

NORTH CAROLINA CLUB WILL OPEN PROGRAM MONDAY

R. B. House to Deliver First Address on "Background of Taxation Problem."

A SERIES ON TAXATION

Hon. A. J. Maxwell and Dr. Fred Morrison Help to Plan the Taxation Group of Lectures.—Other Speakers Announced.

With Robert B. House, University secretary, speaking on the "Background of the Tax Problem," the North Carolina club will hold its first meeting of the year Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in 112 Saunders Hall. Students are invited.

This year the club, in collaboration with the School of Commerce, is undertaking a comprehensive study of taxation. The work of the local club will, in turn, be a part of the larger program of research that is being undertaken by the newly created State Tax Commission. Hon. A. J. Maxwell and Dr. Fred W. Morrison, chairman and secretary respectively, of the State Tax Commission met with the steering committee of the North Carolina Club recently and helped formulate the year's program.

At the meeting Monday night Mr. House will address the club on "The Background of the Tax Problem." He will point out the historical and psychological factors which influence our thinking in the field of taxation. This is a logical approach to the series of studies which are to follow, and no one could be found more capable of handling this subject than Mr. House.

Other Speakers

The tentative program for the remaining meetings of the fall term is as follows:

October 31. "An Outline of the Present Tax System," Dr. Paul W. Wager, Editor of the University News Letter.

November 14. "The Need and Plans for Readjustment of our Tax System." Hon. A. J. Maxwell, Chairman of the Corporation Commission and Chairman of the State Tax Commission.

November 28. "The Functions of Government and Their Present Distribution Among the Political Units," Dr. Clarence Heer, Research Professor of Taxation.

December 12. "The Debt Situation in the State and in Its Political Subdivisions," Dr. Fred W. Morrison, Secretary of the State Tax Commission.

Second String Frosh Leave for Asheville For Encounter Today

Coach Grady Pritchard and sixteen Tar Baby grid-men left last evening for Asheville where they play the Asheville School of Boys this afternoon. This is practically considered as a second team game as most of the men making the trip are from the reserves.

The boys from "the land of the sky" are not credited with having a team as strong as Oak Ridge or Blue Ridge but they have a team that will give the Carolina yearlings a stiff fight.

It is hoped that the athletic authorities of the University will not count this game as one of the five allowed freshman football teams as most of the boys making the trip do not constitute the regular team.

Those making the trip are as follows: Bunch, Spitzer, Wilson, R. J. White, C. H. Warren, Sams, Packard, Harper, Sear, Michael, Davis, Paulsen, Brown Parsley and Bagwell. The remainder of the squad will hold regular practice as usual.

Remainder of the freshman football schedule:

Nov. 5—State—Here.

Nov. 11—Maryland—There.

Nov. 19—Virginia—There.

Carolina Playbook to Be Out on November 20th

The Business Manager of the "Carolina Playbook," a magazine published by the State Dramatic Association, states that his editor has secured copy from some of the leading scholars at the University and that his book will be in circulation by about the 15th of November.

Registration Figures Reveal A Total of 2633 Students in University for the Fall Term

Complete registration figures for the fall quarter, which were issued by Registrar T. J. Wilson yesterday, show a total of 2633 students in the graduate and undergraduate schools. University officials had previously estimated the registration total at 2800.

The Liberal Arts School attracted the largest number of students, as usual, with a total of 683. Bachelor of Science in Commerce comes second with 559, followed by A. B. in Education with 411. The total in undergraduate schools is 2293, with the remainder of 340 registered in the Graduate and professional schools. The Graduate School figures revealed a total of 172 students enrolled.

In the professional schools the Law School made the best showing, with a total of 116 students. The Medical School came next with 81, while Pharmacy brought up the rear with 71. Of the scientific undergraduate courses, S. B. in Medicine led the field with 150 students, while S. B. in Electrical Engineering came second with 98 and S. B. in Civil Engineering third with 97. There were Twenty-one special students, seven in Public Welfare and fourteen in general academic work.

