

The Tar Heel

VOLUME XXXVI

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1927

NUMBER 5

TRAINED CHURCH WORKERS NEEDED SAYS DR. POTEAT

Former College President Speaks Here in Behalf of Baptist Centennial Campaign.

"It is true that we don't have to be learned to know facts, to be a philosopher, to be good, or a theologian to tell the story of redemption. Yet the untrained man is not sufficient for this day," Dr. W. L. Poteat, ex-president of Wake Forest College who has been prominent in newspaper headlines for many years because of the oft-repeated attempts to remove him from the presidency as a result of his evolutionist leanings, declared yesterday morning at the Chapel Hill Baptist church before a large congregation.

Dr. Poteat outlined the part that the seven Baptist colleges of the state are playing in supplying the great need for trained men, especially in the ministry. Before he spoke Miss Katherine Maddry, president of the student body at Meredith College, described the campaign that the State Baptist Convention is staging in an effort to raise $1,500,000 with which to pay off the debt that it owes on these institutions.

"After the Revolution professors and students alike sat in the seat of the scornful," Dr. Poteat said. "The first professor at the University was an outspoken infidel. This condition brought on a widespread reaction, and there was a revival of religion all over the country.

"In 1834 Wake Forest College was opened as a result of a widespread movement to establish a church college in the state. The condition of Baptists in the state in 1830, when the State Baptist Convention was formed, was almost a by-word and a reproach. They numbered 15,000 at that time. Today there are 375,000 white Baptists in the state. Every fourth person in North Carolina is a Baptist.

"What is the explanation of the (Continued on page four)

Temporary Directory Has Been Distributed

Will Be Used Until Formal Book Is Completed by Printers.

A temporary directory of the students and their addresses has been issued by the University and placed in the Y. M. C. A. and offices. It gives the names and class year of the student body and fills 19 legal size pages. It is in mimeograph form and any student who has changed his or her address since the day of registration are urged by the directory committee of the Y. M. C. A. to call by the office and have the correct one made so that it may appear correct in the regular directory of students and officials of the University.

The formal directory will go to press within the next few days and will carry the full name, home address with county, church affiliations, and class. The directory is being published by the Y. M. C. A. and will be distributed free to each dormitory room and fraternity house.

Greek War Now Raging about Carolina Campus; Frosh Pursued

Warriors Wield Verbal Sword and Are Struggling Valiantly to Capture Spoils of Freshman Class; Soda Fountains and Shows Enjoy Good Business.

(By W. L. Marshall)

The Pan-Hellenic war is on! Greek warriors, exulting in the strife, are wielding the verbal sword with all their might and are vaguely struggling to carry off the spoils.

Shortly after sun-set the cohorts gather on the field of battle and map out their campaigns for the evening's contest. Groups of three or four fellow-tribesmen are seen in conference, excitedly whispering in low tones. The combatants then drift nonchalantly to the appointed meeting places, and before many more grains of sand have fallen, the nightly battle begins.

The bewildered frosh, cause of this hot strife, begin to appear, smiling benevolently and greeting their would-be conquerors with polite salutations. The Greek chiefs immediately pounce upon their victims and invite them to partake of the cup of friendship at

DRUNKARDS SEEK NEW BOOTLEGGING FOLLOWING RAID

Over 125 Gallons of Illicit Whiskey Confiscated at Place of "Sheriff" Lloyd.

Chapel Hill's supply of corn whiskey was cut short for the weekend when Officer Sloan, assisted by three other officers, raided the residence and premises of "Sheriff" Lloyd, Geeter Lloyd, a white man, near the town Friday evening, capturing about one hundred and twenty-five gallons of the illicit beverage in the barn of the Lloyds.

Officer Sloan received a "tip" sometime Friday and immediately went to visit the Lloyd place. The elder gentleman, father of "Sheriff" Lloyd, told the officers that they would find some whiskey in the barn loft, and that was all there was on the premises. The officers searched the barn and poured out about thirty gallons which they were told was all. After continuing the search for a few minutes the officers found another barrel and yet another, both full. Approximately 125 gallons of corn was confiscated.

