GAME BROADCAST OVER THE RADIO

Carolina-Virginia Encounter to Go on Air from Station WPTF.

A play-by-play account of the Carolina-Virginia game this afternoon will be broadcast over the radio from Durham Life Station WPTF under the auspices of the Raleigh Times, it is announced in that newspaper. So far as known, this is the first time that a University athletic contest in Chapel Hill has been sent out over the radio. The Associated Press news service is sending two sports writers to Chapel Hill whose stories will go directly from the stadium to the office of the Raleigh Times. Special wires have been installed on the field here and at the Times office.

Not only will the action of the game be broadcast, but the dedication exercises immediately preceding the encounter will go over the microphone. Station WPTF will go on the air at 1:15 this afternoon, and it is expected that thousands of fans over the state unable to go to Chapel Hill today will be eagerly listening to the reports being sent out.

Golden Fleece To Hold Reunion Today

The members of the Senior Order of the Golden Fleece will hold a reunion today. At eleven thirty this morning a buffet luncheon will be given at the Episcopal Parish House. About eight returning alumni, members on the campus and active members are expected to attend the luncheon.

Glee Club to Leave Monday to Complete Annual Tour in East

Monday afternoon the University Glee Club will leave for a week of concert work which completes the organization's annual fall tour.

During this time the singers will give seven concerts at various towns over the eastern section of the state. Monday the club sings in Benson, Tuesday in Lillington and Fayetteville, Wednesday in Wilson, Thursday in Rocky Mount and Windsor, and Friday in Scotland Neck. The return to Chapel Hill will be made Saturday.

Approximately thirty men are on the list to make the trip, and both old and new men are to be taken.

The program is the same as was used on the trip to Elizabeth City and Oxford last week-end. It consists of the usual type of music offered by the club, selections being taken from numbers popular in their past work, and also new music which has never been used by the group in concerts previous to this fall.

Carolina-Virginia Teams Are Ready for Clash

May Need Bleachers
Graduate Manager Charles T. Woolen announced tonight that seats already sold surpassed the greatest previous attendance, and that applications were still pouring in by the hundreds. Even with the new stadium designed to care for all comers it may be necessary to use both temporary wooden bleachers and standing room.

There are virtually no odds given in pre-game dope on the game. Both Virginia and Carolina have been rank in-and-out aggregations all this season. One Saturday they rise to heights of greatness, and on the next day they succumb to an inferior squad by a goodly score.

The Tar Heel backfield will probably include Whisnant at quarter, Gresham at left half, Young at right half, and either Foard or Ferrell at fullback. Of this quartet Albert Whisnant at quarterback is starting his first big Turkey Day classic, while Tom Young and Billy Ferrell will participate in their final game for Carolina.

Virginia will match Johnny Hushion, a third year field general, against Whisnant; with less experienced backs in the other three attacking posts. Sloan, Kaminer and Falconer are very likely to be Hushion's running mates behind the line. All are youngsters in the first regular year of football.

Congratulations Carolina

O We join with the many others in congratulating the student body of Carolina on their wonderful new stadium. It is an edifice of which we are all justly proud.
