Faculty Votes Down Proposal of Return to Semester System

55 TO 26 IS THE VOTE

Agitations for Change Came Almost Entirely from Members of Faculty.

The members of the University faculty met in the Pharmacy building yesterday afternoon and by a vote of 55 to 26 decided to continue the present quarter system instead of introducing the semester system.

The decision of the faculty to vote down the semester plan settled a question that has been hanging fire for the past month or more. The quarter plan now in vogue in the University, had been assailed by several of the professors who were eager to have the semester plan introduced. They argued that only one or two of the prominent colleges over the country were using the antique quarter plan, and were of the opinion that North Carolina ought to break away from it.

Prior to the war, the University was run on the semester plan. When the war broke out, the quarter plan was adapted as one that would be of more benefit to the University under the existing conditions. Hundreds of other schools adapted the quarter plan on account of the war, and afterwards reverted to the semester plan. A few months ago, several of the University faculty began to consider the advisability of returning to the semester plan.

One of the main arguments used by the proponents of the quarter plan was that the semester plan would place too great a financial strain upon the University.

The action of the faculty in maintaining the quarter plan is

SUNDAY CONCERT BY UNIVERSITY BAND TOMORROW

Program of Standard Marches and Classic Overtures
Arranged.

McCORKLE WILL DIRECT

The Band Will Make Three Day
Tour of State Next Week.

The University Band, under the direction of T. Smith McCorkle, will be presented in a concert in Memorial Hall Sunday afternoon at four o'clock by the University Music Department as the second regular student-series concert of this quarter.

The program will be arranged from standard military marches of classic overtures, and will carry three solo groups: L. R. Sides, cornet; F. L. Byerly, clarinet; and a saxophone quartet composed of Kenneth Scott, C. L. Thomas, F. L. Byerly, and S. C. Scnelgrove.

The band will be composed of thirty-five men, and will play numbers that have not been played here before. The band has appeared at many of the athletic events this year, and, considering the frequent rehearsals and varied program, an unusual afternoon of band music is to be anticipated.

The Sunday following this concert the Band will leave on a three day tour whose itinerary will include Southern Pines, Roanoke Rapids, and Lumberton.

G. C. CHORISTERS WILL SING HERE MONDAY EVENING

Twenty-four Girls In Group
That Sings In Memorial Hall.

OPENS THEIR SPRING TOUR

Girls Will Be Entertained Overnight in Chapel Hill Homes.

The Greensboro College Glee Club of twenty-four feminine voices will open their spring tour with a concert at Carolina in Memorial Hall, next Monday at 8:30 p. m., under the auspices of the University Glee Club.

The Greensboro College Glee Club, a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs, has won quite a reputation throughout North Carolina for its high quality and varied entertainment of harmony and solo selections. From the University the group will go to Clayton, Tarboro, Wake Forest, and Durham. Wake Forest, and Durham. While here, the girls will be entertained in the homes of Chapel Hill.

The personnel of the club who will appear at Carolina are:

President, Mildred Shell; secretary and treasurer, Blanche Bruton; accompanist Audrey Bruton, Director, Gilman Alexander. First sopranos: Gwendolyn Mitchell, Madge Marley, Maude Johnson, Elizabeth Eaves, Anne Brown, Eula Transou; second sopranos: Eloise Bass, Evelyn Morgan, Mildred Shell, Louise Walef, Blanche Bruton, Sally Gordon; first altos: Alice Bobbitt, Reba MacNair, Jennilyn Fox, Martha Austin, Margaret Fisher, Betty Brannon; second altos: Elizabeth Campbell, Catherine Moore, Margaret Wrenn, Mae Gatling, Ruth Erwin, Elise Maynard.

NEW BUCCANEER SEEMS ALL WET

Buck, Jr., Draws Hearty Praise from Reviewer.

(By Dawleys)

The Buccaneer has drifted to the campus in the form of an All Wet number. As we glance through the pages, we notice a deplorable lack of talent on the campus or else a negligent editor's blue pencil. The former is probably the reason for much of the Buccaneer's flatness, although it would take no Bugs Baer to find a few pertinent and subtle gags.

Brown Derby takes a flyer and floats into a spread sheet. Since the page was instituted, the Buccaneer-reading campus has at least had something to look forward to between the covers of the state's only college comic, considering the fact that it was evidently suggested by Judge Jr.'s page. The editor and Buck, Jr. must have formed a compliment pact.

The cuts line up with the usual run of the Buccaneer; the art editor doing the majority of the work, and John Held would probably rave in wrath if he could see the perfect imitation of his characters on the cover.