The officers declare this to be the largest whiskey raid in the history of Chapel Hill. They also declare the Grail dance Saturday night was one of the quietest in the history of the Grail. Frat men are now running heater-sclerter trying to locate a new bootlegger. Town sots are standing around street corners with a doleful look on their countenances. Several prominent citizens were heard to remark that "someone gave the Lloyds a rotten deal by 'squealing.'" The real law-abiding citizens of Chapel Hill, including even the ministers, are possessing a look of triumph and relief. The younger Lloyd was taken into custody, only to be released later under a thousand dollar bond. The elder Lloyd, about seventy-five years old, was told to report Monday for preliminary hearing. The son assumed all responsibility for possession of the long-cherished beverage.

The officers have suspected the parties of bootlegging for some time but have heretofore been unable to get any definite information on the subject. Officer Sloan expressed the belief that the whiskey was not manufactured by the Lloyds, but was imported from above Hillsboro.

Readers must take care not to become confused between the bootlegger "Sheriff" Lloyd and officer Sheriff Lloyd of Orange county. The officers say they are not even brothers.

Chemistry Students and Faculty Meet

Annual Get-Together and Feed Held Last Friday Evening.

The annual get-together and feed for the chemistry students and faculty was held in Venable Hall last Friday evening. Several members of the department made short talks welcoming the new students and explaining the vastness of the field of chemistry. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches of various sorts, drinks, and cigarettes was served.

Chemistry Students and Faculty Meet

Annual Get-Together and Feed Held Last Friday Evening.

the well-known fountain. After the consumption of many sodas the clans and their hopefuls move on in the pursuit of further pleasure. The "Pi-" and the Carolina sling out their invitations. The favored ones choose, and after seeing a show for the third or fourth time the armies proceed to their respective rendezvous.

Here the frosh are made to feel at home, and impressed with the wonderful bondage of friendship and congeniality within the clans. When a brotherly atmosphere has been established, the battle-scarred veterans begin to "feel out" the newcomers and explain in detail the high and mighty throne of their tribe. The eulogies over, hearty hand-shakes are freely distributed, and the session adjourns. The frosh grope their way to their abodes, and the Hellenes turn to their all-important pursuit of the classica.

Members of the faculty who desire to play tennis on the courts in Battle Grove are invited to communicate with R. A. McPheeters.

Miss Maude Lee returned to Winston-Salem on Sunday afternoon after making a short visit to her mother, Mrs. I. F. Lee.

TENNESSEE CENTER

Elvin Butcher, star pivot man of the University of Tennessee and dubbed by many southern sports scribes as "the greatest center in Dixie," proved to be the big gun in the play of his team here last Saturday. On the offensive, Butcher failed to commit any butchery, for there he came in direct opposition to Harry Schwartz, but when on the defensive the brilliant Volunteer was all there. In fact he was too much there for the good of the Tar Heel cause. His particular forte seemed to be magnetic hands that attracted all the Carolina passes. He intercepted no less than four Tar Heel heaves at various times during the fray.

GRAIL DANCE IS UP TO STANDARD

Many Gentlemen Present, but Girls Scarce; Decorations Featured.

The Grail dance last Saturday evening in Bynum Gymnasium was typical of the majority of hops given by that order. The floor was crowded with stags, and there were few girls in attendance.

The Buccaneer orchestra furnished music for the shag and did all in their power to enliven the dancing. The members of the Carolina football team and their conquerors from the state beyond the mountains were honored with no-break dances, and the hosts also enjoyed solo terpsichores.

The gym was attractively decorated with streamers and colored lights. The limitation of stags was found necessary, and consequently many tardy "trippers of the light fantastic" were refused admittance. No frosh were allowed to dance or spectate.

CAMPUS DAMAGED BY SEVERE STORM

Merchants Do Big Business as Professors Are Faced With Small Class Attendance.

