BASEBALL CLUB STARTS PRACTICE

Coach Ashmore Optimistic as Many Prospects Turn Out for Work.

As the baseball squad swings into regular practice this week, the greatest problem facing Coach Jim Ashmore seems to be that of finding a capable catcher. There are seven lettermen from last year and a number of promising youngsters already reported, and three other lettermen now in the University may be in togs later.

With two pitchers, three infielders, and two outfielders among the veterans back, Coach Ashmore now needs a third baseman, a catcher and a centerfielder. Captain Joe Westmoreland and "Red" Ellison, a southpaw and rightside flinger, respectively, will form the nucleus for the pitching staff. Tom Young, Ed Burt and Henry Satterfield will take care of the infield at first and second base and shortstop. Tom Cox and Ed Mackie are the gardeners back for work this spring.

The three letter players of other years who have yet to turn out this year are Bill Dodderer, Doug Webb, and Odell Sapp. Dodderer is a first baseman and outfielder, Webb is a third baseman, and Sapp is a right hand pitcher. All were members of the regular team in 1926.

Among the youngsters on whom Coach Ashmore is depending to make varsity grade this year are Jimmie Maus, heady catcher who captained last year's freshman nine; Nap Luffy and Jim Wagner, third baseman; and "Pap" Harden, Norwood Carroll, and Steve Furches, outfielders.

HAL KEMP AND HIS ORCHESTRA HIT HIGH SPOTS

Former Carolina Men Receive Praise from Many Renowned Musicians.

Hal Kemp and His Orchestra, formerly of the University of North Carolina, are nearing the top of the ladder in the orchestra world.

They are now filling an indefinite engagement in the Moorish Grill Room of the Manger Hotel, one of New York's newest and finest. This job is probably one of the three best of its type in New York City and one that only a highly competent orchestra can hold.

It is learned that these boys have greatly increased the business of the Grill Room and they have won the favor of not only the patrons, the management, the Music Publishers, broadcasting and recording officials, but, also of the leading orchestras in the city. They are being visited frequently by the renowned directors and musicians including Fred Waring, George Olsen, Paul Whiteman, Don Voorhes, and others.

These boys two years ago were students here. Now, through musical ability, pluck, personality, and perseverance, they have fought their way to the "big show," being the youngest and most popular band on Broadway.

Hal Kemp and His Hotel Manger Orchestra broadcast Mondays and Tuesdays from station WEAF from six until seven p. m., and from station WJZ Wednesdays from 11:30 to 12 p. m. They are also favorites at the Brunswick recording laboratories. They have already released three records and have recorded more including "Mary Anne," "Who's Blue Now," and "If I Can't Have You." These will be released soon and the orchestra is soon to record "Collegeians," "Great, Great, Girl," and best of all, "I Don't Care," written by Saxie Dowell, a main-stay in the Kemp orchestra. "I Don't Care" is a great tune and it is already going big in New York. It has been popularized throughout the south by Kay Kyser and His Orchestra.

The success of the Hal Kemp orchestra is due to the stellar work of the entire orchestra and the excellent work Alex Holden has done as manager of the organization. The University of North Carolina is truly proud of what they are doing.

Piano Pupil Wins Prize

Rena Henry, daughter of G. K. G. Henry, has won a prize offered for memory work in piano music. During the month of February she memorized 52 lines. She is a pupil of Mrs. J. M. Williams.

CAROLINA BUCCANEERS

The Carolina Buccaneers, under the direction of Mickey Block of Greensboro, is one of Carolina's most outstanding dance orchestras. The organization, assembled last year, has made itself extremely popular with dancing collegians by virtue of its maintenance of good music. The Buccaneers have played for Grail dances, private affairs, fraternity hops and many public dances over the state, the last two being a Grail shag and the Engineer's ball.

Ruffin Dorm Bridge Tournament Will Close Saturday Night

The bridge tournament which commenced in Ruffin dormitory Monday will be brought to a close Saturday night, and the winners will receive weekly passes to the Carolina Theatre through the courtesy of E. C. Smith, manager of the show, announced E. J. Zagora, secretary of the dormitory yesterday afternoon.

This tournament is being conducted with the purpose of encouraging more intimate relations between the members of the building and to aid in promoting a social atmosphere. It is probable that a number of the other dormitories on the campus will adopt a like method in order to aid the residents to become acquainted with each other.

Beverly Moore Elected Editor of "Ex-Hi-Y"

Beverly Moore of Greensboro was elected editor of the X-Hi-Y, news sheet published by the Freshman Friendship Council each year and sent to the members of the Hi-Y clubs throughout the state, at the meeting of the Council Tuesday night. Paul Wimbish, also of Greensboro, was selected business manager of the publication.

The paper contains data and information concerning college education. The senior members of every Hi-Y organization in North Carolina receive copies of the sheet. Plans have been made for three issues to appear next quarter, the same number being published last year. The aim of the sheet is to set forth the advantages of a college education, its approximate cost, and entrance requirements. Contrary to being an advertisement for the University its purpose is to act as an incentive and to encourage high school students to further their education.

