

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB GIVES LAST CONCERTS OF YEAR

Will Give Programs in North Carolina and Virginia; Tour Will Last Eight Days.

The University's famous Glee Club, which so successfully invaded Europe last summer, is now on its last tour of this collegiate year giving concerts in various cities in North Carolina and Virginia.

The tour includes Henderson, Wilmington, New Bern, and Greenville in North Carolina, and Norfolk and Richmond in Virginia. The club will be away from Chapel Hill eight days.

The story of the development of this group from a mixed aggregation of voices, banjos, mandolins, and dramatic skits that made up a rag-time program, to a delicately attuned choral organization that brought down applause from all America and then invaded Europe with equal success reads almost like fiction.

The period of evolution covered eight years. It began with the coming to the University of Prof. Paul John Weaver and reached a climax last summer when the club made a tour of England and France; and—judging from what the European critics said—the Tar Heel singers literally "brought home the bacon." Since the European tour the club has made highly successful tours of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia.

HEEL GRAPPLERS START TRAINING

Several Lettermen Back; Prospects Fair for Winning Team.

Wrestling Coach Chuck Quinlan and his assistant, Kenneth Motsinger, announced the start of spring practice yesterday afternoon. Coach Quinlan stated that the squad will practice every afternoon in the Tin Can from four to five. He urged that all candidates for the squad be out every day, especially the new men, since new holds and mat tactics will be taught every afternoon.

Prospects are fair for a winning team next year. Letter men will be back in several weights, while the new material is expected to show up well, according to the coaches. The spring practice sessions will give the mentors an opportunity to get a line on the new prospects, and thus improve chances of making a comeback from the rather disastrous season that the University matmen experienced this year.

Meets are now being arranged with Davidson, Washington and Lee, State and Duke. The Southern Conference meet is also being arranged.

The following men have been asked to report by Coach Quinlan: C. G. Thompson, P. B. Abbott, D. L. Moore, C. W. Twiford, R. H. Moore, C. W. Hadley, J. M. Mewborne, F. J. Osborne, G. W. Saunders, W. M. Wilson, Sam Worthington, R. L. Zealy, Killian Barwick, J. M. Betts, R. B. Davidson, S. B. Goldberg, H. M. Fulcher, W. L. Higdon, M. A. Houghton, C. V. Williamson, D. D. Smith, W. J. Stone, J. C. HUDGINS IS NEW PRESIDENT OF STUDENT BODY

Wins By a Majority of 619 Votes over Charlie Lipscomb; Has Had Wide Experience in Collegiate Activities.

Ed Hudgins won in the race for the presidency of the Student Body Tuesday on the crest of a tide that had been turning in his favor all through the gloomy morning, and equally soggy afternoon. He ran up a plurality of 619 votes over Charlie Lipscomb, his only opponent.

Ed's victory was a popular one. Ever since he was elected to the presidency of the Senior class last spring he has been prominently mentioned as the logical man for the leadership of the student body for the coming year, and politicians have turned fond eyes upon him as their favorite son for these many months.

The election of Hudgins comes as no surprise to the campus, for he had been considered as one of the most logical men for the position ever since his election to the presidency of the senior class last year.

Hudgins brings to his new office a thorough understanding of many problems confronting the president of the student body; and his wide experience gained through participation in so many phases of collegiate activities should enable him to make an able and judicious head of student government.

Voted the best-all-round man in the senior class, Hudgins is recognized throughout the campus as a versatile and competent man. Among his many activities are the following: Secretary of Phi Beta Kappa, Manager Varsity Football, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, Secretary-Treasurer Inter-fraternity Council, Debate Council, Virginia-Carolina Debate, Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Sheiks, Gorgon's Head, Leader Senior Ball, Vice-President German Club, President Pro-tem Di Senate, President Senior Class, Golden Fleece. At the Golden Fleece tapping last spring Hudgins was the first man to be selected for this high honor.

In the campus elections Hudgins defeated Charley Lipscomb of Greensboro who was his only opponent for the presidency of student body.

STUDENT FEE IS PASSED AT POLLS

Large Majority Votes Cast For Twenty Cent Fee For Student Government.

The proposed motion for a student government fee of twenty cents per year was passed in the elections today by a vote of 817 against 320 opposing the motion.

