

TAR HEELS BEAT MONOGRAMS 42-31

Johnnie Purser, Former Student, Leads Scoring in First Home Game.

Playing their first scheduled game, the Tar Heels defeated the Charlotte Monogram Club 42-31 in the Tin Can Friday night. The team from Charlotte was not the one that gave the Carolina boys such a hard fight in the first game which was played there during the holidays, since Artie Newcombe and Abe Neiman, former Carolina stars, as well as Harry Brown, one of State's best players last year, did not come down. Red Price, who has been playing forward for Carolina, was also out of the game because of a hurt received in the game in Charlotte.

The collegians started the game with a rush, running up twelve points before the visitors were able to locate the basket at all. Before the end of the half, the Monograms showed wonderful improvement, which, with a slowing up of the Tar Heels, resulted in the half's ending with the score standing at 23-19, Carolina on top.

During the second half the winners gradually drew away from their opponents, although at one time it appeared that they had suddenly forgotten how to get the ball in the hoop, missing shot after shot. Satterfield, who had been very much in the offensive throughout the game with his bullet-like passing but had not added so much to the score, found himself, near the end of the game, and made four field goals in succession, giving his team a safe margin, and himself the second highest score of the contest. Vanstory and Hackney, with nine points each, led the victors' attack in the first half. Johnnie Purser, former Tar Heel, was high scorer with fifteen points.

The team work and passing shown by the prospective Southern champions was by far the best seen here in several seasons. On the whole, much improvement was noted in getting the ball through the ring. A somewhat altered style of offense showed up very effectively for the first time used.