Loan Fund Helps Many Needy Students

For the first time in five years a waiting list has been made of students desiring to borrow money. A total of $38,000 has been loaned thus far this year. If more is to be loaned, payments on loans already made must be returned to Dean Bradshaw's office. The trustees of the University are making an effort to get more money so as to enlarge the scope of the loan fund.

The amount of the loan fund used by students has more than trebled in five years. At the same time the student body has nearly doubled. More students are staying in college after finishing four years' work, in order to take M.A. or law or medical work, thus increasing the demand for extra funds.

A CORRECTION

The issue of the TAR HEEL Saturday, March 3, carried the statement that there would be a joint concert of the University Orchestra and Nelson O. Kennedy, pianist, in Memorial Hall Sunday. The TAR HEEL wishes to correct this error. Mrs. Patrick Winston, and not Mr. Kennedy was at the piano. Mrs. Winston acquitted herself remarkably well.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Tomorrow is the last day in which space can be paid for the Yackety Yack. If your organization's space is not paid by tomorrow it will be omitted from the book. The office will be open for receiving payments all afternoon today and tomorrow.

Rev. Mr. Wilson to Address Student Body

Tomorrow morning at the regular chapel exercises at 10:30 o'clock, National Chaplain Reverend Gill Wilson of Trenton, New Jersey will address the student body. A large crowd is expected to hear this speaker of real note who comes to Chapel Hill at this time.

Rev. Wilson served as an aviator in the Lafayette Escadrille before the United States entered the World War and in the United States Air Service later. He was wounded during an air battle. He has been chaplain of the West Virginia and the New Jersey Departments of the American Legion and during the past year served as chairman of the Legion's Standing Committee on Aeronautics. He was declared National Chaplain in Paris at the last American Legion convention by a unanimous vote, and it is anticipated that he has a message of real worth to bring to University students in his address tomorrow morning.

Boxing, Track, and Football Squads To Have Big Barbecue

The Southern Championship Boxing and Cross-Country teams and members of the championship "South Carolina" team, will be honored by the Athletic Association Saturday evening at five-thirty with a barbecue.

Over three hundred invitations have been sent out to members of various teams and all monogram men in the University. Those included besides the lettermen are all members of the freshman and varsity cross-country teams, members of the freshman and varsity football squad, freshman and varsity boxing teams, all men who stayed out for winter football practice during the entire six weeks, all numeral men in freshman baseball and track last spring, members of the freshman and varsity basketball squad who reported regularly during the season, all members of the freshman and varsity wrestling squads, members of the golf team, and the members of the tennis team.

George Denny, Jr. Gets Promotion

George Vernon Denny, Jr., former chief of the Bureau of Lectures and Entertainments of the University of North Carolina Extension Division, has been appointed Associate Director of University Extension in charge of the Institute of Arts and Sciences of Columbia University to succeed the late Milton J. Davies. Mr. Denny, who now lives in Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y., was manager for William B. Feakins, Inc., Lecture Bureau until his appointment.

From 1923 to 1926 he was an instructor of dramatic production in the University of North Carolina. He was associated with the New York Professional Theatre from November, 1926 to March, 1927.

Mr. Denny has written articles on the organization and management of the non-professional theatre, and is now preparing a book on that subject. He is a member of the Town Hall Club and Pi Kappa Phi fraternity.

He was born in Washington, N. C. and received his early education in the private and public schools of Savannah, Ga., Bingham Military School, Asheville, N. C., and graduated from the University of North Carolina with a Bachelor of Science degree in Commerce in 1922.

While here he became manager of the Carolina Playmakers, and instituted and directed its state and national tours, presenting native Carolina folk-plays.

Engagement Announced

The Sunday issues of the Durham Herald and the Durham Sun announced the engagement of Miss Sarah Nachamson, to Emanuel J. Evans, a student at the University. "Mutt" Evans, as he is known on the campus, has figured prominently during his stay at Carolina, being, at present, a member of the Grail, Secretary of the Publications Union, and Athletic Editor of the Yackety Yack. Miss Nachamson is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Nachamson of Durham.

SONG AND DANCE PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

Will Be Given in Playmaker Theatre Instead of Mem- orial Hall.

Because of complicated lighting effects necessary for its staging, the program of Eastern European Music and Folk Songs, previously announced to be given in Memorial Hall, will be presented in the Playmaker Theatre at eight-thirty tonight.

This entertainment of "Folk Songs From Colorful Lands" promises to be one of the most beautiful and unusual theatrical events ever given here. The program to be used is made up of folk songs and dances of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Roumania, and Hungary. There are also a number of piano solos and duets which illustrate the national characteristics of the music of the countries represented. All of this material is strictly true to type and is gathered by several research trips into these countries by Miss Cook.

