BALL TEAM ON SOUTHERN TRIP

To Meet Georgia Tech and Georgia in Brace of Games Each

The Tar Heel baseball nine left Chapel Hill Tuesday night at seven o'clock on its annual southern trip on which the strong Georgia Tech and University of Georgia teams will be met in a brace of games each.

Sixteen players besides Manager Pearsall and Coach Ashmore made the trip. They are: Hatley, Mackie, Finlator, Coke, Young, Burt, Satterfield, Webb, Heavner, Green, Fulcher, Thomas, Westmoreland, Ellison and Whisnant.

The Carolinians were scheduled to open their invasion in Atlanta against the Yellow Jackets yesterday, remaining for another game today. Friday they meet the Bulldogs in Athens in the first of a two-game series, returning to the "Hill" Sunday in time to rest up for Monday's game with Wake Forest on Emerson Field.

"Lefty" Westmoreland was announced as Coach Ashmore's selection for mound duty yesterday and "Red" Ellison will probably work today's game. Whisnant, Thomas, and Fulcher are all likely to get a chance before the trip is over.

TAR BABIES MEET BLUE IMPES TODAY

Powerful Methodist Team to Be Met after Road Trip.

Returning home today from a three day jaunt in the wilds of Virginia the Tar Baby nine will finish their series of games for the week when they meet the Duke Blue Imps at four o'clock on Emerson Field.

The Carolinians opened their season rather poorly but have improved considerably since. The boys have been getting their eyes on the old ball and have boosted their batting average quite a bit. Out of a number of would-be pitchers who were on hand at first, Stewart, Edwards and Borst have been developed into fairly decent hurlers for a frosh club.

The Methodists are coming with the reputation of the best yearling team in the state, having decisively defeated the Wild Kittens last Friday 21 to 5, and taken State in tow last Saturday 11 to 2. Duke has an excellent moundsman in Belue who held the Wolflets to three hits while his teammates were collecting a dozen or so. Luquire and Kistler form the nucleus of the visitors' battery of sluggers.

Excellent pitching on the part of Stewart and Bost aided by timely hitting gave the Tar Babies a 2 to 0 victory over Woodberry Forest and a 10 to 6 win over the Virginia freshmen.

Monday afternoon Stewart was in great shape and whiffed fourteen of the opposing batters. Jackson, captain of the Carolinians drove in the two winning runs when he slammed out a double in the seventh with two on base.

In the Virginia game Edwards was touched for six runs but was replaced by Bost in the third who allowed only one hit for the remainder of the innings. The Tar Heels began to get on to Melsore's slants and gathered sixteen hits to win by an overwhelming score.

DELEGATES GO TO PRESS CONFERENCE

Eleven Carolina Men to Be Present at Greensboro Meeting.

The Publications Union Board will be represented by eight men at the thirteenth semi-annual North Carolina Inter-collegiate Press Association meeting which opens in Greensboro this evening.

J. F. Ashby, Fred Simon, W. W. Neal and Dave Carroll will be the delegates from the TAR HEEL. R. K. Fowler and Young M. Smith will represent the Carolina Magazine. W. W. Anderson, editor-elect and L. H. McPherson, business manager-elect, will represent the Buccaneer.

The picture of the Order of Sheiks, sophomore social order, will be taken today, at Chapel Hill, in front of the library. All members are requested to be present.

Mid Term Grades Posted

The registrar's office has announced that all mid-term reports will be posted today at 9:30 at Old South.

Attention is called to rising Juniors and Seniors to the new plan providing special privileges for ten exceptional men beginning next year. Students who have a scholastic average of B, and who are interested in carrying on the work on the honor group basis, are requested to make application through Dean Hibbard's office before the fifteenth of May.

PLAYMAKER BILL IS ON TONIGHT

Spring Program to Be Given Thursday and Friday; Is Light and Amusing.

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmaker Theatre the Carolina Playmakers will present their spring bill of original plays. The three plays in the order they are to be given are: Mr. Perry Writes A Play, a burlesque of folk-play writing by Bill Perry; The Marvellous Romance of Wen Chun Chin, a romantic comedy of China by Ching Chin Hsuang, and Quare Medicine, a comedy of village life, by Paul Green, whose play In Abraham's Bosom has just been awarded the Pulitzer prize. There will be a special student price of 75c. Tickets will be on sale at Sutton and Alderman's.

All the plays have new sets and the costumes are from Van Horn of Philadelphia. The Chinese play will have special Chinese music and the costumes in this play were made especially by Van Horn.

