COACHING SCHOOL CONDUCTED BY U. N. C. IN AUGUST

Under Joint Auspices of Athletic Association and Extension Division; Instruction in All Sports.

The sixth annual University of North Carolina coaching school for high school athletic directors will be conducted at Chapel Hill from August 22 through September 3, it was announced today by officials of the school. It is expected that there will be a Southern-wide attendance of school officials and athletic directors at the coaching school here this summer.

The two weeks coaching school will be conducted under the joint auspices of the University Extension Division and the General Athletic Association of the University of North Carolina. The school will concern itself with instruction both in the theory and the practice of the coaching of the major branches of athletics, as these branches are comprised in the general high school athletic program of North Carolina and other southern states.

Stress will be laid on the coaching of football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, soccer, boxing and wrestling, and on the training and conditioning of athletes. The morning hours will be devoted to lectures and discussions, and the afternoons will be taken up with demonstrations and practical work in the various branches of athletics. A special series of lectures will be given on the interpretation of the rules governing the various branches of athletics and on officiating in the different sports.

The University of North Carolina will place at the disposal of the membership of the coaching school its physical plant and its athletic equipment. The Kenan stadium, which is now being constructed on the Uni-

WHAT CAUSED THE SICKNESS?

Water Plant Says Not Caused By Water — Swain Hall Not Responsible

Within the past few days 25 or 30 cases of mild diarrhea have been reported at the Infirmary. On Monday a rumor circulated about the campus that it was ptomaine poisoning, and that chicken salad served at Swain Hall was responsible. Dr. E. A. Abernethy, University physician, questioned those confined in the Infirmary, however, and found that only a part of them were Swain Hall boarders. He also denied the rumor that it was ptomaine poisoning.

On Tuesday and Wednesday an increasing amount of the sickness was reported, and by Wednesday night it was wide spread on the campus and throughout Chapel Hill. Most of the cases were mild enough that medical attention was not sought.

Dr. S. A. Nathan, city health officer, and Dr. Abernethy have checked up on the local water supply in trying to locate the cause of the diarrhea. A careful check failed to show any contamination. They have also decided that it was no particular

Work Begins on Sutton Building; to Finish Sept. 1

Work has begun on the Sutton building, located between the Sutton and Alderman drug store and Carolina Smokeshop, Tuesday afternoon and will be rushed to completion. J. L. Sutton, senior partner of the drug company adjacent to the new building, is the owner and builder.

Mr. Sutton stated that the contract calls for a complete building by September 1st, and that the contractor, C. L. Martindale, of Chapel Hill will rush the work to completion.

The building is to be two stories high with a basement. The ground floor will contain three store fronts. There will be three basements 100 feet long, and the top floor will be taken up with 14 offices.

The Carolina Smoke Shop will move into the store next to their present location. This part of the building is to have an oak floor and plastered walls. The middle section will also have plastered walls but the floor will be of tile. This is to be occupied by an outside concern reported to be "different from anything here"; further information could not be secured. The third store has not been rented.

The R. R. Markley Company, of Durham, are the architects for the building, which with the property on which it will stand is reported to be worth approximately $70,000.00.

Two years ago construction was begun on the building, the plans of which somewhat varied from these of the present, but was halted after the foundation had been laid and the rough ground-floor had been built. The property was originally held by the Chapel Hill Insurance and Realty Company. Mr. Sutton acquired it about six months ago.

HOUSE LECTURES ON N. C. HISTORY

Executive Secretary Makes First Talk under Davie Poplar Tomorrow Evening.

The "Summer School Chataqua," a series of lectures of peculiar interest to people of the summer school will begin Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, July 2. These occasions are free to the public, and will take place on the lawn under the Davie Poplar. The first lectures will be delivered by Mr. Robert B. House, Executive Secretary of University of North Carolina. His subject will be, "North Carolina History Prior to the Civil War." At a later date Mr. House will deliver a second lecture on, "The History of North Carolina After the Civil War."