The campus was literally covered yesterday afternoon by limbs and twigs from the giant Oaks about the University grounds as a result of the severe rain and wind storm which raged at frequent intervals throughout the day. About noon, the wind twisted the top out of the big oak tree at the southwest corner of Old East building. The tree was twisted in two about 20 feet from the ground. A number of rain spouts were blown off the side of Memorial Hall and into the street.

Other trees were twisted and minor damage done. Several students are suffering from swollen heads as a result of being hit by falling acorns. At a late hour in the afternoon no further damage to University buildings or the surrounding country had been reported.

Local boot and slicker dealers had a "run" on the wet weather apparel and it was understood that a number of the stores had sold out their entire stock of this line of goods. Shoe repair shops were working overtime to keep the extra work from piling up on them.

Despite the inclement weather, few professors treated their classes to a "grat." However, a noted decrease was seen in class attendance throughout the day and it is assumed that a large number of juniors and seniors took advantage of the optional class attendance which they have.

Members of the faculty who desire to play tennis on the courts in Battle Grove are invited to communicate with R. A. McPheeters.

Miss Maude Lee returned to Winston-Salem on Sunday afternoon after making a short visit to her mother, Mrs. I. F. Lee.

CHEERIOS ATTEND GAME EN MASSE

Notable Improvement Seen in Cheering With Well Trained Men Present.

Carolina lost! But the Cheerios won a victory with their organized cheering. Alumni were favorably impressed with the improvement seen in the cheering since last Saturday at the Wake Forest game. It was no fault of cheer-leader Petty Waddill that Carolina was defeated. With such handicaps as early season, new cheer-leader, new Cheerios, and very hot weather, everyone put forth available energy to make the cheering a success—and it was.

Petty Waddill is a veteran at cheer leading, having been cheer leader at high school as well as associated with the cheering at Carolina for three years. He has put forth every effort to rebuild the Cheerios which Kike Kyser organized last year and which won favorable comment throughout the South before they were dismissed in the spring.

Spectators from Tennessee and North Carolina jointly expressed (Continued on page four)

Dynamite Senate Prepares for Big Explosion; Meets Tonight

Sixteen Members of Celebrated Lodge Again in School; Dartmouth and University of Pennsylvania Petitions to be Considered Tonight; Columbia University Placed on "Black List."

(By "Andy" Anderson)

The Dynamite Senate meets tonight! Yes, 'tis true. The reporter obtained this delicious morsel of news from the Ruling Janus himself, Dave Carroll. That worthy, roused from a deep sleep caused by the use of opium, told a lurid tale of the terrorism which the Dynamiters will inaugurate against their imitators, the Dialectic Senate.

The Dynamite Senate was organized last spring in answer to a demand for a lodge which would embody the virtues of the other 405 organizations on the campus and none of their faults. Since then it has been famous, receiving telegrams from nationally known celebrities who wished to be associated with the good work of the group. The members stand for free speech, free pressing, free air, and eloquence. They also stand on their constitutional rights. They are agin fees, fines, and dues. Their colors are pink and blue. It is a good lodge.

The reporter was unable to secure a satisfactory seance with the Janus. However, Hap Whitaker, his roommate, was authorized to act as attorney in the epoch-making interview.

"The first explosion of the year will be dedicated to the burial of the campus, which has been dead lo, these many months," stated the astute young attorney. He went further to say that it was thought that a notable of the Dynamite Senate who had spent the summer in New York City had organized a chapter at Columbia Uni-

Tennessee Defeats Tar Heels By 26 to 0 Score

BLIND PREACHER BEGINS MEETING HERE TOMORROW

Atlanta Man to Conduct Series of Services at the Baptist Church.

Tomorrow night at the Chapel Hill Baptist church Dr. Louis B. Warren, blind evangelist of Atlanta, will open a series of evangelistic services that will continue through the next week. Services will be held twice daily, at three o'clock in the afternoon and seven forty-five in the evening.

