

DEAN M'CORMICK ADDRESSES LAW SCHOOL OPENING

New Dean of Law School Makes First Statement Since Election.

BIG YEAR IS EXPECTED

The achievements, present status, and aims of the University of North Carolina's School of Law were related yesterday by Dean Charles T. McCormick at exercises that marked the formal opening of the 84th year of the school. It was Dean McCormick's first public utterance before the Law School since his election by the trustees last Commencement.

"The goal of the Law School is not merely sectional eminence, but one of greatness measured by universal standards," the new dean declared. "Mediocrity and slipshod knowledge of legal half-truths are not enough." He urged upon the students the importance of devoting more time to the library and to preparation for the classroom.

He announced that this year's enrollment had reached 114 students, the largest on record since the adoption of the rule requiring at least two years' college work as a prerequisite for entrance.

Reviewing the accomplishments of the school during the past year under the leadership of Acting Dean A. C. McIntosh, who is on leave of absence this year, Dean McCormick said that "a notable forward movement has been manifest in all departments and activities."

The faculty had been increased to seven full-time professors, making it the largest full-time law faculty in the South, with one exception. The enrollment had increased more than twenty-five per cent over the previous year. The Law Review, under the leadership of Professor R. H. Wetach, had doubled in size and so strengthened in quality as to attract comment from the bar and law-school world. The Law School Association, under the leadership of Hill Yarborough, its president, and Prof. Albert Coates, its adviser, had carried out an elaborate program, including law club arguments and lectures by prominent jurists and members of the bar. The Summer Law School had been placed on a firm foundation, with em-

PLAYMAKERS TO HAVE FOUR NEW NAMES ON STAFF

Open Dramatic Auspiciously With Increased Staff As- sisting Prof. Koch.

The Carolina Playmakers and the Bureau of Community Drama have added four new members to their staffs and are ready to set themselves to another year of "creating a native drama for North Carolina."

These additions include Samuel Seldon, who will teach theatre arts and production; Miss Gertrude Knott, the new state representative of the Bureau of Community Drama; William N. Cox, assistant to Miss Knott; and Howard Baily, who will assist in the manager's office.

Mr. Seldon, who joins the faculty for work with the Playmakers, comes here from Pennis, Massachusetts, where he was stage manager for the Cape Playhouse this past summer. Before that he was with the Gladys Clark Players in Maine and with the Greenwich Village Theatre and the Provincetown Playhouse in New York City. He served as stage manager at each of these places. In addition he assisted in the staging of productions by the Intermate Opera Company of New York and the staging of O'Neil's "Desire Under the Elms"—both in New York and on tour.

Mr. Seldon was born in Canton, China, and spent his youth in the Orient. Five years ago he came to New York to work under Cleon Throckmorton, a scenic artist, and since that time has been active in the various fields of theatre art.

BUSINESS STAFF TRY-OUTS

W. W. Neal, Jr., Business Manager of the TAR HEEL, announced yesterday that there would be a meeting of all men interested in trying out for the TAR HEEL business staff tonight at nine o'clock. The meeting will be held at the office on the first floor of Alumni building. It is very important that all men interested in this work be present.

SMITH BECOMES GRADUATE DORM

Has Been Completely Remodeled Over Summer; to be Most Luxurious Dorm on Campus.

As a result of agitation arising in the Graduate school last spring the Building Committee of the Board of Trustees has granted the use of Smith building to the Graduate school.

During the summer the interior of Smith building has been entirely remodeled at a total cost of $70,000. On the first floor there is a spacious, handsomely furnished lounge. In this room the graduate students will entertain from time to time. The room is large enough to be used as a dance hall. There are also quarters for a housekeeper in case the graduate students wish to employ one. The house will accommodate fifty unmarried men. Each room is now equipped with hot and cold running water and is furnished with all steel furniture. Provisions have been made for a dining room accommodating sixty people should the graduate students decide that they wish to eat in the building.

The graduate students moved into their new home last Monday. There is still room for a few more men. The devoting of this building to the Graduate school will fill a long-felt need at the University, that of bringing the members of the Graduate school in closer contact with each other.

T. S. McCorkle, director of the University Band, has announced that there will be an important rehearsal of the band tonight at the Tin Can, 7 p. m. Absence from this rehearsal on the part of any member of the band will prevent his appearing with the band at the Tennessee game Saturday afternoon.

CHEERIOS TO BE AT NEXT GAME

Peppy Cheering Squad Has Been Practicing All Week and Will Lend Their Efforts to Tar Heel Team Saturday.

The Cheerios are here to stay! The famous cheering organization, called the Cheerios, which made its debut last year during the football season at the University of North Carolina, is here again with renewed vigor and a greater number of members than ever before.