Registration of women, which has shown a steady increase for the past few years, reached a new high-water mark with a total of 120. Pre-Med also hit by far the highest mark in the history of that course at the University with a total of 74 students registered.

COACH TALKS TO TRACK ATHLETES

Prospects Not Particularly Good This Year, Says Coach Dale Ranson.

Yesterday morning at Chapel period Coach Dale Ranson addressed about 20 track men. He stressed the necessity of starting track practice this fall in order to lay the foundations for a good track squad next spring.

As for the prospects for the coming season, they do not appear to be so bright at present. Coaches Fetzer and Ranson will have to find new men to take the places vacated by Captain Gus McPherson, Rhinehart, McFayden, and Russ. "Soap" Sandlin is out of school at present but he is expected to return in time to take part in the meets next spring. Carolina will again have the services of Galen Elliott, All-American miler, in the distance events, Minor Barkley of last year's frosh team is expected to show up well in the cross country and distance events.

The cross country work this fall should include the distance men for next spring. There will be four cross country meets this fall and two relays. A mile relay race has been scheduled with Duke on November 5, and there is a possibility of a second meet the day of the Duke-Carolina football game.

Regular track practice will start Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Both new and old men must be present.

Next spring Carolina will meet several of the best teams in the South. They are Duke, V. M. I., Georgia Tech, Georgia, N. C. State, Virginia, and Washington and Lee. There is also the possibility that the Southern Conference meet will be held here on Emerson Field.

The cross country schedule follows: Oct. 29—N. C. State at Raleigh Nov. 5—Duke University at Chapel Hill Nov. 19—Southern Conference Meet at Chapel Hill Dec. State Conference Meet, place undecided

Hubert Poteat Will Give Organ Recital On Sunday Afternoon

Sunday afternoon at 5:00 P. M. at the Chapel of the Cross, Hubert McNeill Poteat, of Wake Forest College, visiting musician, will present a program of organ solos. This is one of a series of pipe organ recitals sponsored by the Episcopal Church.

The program consists of ten complicated numbers, embracing two movements from Grieg's Peer Gynt suite, parts three and four of the overture from Rossini's William Tell, and Dvorak's Largo from the New World symphony. Three of Wagner's operatic compositions are also included.

This is the first musical event of the year. This series of recitals was very popular last year, and unusually well attended.

Miss Gladys Dewar is at her home in Raleigh this week-end.

Miss Elsie Hicks is visiting her brother in Raleigh during the week-end.

TRY-OUTS MONDAY FOR NEW COMEDY

Wigue and Masque to Put on Production Within Next Three Weeks.

Try-outs for the Wigue and Masque production of the fall quarter have been announced to take place on Monday evening at seven o'clock in Memorial Hall. Two musical comedies are being considered for production, but it has not been definitely determined which will be used.

Paul John Weaver, of the Music department, is in charge and issues a call for the following types: an auctioneer, a fat man who can play a feminine comedy role, and a girlish and intriguing lad who is experienced in the art of doing the "Hula." For the chorus, sixteen youths of graceful and faun-like proportions to assume the parts of chorines, and a lesser number of more masculine types to act as chorus men.

Productions of the Wigue and Masque are always among the most popular on the campus, and positions in the Dramatis Personae are usually at a premium. The last show, "Yes, By Gosh!" by Billy Vaught of Greensboro, toured the state, and was received at every stop with more than common popularity.

Although nothing definite regarding the quality of the performance could be obtained at the time of this writing, the vehicle is reputed to be far superior to any of this nature heretofore seen at the University.

Mr. Weaver desires to state that less than three weeks remain in which to rehearse, and that ceaseless work is the only method of staging a successful piece.

Miss Rachel Davis has gone to her home near Kinston for the week-end.

Miss Agnes Stout, student here last year, is visiting friends at the Woman's Building.

Students to Review Magazine Due on the Campus Tonight

Students will be given a chance to review the Carolina Magazine, which is scheduled to make its first appearance of the year tonight, instead of faculty members, as has been the custom heretofore. Editor Dillard, "Bull", Gardner announced yesterday.

