WOMEN TO BE ON FACULTY THRU TRUSTEE RULING

Board Unanimously Votes To Permit Women Instructors
In School of Education.

After having been barred from the University during the 133 years of its existence, women instructors will make their appearance in classrooms here next year, by a unanimous vote of the executive committee of the board of trustees Tuesday.

The announcement of the board's decision, made in a Raleigh paper yesterday, created a large amount of comment on the campus. Many declared it to represent the lowering of the last effectual barrier to the feminine sex at the University.

The resolution passed by the board reads as follows: "That in order to facilitate the service of the School of Education of the University in advanced and graduate instruction for elementary school teachers and supervisors, the School of Education may employ on its faculty women for the purpose of giving such instruction when necessary."

Heretofore women graduates of the University have not been eligible for membership in the National Association of University Women and similar organizations, since they require that the faculty of the institution from which their members graduate include women. The resolution is in accordance with the recommendations of Governor McLean's Educational Commission, which provides for the enlarging of the School of Education so that courses will be given here which it has previously been necessary for teachers to go to Columbia and other Northern colleges to receive.

Adoption of the building program approved by the Budget Commission and the legislature, which represents a cut of $1,100,000 from the total of $2,300,000 asked by the trustees for buildings during the next two years, was deferred because of difference of opinion as to whether a new dormitory or a class room building for the School of Education should be eliminated from the program.

Josephus Daniels presided over the meeting in the absence of Governor McLean. It was held in the office of the Governor.

TAR HEELS MEET PENN ON SATURDAY

Leave after Tomorrow's Battle for Extended Easter Tour.

Coach Ashmore's Tar Heels play their second inter-sectional game of the week tomorrow afternoon, meeting the University of Pennsylvania nine on Emerson Field.

The Pennsylvanians have been on an extended southern tour and should be in fine fettle for their engagement here. Coach Ashmore's proteges have been idle since the Elon game a week ago Monday save for one clash with the Durham Bulls. The leaguers won, but the defeat served to disclose several rough spots which Coach Ashmore has been diligently ironing out.

The line-up will probably be the same as that which started yesterday's game.

After tomorrow's battle the

CAROLINA LOSES TO PENN STATE IN CLOSE GAME

Visitors Tally Once in Each of
First Three Innings; Carolina
Threatens Often.

Errors, poor base running, and failure to hit in the pinches cost the Tar Heels their first inter-sectional game of the season yesterday afternoon, Penn State downing Coach Ashmore's proteges on Emerson Field, 3-0. The game had to be postponed in order to dry up the infield, and was called at the end of the eighth on account of darkness.

Big Joe Westmoreland's pitching was the feature of the game, the Tar Heel ace yielding but seven hits and one walk, and striking out ten batters. His teammates accorded him erratic support, though, in the opening stanzas, and the visitors chalked up one run in each of the first three frames for their margin of victory.

The Tar Heels had at least three chances of scoring, but from all indications they knew not what it was all about.

The first came in the fourth inning when Finley, coaching on third, slowed Mackie down and then sent him home only to be caught out by a peg of Heavner's drive from centerfield.

The next came in the sixth when with the bases loaded and two outs, Heavner failed to come through, hitting to the pitcher and forcing Coxe at home plate for the final out.

In the seventh after two men were out, Satterfield and Westmoreland walked in a row, and advanced each a base on a wild pitch. Finley flew out to right and the Tar Heels' last hope was blasted.

Lungren, Penn state quarterback and shortstop, hit a sizzling triple in the third inning for the longest clout of the day. Singley also hit a triple. Delp, Penn right fielder, and Mackie each hit doubles for the only other extra base hits. Van Atta held the Tar Heels to six hits and struck out seven men.

Coach Ashmore injected numerous substitutes into the fray in an effort to stir up some kind of rally, but his efforts were in vain. Finley, Heavner, Green, and Satterfield all saw service in addition to Jessup, who started in left in Finlator's place, and Barnhart, who started on first in Young's place.

TRACK MEN MEET VIRGINIA TODAY

Will Give Line on Chances for Another Championship; Virginia Is Strong.

This afternoon on Emerson Field, 2:30, the Tar Heel southern championship track team will meet the Virginia cinder path men. The Cavaliers are invading Chapel Hill with one of their strongest teams in many years.

