STUDENT BODY CALLS FOR GOVERNMENTAL CONVENTION

Student Council's Action Will Be Investigated

STUDENT BODY IN MASS MEETING ORDERS INQUIRY

Rulings of Entire Year Will Be Probed By the Investigating Committee.

In a turbulent hour and a quarter mass meeting in Memorial Hall yesterday morning, the student body of the University passed a resolution calling for a committee of student representatives to meet with the Student Council and make an investigation into the suspension of thirteen men for gambling Tuesday, and other actions of the Council throughout the school year.

The resolution, presented by C. R. Jonas, Lincolnton, called for the appointment of three men from each undergraduate class and each graduate school by the presidents of the classes. This committee will meet with the Student Council and the suspended men in open meeting, go into the matter thoroughly, and make a report to the student body in a mass meeting. An amendment provided for the holding of this mass meeting at chapel period Monday.

F. F. Bradshaw, Dean of Students, announced yesterday that on account of the proximity of examinations Monday's chapel will not be extended beyond the usual thirty minute period. If the discussion is not completed Monday, the students will have an opportunity to finish it Monday night or at some other date.

Jonas' resolution took precedence over a resolution previously submitted by Julian Starr, editor of the Carolina Magazine. This resolution follows: "In view of First, the methods used in obtaining evidence upon which this case depended; Second, the severity of the sentences dealt out in this wholesale manner; Third, the dissatisfaction arising from the Council's action on the part of the student body; we move that the action taken by the council against these men be set aside. And in view of the fact that the student body should take cognizance of the admitted breach of a University ruling against gambling, we also move that all the men receive

SPRING GRID GAME AT STADIUM TODAY

Postponed Monogram-Frosh Contest at Emerson Field 3:30 O'Clock.

The stage is all set and everything is in readiness for the return of old man football this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock on Emerson field. The Monogram men went through their last steps yesterday afternoon and are raring to meet the new men who will line up as their opponents in the first real spring football game in the history of the University. Admission to the almost out-of-season classic may be secured by any and every individual who shoves two bits across the window edge, and present indications all point to a capacity number of two bit pieces.

Just a word about the twenty-five cents admission fee. The money will flow directly into the empty treasury of an organization known as the University of North Carolina Monogram Club, and elaborate plans are on foot to make the Monogram club one of the most respected organizations on the campus.

The game will be played under the new rules that will be in effect next fall and followers of the grand old pastime will have their first chance of looking at a game with the goal posts set back ten yards beyond the end of the playing field. Students who attend the battle will also get a line on next year's prospects.

Old Kappa Beta Phi Chapter Will Return

Local Chapter of Ancient Fraternity Will Again Seek to Rival Phi Beta Kappa Order.

Considerable comment is being aroused in campus lodges by the rumor that the now dormant chapter of Kappa Beta Phi is soon to be revived and an installation will take place in the spring quarter. Kappa Beta Phi is an ancient and venerable interfraternity social order, established in 1786, ten years after its acknowledged enemy, Phi Beta Kappa. "Kappa Beta" is frequently denounced and defamed as a mere "drinking club," but its avowed aim is to select outstanding fraternity men and campus celebrities and coalesce them into a convivial comrade-ship, avoiding by a wide margin the cold mathematical frigidity and unfraternal aspect of the rival society.

UPPERCLASSMEN MUST ATTEND MONDAY CLASSES

Juniors and seniors, although by action of the faculty excused from compulsory class attendance during the winter quarter, must attend all classes on Monday, March 21, according to an unofficial statement from Dean Hibbard last night.

Failure to attend classes, Mr. Hibbard explained, will result in delayed registration. The University imposes a fine upon any individual whose registration is delayed.

WOMEN VOTERS CONCLUDE THEIR MEETING TODAY

North Carolina League and School of Citizenship in Convention Here.

The seventh annual convention of the North Carolina League of Women Voters meeting jointly with the school of citizenship got under way here Thursday morning at the Carolina Inn with the formal calling to order by Miss Gertrude Weil of Goldsboro. R. B. House, executive secretary of the University, delivered the address of welcome. Invocation was offered by Rev. Margaret Bland. The convention will close this morning with an address by President Chase on "Education and Government."

The morning session of the league convention Thursday was consumed largely with the report of the officers and committees.

The annual banquet was held Thursday night with Mrs. Julius Cone, treasurer of the league, presiding. A number of three minute speeches by men and women of note featured the banquet session. The general subject of discussion was "Women in Politics."

