NUMBER 56

Carolina Defeats Blue Devils By 37-21 Score

University Splits State Honors With the Demon Deacons

Vanstory Stars, While Bunn Hackney Plays His Last and Best Game Here.

The Tar Heels concluded their 1927 home basketball season in a blaze of glory at the Tin Can Tuesday night when they romped on the Duke Blue Devils 37 to 21. A good crowd witnessed the last appearance of the Flying Phantoms and watched Captain Bunn Hackney sing his swan song in a brilliant manner as he led his cohorts to a victory that enables the Tar Heels to share the 1927 Collegiate Basketball championship with Wake Forest.

Duke got off to an impressive start and enjoyed a four point lead for about five minutes. Their lead was short lived and field goals by Captain Bunn Hackney, Purser, and Vanstory carried the Phantoms out in front from which position they were never ousted. The gun, announcing the end of the first half, found the Tar Heels leading, 20 to 12.

Duke opened the second period with the same offensive drive that characterized its start of the contest and in a few minutes were within 4 points of the leaders. Vanstory, R. Hackney, and brother Bunn again appeared to dispute the march of the Blue Devils and aided by splendid guarding on the part of Morris forged out in front and were still increasing their lead when the game ended.

Billy Vanstory, after a week's inactivity on account of an injured eye, came to life and showed flashes of his old form in coping high scoring honors of the night with 12 points. Captain Bunn Hackney, playing his last game in a Tar Heel uniform on the home court, dashed through one of his best games of the year and was easily the most outstanding man on the court. He scored 11 points. His brother Rufus displayed one of the finest passing games the Tin Can has seen in years. Every field goal, with the exception of one, that was scored by Carolina in the first half came directly from a pass by Rufus!

Bennett and Kelly were the bright stars for the losers.

BUSINESS SENIORS MEET CARROLL TO TALK HIS METHOD

Dean Carroll was interviewed yesterday afternoon by a TAR HEEL reporter in reference to changing the time of his proposed meeting with the Senior class from Thursday afternoon to Friday afternoon in order to enable students to take in The Big Parade at the Pick this afternoon. The meeting, scheduled for 4:30, arranged as a hearing for the seniors who are dissatisfied with the present teaching system in vogue in the Commerce School.

He stated that owing to a previous engagement he would not be able to meet Friday, but he would take the question of a change up at the business Law classes this morning at 9:30 and 1:00. Every senior in the Commerce school is on classes and if enough of them desire to catch The Big Parade, he will change the time to any day they see fit with the exception of tomorrow.

ENGINEERS DANCE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Curious Lighting Tricks and Terpsichorean Stunts To Feature Affair.

A dance sponsored by the local chapters of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the American Society of Civil Engineers will be given by and for the engineering students Friday night at the Carolina Inn from nine to one o'clock. Kenneth Scott's Buccaneers will furnish the music.

The curious lighting effect and the stunts that will be performed at the dance are to be the most outstanding novelties. Only engineers will be allowed to attend, and it is expected that a good number of them will turn out.

H. A. Davis, E. E. '25, who was first employed in the General Electric Company as a Student Engineer in the Testing Department, has completed that course and has accepted a position with the Southern Public Utilities Company.

First Dances Included Duels, Hoop Skirts, Whiskey Breaths

In carrying out its policy of giving the readers the very best in feature stories the TAR HEEL today begins the first continued story by Walter Creech. The second installment will appear Saturday.

(By Walter Creech)
"As balls greatly promote gentility . . . we strenuously advocate the principles thereof as forwarding the best interests of the institution, as enhancing the splendors of our commencements, and as contributing much, very much, to the gratification of the adored Fair who honor us with their company on that universal jubilee." Thus reads a petition from the students of the University of North Carolina to its trustees in the year 1833. It is on these principles that dancing on the campus has flourished during a century and a quarter of University history. The ivied walls of Old East Building have witnessed an ever changing span of ballroom fashion ranging from the minut to the Black Bottom. It is a far cry from the social life of the modern campus with its crowded week-ends of hops and proms to the dim years of the past which gave birth to Carolina when dancing was an annual event.

Dr. Kemp P. Battle in his History of the University of North Carolina says that dancing has come down from the beginning of the institution. However, "the first commencement was a staid and dignified occasion, without dancing or parties to appeal to young people." The terpsichorean activities of the university community in those primitive days were confined to cotton picking parties at which (after the pile of cotton in the middle of the floor was seeded, there was an hilarious frolic with reels danced to the strains of the fiddle. It was as punishment for attending one of the affairs when forbidden that the first student was expelled from the University. The objection of the faculty was not to dancing. For a dancing instructor flourished at the time. Soon

LAST LOOK!

