

TRACK TEAM OFF FOR MEET WITH VIRGINIA SQUADS

Washington and Lee, Virginia and V. P. I. To Be Met.

Coaches Fetzner's and Ranson's cindersmen left yesterday for Lexington, Va., where they will meet Washington and Lee's track squad today. The meet with Washington and Lee has become an annual event on the Carolina schedule in the past few years.

If the strength the Heels showed in the Duke meet is an indicator of what the Carolina men can do, the times in the meet today should be close to conference records. However, the Carolina coaches will be forced to hold several of their best men out for the triangular meet with Virginia and V. P. I. at Blacksburg Saturday.

The meet Saturday was originally scheduled as a dual meet with V. P. I., but due to Virginia's inability to arrange their schedule to include a meet with the Heels, the Blacksburg contest was made into a triangular affair.

Washington and Lee met Duke on the cinders last Saturday, with the Blue Devils copping off a major portion of the honors. However, the Generals showed strength in several events and, with some of the Carolina stars out, may give the Tar Heels trouble. Last year Carolina won from the Virginians with little trouble, but Coaches Fetzner and Ranson are expecting more trouble this year.

In the triangular meet Saturday, Virginia will be favored on account of the galaxy of stars competing for them. But both Carolina and V. P. I. have several individual performers who will attract attention. The Blacksburg team has probably the best discus man in the south in Lund. The weight man threw the discus 142 feet last Saturday and has been credited with 149 feet. "Pony" Harper, however, is expected to give him trouble in this event.

Carolina hopes in this meet rests mainly in a group of distance men that are probably the greatest ever to run under the colors of any one college in the south. Galen Elliott, Johnny Henderson, Hoyt Pritchett, and Minor Barkley will carry the burden of the Heels' strength in this meet. Mims in the 440, Smith in the sprints, Fort in the hurdles and broad jump, and Pearson in hurdles will aid these in their attempt to score another victory over Virginia and V. P. I.

Virginia has Captain Henry Cummings, the south's best sprinter, Harry Plippen, national pentathlon champion, Maurice LeBauer, weightman, and Herbert Robinson, distance runner, to match Carolina's and V. P. I.'s stars.

formerly with the 47 Workshops of Harvard University; J. Brooks Atkinson, dramatic critic for the New York Times; Professor Koch, organizer and director of the Carolina Playmakers, and others.

After these introductory remarks by the authorities mentioned above, the presiding officer continued with the program which had been outlined.

This program consisted of a speech from Paul Green, professor of philosophy at the University of North Carolina and winner of the Pulitzer prize for drama in 1927. After Mr. Green completed his outline of the Teaching of Playwriting, Miss Katherine Emmitt, executive secretary of the Actors Equity Association of New York, spoke on the subject, "The Relation between the Professional and the Little Theatre."

The delegates heard an excellent survey of the problems of the dramatic people when Mr. Roland Holt, New York publisher and dramatic critic, delivered his address. Howard Mumford Jones, University of North Carolina, concluded the program with a short talk entitled "Drunk with Drama."

A FEE TO SUPPORT STUDENT GOVERNMENT IS PROPOSED

pointed some time ago and composed of Jud Ashby, Cesar Cone and Henry Lay. The report went into the utility and need of the building, the probability of completing it by various ways and the methods (which was reported to be the only practical means of early completion) of finishing the structure through finances secured by student fees, collected annually as the present athletic and publications fees. The report of the committee called for immediate action on the question and suggested that it be referred to the student body for ratification or rejection during the general election, to be held next Tuesday. The general administration council unanimously approved the report.

The Plan

After reciting the need and utility of Graham Memorial building and pointing out the desirability of completing the structure this year, the resolution of the budget committee resolved itself in favor of a five dollar annual levy on all students to be collected by the University business office. In turn the building committee of Graham Memorial was petitioned to accept this plan and was asked to prevail upon the board of trustees of the University to secure funds with which to complete the building immediately. The five dollar annual fee was to be used for paying off the principal and the interest on the sum secured by the trustees of complete the memorial. This five dollar fee would be collectable from all students, without they specifically objected at the time they pay registration bills, and was estimated to be operative for a period of eight or ten years. It was pointed out by the budget committee that the central unit of the building now under construction called for a total outlay of $220,000, and that an additional $110,1000 was needed to complete and fully equip and to put it into use.

