ABOUT 800 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS TO BE ON CAMPUS

Finals in Debate, Track and Tennis Expected to Draw Great Crowd

COMING NEXT WEEK-END

Forty Schools Entered to Date with Debate Teams; Finals in Debate Friday Night

The annual High School Week sponsored by the University will be held here next Thursday and Friday, April 19 and 20. This event is always looked forward to with great anticipation by students of the University and the people of Chapel Hill who act as hosts for the visitors.

No less than 800 visitors representing more than 40 schools throughout North Carolina will come here to compete in the high school track meet, tennis tournament, and the triangular debate, preliminaries of which were held throughout the state on Friday night, April 8. In order to send a debate team to Chapel Hill, a high school had to win both the affirmative and the negative side of the question in the preliminaries.

The question under discussion this year is Resolved, That congress enact the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. Preliminaries will begin on the campus Thursday night and the finals of the contest will be held in Memorial Hall on Friday night.

Throughout the day the representatives of the high school track teams will be competing on Emerson field and the tennis courts for athletic honors. The preliminaries of these events will begin Thursday and continue through Friday.

Secretary E. R. Rankin has already received the following debate entrants for the high school week events: Ansonville, Apex, Boiling Springs, Bonlee, Cherryville, Clyde, Columbia, Edward, Best, Erwin, Fallston, Gibson, Glen Alpine, Goldsboro, Harmony, LaGrange, Lees-McRae Institute, Lexington, Liberty, Mt. Holly.

Nathaniel Green, Newell, Newland, Parkton, Pikeville, Prospect, Reidsville, Rich Square, Roxboro, Shelby, South Edgecombe, South Mills, Tryon, Valley Springs, Washington Washington Collegiate Institute, Wingate, Woodfin, Woodland, Oliney, Emma, Bladenboro, Rockingham, Zeb Vance, Candor, and Scotland Neck.

DOEG AND LOTT EXHIBIT MONDAY

Ranking Tennis Players of the Country to Play on University Courts

An opportunity to see the finest type of tennis will be given University students when George Lott of Chicago and John Doeg of California play exhibition matches on the varsity courts Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

George Lott is the third best player in the United States, according to the ranking of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. It is generally conceded in tennis circles that he will be a member of the Davis Cup Team. He is acknowledged one of the outstanding players in the United States, having defeated all of the best players, including Rene Lacoste, who took the championship away from Bill Tilden.

John Doeg is the eighth ranking player. He was National Junior Champion in 1926, and is considered one of the coming players among the younger set. He is left-handed, and has an unusual and interesting style. His serve is the greatest in tennis.

Beals Wright, who was Captain of the Davis Cup Team twenty years ago, will referee the matches. Fred Baggs of New York, another old-timer, will play in the doubles match. Baggs is a well-known chop stroke artist, having specialized in this stroke. Lott and Charley Waddell, Captain of the Carolina Tennis Team, will also play in the doubles.

The players have been in the North and South Tournament at Pinehurst, and are on their way to another tournament at White Sulphur Springs. At the invitation of Coach John Kenfield they consented to come to Chapel Hill and play a series of exhibition games, thus giving local tennis enthusiasts a chance to see examples of the best brand of tennis. There will be no admission charge.

Crack Carolina Team Entered in Tech Relay

The University of North Carolina's crack four-mile relay team is running against the best distance runners of the South in the annual Georgia Tech Relay Carnival in Atlanta this afternoon.

The members of the championship

the Southern conference record of 4 minutes 21.2 seconds for the mile, while Pritchett holds the conference two-mile mark. Should the Tar Heel runners emerge victorious today this will be the third championship relay team for the two Tar Heel stars.

TECH NEXT DUAL MEET

Hoping to chalk up another win to offset the loss in the Va.-V.P.I.-U.N.C. triangular meet held at Blacksburg, eleven members of the Carolina track squad left for Atlanta Thursday night to participate in the annual Georgia Tech Relay Carnival. The Heels have won the 4-mile relay for the past three years, and although they will be without the services of John Henderson, who recently lowered the Conference record for the five mile, they are hopeful of taking another trophy. There will be Carolina teams entered in two other relays, and men in two other events.