Captain Bunn Hackney has been a thorn in the sides of North Carolina basketball teams for the past four years. He made his final appearance before a North Carolina crowd against Duke and sang his swan song in mellifluous style, running off with all individual honors.

ZETA EPSILON TO BECOME ALPHA PI OF ZETA BETA TAU

29th National Fraternity Makes Its Bow With Installation Ceremonies and a Dance.

The coming week-end will witness the advent of the twenty-ninth national fraternity to the campus when Zeta Epsilon local will be installed as Alpha Pi chapter of Zeta Beta Tau, national Jewish fraternity.

The ceremonies will begin tomorrow afternoon with the formal induction rites which will be presided over by an installation team composed of members of the fraternity from the University of Virginia and Washington and Lee. A number of prominent national officers and other visitors will attend the celebrations and in honor of these guests there will be a banquet at the Inn Friday night after the ceremonies. The visitors will be entertained in the village all day Saturday and in the evening the crowning feature of the event will be the Installation Ball at the Carolina Inn. Invitations have been received by the fraternities on the campus and local society is anticipating a brilliant affair Saturday night.

FLAPPERS GET IN THE YACKETY YACK

Pictures for Vanity Fair Section of Annual Must Be In By March 2.

Girls' pictures for the "Vanity Fair" section of the Yackety Yack must be handed in to the office not later than March 2. The pictures will be submitted to a committee of judges, who will decide on a certain number out of the pictures received. To be eligible the girl whose picture is submitted must have been here to dances, or will be at the dances, this year. Avoid sending exceptionally large or small pictures.

GRADUATE CLUB MEETS WITH PAUL WEAVER

Officials of the Graduate Club announced yesterday that the Club will meet tomorrow night at 8:00 in the office of Paul Weaver, 14 New West building. The officials called special attention to the fact that the meeting will be held on the first floor of New West instead of the regular meeting place.

Nelson O. Kennedy, of the music department, will present a special musical program consisting of music from and comments on great composers.

Tar Heel Five Meets Tennessee Team In Atlanta Friday for Conference Tilt

An Illiteratus Composes Some Athletic Poultry for Tar Heel And Writes to Hon. Editor Dula

Although "the TAR HEEL is a newspaper" (quotations are Editor Madry's), and not a publication dedicated to the expression of the muse as it emanates from the souls of men, the staff feels that it should not deprive the world of a masterpiece by failing to print the following epic. Since it is manifestly of an excellence that would dim the lustre of other articles in the Magazine, and is far above the lustre of the Buccaneer, the only campus publication suitable for its appearance is the TAR HEEL.

Special attention of the reader is called to the beautifully sentimental passages and mournful retrospection of "Down to the Tournament."

For the edification of the reader criticisms of the poem are printed below:

"Thank God for their scarcity."—N. Y. Sun.

"It would sound good on water."—London Daily Mail.

"Intelligentsia ammunition."—Critic Bread.

"Sounds trite to me but I will not express a final opinion until I see what the great Mencken has to say."—Telfair, III.

"So this is poetry."—Freshman executive committee.

Ad infinitum—

The Editor takes the liberty of re-printing the letter accompanying the poem. Here it is: Dear Editor-in-Chief of the TAR HEEL, and Mr. Dula,

Just a line about the poultry you will find inclosed. It is the pure goods all right. It happened something like this: Me and somebody else got soused. The somebody else bet me I couldn't write poultry. Well, I wrote some, and you are to be the judge. If it is published I

EIGHT MEN MAKE TRIP TO GEORGIA

Team from Anti-Evolution State Is a Dark Horse; Nothing Is Known of Its Record.

ONLY TWO VETERANS GO

If First Battle Is Won There Remains the Big Obstacles; Auburn, Georgia Tech, and Maryland.

(By "Mutt" Evans)

The men who are bearing the hopes of—shall we say fifty thousand souls?—are Ashmore, Captain Bunn Hackney—who by the way has graced nought but championship fives since his matriculation in the University—Billy Vanstory, Carr Purser, Rufus Hackney, Pinky Morris, Red Price, Bob Baggett, Henry Satterfield, and Manager Bob Hardee.