This fee which is for the purpose of paying for the expenses of the elections, including the costs of printing the ballots and the like, and to provide for transportation expenses for the President to Student Body conventions and meetings, is to be paid out of the class treasuries from the fees now collected. In case a student is not a member of either class the fee will be added to his bill by the business office. Slightly over eleven hundred votes were cast in this election.

University Debating Team

Above are pictured the four University debaters who recently won decisions in a triangular contest with Alabama and Tulane on the question of whether Al Smith should be the next President of the United States.

Decentralization Problem Now Faces State, Says Miss Young

North Carolina Club Speaker Points Out Lack of Proper Budgeting Procedure in Municipal Affairs, and Declares Urbanization of State is Now Impending

"North Carolina is now at the turning of the ways, and it is for her to choose in which direction she will progress—if the quantitative or the qualitative development of her municipalities," according to Miss Ina V. Young of Durham who spoke here last night at the regular fortnightly meeting of the North Carolina Club. Miss Young talked on "Some Aspects of Municipal Finance in North Carolina." She is a graduate of Duke University and is at the present time with the Institute for Research in Social Science and a graduate student in the University.

"The process of urbanization has gone on steadily during the last century," the speaker said. "This concentration of population in small areas affords opportunities and advantages because of mass cooperation. But with this concentration of population the life of the urban group becomes more complex and intricate, and more expensive to operate.

"Consequently, to counteract these handicaps, there has been a slight tendency in recent years toward decentralization, rather than centralization, in other parts of the country. And now North Carolina has come to face the same question."

She continued by discussing assessed valuation and the revenue and expenditures of cities of varying sizes. "Comparing the receipts and disbursements, we see evident lack of proper budgeting procedure," she declared. "This is a specific legal requirement for the municipalities in the state. In many cases the expenditures exceeded the revenue received, and often also there was an unnecessarily large balance at the end of the year, which is an almost equally significant sign of poor financing. Bonded indebtedness is likewise a most serious problem, there being only six towns in the state that report no bonded indebtedness."

According to Miss Young, North Carolina had 413 incorporated places of less than 2500 population at the time of the 1920 census. Of the 413, 24 had less than 100 population, 249 had less than 500, and 333 less than 1,000 population. There were only 57 cities and towns of over 2500 population, and the larger cities in the state

Mud Plentiful Around Polls As Candidates Drum up Votes

More Politicians Seemed to Be Present around Memorial Hall and the "Y" Than Voters—Co-eds Ride to Voting Places in Candidate's Cars.

Politicians had a plentiful supply of mud for their customary slinging proclivities Tuesday as the skies dripped and drizzled all during the gloomy day, seemingly in an attempt to dampen the ardor of the fevered politicians.

At every poll it seemed that there were three amateur Tammany Hall adherents for each voter. Although the election partook of a far more serene nature than most of its predecessors, there were a few heated sessions that nearly devolved into fist fights between proponents of rival candidates.

"Boob" MacNatt and his Chevrolet bus that provided free transportation between the co-ed dorm and the polls for those who proclaimed themselves inclined toward the principal machine ticket provided one of the features of this afternoon's voting. A rival car

BUTLER ENTERS OLYMPIC TRIALS

Tar Heel Boxer Left Tuesday for Baltimore to Take Part in Sectional Tryouts.

Ed Butler, welterweight captain of the University's Southern Championship boxing team, left here last night for Baltimore to take part in the sectional tryouts to select members of this year's Olympic boxing squad. He carries with him an impressive record of victories.

All-Southern year before last, Butler went through the entire season without a single defeat and disposed of all opposition in the welterweight class at the Southern Conference Tournament staged at the University of Virginia to annex the title in his class.

Butler passed the 1928 season without defeat in a single dual meet. He was matched against Weed, Virginia fighter, in the first round of the Conference at the University of Virginia and lost a close decision to the Cavalier boxer.

At the end of the first round of the judges were divided, but instead of calling another round, the referee awarded the fight to Weed on points. Weed won the Southern title. Thirteen victories in thirteen bouts over a period of two years in dual meets is Butler's unusual record.

Survivors in the sectional tryouts will meet in the finals in Boston April 24 and 25, and should Butler survive the initial bouts, he will be the third Carolina boxer entered in the finals. "Ox" Shuford and Charlie Brown, having won the Southern championship in the heavyweight and middleweight classes, respectively, this year, are qualified to enter the finals directly without going through the preliminary rounds.

