seniors.

AL MOORE IS DENOUNCED

(By Judah, Shohan)

According to present indications the lid is off and it's war to the death between C. A. P. "Al" Moore, and a large and influential faction of the Senior class. "Al" says the boys shall not have their customary write-ups in the Yackety-Yack, and the seniors evidently want their write-ups or "Al"'s hide.

The pretty kettle of fish first boiled over at the '27 smoker last quarter. The worthy editor rose and laid down the law to his class-mates. No such hokum shall contaminate his pet, said Cap. And then the storm broke. The seniors demanded what they considered their traditional dues, and in a vote on the question, only three members voted against write-ups. These were Al, himself, a colleague on the Yackety-Yack staff, and Bob Hardee.

The split then seemed to be mending for a while, but rumbles in the inner councils of the seniors foreboded ill for "Al". The split was becoming wider, and has now approached a point where it is expected to burst into an open feud any moment.

NORWICH STAGES NOVEL MEET WITH RIFLERS IN FEB.

1st Intercollegiate Match Brings Tar Heels in Contact with Strong Team.

TO ENTER NATIONAL MEET

At the meeting of the rifle club Tuesday, several important matters were decided. The executive committee of the club, which has charge of the arrangement of all matches, accepted the challenge of the Norwich University Rifle team for a shooting match to be held the first week in February. The members of the club also voted to raise the initiation fee from $7 to $9, the increase to take effect after January 29. Dues will remain the same—$3 a year.

The Norwich University has one of the most formidable rifle teams in the country, and the University is indeed fortunate in arranging a match with such an outstanding school. Norwich was one of the twelve teams at the National Intercollegiate match last spring and they finished fourth. Their record was surpassed only by the two Navy teams and George Washington University. Norwich last year had the individual National rifle champion.

Everyone interested in joining the rifle club is urged to send in