In the distance medley Nims will be running the 440, Evans the 880, Pritchett in the three-quarter mile, and Elliott or Barkley in the mile. The two-mile relay will be contested on behalf of the Carolina outfit by Evans, Horney, Elliott or Barkley, each running a half-mile.

In the four-mile classic Wrenn, Fisher, Pritchett, and Barkley or Elliott, will each run a mile.

"Puny" Harper, who has been flinging the discs all over the field, will try his hand at that diversion, and Jeff Fordham, former star weight man on the Carolina teams, will be in the javelin contest. All events are entered by invitation, he being asked to compete in that contest.

In all distance affairs, Carolina teams are dreaded by opponents since very few long races have been lost by the Hillians in the past several years.

This success has been due in a large measure to Dale Ranson, former student here and track man, who trains and coaches the distance men.

The majority of the track squad stayed on the Hill in preparation for the dual meet with Georgia Tech Saturday next. This meet is very important, ranking with that of Virginia, according to the coaches. The Heels took the contest last year with the close score of 65 to 61.

John Henderson, who has been doing excellent running lately, was unable to go south because of an injured leg from the triangular meet in Virginia. The trainers are hopeful of getting him ready for the meet with Tech Saturday.

Little more aviation and we'll have to start zoning the ozone.—Kansas Gazette.

Only Seniors at The Senior Ball

Seniors seeking admittance to the Senior Ball, which is to be given tonight at Bynum Gymnasium, will be admitted after having their names checked at the door. No cards will be mailed to the members of the class and admittance will be gained only through the above manner.

Special arrangements will be made for leaving the floor and returning.

Butler Loses Fight In Second Round of Olympic Try-outs

Ed Butler, captain of the University boxing team, was eliminated in the second round of the sectional Olympic try-outs held in Baltimore Thursday night.

Butler lost the decision to Hector Mendez, Argentine consul in Baltimore, after three rounds of fighting.

The Tar Heel captain had won in the initial round from a tough boy named Ernest March, representing the Emerywood Athletic Club, and had made a good impression. In the second round of his fight with Mendez, newspaper accounts show Butler, weakened by a series of terrific rights and lefts, was barely able to last the session out.

Phi Zeta Nu Taps Hazell and Holt At A.I.E.E. Meeting

Two men were tapped for Phi Zeta Nu, honorary electrical engineering fraternity, at the regular meeting of the A.I.E.E. Thursday night. These men were C. C. Hazell, Jr., Raleigh, of the senior class, and J. W. Holt, Greensboro, of the junior class.

Following the tapping, a program was conducted by co-op students. W. J. Wortman, who has been with the Duke Power Company, gave an illustrated talk explaining the installation of Brown-Boveri high tension oil switches.

W. B. Sharp, recently connected with the Southern Railway Company, gave a comparison of railway signal systems. J. W. Holt, who has been working with R. H. Bouligny and Company, talked on mill wiring.

SENIOR BALL IS GIVEN TONIGHT

Phi Kappa Sigma Entertains at Twilight Dance at Fraternity House

The long-awaited Senior Ball will be held tonight at Bynum Gymnasium from nine until twelve; the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity will entertain at a twilight dance this afternoon from six until nine.

The twilight dance to be given by the fraternity is planned as one of the best afternoon dances ever given on the Hill. Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Hardin will act as chaperones and the dance will be informal. Jack Wardlaw and his orchestra will furnish music for the occasion. Wardlaw's orchestra is one of the newest organizations in the university and since its organization has gained wide publicity.

The Senior Ball is planned as an elaborate affair. Plans have been underway for some time and Ed Hudgins, president of the class, states that with the large number of girls present the best Senior Ball ever will be given.

The Gym will be decorated lavishly for the occasion. The Carolina Buccaneers have been engaged to play, and several features have been planned to add to the event tonight.