Mr. House is a native of North Carolina. He holds degrees from the University of North Carolina and from Harvard. He was for several years secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission, and comes to the address of Friday evening with peculiar qualifications as speaker and historian. "The campus will want to hear both of Mr. House's addresses in order to get the continuous story of the history of our state," Mr. Comer, who is in charge, stated yesterday.

Playmakers Are Now Planning Fall Tours; Make Three

Plans for the Carolina Playmaker tours for next year are already under way, and Hubert Heffner, assistant director and business manager, is busy making up the itinerary.

The Playmakers will make three tours during the year. The fall tour will take them up as far as New York, while the other two be limited to the state. The eastern part of the state will be covered during the winter, and the western half during the spring. On all these tours the Playmakers will produce their own folk plays.

A number of towns have already been booked and Manager Heffner expects to have the itinerary complete before the fall term opens. Each tour will take up 10 days of plays.

Hibbard on Staff At Conference on Creative Writing

Word of the appointment of Dean Addison Hibbard of the University of North Carolina to the staff in charge of the second annual session of the Bread Loaf Conference on Creative Writing has been received here.

The conference, conducted by Middlebury College, will be held at Bread Loaf Inn August 17 to 31. Their purpose is to offer expert guidance in literary problems for young people who are learning to write. The program will consist of background lectures on the writing of short stories, novels, articles and poems, with practical suggestions on developing a prose style and the preparation and placing of manuscripts. There will be informal discussions on both the artistic and practical problems of creative writing, and group and individual conferences on manuscripts brought by the students.

The session will be in general charge of John Farrar, editorial director of the George H. Doran Company. Other members of the staff, besides Professor Hibbard, are Harvey Allen, professor of English at Vassar College; Burges Johnson, professor of English at Syracuse University; Herbert Gorman, author and critic, whose book on Longfellow was published last year.

TWENTY-THREE TENNIS COURTS NOW AVAILABLE

Athletic Association and Y. M. C. A. Cooperate to Put Courts in Condition—Provide Others if Needed.

Twenty-three tennis courts have been opened up for free use of all Summer School people through a plan of cooperation between the Athletic Association and the Y. M. C. A. New nets have been purchased and put up, and the courts are being lined daily and kept in their usual good condition by the same working personnel that was in charge during the long session.

The courts were not "robbed" of their nets at the beginning of the summer as some thought, but rather in compliance with the budget and ruling of the Athletic Board, which Board operates only for the nine months of the long session, the nets were taken down and stored for the next year's use. The Athletic Association has never had provision in its budget for athletic operations during the summer months, and it was necessary therefore that some arrangements be made to provide tennis for the summer school. The Y. M. C. A., being charged with all social and recreational program during the summer school, is providing the necessary money for purchase of nets and the care of courts, while the Athletic Association has assumed the problem of management and supervision.

If twenty-three courts are not enough to supply the demand, then other courts will be opened up till the need is completely met. The entire summer school of faculty and students are invited to make free and frequent use of the tennis courts.

Jean Knowlton Will Appear in Costume Recital Next Week

Jean Knowlton, soprano, will appear in a costume recital at Memorial Hall, Wednesday, July 6, as the fourth of the summer attractions offered by the Summer School. Attention is called to the date, which was made on the season tickets as being July 7.

Miss Knowlton, who comes from New York, will sing a program which is quite varied and which has been much praised in many cities throughout the country. Her Spanish songs are especially delightful, and are sung in a way which is possible only to one who knows from experience the life and music of Spain.

Miss Elizabeth Edwards visited in Dunn last week-end.

K. O. HIMSELF

Ad Warren will meet Chief Mayle of Fort Bragg Monday night in Durham for a four-round match, which is the feature of the holiday card.

