

Large Delegation Planning to Attend Blue Ridge Conference

University Expects to Be Well Represented at Southern Y. M. C. A. Meet; Varied Program Calls for Study, Discussion and Recreation

The annual Conference which will be held at Blue Ridge this year will open June 17 and extend through a period of ten days. The University will be represented by a large number of delegates.

Extensive plans are being worked out in order to make this season's Conference as successful as possible. Several of the noted speakers of the country will conduct formal discussion groups, and deliver addresses on religious and moral topics. The mornings will be given over to these for-business sessions.

The afternoons will be spent in participating in athletic contests, hikes, and a general recreation period. Each year representatives from Carolina have participated in the various athletic struggles, and have ranked near the top in the total number of points scored.

Hillside addresses are held each night at seven o'clock which open up topics for thought. These topics are suggested for the next day's morning watch. The discussion groups consider in detail the same topic, striving to plan a program for action. Individual study periods are free from other activities and give the students an opportunity to study and to think for themselves upon the numerous subjects. Projects on Life Work Guidance, Christian World Education, etc., are led by experienced men.

Conference "outings" with picnic suppers, and especially planned programs, have proved in the past to be inspiring to all of the delegates. Hikes and other trips also prove of great interest and entertainment.

Last year such World-renowned speakers as G. Sherwood Eddy, world traveler and scholar, W. D. Weatherly, student leader and pioneer of the south, and J. W. Berghold, regional student secretary of the National Council of Y. M. C. A.

The entire south is represented each season at Blue Ridge. Carolina is expecting to send a larger group this year than ever before. Many prominent men on the campus have signified their intention of going. Among them appear the names of the following: J. O. Allison, John Anderson, E. O. Ayscue, Charles Banner, Killian Barwick, Taylor Bledsoe, Joe Bobbitt, William Bobbitt, Arnold Borden, E. A. Cameron, Buck Carr, Andy Cowles, J. W. Crew, Walter Creech, R. B. Davidson, Jack Davis, Galen Elliott, H. L. Farrell, Marion Follin, Byron Glenn, Frazier Glenn, Calvin Graves, "Swampy" Grimes, Bob Hovjs, C. R. Holmes, Nelson Howard, S. N. Johnston, Sam McNealy, Billy Marshall, Hoyt Pritchett, Red Smith, Walt Spearman, William Scott, J. W. Wray, John Vann, R. W. Wilkins, J. W. Williams, "Sonny" Tilghman, Robert Zealy.

REPORTER PLACES NINE CAROLINA PLAYERS ON ALL-STATE TEAM

In picking an all-state team it is only natural that the teams which lead in the race for the state championship should come in for the most consideration; and so it is that Carolina has been awarded five places on the first team and four on the second, and Duke two on the first and four on the second.

In the course of a bull session with a University letterman "Ye Picker" asked the letterman who he thought should make "All-State." The advice he received was to write the Carolina team down as his first pick and then make up a second team.

All of which was very good advice. Duke and Wake Forest, however, might feel slighted if we left them out entirely and might think we were trying to "hog" the spotlight; so we present but five Carolina players on the first team.

"Lefty" Westmoreland, Tom Young, Ed Burt, Ed Mackie, and Captain Hatley would do credit and glory to any all-state team that might be picked, and "Ye Picker" just couldn't risk his already poor reputation by leaving out any one of them. Sharpe, Satterfield, Cox, and Havner all received serious consideration and after much deliberation were given places on the second team.

Carolina Leads
Carolina stands head and shoulders above the rest of the teams in the state, and every man from the captain on down to the bat boy is a star performer. The writer must confess they're all so good that he almost yielded to the temptation to make Carolina his first pick and take his second term from the other teams of the state.

Hollingsworth, Duke, was given the receiver's job on the first team over Bill Sharpe because of his better peg to second. Both are finished receivers and good hitters, but Hollingsworth's arm is much better than Sharpe's. Clayton, of Wake Forest, could hardly be given an edge over Henry Satterfield in the fielding line, but he is a slightly more dependable hitter, and so his choice for short. Saunders, Duke, is a more finished third-baseman than Havner and perhaps has a slight edge on the Carolina man in the hitting line. He is without a doubt the cream of the third basemen with Havner a close second. Outen, State, is an all round good left fielder, hard hitter, good fielder, fast base runner, and good thrower. We doubt seriously that he can beat our "Homerun Casey" Cox with the bat, but Tommy is a little erratic at times in fielding. To atone for it, we place Cox on the second nine.

Young, Burt, Mackie, and Hatley need no commendation. Nor does Westmoreland, whom we place at the list of hurlers. The big lefthander has won six out of six games for Carolina with "Big Five" opponents and has done more than anything else to bring Carolina a state championship. He is easily the best hurler in the state, with the old reliable Joyner, Wake Forest, and Fowler, Elon, as the next best.

