PARAGRAPHS

As one has put it, there is a decided inhibition of muscular and mental activity now days.

Chicago's latest: a "Cat Bandid." Now with her ex-cowboy mayor it appears as if the products of the west may be "buffaloing" the crime city.

"Extensionists Go As Alumni Enter," headlines the Chapel Hill Weekly. A sort of coming and going affair, you know.

Our ubiquitous archenemy, the ditchdigger, not waiting for another periodical libation by J. Pluvius, has added more to the community's woes by cutting a five by six foot trench smack dab across the favorite walk to the quadranks.

The latest dispatch says that Acosta—he who flew for fifty-one hours without stopping—has withdrawn from the New York to Paris aerial race because he weighs 60 pounds more than his flying partner. Now, we suppose, not even aviators love fat men.

A contemporary recently welcomed the advent of spring politics and in the next line commented on the departure of mud from the campus. The mention of any analogy between the two was judiciously omitted.

This space is dedicated to two well-known characters CO-ED CORA and FRESHMAN FRITZ who, according to latest reports, are honeymooning in Hollywood.

MAKE IT A CLASSROOM BUILDING

The proposition is whether a classroom building or dormitory will be built with the last biennial state appropriations. At the recent meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees there was a split on the question of the more urgent need between the two.

Reporting that the classrooms would be more desirable and serving a greater purpose than more bedrooms, the building committee of the trustees pointed out that the recent houses constructed by several fraternities have served to largely answer the problem of housing the increasing number of students. When the matter is sifted down to the pure business of economy and utility between the making available more classroom space and providing more University housing quarters, it is obvious that another building for classrooms is the most desirable.

With fraternities building homes that will house some score or more men and residents of the town of Chapel Hill providing rooms at nearly the same price of dormitory billeting, there is no acute housing problem facing the University at this time. The fact is that the most of the time during the scholastic year dormitory rooms are available to those who wish them. There is good reason to believe that the Greek letter organizations can be induced to provide more rooming quarters for their members, incidentally aiding in housing a part of the students who would otherwise be forced to look to the University or townspeople, if proper encouragement is given them by providing easily accessible property close enough to the campus.

With slashed building appropriations, sufficient rooming space for the student body for this and a year or so to come, and the lack of ample space for the giving of instruction, the need is another classroom building.

PICK PICKIN'S Dave Carroll

In accordance with the plan announced in the last issue of the TAR HEEL, we publish here-with criticisms of pictures which are to be shown in Chapel Hill. By offering these indexes to both the good and the bad pictures, the TAR HEEL will attempt to assist students in the choice of the most worthwhile movies. However, we assume no responsibility for the accuracy of the reviews which we print.

TODAY—WOMANPOWER. We were unable to find any comment on this picture.

MONDAY—Harry Langdon in LONG PANTS.

Life says of this picture: "Harry Langdon is funny and otherwise by turns." And Sherwood himself says in Life: "Long Pants" is crazily uneven, but in its more commendable moments, it manages to be marvelous. . . ."

Judge grunts: "For Langdon lovers."

New York Morning World: "Most successful of all vagrant little drolls who have come forward to offer to devotees of the cinema a visual substitute for Charlie Chaplin. It really is a pretty funny picture."

We have just heard that "Ankles Preferred," presented here sometime ago, has been recalled for the second show of tonight's program. This is a special performance for the benefit of the Red Cross fund. However, we have been unable to secure criticisms of this picture at this late hour.

FRATERNITY BALL BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Three Chapters of Pi Kappa Phi Open the Post-Easter Dance Season.

The Pi Kappa Phi ball at the Washington Duke Hotel in Durham last night came up to the highest expectations, and proved to be one of the spot-lights in the spring social season. The State, Duke, and Carolina chapters of the fraternity left nothing undone in making the affair an outstanding success.

The dance floor was crowded, but not objectionable so, and the revelers responded enthusiastically to the captivating strains of "Jelly" Leftwich and his Orchestra.

A large delegation of girls was the feature of the evening. The social sets of Greensboro, Durham, Henderson, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Charlotte, and Hendersonville were well represented, and this influx of feminine talent was supplemented by a large number of stags to enliven the dancing.

