PLANS COMPLETE FOR LAW SCHOOL SUMMER SESSION

Leon C. Green, Formerly of Yale University, To Begin Duties as Dean.

DISTINGUISHED MEN HERE

Justice Brogden, Connon, Smith, and Madden Here for Summer Term.

Many new faces will be seen among the Law School faculty during the summer session. Each of these new men is distinguished for his work in one or more phases of the law. Among them are Leon C. Green, the Law School's new dean, Justices W. J. Brogden and Geo. W. Connon of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, Young B. Smith of the Columbia law school, and Joseph W. Madden, Dean of the University of West Virginia law school.

Dean Leon C. Green comes here from Yale University, where he has spent some time, with new ideas and plans for the law school. In the February issue of the North Carolina Law Review Mr. Green has an article on "The Path of Law School Development," in which he points out the need of making the law schools more practical, or bringing the student in closer contact with the actual conditions. He further stresses the point that law students should have more courses in the social sciences.

W. J. Brogden, justice of the supreme court of North Carolina, was a member of the Durham bar before he was appointed to his present position.

Justice Geo. W. Connon was a member of the Wilson bar before going to the Supreme Court bench and he was also a judge of the Superior Court. Mr. Connon will be remembered by several of the law students here as he was an instructor in the law summer school in 1926.

Professor Joseph W. Madden, Dean of the Law School of the University of West Virginia will teach the subject of Trusts. He has had experience in this practice.

FRESHMEN BEAT DUKE YEARLINGS

Carolina Cindermen Defeat Duke By Overwhelming Score of 78 to 48 Yesterday.

The Carolina freshmen cinder artists licked the first year Duke squad Monday afternoon at Hanes Field in Durham by chalking up the overwhelming score of 78 to 48. This is a better score than the previous meet last week which was 76-23 to 49-13 in favor of Carolina. The freshmen forged ahead at the beginning of the meet.

The high mark man of the meet was J. K. Smith of Carolina with 13 points by taking first places in the 100 and 220 dashes and second in the 440. Barkley took first places in the mile and half mile runs while Fort reaped the first from the broad jump and the 220 yard low hurdles. Nims of Carolina did excellent work in the awkward combination of the mile and the 440 with a third place in the mile and first place in the quarter at a 52.4 clip. Ashworth

No Tar Heel Will Be Issued Next Saturday

There will be no issue of the TAR HEEL Saturday, April 16, preceding the Easter holidays. All announcements and information to be presented to the student body must be in by Wednesday three o'clock. The regular date of publication will be resumed following the holidays with the Tuesday issue.

ARTS DEAN SAYS SYSTEM IS OKEY

Instructors Are Not Free To Make Ground Rule, Asserts Hibbard.

"The absence rule for juniors and seniors passed for the spring quarter of 1927 means simply this: That the Faculty surrenders its rights to make a point of attendance as in exchange to secure the right of grading students entirely according to the equality of work done," stated Addison Hibbard, dean of the Liberal Arts School.

According to several students, many professors have announced that if a student misses more than five classes, and some as few as three, he may as well drop that particular course. "This is unjust and unfair," Dean Hibbard said. "Emphasis is now laid on work and not on attendance. If a man can stay away from his classes and still do the work efficiently, all right. By the rule, attendance is unimportant. It is work that counts. Everything is on a basis of work. If a student makes any report to me that a professor has made such a statement in regard to class attendance, I shall be very glad to take the matter up."

According to Dean Hibbard, the rule means that students must take what absences they will. Instructors are not free to make ground rules. A committee of deans is going to study this matter, so that when the experiment comes to an end this year, they will have facts about how it is working. "To my knowledge very few students are abusing this privilege," said Dean Hibbard. "I think the system is working very well."

Playmaker Reading Given by Henderson

The Playmaker reading for April was given Sunday night by Dr. Archibald Henderson who read from George Bernard Shaw. Dr. Henderson pointed out that Shaw was essentially a religious and serious man, and read a part of Shaw's provocative essay, "On Going to Church."

