BUILDING PLANS FOR 2 YR.'S WORK ARE ANNOUNCED

Work Has Already Begun On Phillips Hall Wing and Smith Dormitory—New Library.

Plans for the first three projects on the University of North Carolina 1927-1928 building program have been completed, according to announcement from the office of Charles T. Woollen, business manager, and work on the buildings is expected to be well under way by the time the University opens in the fall.

The schedule calls for the renovation of the New West building, an addition to Phillips Hall, which houses the engineering, mathematics and physics departments, and the erection of a new library. The entire program, of which these three projects form only a part, will be financed by $1,220,000 appropriated by the last legislature. Contractors for the buildings are T. C. Thompson and Bros.

The largest and most important structure on the program will be the construction of a new $625,000 library to be situated on the edge of the woods facing the South building and about 200 yards from it.

Ground has already been broken for the addition to Phillips Hall for the departments of mathematics and physics. The new wing will correspond in position to the addition made last year.

The renovation of New West, one of the oldest buildings on the campus, which has been used at one time or another as a dormitory, music building and home of the Di Society, is scheduled to begin September 1st, and, when completed, will be used for classrooms, laboratories, and the Di Society Hall.

The Mary Ann Smith dormitory is already in the process of being completely renovated and rebuilt inside. It will be ready for occupancy shortly after the fall term opens. It is rumored that this building will be turned over to the graduate students in the University for their exclusive use.

SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSES TUESDAY

Dean States Session Is Most Successful in History—Little Commencement Planned.

The University of North Carolina will close the most successful Summer School of its history with the "little commencement" here August 30.

Dr. N. W. Walker, Director of the Summer School, reports that he has had a growing number of students here doing graduate work, professional work, and straight academic work for a degree, than at any other summer session before. There has also been a marked decrease in the number of delinquent students who spend the summer here making up winter work on which they had failed.

Examinations for the second summer term begin Monday morning, August 29, and go through Tuesday, August 30. The "little commencement" will be held Tuesday evening under Davie Poplar.

The University's New Memorial Stadium

The arena wherein more than 24,000 people expect to see the University defeat Virginia at the annual Thanksgiving classic this fall. In spite of the fact that it will be ready for play before that time no games will be played in it until Thanksgiving, when it will be dedicated.

Kenan Memorial Stadium Nears Completion; Will Seat 24,000

Structure Made Possible by $275,000 Gift of William Rand Kenan, Jr.—Will Probably Dedicate Stadium Thanksgiving.

The Kenan Memorial Stadium a towering concrete temple to the God of the Gridiron, seating more than 24,000 spectators, is almost ready for use. The two huge arcs of the seats face the two sides of the field, each section having a capacity of 12,000 people.

This new stadium was made possible by a fine gift of $275,000 from William Rand Kenan, Jr., railroad magnate and graduate of the University in the class of 1894. The stadium itself is to be a memorial to William Rand and Mary Hargrove Kenan, father and mother of the donor.

In the valley at north end of the field, massive concrete pillars are being constructed and in the spaces between, gates of an ornamental character will be installed. At the south end work is progressing on the field house. It is here that the competing teams will have their dressing rooms, lockers and shower baths, and that quarters will be provided for meetings of officials and for the storage of athletic equipment. The walls are to be of stucco, to accord, in appearance, with the concrete stands. The roof is to be made of red tile.

The contractors are placing the wooden seats. These are of Douglas fir, said to be the most durable kind of lumber. They will rest on iron brackets sunk

Dr. Harry W. Chase

President Chase is now in Europe with his family where he is getting a much needed rest. He will return to Chapel Hill and the executive office sometime in December.

He Gave the Stadium

Here is the man who presented us with the $275,000 athletic stadium that has just been completed on the south side of the campus. He is William Rand Kenan, Jr., of New York City, a graduate of the University with the class of 1894. The stadium is to be a memorial to William Rand and Mary Hargrove Kenan, father and mother of the donor.

Eat Watermelon?

The Young People's Interdenominational Union will have a melon splitting on the lawn of the Methodist Church Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

This is a farewell party for the Summer School student body. There will be no charge and everybody is cordially invited to come.

The Young People's Union is closing one of its most successful summers at this party.

Wallace, Magician, Performs for Students Here This Evening

Now you see it, now you don't, is or ought to be the slogan of the entertainment Wallace, the magician, gives in Memorial Hall on August 25. The wizard of a thousand tricks is said to be able to whisk realities from before the eyes of his audience to the utter confusion of all understanding.