The usual beauty of the Washington Duke ballroom was enhanced by decorations of white and gold, colors of Pi Kappa Phi, and the evening was exhilaratingly romantic. Attractive bracelets were given as favours to the girls, and confetti and brilliant colored streamers lent a touch of revelry to the occasion.

The entire mezzanine floor was engaged by the hosts, and refreshments were served near the ballroom entrance.

The figure was led by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Murdock, assisted by the residents of three chapters of Pi Kappa Phi with their partners.

Among the chaperones invited were: Dean and Mrs. D. D. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Pritchard, all of Chapel Hill; Mrs. J. K. Mason and Mrs. Clarence Pemberton, of Durham; Mrs. L. E. Farthing, of Wilmington; and Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bryson, of Asheville.

PHILOLOGICAL CLUB IN FINAL MEETING

Election of officers for next year and the reading of a paper by Professor George Howe on "Virgil's Aenid" will feature the final meeting of the year of the Philological Club, which will be held at the Episcopal Parish House Tuesday at 7:30 P. M.

According to E. C. Metzenthin, President of the club, the program includes several very important matters, and he urged yesterday that all members of the club be present. The report of the committee for the "Invitation of the Modern Language Association of America" is scheduled for the meeting.

Professor W. T. Toy will deliver a brief talk during the social hour. Light refreshments will be served.

PLANT EXHIBIT IN DAVIE HALL

On entering the side entrance of Davie Hall one is met by a profusion of tulips, iris, different kinds of potted plants and ferns on exhibit there.

The orderly mass of plants, cut and potted, strike one with a powerful sense of beauty. To the left stands a table of purple, yellow, and white iris. On the center table rest tulips of many colors. At the right and behind the tables are potted plants and ferns which present a charming background.

Dr. Coker raised a few of the specimens but most of them, including quite a few rare ones were raised by William Hunt of the Van Lindley nurseries at Pomona.

Upchurch to Address North Carolina Club

Law Student Will Present Paper at Monday Night Meeting.

Frank C. Upchurch, of New Hill, a student in the Law School, will speak on "The Lawyer's Place in a Democratic State" at the regular fortnightly meeting of the North Carolina Club Monday night. The meeting, which will be the last of the year, will be held at 7:30 o'clock in 112 Saunders Hall, as usual.

According to officials of the Club, Mr. Upchurch has prepared a paper in which some unique and excellent ideas are presented. He has done a large amount of research work on the subject that he is speaking on Monday night, having made a careful study of it.

A. building where he held interviews with several students regarding the foreign work of the Association. Discuss Catholicism Versus Protestantism

Epworth League Will Hear Both Sides Tomorrow Night.

Conflicts between Catholicism and Protestantism will be the theme for discussion at the Epworth League Sunday night. President Bob Hardee has been very fortunate in securing for the major speakers Mr. Harold Breard, Catholic, and Mr. Aubrey Perkins, Protestant. Mr. Breard will speak on "What Catholicism Means to Me" and Mr. Perkins will take for his subject, "Should Catholicism be Condemned?" Mr. Hardee will try later to secure a speaker for the subject, "Conflicts between Jews and Catholics."

These discussions are the result of Mr. Hardee's efforts to bring to light the religious differences and the foundation for such differences on the campus. The discussions will probably attract quite a hearing in Epworth League Sunday night, and everyone is cordially invited as ample seating facilities can be secured for the occasion.

Rachel Howard's Recital

Rachel Howard, the six-year-old daughter of Rev. B. J. Howard, gave a piano recital Saturday. The program included ten pieces played from memory. The girl is a pupil of Miss Lena Mae Williams, a graduate of Meredith College, who has had special training in the teaching of children.

When Gooch's Was A Seven Seater

Back in 1903 Gooch's Cafe with only seven seats was the dining hall for the boys just the same as the present Gooch's. Then as now Gooch's was "Carolina's Night Time Playground."

If you like good foods well cooked and good fellowship, come on down to Gooch's for the rest of the year. It's meal hour here when you feel like eating. You never pay for anything you miss and you eat just as little or just as much as you like. Springtime with all its good foods invites you to settle down at Gooch's Cafe. You'll enjoy the good fellowship of the boys who now eat here. Come on down.