AD WARREN TO FIGHT JULY 4

University Boxer Signed For Bout With Chief Mayle in Durham

Ad Warren, University boxer and athlete, and winner of the national light-heavyweight title in the amateur class in 1926, has been signed to fight Chief Mayle, Fort Bragg fighter, in Durham on July 4th.

This fight is to be the feature of the American Legion card that has been arranged as a part of the celebration there that day.

Mayle represented the U. S. in the heavyweight class in 1924 at the Paris Olympic Games and has since been fighting as a professional. He has had something over 40 bouts winning most of them with knock-outs. He has never been knocked-out himself.

Warren, who is strictly an amateur, has never been whipped either. He graduated from the University this spring after having spent four years here. During this time he acquired an imposing series of wins over the best fighters in collegiate circles and spent his summers training with professional fighters in northern cities.

The program will be staged at El Toro park at night. It is being managed for the Durham American Legion by E. K. Powe, Jr., chairman of the Legion boxing committee.

"Will be glad to appear for benefit of American Legion against Chief Mayle of Fort Bragg of July 4. To keep my amateur standing it will be impossible for me to fight over four rounds although I would like very much to go the limit," Warren declared in his telegram to Mr. Powe. Several other fighters are being lined up for the next program.

Studios Summer Schoolers

The students at this summer school are doing more reading than was done by last year's students, library officials announced yesterday. Records at the Library show that during the week June 12, 18,520 volumes were in circulation. The corresponding week last year 3967 volumes were in circulation. This is an increase of nearly 30%.

COFFER-MILLER PLAYERS GIVE TWO SELECTIONS

"She Stoops to Conquer" Acted Tuesday and "The Black Pearl" Last Night

(By Reviewer)

"She Stoops to Conquer," the old English comedy by Oliver Goldsmith and the "Black Pearl" a mystery play, were presented by the Coffe-Miller Players Tuesday and Wednesday evenings to appreciative audiences.

Jess Coffe, playing the part of Tony Lumpkin in "She Stoops to Conquer," furnished a constant source of laughter. As the country bumpkin and son of Mrs. Hardcastle, the doting mother who had killed the character of her son with kindness, he was heartily applauded. Coffe is an accomplished actor and was well cast for his role. Mrs. Hardcastle, played by Martha Miller, though producing nerve-wrecking effects by her strained artificiality, fitted the type of character she was portraying. Her husband, squire Hardcastle, was not as impressive as the vigorous old man, due to the monotony of his tones.

Visiting the family to court Miss Hardcastle (Betty Lou Kelly) was Young Marlowe, shy of ladies and familiar with barmaids. Arthur Curran representing the young man skillfully acted the part and put his friend George Hastings (Charles Booth) in the shade of mediocrity. Other characters, Constance Neville, as Stingo, and the Squire were mediocre and unimpressively artificial.

The interest in "The Black Pearl" was chiefly the mystery plot, occasionally forgotten in the enjoyment of the humorous and whimsical Jess Coffe. The robbery was a false alarm and the jewels during the fire had become heated and had welded together. The play was called by the author, "The Comedy of Intrigue." Consistent acting made it interesting throughout.

19 CAROLINA MEN AT BLUE RIDGE

They Are Attending 32nd Annual Conference for Student Y. M. C. A. Workers.

Nineteen University of North Carolina students are attending the thirty-second annual conference for student Y. M. C. A. workers now being held at Blue Ridge. The University delegation is the largest of the ten southeastern states represented at the conference.

The leaders of the conference are J. Stitt Wilson, formerly mayor of Berkeley, California, and Dr. E. M. Poteat, formerly president of Furman University. Dr. Poteat, who recently returned to the United States after a seven year stay in China, will deliver several of the sermons at the union services to be held in Chapel Hill during the second term of the Summer School.

Harry F. Comer, secretary of the University of North Carolina Y. M. C. A., on his return to Chapel Hill last week from Blue Ridge, stated that the attendance was the smallest in the history of the conference. He attributed the small representations to the late date of the conference and to the conditions existing in the three flooded states and Florida.