Amid the abuse of his unsympathetic and hard-boiled roommate, played by A. D. Austin, Mr. Perry Writes A Play, for his Great God Koch. The youthful playwright, at least that is what he thinks he is, writes a real tragedy of the soil, which proves to be a heartrending drama of a girl who slaves and slaves, played by Anita Darling, and her two parents who just can't understand her wanting to "go places and do things." Ma, who finally succumbs after many coughs and groans, is played by Josephine Sharkey, and Pa, the gentleman who spits, is played by J. Z. Hanner.

The Marvellous Romance of Wen Chun Chin, is a story of the hardships and love affairs of a Chinese student, played by Marilee Shaw. The two lovers are played by Laurence Wallace and Sheppard Strudwick.

Quare Medicine is the story of a hen-pecked husband, played by J. Z. Hanner, and his old father, played by D. W. Currie, who are suppressed by the wife who is "religious good," played by Eral Thompson. Dr. Immanuel, an old quack patent medicine man, who is able to cure all ills, is played by Hubert Heffner.

OGBURN TO HEAD U. N. C. GLEE CLUB

Monday night in the annual business meeting, the Carolina Glee Club elected officers for the coming year and made the annual awards for service in the club. The club elected officers for the coming year as follows: President, T. B. Ogburn, Greensboro; Vice-President, E. H. Erwin, Durham; and Secretary, F. G. Myers, Charleston, South Carolina.

The business session was opened by a report of the business manager, Ernest F. Young, which contained interesting statistics in regards to the work of the club during the past season. In concert tour the club has covered three states and sung nineteen concerts to audiences totaling over five thousand.

The Glee Club keys, given for service in the club, were presented with a fitting address by Paul J. Weaver, director of the club. Having completed two years work with the organization, and made the required number of concert tours, keys were presented to the following men: J. R. Baker, T. B. Ogburn, J. E. Cobb, M. C. Crowson, J. R. De Journette, E. H. Irwin, E. L. Curlee, J. G. Adams, F. K. Myers, T. J. Edwards, and Henry Weil. At this time keys were also presented to Mr. Nelson O. Kennedy, club pianist, and Mr. Charles Troxell, head of the voice department.

(By Prometheus)
Last Tuesday saw ten men chosen for the Senior Order of the Golden Fleece in its twenty-fifth annual tapping before a small crowd of about four hundred people. Bunn Hackney acted as Jason and the Honorable Cameron Morrison, ex-governor of North Carolina, was the principal speaker of the occasion. President Chase and Horace Williams also made short talks.

Bunn Hackney opened the occasion with a short talk on the Golden Fleece, giving the Fleece's ideals and requirements. Hackney said that the Senior Order was recognized as the highest honor that could possibly be bestowed upon a Carolina man and that a place in the Fleece meant that a man had attained the highest possible peak of campus achievements. Then he introduced President Chase.

Chase Speaks
Dr. Chase said in part that in 1919 education in North Carolina was faced with a serious crisis. Until the war, the attendance at the University had not been over 1,000 students but when the war was over, hundreds of additional students poured in their applications and another crisis arose. This time there was not enough room to house all the men who wished to attend the University and the authorities were perplexed with the problem. The question of obtaining the sympathy of the state arose. Then Cameron Morrison was elected governor. Morrison worked and slaved and showed the courage to plead, insist and demand that additional room be made at the University of North Carolina. It is no exaggeration that on Cameron Morrison hung the entire fate of higher education in North Carolina.

Cameron Morrison
Mr. Morrison, in his talk on "Politics and Law Enforcement" said that he was deeply interested in all the colleges in this state and that he wanted them to meet their responsibilities. He mentioned by the way of a parenthetical expression that he was fond of speaking—way off in the back-woods. "Neither I nor anyone else knows very much about the Fleece," he stated, "but it is a beautiful and highly inspirational order. The Golden Fleece has grown to be the culmination of a man's deeds during his sojourn at Carolina." He congratulated the men-to-be-tapped and consoled those who were not-to-be-tapped, saying that everyone in future life is going to be tapped, in some way or another, according to each man's respective character and accomplishments which must be built on a solid foundation—a foundation that the Carolina student must find and stand on for on them will fall the brunt of the burden of clean politics.

"The government has a weakness that must be removed and the young men of today are the only ones to do it. Shall our government be strong enough to enforce the law of the country or

V. P. I. NINE WINS ALTHOUGH OUTHIT

Tar Heels Got Nine Hits Off Bond but Couldn't Bunch 'Em.

Coach Ashmore's Tar Heels failed to make their hits count Tuesday afternoon and V. P. I. eked out a 7-4 victory. The Carolina batters outhit the Gobblers nine to eight but never could bunch over two hits in any one frame.

