a new one, and the play was brilliant. Two of the touchdowns came in the first quarter and two others in the last quarter. Foard went over with the first one after exactly six minutes of play. A forward pass, Gresham to Young, had just netted fifty yards and placed the ball on the five yard mark. Young took the second over after a like pass for seventeen yards and placed the skin in scoring position. Gresham place-kicked both points to make it Carolina 14, Davidson 0.

Twice in the second period Davidson drove to the Tar Heels' one-yard line, but each time the big Carolina line held for downs. Once Nisbet was stopped by scant inches. In the fourth quarter Sapp completed a pass from Ward, but fumbled the ball after a seventeen yard advance. However, he recovered and ran twenty-two more yards. Foard then drove it over for two first downs in succession, and Lassiter made the touchdown. Whisnant dropkicked goal.

MENJOU ENTHUSES OVER NEW ROLE

Back stage in a modern hotel is the setting of Adolphe Menjou's latest Paramount picture "Service for Ladies" reaching the Carolina theatre today, revealing for the first time on the screen intimate glimpses behind the scenes and into the lives of the men who cater to the needs and wants of their fellows.

developed on the screen, according to Menjou, presents a new departure in motion pictures. Only once before has Adolphe Menjou played the part of a waiter—in "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter" but that was merely as a subterfuge. In his current production, he appears as the smoothly efficient, polished master of his profession, a head waiter par excellence, the favorite of kings.

"I like this role particularly," declares Menjou, "because it is basic and because it is absolutely human. I have tried to bring a sympathetic understanding to the part and to have my head waiter do just the things

The last act came out of the sky with less than a minute to play. Coach Collins sent Phil Jackson in at left half, and the Gastonia lad sprinted around end for 15 yards. A pass, Jackson to Spaulding, netted another first down. Five seconds later they reversed the combination, and Spaulding hurled the ball fifteen yards to Jackson for a touchdown. Spaulding's try for point failed, and the game ended with Carolina 27, Davidson 0.

The feature of Carolina's team play was the diversified attack. The Tar Heels worked their aerial plays for 172 yards gain, now heaving the ball short into the flat-zone and then a long one far down the field. They ran the end and bucked the line, gaining consistently on virtually every play.

Individually the shining light of the University eleven was Ray Farris, a fighting sophomore guard. He was in every play, breaking through the line to smear plays, down under punts to throw the safety man, and opening great holes on the offensive. When he was finally led from the field in the fourth quarter, his mouth and face bleeding, he was given a tremendous ovation by the crowd.

For Davidson the laurels go to Captain Dick Grey and Mutt Nisbet in the backfield and to big Jim Grey in the line. They stood out in their team's play throughout the game.