Taking the entire magazine into consideration, we might say that in some places it is a little

CAPTAIN SHUFORD

Captain Shuford is one of the most dependable of Coach Rowe's glove artists. As a heavyweight, he ranks among the best in the South, and his terrific punch has earned for him the nickname of "Ox."

TRACK MENTORS ARE FACED WITH MUCH HARD WORK

Stiff Schedule and Many Veteran Stars Gone Adds to Their Worries.

GUS McPHERSON CAPTAINS

Coaches Fetzer, Ranson and Belding Direct Spring Work.

With the release of Carolina's 1927 track schedule, the actual business of training a winning team will get underway shortly for the first meet, which is only a month off.

Facing one of the stiffest schedules a Carolina track team has had since track became a major sport at the University, Coach Fetzer and assistant coaches Dale Ranson and Lester Belding have wide gaps to fill in the ranks of last year's Southern Champions.

Coach Bob Fetzer and his assistants trained a squad of cinder path stars last season that romped away with every meet on the schedule, topping off the season's record by winning the Southern Conference Championship from some of the strongest teams in the South. The Tar Heels also won the State title for the fifth consecutive year, and completed their third season

DUKE THEOLOGIAN TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Fifth of Religious Series Concerns Science and New Theology.

Dr. H. E. Spence of Duke University will preach in the Methodist church at 7:45 Sunday night, on "the Interpretation of Theology in the Light of Science." This is the fifth of the series of religious talks on the new ideas of God.

Dr. Spence is in the department of theology at Duke, and is an exponent of advanced modern religious theories. In his talk he will compare the scientific viewpoint as opposed to the old school of theology, and show the relation of the preceding discussion by eminent scientists to the field of new theology.

Boxing, Wrestling and Basketball Are Featuring Week-end Sport Calendar

White Phantoms Are Victorious over V. P. I. and Virginia—Freshies Defeat Duke Grapplers and Greensboro High Quint—Varsity Leather-pushers Meet University of Virginia.

VIRGINIA BOXERS CLASH WITH TAR HEELS TONIGHT

Cavaliers Will Bring Undefeated Team Here for Battle.

MATHESON IS INJURED

Meiggs Will Fill His Shoes in the Featherweight Class.

The Carolina leather-pushers will meet the University of Virginia boxing team tonight at 7:00 in the Tin Can. The meet promises to be the closest of the season, for the Cavaliers possess one of the strongest teams in the South. They have not been defeated by a Southern team since boxing was recognized there as a sport.

The Virginians come to Chapel Hill with a well-balanced aggregation, one that has fought Northern institutions with creditable results and that will give the Tar Heels plenty of competition. They have suffered no defeats this year and have gathered in the scalps of Florida, V. M. I., and other institutions. On the other hand Carolina has annexed wins over Florida, V. P. I., and Georgia, and still has a clean slate. Boxing has been established longer at the Cavalier stronghold than at Chapel Hill, and therefore has a better reputation, but the Tar Heels are planning to kick the "ole dope bucket" all over the Tin Can floor tonight.

A new face will be seen in the Tar Heel line-up tonight. Meiggs, a sophomore, will take Matheson's place in the featherweight class. Matheson was injured in the Georgia meet and will be unable to scrap. His place was won by Meiggs in an elimination series Thursday afternoon. The rest of the squad came out of the Georgia meet with no ill effects and are now in the pink of condition.

TAR BABIES ARE ON VIRGINIA TOUR

Will Meet V. M. I., Navy and University of Maryland Basketeers.

The Frosh basketeers left yesterday for a five day trip through Virginia, on which they will play four games against the leading prep schools and college freshman teams in the state.

The first ten men will be taken on the trip. They will be accompanied by Coach Belding and "Shine" Howard, who is acting as Freshman Manager due to the inability of Manager Hatch Covington to make the trip. The men making the trip are: Cleland, Adkins, Whisnant, Fenner, Maus, Farleigh, Kerr, Smith, Race, and Brown.

The team will play Virginia Episcopal School at Lynchburg, Friday night; Woodberry Forest, at Woodberry Forest Saturday night; Washington and Lee Freshmen at Lexington, Monday night; and V. M. I. Rats at Lexington Tuesday night.

WHITE PHANTOMS ON NORTHERN TRIP

Will Meet Four Strong Old Dominion Teams—Coach Takes Ten Men.