Carolina is in the Southeastern division, but Mobile, where the Southeastern tryouts are being held, is so far away that special permission was granted Butler to enter the Baltimore preliminaries.

TENNIS PLAYERS WIN FIRST TILT

Cone and Covington, Varsity, and Shapiro, Freshman, Remain in Play.

Three representatives of the University of North Carolina have survived the first round of the North and South Tennis Tournament at Pinehurst and remain in play. The three are Caesar Cone and Dick Covington of the Varsity Team and Morton Shapiro of the Freshman Team.

Cone will meet John Doeg in the next round. Doeg is the eighth best player in the United States, according to the national ranking of the U. S. L. T. A. He is a member of the Davis Cup Squad.

Covington meets Teddy Berwell, North Carolina high school flash, and winner of the Fall Tournament at Pinehurst. Shapiro will play Cliff Sutter, Southern Junior Champion.

Included among the nationally known in the Tournament are Frank X. Shields, George Lott, and John Doeg, all of whom are among the first ten ranking players in the country.

The results of the first round of play are as follows:

Cone beat Leffler, 7-5, 7-5.
Shapiro beat Waddell, 6-2, 7-5.
Berwell beat Wilson, 6-1, 6-2.
Covington won by default.

Saturday morning T. S. McCorkle will leave for Chicago to attend the Music Supervisors' Conference in Chicago.

Won from Alabama Here, While Negative Defeated Tulane in Catholic Stronghold; Lively Subject Draws Good Crowd.

Colleges and universities reporting a waning interest in debating these days may remedy the situation to a great extent by choosing live subjects of current interest, according to the results of forensic contests recently engaged in by University debaters.

Arguing both sides of the query, "Resolved, That Alfred Smith, Governor of New York, should be elected President of the United States," the University debaters met teams from Tulane and the University of Alabama in a triangular contest.

The University's affirmative team, composed of Taylor Bledsoe of Asheville and J. C. Williams of Linden, met Alabama here and won a 2 to 1 decision; while the Carolina negative team, composed of C. R. Jonas of Lincolnton and John Mebane, of Greensboro, went to Tulane and also won a 2 to 1 decision. Tulane, it must be recalled, is located in a strong Catholic community, and the Carolina team that won was debating the negative side of the Smith question.

The debate here and at Tulane both drew good crowds, showing, it is believed, that there will always be a good attendance when lively subjects are being discussed.

The Carolina victories broke a tie in the series and gave the Tar Heels an edge.

PHI ASSEMBLY HOLDS MEETING

Disposition of Proceeds from Grail Dances Discussed by Senators.

It was brought out at the regular meeting on last Tuesday night that the Phi Assembly was of the opinion that the desk copy size of the Freshman handbook is preferable to the pocket size. There was no discussion of the motion after it was fully explained by Killian Barwick, but the vote was taken at the request of the chairman of the Committee on Freshman Handbooks.

It was definitely reported that State Senator Burguyn would appear as a speaker on the campus in the near future. Mr. Burguyn, who is a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor in the next election is a very able speaker. He will speak on some phase of the North Carolina political situation.

At this point the Ways and Means Committee chairman very subtly introduced the resolution that all future grail dances and the proceeds therefrom should be placed under the direct control of the student council. No one spoke very enthusiastically in favor of the resolution, although several, including Noe, Harrell, and Crumpler questioned the right of the Grail to take in money from the students and allow the same students no right in saying how that money was to be expended. It was also brought out that most all of the Grail donations were for athletics. Barwick and Crew opposed the resolution, showing that the Grail expended all of its funds for campus needs, that the purpose is to create a better spirit among the fraternity and non-fraternity men, and that no one was compelled to go to the dances. The resolution was defeated by a large majority.

Fred Parker stood alone in favor of the resolution that the Supreme Court should give advisory opinions to the executive and legislative departments without a test case. He thought that the judges could give such valuable advice to the legislators that many of our bad laws would be eliminated. Hall, Crew, and Lang opposed the measure on the grounds that it would put too much work on the judges of the Supreme Court, and that the rights of the people to make their own laws through representatives would be taken away. This measure was also defeated.