The Grand March will be led by Ed Hudgins and Miss Marion Tabor, assistants to Jack Davis with Miss Mary Marshall and Bill Neal with Miss Elizabeth Halton.

Winston Will Talk On Andrew Johnson At Epworth League

Judge Robert W. Winston, author of A Freshman as Sixty, and biographer of North Carolina's tailor-president, will address the Epworth League of the local Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:00. Judge Winston's topic will be "Andrew Johnson—Up from Poverty."

The speaker has made an extensive study of the life of Johnson and is well-qualified to speak on this subject. J. Winfield Crew will preside.

Playmaker Reading Sunday, April 22

On Sunday evening, April 22, at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmaker Theatre, Mrs. Urban Holmes will read J. M. Barrie's What Every Woman Knows, as the Playmaker reading for the month of April.

Mrs. Miriam Hilton will sing Scotch ballads.

Tar Heels at Virginia For First Game Today; Wake Forest Wednesday

First of Three-Game Series with Cavaliers in Charlottesville

DEMON DEACONS HERE Virginians Hold Edge over Tar Heels, Having 44 out of 79 Games to Their Credit; V. M. I. Next Saturday

The rivalry that has existed since 1891 will be renewed this afternoon in Charlottesville, Va., when Coach Jim Ashmore's Tar Heels and Coach Greasy Neale's Cavaliers hook up in the 79th baseball game of the 37 year-old series.

The Virginians have an edge in the number of games won, but according to the way Carolinians are accustomed to regard the series—that is since 1922—the Heels hold the edge.

Since the first game in 1891 the Cavaliers have won 44 games, while the Heels have been victors in 33 of the contests. However, the Carolina teams have been more fortunate since 1922, for they have won fifteen games against six victories registered by Virginia.

The first great Carolina year was in 1922 when "Lefty" Wilson, Herman Bryson, and Captain Manly Lewellyn turned the Virginians back with goose-eggs. Last year, the Heels won the first game of the series 10 to 7 in a ten-inning battle. The Cavaliers gained sweet revenge for that defeat, however, by upsetting Coach Ashe more's men in their own back yard to the tune of 6-2. The last game went to the Heels by a 11-10 verdict, thus giving Carolina another series.

Both teams have played good ball this year. The Virginians being content to upset Northern teams, while the Carolina nine has played mostly Southern teams. Both aggregations have had a rather light week of play on account of inclement weather. Most of the games scheduled on the Tar Heel Virginia trip have been canceled, while the Virginians have also been idle for the same reasons.

The Tar Heel baseball team will play their second game against a North Carolina team Wednesday against Wake Forest on Emerson field. Saturday, they are due to meet V. M. I. on the same field.

The Wake Forest game is sure to attract state-wide interest, as the Deacons and Tar Heels have established one of the most bitter rivalries between North Carolina institutions.

FRESHMEN WILL MEET MT. AIRY

Tar Baby Nine Plays High School Team on Emerson Field this Afternoon

Coach Cerney's freshman baseball tossers conclude a successful week of four games today when they take on Coach Bob Sides' powerful Mount Airy High aggregation on Emerson Field at four o'clock.

The game today promises to be the best of the week in point of interest for the spectators. For, if dope is followed a pitching duel between two of the best young hurlers in the state will be the menu. Johnny Hurt, ace of the first-year staff, is slated to go against Bob Sides' squad, while the former Carolina keystone-sacker will start "Lard" Money in all probability. Sides will have in reserve Dobson and Harkrader, who go to round out what is claimed to be the best high school hurling staff in North Carolina. Coach Cerney will have "Shine" Ball and Paul Edwards working in the bull pen.

Cerney has a fast-working freshman aggregation on the field now and one that is capable of giving any squad a race for honors. Of course, there are several rough spots to be smoothed over yet, but the froshies are now a working unit.

Sides is bringing down a team rated high this season on a basis of their showing last year. In fact, the Mount Airy team is being boosted for the state crown. If the visiting youngsters stay on the ground today they will give Cerney's crew a merry fight.