Immediately after the Virginia basketball game last night, ten Carolina players, accompanied by Coach Ashmore and Manager Bob Hardee, left for Lexington, Virginia where the Tar Heels will meet the V. M. I. Cadets tonight in their first game of the Northern trip. Following the V. M. I. game, the Phantoms will journey to Washington, D. C. They will meet the University of Maryland Monday night and the powerful Navy team Wednesday night.

The cadets of V. M. I. have a smooth working team that has met and defeated quite a few prominent southern conference quints. In spite of the fact that V. M. I. has a strong five, the Tar Heels will find them the easiest foemen on the Northern trip. For this reason, if the opportunity presents itself tonight, Coach Ashmore will make quite a few substitutions in order to save the rest of his men for the extremely hard games with Maryland and the Navy.

Last year, Maryland defeated the Southern champions at College Park by the margin of a single point. This year, the Old Liners have a team that has been going better than last season's quint, and several of the players that faced the Phantoms a year ago, will meet again Monday night.

The Navy has one of the most powerful teams in the North and to date have lost but one game out of the ten or twelve played. They have defeated Pennsylvania, Maryland by a two point margin, Catholic U., and several other top notch teams.

If the Tar Heels can return to the Hill next Thursday with a majority of the games won on the trip, the students will be more than satisfied.

The ten Carolina men that made the trip are as follows: Bunn Hackney, Billy Vanstory, Rufus Hackney, "Pinky" Morris, "Red" Price, George Cathey, Carr Pursler, Bob Sides, "Big" Baggett, and Henry Satterfield or "Pa" Perkins. "Mutt" Evans will not make the trip on account of a severely sprained ankle.

FRESHMAN QUINT LICKS GREENSBORO

Coach Belding's Men Easily Outplay Gate City Highs, 24-9.

The Frosh basketeers downed the Greensboro High School aggregation in a slow and uninteresting contest played Thursday by the score of 24 to 9. The game was scheduled for 4 in the afternoon due to the two contests scheduled for the Tin Can that night. The Frosh used two complete teams during the contest, both showing up well.

The Greensboro team took the ball down the floor on the first tip-off, and Caviness, lanky cen-

CAROLINA QUINT EASILY DEFEATS CAVALIER TEAM

Vanstory and Hackney Lead Attack that Nets Overwhelming Victory.

FINAL SCORE IS 42 TO 13

The Tar Heels won their fourth conference game of the year when they defeated their old rivals, the University of Virginia at the Tin Can last night, 42 to 13. The White Phantoms were the first to get their scoring machinery under way. Several baskets by Vanstory and a couple by Bunn Hackney shot the winners into a safe lead at the beginning and Virginia never was within hailing distance after that.

Both teams experienced a great deal of trouble in standing up during the first half due to the slippery floor, but there was not the shadow of a doubt as to which had the stronger aggregation. The score at the end of the half was 17 to 6, with the Phantoms on the long end. Ten of those 17 points came from the sharpshooting Vanstory, Tar Heel forward.

The White Phantoms got off to a splendid start in the second period, piled up a huge lead, and were replaced by substitutes. The entire second team played the last ten minutes and held down the invading Cavaliers as well as the varsity had.

Vanstory and B. Hackney, playing only part of the game, were high scorers for the night. The former caged twelve points and the latter counted ten. The floor work of Rufus Hackney was one of the neatest exhibitions seen this year. Cabell was the bright light for the Cavaliers and the guarding of Mackall, all-Southern football star, was very good.

Carolina (42) Virginia (13)
Vanstory (12) R. F. Meade (2)
R. Hackney (2) L. F. Friedberg
Baggett C Millen (4)
B. Hackney (10) R. G. Mackall (1)
Price (4) L. G. Cabell (4)
Substitutions: Carolina, Morris (4), Sides (1), Perkins (4), Satterfield (2), Pursler (3). Virginia, Fayonsky, Via (2), Goldsmith, Vogel.

V. P. I. DOWNED BY TAR HEELS

Coach Ashmore Uses Entire Squad in Game. Score Is 36 to 22.

With substitutes playing a greater part of the game and acquitting themselves after the manner of real varsity players, the Tar Heels defeated the V. P. I. basketball team at the Tin Can Thursday night, 36 to 22.

The Gobblers got off to a fast start and scored six points before the Phantoms could count at all. Billy Vanstory became alarmed at the lead of the visitors and forthwith proceeded to drop in two beautiful long shots and a crisp in less than two minutes. A foul shot by Pinky Morris added on to Vanstory's six points put the Phantoms out in front and they were never headed after that. The score
