

The Driftwood Fire

By Dave Carroll

As the time for nominations approaches, we hear that political fur is flying. However, some of the reports we have been unable to substantiate; and the following information, incomplete but accurate, has been furnished by a few of the candidates who are willing to have their intentions and support known to the campus. We regret that a complete list of all candidates is unobtainable at this time; but the nominations in chapel tomorrow will make known all those who are running this spring. And after the nominations of tomorrow, the columnist will endeavor to outline the progress of organized support which is, at present, unformed or uncertain.

He Who Runs

Ed Hudgins.....Presidency senior class
Odell Sapp.....Vice-presidency senior class
Mac Covington.....Student Councilman from the senior class
Steve Furches.....Presidency junior class
Holt McPherson.....Editorship of TAR HEEL
Dillard (Bull) Gardner.....Editorship of Carolina Magazine
Andy Anderson.....Editorship of Bucconeer

Information concerning the candidacies listed here comes from Taylor Bledsoe, who, along with "Red" Wood and Ed Avent, will endeavor to rally the support of the campus to these men. This ticket obviously is not complete. However, the leaders of this organization will announce, in the near future, the men whom they intend to promote for the other offices. They feel that these men, by their campus records, have shown themselves fully qualified for the various positions. The columnist appreciates the fairness of these men in announcing their ticket openly. They are to be commended for this cooperation in the campaign for open politics.

The following fraternities have candidates on this ticket, and may be expected, more or less, to support it: Sigma Phi Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Gamma Sigma Tau (2 candidates), Sigma Delta (2 candidates), and Pi Kappa Alpha.

Others in Race

At the request of the men concerned, we also announce these candidacies:

"Mutt" Evans—Student councilman from the rising senior class.
C. Leonard Beard—Student councilman from the rising senior class.
D. Lacy McBryde—President of the rising sophomore class.

Presidency of Student Body

Sometime ago the columnist listed some favorites for this office. From those names the following are definite candidacies. Both of these students have many friends on the campus—but organized support cannot be made known now for its lack of stability and certainty. The columnist will endeavor to publish it accurately later.

J. Windy Crew
Walter Kelley

These men have absolutely declined to run: L. V. Huggins, W. H. Strickland, and Norman Block. The names of some of our former favorites are not mentioned here. It is because they were either off the Hill or very uncertain when this column was written.

The reader is to understand that some students who have not thus far decided to run may, if they are nominated tomorrow, consent to enter the race. So the field is by no means limited to the men whose names appear in this column.

We have just been told that class nominations will be held tonight. Therefore this column should be read with that in view.

Warren Applies "K. O." In Fifteen Seconds; Ox Shuford Is Eliminated

K. O. Warren came through the preliminaries in the light heavyweight class with flying colors in the Junior National Boxing Tournament being held at Cincinnati. He knocked out his opponent in the first 15 seconds of the first round. After looking over the fighters he decided to enter the heavyweight class also and fought in both classes last night, the outcome of which hasn't been learned before going to press.

Captain Ox Shuford was eliminated in the heavyweight bout in the first round of the tournament. The other man got the decision after a hard scrap. Warren and Shuford were accompanied to Cincinnati by Coach Crayton Rowe.

The Monogram men ran wild in the spring football game on Emerson field last week and defeated the non-monogram club 39 to 0. Over 80 men participated in the clash that marked culmination of the six weeks of winter football practice.

The scrubs, enforced by members of this year's freshman team, managed to hold the varsity fairly well for the first three quarters, but in the last period the "whites" got underway and shoved over three touchdowns. Billy Ferrell, Harry Lassiter, and Tom Young bore the brunt of the ball-carrying for the winners, the first two lads contributing a couple of scintillating 50 yard runs.

Jones Gives Organ Recital at Chapel of Cross

William H. Jones from St. Mary's school, Raleigh, played at the Chapel of the Cross Sunday afternoon in the 25 organ recital. A smaller crowd than usual attended, but it was appreciative of the program rendered. He played selections of Wagner, Debussy and other famous composers.