The Cheerios were organized by Kike Kyser last year and under his able leadership they gained a nationwide reputation for excellent organized cheering, which they very justly deserved. This year the Cheerios will be under the direction of cheerleader Petty Waddill. Last year the Cheerios formed a nucleus around which the entire student body grouped itself to help cheer the team on to victory.

During this past week the Cheerios have been meeting every night to practice the school yells and they are going to be on Emerson Field three hundred strong Saturday afternoon. In the opening game with Wake Forest last Saturday the cheering of the Cheerios was greatly missed.

Cheerleader Petty Waddill urges that all old men who had not already met to practice the yells to meet him at Gerrard Hall tonight at 6:45. He also asks that all those who were Cheerios last year and do not intend to join them this year turn in their megaphones to him at once since they are badly needed.

This year the student body will be seated according to their respective classes. Waddill urges that the other students cooperate with the Cheerios in making the cheering at the game Saturday a great success.

COLLEGE NIGHT EXERCISES HELD

New Men Welcomed to Univer- sity Campus; Frosh Win Tug-of-War.

Nearly a thousand members of the class of '31 were formally ushered into University life Monday night at the annual College Night exercises in Memorial Hall. Hon. A. H. Graham, of Hillsboro, member of the last General Assembly, welcomed the new men on behalf of the Alumni, while R. B. House, Executive Secretary of the University, delivered the official welcome from the University Administration. C. R. Jonas, president of the student body, presided over the exercises.

Preceding the program of addresses the annual fresh-soph tug-of-war was staged. Although the freshmen won, as they have every year since the event was inaugurated several years ago, the sophs prevented it from being a walk-away that it usually is. Dean Bradshaw's new-fangled six rope tug-of-war machine helped to equalize the almost two to one advantage that the frosh have over the sophs in numbers, although they greatly outnumbered the second year men in the event.

President Jonas explained the honor system to the new men, and urged that they conduct themselves according to its principles. He pointed out the obligation that each man has to the University and to himself in taking advantage of the privilege of attending college. The new class pledged itself to carry out the precepts of the honor system by a 100% rising vote.

Secretary House told the new men that they were the "connecting link between the Carolina of yesterday and the Carolina of tomorrow, which are inseparably linked together." He declared that the destinies of the University for the next four years were tied up in them, and that upon them fell the burden of maintaining its record, which has always shown a continual improvement from one year to another.

Senator Graham emphasized the importance of every student taking part in the varied activities that go to make up life at the University. "The greatest thing that you can learn here is to understand human nature," he asserted. "Whatever you do, don't fail to secure such a knowledge. Don't become affiliated with small cliques or group to strongly, but take part in college life as a whole and in as many activities as time will permit."

SOPHOMORE CLASS SMOKER

The Sophomore Class Smoker will be held tonight at 9:00 in Swain Hall. All members of the Sophomore class are requested to be present. The Freshman Smoker will be held tomorrow night at the same time in Swain Hall. This will be the first meeting this year of the classes in a body.

KOCH TO SPEAK ON PLAYMAKERS

Illustrated Lecture Tonight for Benefit of New Men Will Be Followed by Reading of First Production on Friday Night.

There will be two interesting programs this week for the students interested in the Playmaker work. On Thursday at 7:30 o'clock in the Playmaker building, Professor Koch will show the pictures of the Playmakers. Samuel Seldon on Friday at 7:30 o'clock will read "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," which will be the first Playmaker production of the year. There will be no admission charge.

Professor Koch will show the pictures of the Carolina Playmakers concerning their work in the past, and will accompany the showing of the 100 colored slides with a brief story of the development of the Playmakers. This talk will be of especial benefit to the freshmen who are interested in the work being done by the Playmakers and all are urged to be out Thursday evening.

"Ten Nights in a Bar-room," is the old temperance play which was adapted from the story by T. S. Arthur. This thrilling old melodrama is to be the first Carolina production of the year and all those who are interested in trying out for parts should hear the reading of the play by Mr. Seldon on Friday evening. The tryouts will take place next week, the exact time to be announced later.

The Cleveland county club will hold its first meeting of the year tonight at the Y. M. C. A., 10 p. m. Officers will be elected and plans will be made for the coming year. All men from Cleveland county, particularly all new men, are invited to be present.

EX-HI-Y MEMBERS MEET TO ORGANIZE

Freshman Friendship Council Effects Organization for Com- ing Year; Officers Elected.

The organization of the Freshman Friendship Council of the University of North Carolina took place Tuesday night at the Methodist church following a Banquet given for the ex-HI-Y men of the state high schools.