Second Team
The second string has a fast, snappy infield in Weaver (D), first; Dowtin (WF) second; Satterfield (C) shortstop; and Havner (C), third. Weaver's work with the bat has been outstanding all year, and while his fielding hasn't been brilliant, it has been steady and consistent. Satterfield and Havner are both fast, steady fielders with exceptionally good throwing arms, and Dowtin is an able second baseman. He runs Eddie Burt a close place for the second base position on the first team, but Burt's superior fielding got him the place.

Braxton, Elon captain is one of the best hitters in the state and a good fielder, and he and our hard hitting Cox, and Green of Duke form a fast trio of flyhaws. Thomas and Johnson, Duke, and Beal, State, seem the next three best hurlers in the state and are awarded the mound posts.

The pick has been made and "Ye Picker" humbly lays it at the mercy of Ye Baseball Fan, realizing full well that he will be criticized and called every species of fool that ever existed. Everybody makes mistakes, however, and "Ye Picker" ain't alone; so criticism on and see who gives a 'oot!

NOE WILL LEAD PHI NEXT FALL

Other Officers Elected at Banquet; Norwood Carroll on Junior Debate.

The quarterly election of officers for the following quarter was held at the meeting of the Phi Assembly last Tuesday night.

Mr. Noe was elected Speaker; Mr. Carroll, Speaker Pro-tem; Mr. Beard, Sergeant-at-arms; Mr. Zealy, Reading Clerk; Mr. Taylor, Treasurer; Mr. Harrell, Assistant-Treasurer; Mr. Hardee, Chairman of the Appellate Committee; and Messrs. Chappell, Kelley, and Carr to the Ways and Means Committee. The elections were very hotly contested and took up a large part of the time. No motions or resolutions were discussed.

Norwood Carroll was chosen on the Junior debate, held annually during Commencement. The Phi debaters are to discuss the negative side of the resolution, "Resolved: that Democracy as a political ideal is a failure in the United States."

At this point the meeting was adjourned in order to allow those present to enjoy the quarterly banquet.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology School of Chemical Engineering Practice

INDIVIDUAL and practical training at five industrial plants are important features of the Graduate Course in Chemical Engineering Practice. Field work is carried out at Bangor, Me.; Boston, Mass.; Buffalo, N. Y.; and Bayonne, N. J.; in plants producing sulphite and soda pulp, paper, caustic soda, chlorine, heavy acids and salts, sugar, coke, gas, steel, petroleum and other chemical products.

The more important operations of Chemical Engineering, as typified by the above processes, are studied systematically by tests and experiments on actual plant apparatus, thus fixing in the student's mind the principles of Chemical Engineering and correlating these principles with practice.

The work is non-remunerative and independent of plant control, the whole attention of the students being directed to study and experimentation.

Registration is limited, as students study and experiment in small groups and receive individual instruction by resident members of the Institute's Faculty.

Admission requires adequate preparation in chemistry and engineering. Able students can complete the requirements for the Master of Science degree in one and a half years.

A competent set of officials are to be in charge of the meet. Chief among these are: Dr. Kent Brown (U of Penn.) referee; Dr. A. S. Lawrence (Sewanee), starter; Dr. R. B. Lawson (U. of Md.), head timer; Wallace Smith (U. N. C.), chief field judge and M. F. Vinning (Texas), head finish judge.

State Championship Goes to Carolina—Duke Is Defeated

other than Westmoreland himself who started the ball rolling. His slashing triple into center in the third inning scored Havner, who had singled, and Jonas, running for the Tar Heel hurler, came in a minute later on Cox's sacrifice fly.

These two runs knotted the count, for Duke had chalked up the same number the inning before on two hits, an error, and a sacrifice bunt.

"Homerun-Casey" Cox lived up to his newly acquired title and drove out a homerun that accounted for three more scores and the Tar Heels' margin of victory. His drive into right field in the fifth got away from Green and scored Havner and Westmoreland, both of whom had walked. The last run came in the sixth when Mackie singled and Hatley tripled, Hatley dying on third when Burt struck out and Havner grounded out a hard one to third.

Weaver, big first baseman, hit for the circuit in the sixth frame, but luckily for Carolina he was the first man up. Duke scored her final run in the seventh when Thomas doubled and scored on Saunder's single.

Hatley pulled one of the most sensational pieces of work of the game in the third inning when he raced into deep center to take Green's drive over his left shoulder while still on the run. The drive looked good for a homerun, and it might have cost Carolina the game, since there was one man on at the time. Cox made a nice catch of Wyrick's drive in the eighth after another long run and cut off a possible rally.

Thomas, Duke hurler, yielded but six hits to Westmoreland's eight, but the Tar Heels were better able to bunch their blows and make them count than the Blue Devils.