Five years before he became blind, Dr. Warren was told by physicians that he would lose his eyesight in a short while. He started to fit himself for his incapacity "so that I might be as much like the person who has good eyesight, and not a blue, hopeless wreck of a man with a little card 'Please Help the Blind' pinned upon my coat," as he expresses it. He learned whole chapters of the Bible, and fitted himself for service as an evangelist in other ways.

Today Dr. Warren is rated as one of the South's most effective preachers, and Dr. Olive, pastor of the local church, stated last night that he felt that his church was extremely fortunate in securing Mr. Warren for the services.

Dr. Odum's Book Is Being Widely Sold

"Man's Quest for Social Guidance" Is Name of New Book.

"Man's Quest for Social Guidance," a recently published volume by Professor Howard W. Odum, of the Sociology Department of the University, is enjoying a wide sale, according to Henry Holt and Company, of New York, the publishers.

The Universities of Wisconsin and Michigan were among the institutions to adopt Dr. Odum's book prior to publication. It came off the press last month, and is now being used as a textbook on Sociology 10, one of the regular courses offered here. The work has been highly lauded by authorities on sociology all over the country.

Carolina Eleven Unable To Stop Aerial Attack of Volunteers.

Enemy Team Works Effectively Against Passes; Tar Heels Play Great Defensive Game Despite Loss; Students Support Team.

A powerful, golden-jerseyed eleven from the University of Tennessee came out of the west last Saturday afternoon and soundly trounced the Tar Heels on Emerson Field by a 26 to 0 score. They earned this sweeping victory over a North Carolina eleven that was outplayed, but not outfought. The Heels just fell before the onslaughts of a superior team in a game that was settled on the fortunes of the air.

The Volunteers rode to victory on the wings of forward passes, for such heaves, either completed or intercepted counted heavily in every score. Throughout the first quarter the Vols' highly praised backs failed to penetrate a stubborn Carolina defense, and that opening period ended with the teams deadlocked in a scoreless tie.

Near the middle of the second quarter the knot was cut, and the Vols pushed over for their first score. Horner carried the ball over on a smashing drive off-tackle after two long passes had carried the ball to the very shadow of the Tar Heel goal. Baybee drop-kicked the point, and the teams retired for another kick-off.

Three minutes later Derryberry snatched down a short pass from Furechs on the fifty yard line and dashed fifty yards behind a perfect screen of interference for the second touchdown. Try for point failed.

Tennessee's other scores came in the last half, one touchdown in each period of play. A thirty yard pass from Witt to Tudor placed the ball on the Tar Heel fifteen yard line, and four line plays enabled Horner to plunge off-tackle for the score. Both elevens settled down after this, and it was not until the last few minutes of play that the western eleven broke through for the final counter. Carolina was throwing passes to the winds in a final desperate attempt, and Dykes pulled one down and dashed eighteen yards over the goal.

That's how the scores were made, and a bare glance at the final total looks much like the 34 to 0 rout of last season. Not so! There was no resemblance whatever. Last fall the Tar Heels played a game that would have been no credit to any good high school team. Saturday they fought bitterly for every yard. The first downs were even at six-all.

The real tale hangs on the effective Volunteer defense against passes. Those golden backs seemed to positively attract the North Carolina heaves, for no less than eight of the Tar Heel aerial shots fell into the enemy hands. Carolina threw exactly nineteen passes, completed four, and had those (Continued on page four)

FOOTBALL GAMES POSTPONED; RAIN

Games Scheduled for Today Will Be Played Friday Afternoon.

The rainy weather yesterday left the Intra-Mural Athletic Field in such condition that all games scheduled for today have been postponed until Friday of this week.

The week's schedule included games for today, tomorrow and Thursday, but none were on the cards for Friday. Under this new change, the Wednesday and Thursday games will be run off according to schedule, but opening games originally carded today will top off the week's program on Friday afternoon.

Copies of the schedule will be sent out to the manager in each dormitory, with this change noted in ink. These schedules, with all revisions, will reach each manager tonight. That enables the managers to get their men out on the field for tomorrow's games.

Students are urged by authorities to get into the game now and get an early start toward winning the championship.