Dr. Henderson said that he wasn't interested in the argument over Shaw's place as a dramatist, told of the dispute as to whether he was a good or bad playwright, or if he was a playwright, but the fact that he won the Nobel prize for 1925 should prove something.

Dr. Henderson said that he considered Shaw's "Saint Joan" the greatest play written in English since Shakespeare, and his reading was mostly from this play. He read the trial scene, considered by many theatrical critics as containing as many dramatic effects as any one modern play. He also read the famous epilogue.

TWO GAMES ON TAR HEEL SLATE BEFORE EASTER

Play Penn State Here Tomorrow and University of Pennsylvania Friday.

WESTMORELAND TO PITCH

Satterfield, Heffner, and Finley May Get Tryout on In-field Line-up.

Coach Ashmore's slugging Tar Heels face two of their hardest games of the season this week, the first with Penn State Wednesday and the second with the University of Pennsylvania Friday. Both games will be played on Emerson Field and will be called at four o'clock.

Comparatively little is known of the strength of the two Pennsylvania clubs. However, both schools have a reputation for putting out good teams, and Coach Ashmore is grooming his proteges for two stiff clashes. Both of the visiting teams have been on extended southern tours, and have been meeting some of the strongest college teams in the south.

"Lefty" Westmoreland, who was to have started the rained-out game with State Saturday, will probably get the mound assignment in the first game, with "Red" Elliott held in reserve. Odell Sapp, speedball teran of last year's team, who has been suffering with a strained tendon is right again and will probably work one of the games.

The scramble for places on the Tar Heel nine has become unusually hot and this week's two clashes are likely to see some new faces appear in the line-up. Satterfield, Heffner, and Finley, infielders, have been showing up well in practice and each will probably get a chance in one of the two games.

The outfield seems definitely decided with Captain Hatley in center, Ed Mackie in right, and Buck Finlator in left. All three

TAR HEELS GET EASY VICTORY IN RELAY CARNIVAL

Recapture Laurels for Third Successive Year in Distance Events.

HELD AT GEORGIA TECH

Russ, Daniels, Elliott, and Rhinehart Composed Tar Heel Team.

The Tar Heel cindermen recaptured the laurels of the four mile relay for the third successive year in the fifth annual Georgia Tech relay carnival held at Atlanta Saturday afternoon.

The Carolina team entered only the four mile relay and the two mile. Russ, Daniels, Elliott, and Rhinehart were the men who flashed around the quarter mile track sixteen laps to win the four mile relay for Carolina. They took an early lead and were never headed, Georgia Tech finishing second a half lap behind with Alabama nearly a full lap behind. The event was a walk-a-way for the Tar Heels and Galen Elliott, star distance man, was not called on to run the pace that has won for him a niche on the National Collegiate Association's one-mile scroll. The time for the 4-mile relay was 19 min. 8.4 sec. Hoyt Pritchett, lanky two miler, placed third in the two mile event.

The relays began in a drizzle of rain on a sodden track which considerably slowed up the athletes. Later in the afternoon the sun came out and dried the course somewhat but the effect of the morning's downpour of rain was still evident in the times recorded on many of the events.

Duke University won the distance medley relay, in which the first man runs 880 yards, the second and third 440 yards and the fourth man the full mile. The time was 8 minutes and 32.2 seconds.

Chase Says Student Government Strengthened by Recent Fervor

University President Discusses Early History of Student Government and Some of Present Problems with Which the Student Body is Faced.

"The events that the campus has passed through in the past few weeks were a testing period for student government, and the students came through in a way that strengthens faith, confidence, and devotion to student self-government," said President Chase in chapel yesterday morning. "It was tremendously encouraging to me."

Mistakes were made, and the student body got into confusion, as all men do. It was the human thing to be expected. "The problem is," President Chase asserted, "to get to work and find a way to avoid these mistakes in the future."

"The campus today faces the same question that any community that has grown from a small unit to a large one faces. It is similar to that which faces a country village grown into a city."