Last week when Dartmouth's powerful track team invaded the Cavalier's cinder realm the Virginians chalked up five first places to make the final score 80½-45½ in favor of Dartmouth. The Tar Heels have two wins to their credit, having nosed Duke out with a score of 63½-62½ and piled up a 69-57 score against the V. P. I. cadets. This will be Carolina's second conference meet.

The Tar Heels are strongest in the running events, while Virginia's strength is divided between running and field events. The Tar Heels defeated the Cavaliers two years ago

Chapel Hill Mayor Has Held Office for Over Twenty Years

Roberson Has Ruled North Carolina's Most Intellectual Town for Two Decades; Elections May 3rd Will Decide His Future.

(By George Coggins)

Mayor Roberson of Chapel Hill has held the office of mayor for over twenty years. The city elections which will take place May 3rd will decide whether or not the czar will relinquish his crown or will rule over the most highly intellectual town in the state where there has been no political friction since the town was incorporated. The residents take very little interest in politics and it is often difficult to secure the necessary men to fill the offices. So far no candidates have announced themselves either for Mayor or for the two Aldermen's seats to be filled. The City Manager, Mr. Knox, stated that it was three years after one election before he knew that a Republican had been elected Alderman.

At present there are six City Aldermen. It has long been the custom to have at least two Aldermen from the faculty of the University. The two faculty members now serving are R. D. W. Connor of the History department, and Dean Braune of the School of Engineering. The other members of the board are: B. S. Williams, M. E. Hogan, C. L. Wills, and C. L. Eubanks.

Mayor Roberson seems to have no special salary attraction attached to his office. He receives three hundred dollars per year. Besides his political office the Mayor has a monopoly on the theatre business in Chapel Hill at present. It is said that he used his political power and his shrewd business ability to try to keep out competition. However, he has lost his fight to Mr. Sorrell, the jeweler, who is erecting a modern theatre building on the vacant lot adjoining S. Beriman's new store. Probably the slight friction in the Mayor's affairs will assure the students at the University of better moving picture facilities. Surely it can not harm matters.

HI SCHOOL TENNIS BEGINS TODAY

Tournament Decides State Championship; Rogers, of Asheville, Favorite.

The state high school tennis tournament will start here on the Varsity courts this afternoon. The tournament will be under the auspices of the University of North Carolina, the winners being official state champions.

Practically all of the high schools that are conceded any chance at all of winning are entered, and many exciting matches are to be expected. George Rogers of Asheville High School, who walked away with the tournament last year, is the favorite to win, although he will probably encounter quite a bit more opposition than he did last year. Greensboro, who held the championship for three years in suc-

Two Hundred and Sixty-eight
Debaters from Sixty-seven Schools Will Participate In Fifteenth Aycock Cup Contest; Tennis Tournament Today; Track Meet Tomorrow.

High school students from all parts of the state come together today in Chapel Hill for the purpose of taking part in the finals of the debating and athletic contests sponsored by the University. Two hundred and sixty-eight debaters from 67 schools will participate in the annual debate for the Aycock Memorial Cup. Approximately fifteen schools will take part in each of the contests in track and tennis.

There will be a general meeting of all high school debaters and teachers in Memorial Hall today at 1:45 p. m. At this time the debaters will draw for sections and pairs of teams in the first preliminary which begins tonight at 7 o'clock.

According to E. R. Rankin, secretary of the contests, there are approximately one thousand visitors here today, including the coaches, relatives, and friends of the contestants. The visit of the high school students will be made most pleasant by the track meet between Carolina and Virginia, on Emerson Field at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the Carolina-University of Pennsylvania baseball game tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 p. m., and a reception for the visitors in the Gymnasium at 10 o'clock tomorrow night.

Secretary Rankin announced the complete list of schools coming here for the finals in the debating contest. The 57 entrants are:

- Albemarle, Altamahaw-Ossipee, Asheville, Aulander, Aurelian Springs, Bailey, Belwood, Beaulaville, Black Creek, Bonlee, Bryson City, Bunn, Candor, Cary, Cherryville, Clearmont, Clyde, Derita, Durham, Ebenezer, Edenton, Elizabethtown, Erwin, Gibson, Glen Alpine, Grace, Greensboro, Helena, Hendersonville, Henriett-Caroleen, Hiddenite, Leggett, Lenoir, Lexington, Liberty, Long Creek-Grady, Louisburg, Matthews, Mt.