Freshmen as well as upperclassmen will be eligible to submit reviews, according to Gardner's announcement. The best of the student reviews submitted will probably be published in the TAR HEEL, and the students submitting them will be awarded copies of the Magazine autographed by the authors of all the articles appearing in the publication. The primary purpose of the plan, Gardner stated, is to uncover student literary talent, as well as to stimulate interest in the publication.

Today's issue of the Magazine will contain only student material, discontinuing the practice of publishing material by professional writers which was inaugurated last year. Practically all the stories and sketches included in today's issue were written by students during the past summer.

Editor Gardner expressed himself as fairly well satisfied with the contributions turned in for the first issue, although he admits that no works indicative of the uncovering of a new literary genius on the campus were included in the lot.

UNEXPECTED HAS RULED IN SOUTH CAROLINA SERIES

South Carolina Has One Game To Credit in Fifteen-Game Series.

TWO GAMES WERE TIED

Football Relations Began with South Carolina in 1903—Upsets Have Prevalled Since—Carolina Won Last Year.

There has been an element of the unexpected in the recent football games between the Universities of North and South Carolina, and fans wonder if the same thing will not occur this week. Sometimes it has been the defeated team pulling an unexpected play to break into the scoring column, and more often it has been a "break" that opened scoring opportunity to decide the victory.

"In 1922 the Tar Heels' 'Wonder Team' that went undefeated in the South was playing the Gamecocks. The score was 20 to 0, with the North Carolina eleven leading. The crowd had settled back to watch a wonderful scoring machine work, when that boy Snipes broke loose. Playing a half back for the 'Cocks, Snipes broke through the middle of a hitherto impregnable Tar Heel line and ran 67 yards for a touchdown. North Carolina won 20 to 7, but that one play by the defeated team was the talk of the day.

The games of 1923 and 1924 failed to bring out any shining lights but those of the last two seasons made up for that lack. In 1925 the Fetzer brothers carried a team to South Carolina after a heart breaking loss to Wake Forest. Everyone said the spirit of the Tar Heels was killed. At Columbia they fought bitterly and held the Gamecocks to a standstill for three quarters, and in the final period they won.

Grid-O-Graph Will Give Play by Play Report of the Game

Grid-o-graph reports of the game between the Universities of North and South Carolina will be shown this afternoon at Memorial Hall. The game will be played in Columbia and is scheduled to start at three o'clock.

The grid-o-graph will show play by play the action of the game, in whose possession the ball lies, downs, and yards-to-go. This contrivance is probably the next thing to seeing the game from the stands, and furnishes many thrills for those who are unable to attend the fray. A large group of students saw several of the out-of-town games last year via grid-o-graph, and a good attendance is expected today.

Twenty-seven Tar Heels In Columbia for Annual Classic With Gamecocks

Fighter—Linesman

Addison Warren, popularly known as "Add" or "K. O.," has dropped the boxing gloves for a few months to take his position on the Tar Heel eleven as one of the best tackles in the South. He has been in every game this season, and is expected to appear in the line-up against South Carolina this afternoon.

Warren is a holder of the amateur junior heavy and light-heavyweight championships of the United States. It is rumored that he will enter the professional boxing ring at the conclusion of the football season.

Pi Phi's Entertain Rushees With Dance At the Carolina Inn

The Pi Beta Phi were hosts at a dance in honor of their rushees at the Carolina Inn last evening, Friday the thirteenth. The ball-room was attractively decorated with fall flowers and Graham's Orchestra furnished the music. The dancing lasted from ten until one.

CHAPEL SERIES STARTS MONDAY

Jeff Fordham Arranges Talks on Carolina Traditions, History and Ideals.

Beginning next week a series of talks on the history and the traditions of the University will be given at chapel period by members of the faculty. The program outlined by Jeff B. Fordham has been praised highly, and the men who will speak to the students are very close to the school and are interested in the survival of the traditions of the past days.

The first three days of the week will be given to a study of the history of the school. Dr. R. D. W. Connor, of the history department, will be in charge of the series of talks. He has studied the historical side of the University and his talks will have his studies as a foundation.