Proposition Meets Opposition

After the adoption of the above resolution, the proposition was submitted to the senior class and the two literary societies for discussion and approval. All three organizations by a close vote disapproved of the method. It was evident that there was a general lack of information on the question and that many students felt that a new-fangled fee or special tax was being thrust upon the student body by steam-roller tactics. Since it was the expressed desire of the budget committee and the central administration council to not force any fee on the student body unacceptable to the group, and that full consideration and deliberation was desired on the question of completing the building by a student fee, those responsible for the proposal decided not to submit the question at the coming general student elections Tuesday, and to wait until the student body could be acquainted with the facts more thoroughly and to give the proposition more complete consideration.

Student Government Fee

Another proposal submitted by the budget committee was the matter of levying a student government fee of twenty cents per annum on all students to support and finance the student government. In offering its plan, the committee declared itself opposed to all unnecessary fees and stated that it had arrived at this method of financing the student government after considering several advisable means. This proposal was put into the form of a motion and reads as follows:

"Moved that in order to support the expenses of student government at the University of North Carolina that each student shall be assessed the sum of twenty cents for each school year. This sum is to be paid out of the various class treasuries from the fees now collected by the various classes. In the event that a student is not a member of any class, such as the members of the schools of Law, Medicine, and Pharmacy, then the fee will be added to the student's registration bill by the Business Office."

In this manner no additional fees will be added to those now paying class fees, provided that the various classes do not see fit to raise the amount of the class fees. Moreover, all students will contribute to the support of the student government, since those not paying class fees will pay a direct fee of twenty cents.

PROPOSED USES AND HISTORY OF BUILDING RELATED HERE

spent considerable time that summer canvassing former students of the beloved president.

In addition to the consideration of the project as a memorial, the use to which the contemplated building was to be put, and the need of it, was discussed somewhat. The structure was to be a center of student activity and entertainment. Provisions were made for offices of all student officers, which at present are scattered all over the campus and off, in basements of some buildings, and garrets of others; few, if any, of which are in sufficient accommodations. There was to be a large reception room which would serve as the lobby of the campus, and rooms in which students could entertain members of their families or people who could not very well be asked to dormitory rooms. Lack of such facilities is today a badly felt need on the campus. Unless a student is a member of a fraternity having provision for such guests, or enjoys such a privilege somehow, there is almost nowhere that he may entertain visitors. The present Y. M. C. A. building, which is altogether inadequate for social usage, comprises the only chance on the campus, and the lack of rest rooms there is very noticeable. The graduate students, a relatively small group, have the exclusive use of their quarters for such purposes. This lack of rest room facilities has been remarked by prominent citizens of the town. It was also planned to have a cafeteria in the basement, with arrangements for serving in the lobby, which condition would be most acceptable to groups having banquets and smokers. Also, clubs of lesser importance, such as county and scientific clubs, would find ample locations for work. In short, every movement and activity of the student body would be cared for in the proposed building.

Such a proposition is by no means peculiar to the University. The Harvard Union, of Harvard University, is a notable example of the same idea, and to come closer home, Duke has a building of that type.

Various alumni and friends of the University have from time to time mentioned the halted work on the memorial, but not until lately have the students become so vitally interested in the undertaking. While none of the students here now was here under Dr. Graham, those who have occasion to further the move as its primary object of being a memorial, can readily see the need and present lack of a building which would be utilized for the purpose to which the Graham Memorial is to be devoted.

"Bigger and Better" are empty words when not backed by actual accomplishments. The time for the opening of the Durham Exposition draws near, and as the attractions booked assume the form of a well-balanced program the management feels fully warranted in making the assertion that the show this year will exceed anything of its kind ever before held in the state. Not only are there more numbers on the daily and nightly programs but they are of a higher type, each with its different appeal—the comedy, the thrills, the music, the dancing—blending into a harmonious whole and giving to the thousands who will attend a whole weeks harvest of Fun, Amusement and Pleasure.