Eight Carolina basketball players will leave Chapel Hill for Atlanta today to take the affirmative side of the query, "Resolved: that the Tar Heels will win their fourth straight Southern Conference championship." The debate is bound to be heated and furious as thirteen other institutions are sending representatives to the Georgia city to uphold the negative side of the query.

And thirteen, besides being an unlucky number, is an awful lot of enemies to fight during the short space of four days. Especially when among those thirteen enemies are found such powerful quints as Auburn, Georgia Tech, and Maryland—a quint which has twice conquered the Flying Phantoms.

Tomorrow afternoon "The permanent champions of the South"—as one Atlanta sports writer choosed to call the Phantoms—will trot out before the critical Georgia fans promptly at 4:30 and face the dark horse of the tournament in the form of five lightly clad athletes from the University of Tennessee. Tennessee last fall proved the nemesis of Carolina athletic hopes when the football team took a long hop to the evolution-storm-center and came back trailing under the most overwhelming defeat of the year. Captain Bunn Hackney is the only member of the basketball crew that tasted the Tennessee triumph a scant four months ago, but every one of the eight are raving to get a chance to redeem the defeat handed the gridiron warriors. About the time Swain Hall attracts its hungry mob tomorrow evening, a special wire to North Carolina will carry the news as to whether or not the Tar Heels have been successful in warding off the first attack of the challenging thirteen!

Cheers for Underdog

The writer is under the impression that the Tar Heels will be handicapped in defending a title they have copped four times out of the last five years. The way of the champion is hard—witness Dempsey, Tilden, Hornsby, and Bobby Jones—for every opponent that he faces, is fighting desperately instead of carelessly as there is everything to win and very little to lose. On the other hand the defender is nervous, considering the responsibility he shoulders and wor-

DUKE GAME CALLS OFF OPEN FORUM; POLITICAL MEETING COMES FRIDAY

The open forum meeting to discuss the advantages of a clearer state of politics on the campus will be held at Gerrard Hall, Friday night at 8:30. Last Tuesday night was the original date set for this mass meeting but the Carolina Duke basketball game on that night meant the absence of a great number of men actively interested in this question, which necessitated the change of date.

Meetings and varied private discussions ever since Dave Carroll's Driftwood Fire threw its light on the evils of our existing political conditions have debated this question in most of its details and the conclusions reached will receive their climax at the open forum, Friday night.

This meeting is primarily to discover the sentiment of the campus on the subject of open politics. The entire student body is invited by the reformers to attend this meeting and lend their opinions to this most vital matter. Respective speeches are to be outlined by Dave Carroll, Taylor Bledsoe, Bob Hardee, although no vote will be taken on any plan.

GRADY GETS PATS FROM DI SENATE $625,000 WILL GO TO LIBRARY

Holt McPherson's Bill Congratulates Ex-Ku Klux Klan Leader.

The Dialectic Senate approved Judge Grady's action in resigning from the Ku Klux Klan in a meeting held Tuesday night which was curtailed because of the basketball game. The motion was made by Senator Holt McPherson. It was to the effect that a telegram be sent Judge Grady by the senate, "our hearty approval and congratulations of his action in resigning from the Ku Klux Klan."

Senator Gilreath, in the treasurer's report, urged that all members pay their dues as speedily as possible. The senate then tabled two resolutions indefinitely. These were, Resolved: that the Di Senate should go on record as favoring the use of the rotary ballot in campus elections (Senator McBride); and, Resolved: that the Di Senate go on record as favoring the passage of a state law prohibiting the use of contraceptives (Senator Gilreath). These will be taken up at the next meeting of the Senate. The resolution condemning the policy of territoriality as practiced by the big powers in China was tabled due to the absence of Senator Hudgins, its sponsor. Senator

But As Yet the University Is Half-a-Million Shy In Appropriations.

Raising of the maximum allowance for the new University library from $500,000 to $625,000 featured the amended budget recommendations for the permanent improvements bill which went to the House Tuesday. However, the total recommendation for the University of $1,220,000 was not increased. President Chase and the trustees had asked for over $600,000 more than the sum recommended.

R. B. House, executive secretary of the University, in an interview with a TAR HEEL reporter Tuesday stated that in his opinion final action on the appropriation would not come before the close of the present session of the Legislature, which will be during the latter part of March. University officials had no statement to make regarding their plans for waging a campaign to have the budget commission's recommendation raised to the sum that the University trustees requested.

$860,000 was the amount approved for the new library by the trustees at their last meeting. This sum was approved by the Legislature in the five-year improvement program for the University, adopted in 1922.