The next four chapel periods will be used to give the students the inside dope on Carolina traditions, ideals and the spirit of the past years. On Thursday Dr. Patterson will address chapel and three other faculty men will speak during the last three days. Frank Graham, Albert Coates, and Dr. Horace Williams will follow in the order named.

All the men who will speak to the students are former Carolina men and since their graduation have been very near the students. These men have lived at the school and understand thoroughly the university of the past and the present.

"The men know the very heart of the various stages of the development of the University life and it is for this reason that their talks should be of great interest to the Carolina men," stated Dean Bradshaw. "The series of talks next week will be an unusual opportunity for the upperclassmen to study their school and see the working of the traditions, etc. The men we have picked for the jobs are very acceptable speakers and the entire series will be worth while and interesting to freshmen, upperclassmen, graduate students, faculty, and in fact to every person who is interested in the history and tradition of the University."

Whole Squad in Hard Work-outs All the Week for Today's Struggle.

TEAM IN GOOD CONDITION

Same Eleven Used Against Maryland Expected to Take the Field—Donahoe Still Out With Injuries.

The University of North Carolina football squad, twenty-seven strong, accompanied by Coaches Collins and Cerney, Trainer Quinlan, and Manager Huddings, left Chapel Hill last night for Columbia, S. C., where they will engage the South Carolina Gamecocks this afternoon in the annual struggle between the two teams.

With the exception of a day's lay-off for the first team on Monday, the whole squad has been working hard throughout the week in preparation for today's struggle; and Coaches Collins, Cerney, and Fetzer will send their eleven into the game in probably the best physical condition it has been since the first game of the season.

All men except Donahoe, star guard, were in uniform yesterday for a light workout before leaving on the trip. Donahoe has been confined to the Infirmary for a couple of days with an infected foot, and is out of the game.

The same eleven that stung the Old Liners for a 7-6 win here last Saturday and thereby upset all the dope buckets will probably take the field against the Gamecocks. That means Sapp, left end; Captain Morehead, left tackle; Shuler, left guard; Schwartz, center; Howard, right guard; Warren, right tackle; McDaniel, right end; Whisnant, quarterback; Ward, left half; Young, right half; and Ferrell, fullback. Shuler is still suffering from an injury suffered to his left leg, however, and there is a possibility that he may be replaced at guard.

Players making the trip were Captain Morehead, McDaniel, Presson, Sapp, Kessler, Lipscomb, Koenig, Howard, Davis, Shuler, Eskew, Schwartz, Evans, Holt, Whisnant, Furches, Gray, Young, Lassiter, Spalding, Ward, Foard, Gresham, Ferrell, Shuford, and Jenkins.

BASEBALL TEAM NOW IN TRAINING

Coach Ashmore Calls First Fall Baseball Practice Ever Held At Carolina.

For the first time in the history of athletics at the University of North Carolina the baseball squad is taking formal fall training. Spring practice for the varsity football squad was inaugurated several years ago, but it remained for Coach Jim Ashmore to start the Tar Heel diamond candidates into off-season work.

The formal call to all candidates for the Carolina nine was issued late last week, and the daily workouts got thoroughly under way this week with an even dozen outstanding prospects in uniform. Others are expected to report later.

Those to report included five lettermen from last year's State Championship Team—Captain Joe Westmoreland and "Red" Ellison, pitchers; Ed Burt, second baseman; Henry Satterfield, shortstop; and Ed Mackie, outfield star; were the monogram tossers. Along with these came several youngsters and last year's reserves who are showing up well.

Among these are Barnhart, first baseman; Alexander, second baseman and shortstop; Lufty, third baseman, Harkrader, outfielder; and Fulcher, Stewart and Graham, pitchers. All of these men have fine shots at varsity berths next spring, and Coach Ashmore is well pleased with the interest shown.

Several outstanding baseball players will be unable to get into diamond togs this fall because of football. They are Tom Young, brilliant first sacker; Odell Sapp, pitcher; Bill Dodder (Continued on page three)