Dr. E. C. Branson spoke to the convention at the Friday morning session on "County Government."

Miss Belle Sherwin, president of the National League of Women Voters, spoke to the gathering at the luncheon meeting yesterday on "The League—an experiment in Patriotism."

The Friday afternoon session was devoted to a School of Citizenship lecture on "County Government" by E. J. Woodhouse, University Chairman of the convention. Mr. Woodhouse continued the lecture by Dr. Branson which was delivered in the morning and his lecture touched on the legislature and pointed out some of the defects of the county government in North Carolina and suggested improvements.

The session last night was in the form of a public meeting held in Gerhard Hall at which the general theme of "Political Aspects of Economic Groups" was discussed. W. A. Graham, North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture spoke on "Agriculture and Government." J. H. Hall, Jr., Commissioner of Labor of Virginia, spoke on "Labor and Government." J. E. Latham of Greensboro, spoke on "Business and Government."

Throughout the week, in public addresses, both morning and evening, and in the classroom seminars and group discussions, nearly a score of America's foremost specialists on Interracial Relations, Industrial Relations, and International Relations, will bring to the campus the results of their studies and experiments.

The purpose of the programs will be to present the most important questions to the University students, and to lead them to intelligent thinking and study along these lines. It is planned to bring to the University a program similar to this year's Institute, quadrennially, and to bring an exceptional opportunity to each student generation to study the most important social questions of the day.

The speakers at the churches tomorrow week will be as follows:

Dr. Gibbons is an author, lecturer, and world traveler, who has just this week returned from extensive travel abroad. His subject will be some phase of International Relations presented from the Christian standpoint.

As decided at the faculty meeting Wednesday, there will be a daily chapel period of one hour during the five days of the week, when one of the Institute leaders will deliver a public address. Chapel will be held following the third period of the day instead of the second, as is customary.

NEW SYSTEM OF CAMPUS RULE IS PROBABLE RESULT

Norman Block Introduces Resolution Demanding Consideration of Changes in Policies.

A convention of representatives of the students to make changes in the present system of student government and to draw up a definite plan for a new system was approved by the student body in the mass meeting in Memorial Hall yesterday morning. Norman Block, Greensboro, submitted a resolution calling for the convention, which was adopted by an almost unanimous majority.

In discussing his resolution, Block said: "This case of the suspension of thirteen men for gambling and the reaction on the campus to it throws a challenge in the faces of the students. Needless to say, the present system of student government is a decadent one, in that it is not able to cope with problems which arise today in the student body."

"We have grown very rapidly in the past few years. Our tremendous growth is both our strength and our weakness; our strength in that we are able to present a larger mass of students and our weakness in that we have failed to adjust ourselves to the new conditions of life brought about by a suddenly enlarged community."

Mr. Block's resolution follows: Resolved that the students of the University of North Carolina, in body assembled on March 11, 1927, in Memorial Hall, do declare that a convention of representatives of said students be called; and that the above mentioned representatives should meet to investigate and discuss the nature of the present system of student government; and furthermore, that same representatives shall draw up a definite plan for student government and that this plan be presented to the members of the student body for ratification."

General commendation of Block's resolution was current on the campus yesterday. It is understood on good authority that several new plans for student government here have already been evolved among the students, and will be submitted to the convention. Although it is said that the imminence of examinations may hold up work on the changes in student government, next week, it is understood that the convention will be called in the near future.

24 CONTESTS ON BASEBALL CARD

Season Opens With Dartmouth Here April 6—12 Home Games.

The most radical change in the 1927 baseball schedule made public above is the substitution of a four day Southern trip for the annual northern trip. This year Virginia will be the farthest point reached North and Atlanta and Athens will be the Southern extremities.

Twenty-four games in all have been arranged. Twelve of the contests will be played on Emerson field and seven others will be played on North Carolina soil. Fans will get plenty of chances to watch the Tar Heels in action as only five games will be out of the state. Ten of the games are with Southern Conference teams and if the Tar Heels should win the majority of these will stand an excellent chance of copping the conference title.

The first game will be April 6, when Dartmouth will invade Emerson field. Five games will be played before the Easter holidays and the team should have plenty of time in which to round into shape before it leaves on April 16 for its Easter Trip.

There is a possibility that an extra game or two will be added to enliven commencement.

The Epworth League will hear "K. O." Warren speak on "Meeting Temptations," Sunday night. Dr. W. E. Caldwell will give a short talk on the "Religions of Egypt."