Bulletin Announces Philosophy Courses

Courses in the Philosophy Department next term will be given as announced in the special bulletin which is displayed in the lobby of the library.

Students are requested to not ask for reports on the winter term work until a notice is given through the TAR HEEL that the reports may be secured at the Registrar's office. Dr. Henry informed a reporter yesterday.

CHARLES J. VAUGHAN, JR.

After a brief illness and only two days in the infirmary, Charles J. Vaughan, Jr., 18, a first year student from Woodland, N. C. died Tuesday night of pneumonia and influenza. He showed no signs of serious illness until Tuesday morning. Dr. Abernethy examining him at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and finding a slight swelling of one lung which was immediately treated. In the afternoon both lungs were affected and he failed to respond to any treatments.

The boy's parents who were notified Tuesday morning arrived about four o'clock in the afternoon. At that time he was beginning to show some signs of losing consciousness. A nurse who was summoned that morning from Durham, arrived a half-hour before he died.

Wednesday morning the body was taken to Woodland where 15 fraternity brothers acted as pall bearers.

Vaughan was popular among many students and his professors. He was prominent in High School as captain of the Woodland basketball and baseball teams. He was a member of the Theta Kappa Nu fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Vaughan, and a younger brother, who expects to enter the University next year survive.

Dr. Abernethy stated that the student was the first to die in the infirmary since 1918.

M. C. S. Noble, Dean of the School of Education, was given a surprise party last Tuesday evening by his daughter, Miss Alice Noble, in celebration of his 72nd birthday.

Irish Free Stater Is Studying County Systems Here

Frederick H. Boland, a citizen of the Irish Free State, is now in Chapel Hill for the purpose of studying County government in North Carolina. He is the holder of a special Rockefeller Memorial fellowship, and he came here after spending several months studying at Harvard. From Chapel Hill, Mr. Boland will start on an automobile tour of the West.

America is Not Doing Part in World Affairs

Dr. Gibbons is well known as an author, a professor, a lecturer on world affairs, and an extensive traveler. He is author of a number of books including "The New Map of Europe," "Reconstruction of Poland and the Near East," "Europe Since 1918," and "America's Place in the World." Dr. Gibbons is well fitted to speak on international affairs, having devoted a greater part of his life to such study. He was in France during the World War and the Peace Conference and has just lately returned from a trip to Europe where he studied post-war conditions.

Alexander Speaks

"Two factors have recently stirred up the world's racial problems—the world war and the church in its missionary work," said Dr. Alexander in his address in the Presbyterian church. "All races fought side by side during the war," he said, "and all were treated more or less alike, but with the end of the conflict the whites told the others to get back in their old places. Our missionaries have traveled to all parts of the world teaching the gospel of democracy to all races. These races have reacted by demanding a practice of the principles of brotherhood taught them."

Would Outlaw War

Discussing the outlawry of war and capital punishment, Mr. Page declared that "we still believe in the old pagan law of a life for a life simply because we have so little faith in Christianity. "In forty of our forty-eight states we still demand a life for a life, and when anything develops into a national evil we turn to war as a means of exercising this same rule. We only have to look at our religious wars of the last thousand years to see that the forces that won utterly repudiated the very principle for which they were fighting. They were praying for victory, not to God, but to the ancient gods of war."

Mexican Policy Rapped

The United States has no case against Mexico, Dr. Taylor told his audience in the Episcopal church. It can never have a case, he said, until Mexico confiscates the private properties of American capitalists. He said all the big investors in Mexico, Americans, Mexicans, and others, had been requested to register their lands and that this request had been generally complied with. A number of American investors in Mexico, among them Mellon and Sinclair, he said, have declared that a revolution would be far more disastrous to their interests than supervision by the Mexican government and that their investments could never bring the two countries into conflict.