Fulcher started on the mound for Carolina but gave way to Ellison in the fifth after he had walked three men in a row in the third and been scored on in the fourth only to open the next frame by passing the first batter to face him.

"Red" got through the fifth and sixth safely, but the Gobblers pecked him for exactly four hits in the seventh, and these together with two errors and a sacrifice counted four runs and the Gobblers' margin of victory.

It was three up and three down in the eighth, but V. P. I. chalked up one more in the final frame when Dear singled to right, was safe on second on a close attempted double play which retired Tomko at first, and scored a minute later on Mattox's single into right, his third of the day.

Webb lost his hitting "jinx" yesterday and bagged three out of four, his first hit of the afternoon being a double in the second inning which scored Mackie for the Tar Heels' first run of the day. Another tally was marked up in the sixth when Tom Young beat out an infield hit and scored on Mackie's triple into left, another in the eighth on hits by Mackie and Sharpe, and the final in the ninth when Satterfield lived on a fielder's choice, took second when Heavner, pinch hitting for Ellison, was hit by the V. P. I. hurler, and scored on Burt's slashing single into center.

One of the biggest thrills of the game came in the third when with two men down Fulcher lost control and passed three men in a row to fill the sacks. Willey, big first baseman, was up, with a pole that would have done credit to "Babe" Ruth, and fans were on edge. Willey took two whiffs at it and Fulcher issued three balls and the "pinch" was complete, but the next ball cut the plate and Willey was left with his bat on his shoulder.

Mackie pushed Webb for batting honors with two out of four, one a triple. Mattox led the Virginians at the bat with three out of four.

Bond, V. P. I. hurler, while he was touched for nine hits, kept them well scattered and held the Tar Heels in check. He recently pitched the Gobblers to victory over Washington and Lee, perhaps the hardest hitting college club in the south this year, in a game in which he fanned fourteen men.

The Tar Heel track team seems prepared to win its sixth consecutive state track championship in the annual state intercollegiate meet at the new Memorial stadium in Greensboro, tomorrow and Saturday.

This is the first state meet to take place in Greensboro and will mark the culmination of state cinder path activities for this season.

For the last five years the Carolina track men have managed to win out rather easily over opposition of the "Big Five," but circumstances are somewhat changed this year. Both Duke and State are displaying considerable strength, and Davidson claims several individual stars that are likely to break a few records.

During the past few days Coach Bob Fetzer has been unceasingly priming his stars for the meet in Greensboro. He is placing his faith for victory on such veterans as Captain McPherson, Elliott, Pritchett, Rhinehart, Pearson, Giersch, and Williams.

The final meet on Saturday will be greatly enlivened by the presence of the girls of both N. C. C. W. and G. C. W., who have accepted the invitation of the Stadium Committee to attend the meet.

Student Contributions Increase In Latest Number of Magazine

Prometheus Finds Lack of Outside Articles Causes Slight Decrease in Quality, but Interest Is Highly Increased.

(By Prometheus)
The April issue of the Carolina Magazine features a story, "Decent Burial," by Lilith Shell; a group of poems by J. K. Moreland and "Septoids," a group of six poems by R. K. Fowler.

Late as usual, the Magazine shuffles upon the campus with only a mediocre assortment. However, student contributions are predominant in this issue, showing either an increasing excellence in behalf of local talent or a decreasing amount of copy submitted by writers off the campus. The latter seems to be the basic reason for the decline of the campus' literary magazine.

"Decent Burial" concerns the life of a very poor and illiterate family. The mother, conscientious and proud and a wayward son who is the father of an illegitimate child by a neighbor's daughter, provides the plot and action of the story. The dialogue is rather well done and the story plainly but delicately handled. It is interesting inasmuch as it is not too long and concise.

The four poems by John R. Moreland are mere poems. They are nothing.

SOCIAL CALENDAR FULL OF PROMISE

Fraternity and Private Dances on Deck for Record Week-end.

This week-end's harvest of social affairs will be one of the largest ever experienced by Carolina students.

The Theta Phi fraternity's house party will get under way tomorrow, and will be climaxed by a ball that evening at the Carolina Inn. At the same time the Sigma Nu Alumni dance will come off in Raleigh at the Sir Walter Raleigh Hotel, and the State chapter of that fraternity will add to the occasion by giving a house party. Kike Kyser and His Orchestra are to play for the hop, which will be followed by a Sigma Nu banquet Saturday night, also in Raleigh. The S. P. E.'s are also giving a dance Friday night. Their affair will be given at the Washington Duke hotel in Durham.

The Sigma Phi Sigmas will close the Chapel Hill activities with a shag at the Carolina Inn Saturday evening. In addition to these affairs, there will be two private dances on the Hill—one Thursday night, and the other Friday night.