According to President Chase, when student government first started here there was a great simplicity of organization. The students took the same courses, belonged to the same unit, and felt a common touch. Twenty years ago there were only three or four dormitories. Now there are 1200 men rooming in the dormitories. These men have a right to conditions that make possible study and the right to enjoy themselves as long as they do not disturb others. Student government owes it to these men to assure them these rights. About 1200 students room in fraternity houses and other places not on the campus, a situation new in the history of the University. Student government has a definite responsibility toward them.

Professional groups have arisen that have a professional consciousness of their own. They belong to their own particular part of the University.

"If student government is to remain effective and worthwhile it must solve these problems and take into consideration all these new factors," declared the President.

"The time has now come on the campus when it has set itself deliberately to work out and

Winter Honor Roll, Heavy With Names of 239 Students, Is Out

CADETS TO PLAY FRESHMEN HERE

Jackson, Hardin, Patterson, and Adkins Are Hard Hitters for Locals.

The Carolina freshmen open their 1927 baseball season Wednesday afternoon with the Oak Ridge Cadets as their opponents. The game is to be called at one o'clock as the varsity is scheduled to meet Penn State the same afternoon.

The Oak Ridgers as usual have one of the strongest, if not the strongest prep school team in the state. Little is known of the Tar Babies, but Coach LeGrande has a quartet of good hitters in Jackson, Hardin, Patterson and Adkins.

Probable line-up for the affair will be: Maus, catcher; Hamlet or Stewart, pitcher; Jackson, first; Bunch or Kerr, second; Wright, short; Jack, third; McManaway, left field; Hardin, center field; Collins or Sinclair right field.

Buccaneer Staff To Meet Tonight at 8:30

Old and New Men Will Have Joint Gathering at Office.

There will be a meeting of the Buccaneer staff tonight in the office in the basement of alumni at 8:30 o'clock for all men who wish to try out for the art and editorial staffs. The regular art and editorial staff will be present to assist in helping the new men get lined up for work on next year's staff.

The meeting tonight is not for the purpose of trying out for the staff but merely for the purpose of getting acquainted. Suggestions will be given to all new men by the heads of the departments in which they wish to enter, but the actual submitting of copy will not start until after the Easter holidays.

It is necessary for all men who wish to try out for the art and editorial staff of the Buccaneer to be present tonight as this will be the last meeting before the holidays.

Lee Kennett Speaks To Epworth League

Bob Hardee Re-elected President; Other Officers Elected for Quarter.

"Jesus was never convicted by Roman court," Lee Kennett told the members of the Epworth League Sunday evening at their regular meeting. Mr. Kennett based his remarks on a brief which he had prepared on "The legal aspects of the trial of Christ." The trial of Christ was illegal because it was at night, and should not have been allowed under Jewish law," said Mr. Kennett. "Jesus was asked incriminating questions by the priest who was acting as prosecuting attorney when he should be defending Christ according to Jewish law." Kennett further stated that Pilot allowed public opinion to sway his decision, contrary to Roman law.

Bob Hardee was re-elected president of the League. Holt McPherson was elected vice president, and Miss Louise Medley secretary and treasurer. Campus leaders are secured each week to lead the discussions on various topics from the Bible.

Racquetmen Enter Pinehurst Meet

Captain Elgin and Three Cohorts in North-South Tourney.

The University of North Carolina will be well represented in the annual North-South Tournament to be played at Pinehurst with Captain D. V. "Dunc" Elgin, Caesar Cone, Richard Covington, and W. S. "June Bug" Barney among the entrees. The boys left Sunday for Pinehurst where they intend to represent Carolina to the best of their ability.

The entry list of the big meet has, as usual, a number of famous racqueteers, and this year Bill Tilden, America's best, and George Lott, formerly the National Junior Champion, are entered in the quest for the North-South title.

The Tar Heel net squad was represented in the tourney last year and made a favorable showing. This year there will also be entrees from Wake Forest to represent North Carolina intercollegiate net circles.