It is one thing to be able to perform magical illusions and another to put them over. Wallace's talk is gentle and entertaining. He smiles and cracks jokes while he is vanishing a lamp, or making a wooden hand talk, or finding a white rabbit under the coat of some dignified gentleman in the audience.

HARMON TO EUROPE FOR A. E. F. REUNION

J. O. Harmon, manager of Swain Hall, and Henry Whitfield will leave Chapel Hill September 7 for Hampton Roads, Va., from where they will sail for Europe the following day to attend the reunion of the American Expeditionary Forces in Paris this fall.

During the absence of Mr. Harmon, Tom Howard will be in charge of Swain Hall, the University dining room. J. F. Motsinger will continue in the capacity of head-waiter.

All waiters for the fall quarter will report September 20 at 5 p. m., Acting-Manager Howard announced yesterday.

STUDENTS HERE MAY CHOOSE FROM WIDE ACTIVITIES

Something Besides Study To Interest Everybody. Athletics Lead.

The University offers its students ample opportunity to get into some form of extra-curricular activity. From the wide field that the men have to choose from there is something that everybody is interested in.

First in interest, perhaps, is athletics. The Athletic Association of the University of North Carolina is the student organization back of all athletics at the University. Every student is a member of this association, and in turn is entitled to all its privileges. As a member, you are allowed to attend all the games played by Carolina teams on the University field free of charge. This not only includes Varsity games, but games played by the freshman teams as well. A small fee is charged in the regular registration fee to cover membership in the Athletic Association and other athletic privileges.

Of course all students are not only eligible for the teams but are urged by the coaches to try out.

Other activities include the Carolina Playmakers, an organization which seeks to develop dramatic talent by fostering student productions; County Clubs, organized to promote friendship among the students from each county in the state; the Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic Assembly, which promote debating and public speaking; the Freshman Debating Society, also a debating organization; the Freshman Friendship Council, composed of "ex-Hi-Y" men; the Centro Hispano and Circle Francais, for those who wish to cultivate skill in either Spanish or French; the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society, to encourage scientific work and foster lectures on scientific subjects; the Latin American Club, for studying conditions in South America; the North Carolina Club, an organization studying the problems of the state; the Rifle Club, for instruction in the art of shooting; and the musical clubs which include the band, Glee Club, and orchestra.

Various other organizations that one may be elected to membership

President

Above is pictured C. R. Jonas, of Lincolnton, who is President of the student body for the coming year. He is at the present time a student in the Law School. During his stay here he has been prominently identified with many campus activities, among them being debating, athletics, and student editor of the Law Review.

U. N. C. BEGINS 133RD SESSION SEPTEMBER 23

Indications Are That Student Body Will Reach 3,000 — "Freshman Week" Starts September 19

The 133rd session of the University of North Carolina will begin Friday, September 23, when classes begin in all departments of the institution. With the opening a month away, the number of freshmen applying for admittance has already exceeded by more than 100 the total number of first year men enrolled last year. Dr. T. J. Wilson, Jr., registrar, states that more than 850 applications have been accepted and many more are coming in daily.

Present indications are that the student body of the University during the coming year will reach around 3,000. The most successful year in the history of Carolina is predicted.

The freshmen will begin coming into Chapel Hill Monday, September 19, to be on hand for "Freshman Week" program, which will continue through Thursday, Sept. 22nd. During the week the new men will be given a thorough physical examination, and those found to be defective in any way will be given special work under the personal supervision of the director of the gymnasium. Library tours, discussion groups on student government and the honor system, consultations with deans and counselors are a few of the other items which make up the freshman week schedule. More than 75 members of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet will be at hand to assist them.

Registration for freshmen will take place September 21. Upperclassmen will register September 22, and class work for the fall quarter will begin Friday, September 23.

ANNUAL COACHING SCHOOL OPENED

Four States Represented Among 75 Odd Registrants—School Ends September 3.

The sixth annual Coaching School, conducted by the University of North Carolina Extension Division, opened here Monday, and according to figures given out by E. R. Rankin, secretary, the enrollment was 55. Indications are that the latecomers will swell the total to more than 75.

The list of registrants includes a number of star athletes and many of the leading high school coaches of the State. North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia are represented.

The school, under the direction of Robert A. Fetzer, Director of Athletics at the University, offers courses in the theory and practice of football, basketball, baseball, tennis, track and field athletics, soccer, boxing, wrestling and in training and conditioning. Soccer, boxing and wrestling are being offered this year for the first time. In addition to Coach Bob Fetzer, who has been director of the School since its beginning, instructors are James N. Ashmore, Lester