During the course of the Banquet several six minute addresses were made by members of the faculty. Col. R. B. House made a brief talk on "Making Freshmen Feel Friendly," in which he set forth the importance of the Freshman Council as a medium of making the freshmen acquainted. Following this Dean Francis F. Bradshaw selected for his topic "Random Shots." Mr. Workman of the School of Religion, gave a talk concerning the religious aspect of college life.

Following these addresses the Y. M. C. A. quartet composed of Graham Poyner, Alex. Mendenhall, William Downs, and Paul Seurlock sang several selections for the entertainment of the group. William Bobbitt, acting as Toastmaster, introduced the officers and leaders of the Young Men's Christian Association to the group of first year men. H. F. Comer, Secretary of the local "Y," welcomed the freshmen into Y. M. C. A. work.

Immediately after the Banquet the organization of a Council took place. The following officers were elected: President, Stanley Moore of Statesville; Vice-President, Ubar Crissman of High Point; Secretary, Main Albright from Greensboro; Treasurer, Worth Helms from Charlotte. The first meeting of the Freshman Friendship Council as a body will be held next Monday night at the Y. M. C. A.

STELLAR CENTER

Officers Installed and Committees for Fall Quarter Appointed.

The Di Senate got underway on an ambitious fall program at the first meeting of the Senate held in Manning Hall Tuesday night. The session was short, consisting only of the installation of officers and the appointing of committees.

The new officers to take their oath of office were as follows: Bryce Parker, president; Henry Brown, president-protem; Mercer Blankenship; assistant treasurer; Marion Follin, clerk; and Alexander, sergeant-at-arms.

The Senate will meet at the Law building again next Tuesday night at 7:15. Plans for the years work will be submitted and names of new men will be proposed for membership at that time.

LINE-UP CHANGED FOR TENNESSEE

Whisnant Calling Signals; Oth- er Changes; Carolina Out to Avenge Defeat of Last Year.

DODDERER MAY START

The University of North Carolina's second battle of the 1927 grid season next Saturday will be a test of improvement. The Tar Heels are carded to oppose the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee on Emerson Field here at 3 o'clock and the Heels will be primed for vengeance. Maryland is to be met here the following week.

Last fall in the second game of the season a husky Volunteer eleven swamped a green Tar Heel squad 34 to 0 at Knoxville. This year the North Carolinians get the Vols on home territory and with a year's training in Knute Rockne's style of play. What will they do this time?

If you ask Chuck Collins, head coach of the Tar Heels, that question he's not likely to tell you very much of anything. The only statement he has issued for publication this fall is, "They'll not beat us that bad again."

At any rate he has been trying several new combinations on the University's first string outfit this week. Apparently dissatisfied with the Tar Heels' showing last Saturday, he has been shoving new blood into the varsity line-up in hopes of injecting a new spirit.

The first backfield this week shows Whisnant, a sophomore, calling signals to the first backfield. That first backfield looks different too, for only one of the veterans who opened the Wake Forest game is in the line-up. Billy Ferrell has been shifted from left half to fullback, and Ward is running at left half. Harry Lassiter has replaced Young at right half.

Opening the holes for this quartet is a line that is almost the same in personnel as the starting forwards last Saturday. However, despite the fact that the youngsters did the most effective work in the line then, the shifts this week have tended to strengthen the holes with veteran material. Both Add Warren and Charlie Lipscomb, veteran tackles, have been running at right guard; and Bill Dodderer, a letter end of two seasons ago, has been moved over from the right flank to take a try at the left end post.

COUNCIL RULES GREEKS CAN'T FEED RUSHEES

Inter-fraternity Council Prohib- its Taking Rushees To Any Meal Except Mid-day Meal on Sunday.

NEW RULINGS IN EFFECT

The Inter-fraternity Council met Tuesday night, and one more ruling was adopted concerning rushing season. This resolution was to the effect that no fraternity man may take a freshman to a meal, except for the midday meal on Sunday. This regulation applies to fraternity dining rooms, hotels, cafes, cafeterias, and boarding houses.

According to the Council's rulings, rushing season began officially Friday, September the twenty-third, and will close Friday, October the twenty-first at six P. M. The period of silence begins Wednesday, October the nineteenth at twelve P. M., and lasts through Friday afternoon, at which time bids will be given out in Memorial Hall. Any fraternity violating the period of silence will forfeit its one-hundred dollar bond.

Two new rules were decided upon last spring by the Council, and these regulations together with the recent decision will be enforced this season. Last year's additions were:

1. No fraternity man may pay a freshman's admission to the picture show, except on Friday and Saturday nights. Freshmen may attend in the company of fraternity men, but they must pay their own way.

2. No fraternity man may take a freshman away from Chapel Hill on the week-end before pledge-day, that is the week-end of October the 14th.

The old rule to the effect that no fraternities may give "feeds" or banquets for freshmen still holds.