A most interesting feature of the entertainment is the costuming. The entire program is presented in the vivid, picturesque costumes which Miss Cook collected while abroad and imported to this country. The elaborateness and beauty of these costumes has been the source of great pleasure to all the audiences from Florida to Maine who have seen the performance.

The staging of the entertainment is one of the most elaborate ever to be used in this type of production. Miss Cook carries her own settings and lighting effects which tend to lend atmosphere and charm to the music and dances imported from the most picturesque corners of Europe. No efforts have been spared to make the production one of harmony and colorful beauty.

The identical program, which is being given here tonight, was presented before a most appreciative audience in Asheville a few weeks ago. The critics of that city were completely won over by the beauty, charm, personality and work of Misses Cook and Folliard. In a summary of the Asheville performance, the critic writes, "These two talented young ladies brought to Asheville something new—a merit augmented by the fact that in their performance they proved not only entertaining but highly instructive as well, for only native talent combined with earnest study and intelligence can bring about such a presentation."

The tickets for the Chapel Hill appearance, given under the auspices of Phi Mu Alpha Simfonia, are to be on sale at the door. There will be no reserved seats, and the admission is one dollar.

New Fireman Gives Town Better Service

Since two new full time firemen have been added to the fire fighting equipment of Chapel Hill, no real damage has been done by fire. The new firemen, however, have been kept busy answering calls to extinguish trash cans, autos, brush piles, sage fields, stumps, and what not.

For the last two weeks the fire whistle has been blowing more often, but when the crowd began to inquire about the location of the fire it found that someone had been burning off for a garden.

One fact has been noticeable. The fire engine now leaves the fire house in less than half an hour after the whistle blows. Another thing—the fire fighters have not had to send back to the fire house for a wrench to turn the water on, as was the case on one occasion last year.

Insurance agencies will offer lower rates to the local home owners now that the town has better fire protection. And probably the Pickard Hotel would be extinguished the first rip with full time firemen on the job.

MED STUDENTS APPLYING FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Many Pre-med and Medical Stu- dents Applying for Rhodes Scholarships.

The number of pre-medical and medical students who are applying for Rhodes Scholarships is increasing every year. Many more would be candidates if they realized what a great opportunity is offered to them. The preparation for medicine which can be obtained by three years' study at the Medical School of Oxford University and one or two years at an American Medical School has many advantages over four years at an American medical school. An American Rhodes scholar, on entering Oxford, can enroll in the Honor School of Physiology and obtain the B. A. degree in Physiology at the end of two years. This entitles him, without further examination, to the M. A. degree. During this time he can complete the study of Anatomy, Physiology, Bio-Chemistry, Pharmacology, Pathology, Bacteriology and Physical Diagnosis, the subjects usually taught in the first two years in an American medical school. He can then be admitted, if his record is satisfactory, to the third year class of the medical schools of Johns Hopkins, Harvard, Duke and several other universities, and obtain his M.D. degree in four years from the time he entered Oxford.

It will, however, be wiser for the student to remain at Oxford for a third year so that he may avail himself of the opportunity for independent work in physiology, pathology, bio-chemistry, etc., and thus obtain the B. Sc. degree at the end of this year. This supplemental training is of inestimable value in his future career as a physician or surgeon. If, in addition to this work, the student has profitably utilized his vacations, and there are three of them each year—six weeks each at Christmas and Easter and three months in the summer—by clinical work in London, Edinburgh, Dublin or on the Continent, he can be admitted to the fourth year class at Johns Hopkins or Duke University and obtain his M. D. degree in the same length of time as he would have, had he not gone to Oxford.

FINAL WINTER FOOTBALL GAME THIS SATURDAY

Game To Be Played Under Auspices of Monogram Club.

The students at the University will be able to get first information concerning next year's football prospects Saturday afternoon for half the price of non students. The game which is being played under the auspices of the Monogram Club will be a finale of the winter football practice. The price of admission for students is twenty-five cents while general admission will be fifty cents.

For six weeks Coaches Collins, Cerney, and Fetzer have been drilling members of the 1927 varsity squad who are returning and youngsters from Coach Belding's freshman squad in the rudiments of football, while several former varsity stars have had individual teams with which to work. At the end of the winter football schedule last Saturday the coaches divided the squad into two groups the lettermen and the non-lettermen.

Both teams will have strong representatives in the contest Saturday. The lettermen will have a complete backfield with practically all of the 1927 line back in togs Saturday. The youngsters have several freshman stars to add to the list of reserves. Among the freshman backs are Nash, Michael, House, and Wyrick. Added to these are Maus, Wagner, Erickson, and Branch from the 1927 squad. Spaulding, whose work in the backfield has featured the winter champion's march to the title, has returned to his home and will be unavailable for the game. In the line the non-lettermen are Hudson and Blackwood, two guards who have starred in the winter games. Dortch is another of the 1927 Frosh's luminaries who has been doing good work during the winter practice.

"New York's Smart Set Discards Spats," runs a headline. Excelsior! Happy marriages at last.
