

Seventh Inning Rally Wins For Heels, 4-1

Carolina Pushes Over Winning Score in Seventh

LANNING PITCHES WELL

Jessup, Maus, Ball and Satterfield Lead in Batting Honors for Carolina While Reynolds Stars for Wake Forest.

The proverbial seventh inning rally netted Carolina three runs and enabled the Heels to turn back Wake Forest College here yesterday 4-1 in the first game of the Deacon-Tar Heel series.

The Heels spotted Wake Forest to a run in the third inning and until the seventh it looked as if that one run would turn the Carolina team back. Ball, Tar Heel hurler, and Lanning, Deacon moundsman, were twirling nice games and keeping the opposing batters well in check.

In this frame, Jessup doubled, Nap Lufty sent him to third a moment later and was also safe on an error. Stewart tried to bring Jessup in on a squeeze play, but was out at first. Jimmie Maus, star Tar Heel backstop, poled out a single to score both Jessup and Lufty. The Wake Forest team blew up temporarily at this period and by the time the dust had cleared up Maus was safe at second. Harding was sent in to pinch hit for Ball. He was safe at first on another Deacon error, Maus scored at the same time. Coxe struck out and the Heels' rally ended when Harding was out stealing second.

The Deacons scored in the third when Reynolds, second man up in the frame, poled out a triple over Tom Coxe's head. Lassiter brought him in with a squeeze play. This ended their scoring activities for the remainder of the game.

Jessup led the Carolina team at bat with three hits out of as many tries. One of his hits went for two bases. Ball and Maus also gathered two baggers for the Heels. Satterfield poled out a triple for the Heels while Reynolds' three base hit was the only extra base blow the Deacons got during the afternoon.

GOLF TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD APRIL 28 AT LOCAL CLUB

Book Exchange Offers One Dozen and a Half Dozen Balls as Prizes

On Saturday, April 28, there will be a golf tournament held at the Chapel Hill Country Club, which will be open to all members and student members.

This is to be a handicap tournament, and all persons wishing to participate are requested to hand in three cards of twelve holes each. These cards should be signed by players and their opponents.

The prizes which are offered by the Book Exchange are one dozen golf balls for the winner, and a half dozen for the runner-up.

HEEL PRINTS by Yarborough

Merely a column in which the sports editor expresses personal opinions concerning happenings in the sport whirl.

The question of a name for this column worried its editor quite a bit. He racked his brain for a suitable cognomen and solicited aid from various persons. Even the social editor of this publication was requested to help in naming the newcomer to the columns of the TAR HEEL. Finally in desperation the editor sought the aid of a girl friend. She knew of no name, but she seemed anxious to suggest one to whom it might be dedicated.

Turning to sports, we note that "Lefty" Westmoreland has reached the form that earned him the captaincy of the 1928 Carolina baseball team. Monday, he held the V. M. I. batters to seven hits and no runs. Thirteen men went back to the bench via the strike-out route. It seems as if "Lefty" is getting ready for the big games yet to be played.

Recently track athletes have been juggling the discus mark about quite a bit. "Pony" Harper, Tar Heel heaver, and Lund, V. P. I. weightman, have been receiving quite a bit of publicity on account of their work with the platter. But we know of two high and prep school boys who can give them a run for their records. Theron Brown of Greensboro hung up a new mark about two weeks ago when he tossed the discus 134 feet. And now we hear that Rhoades, Woodberry Forest track captain, has just tossed the platter around 140 feet. Rhoades is the same boy who came down last spring for the first Southern Interscholastic and hung up a record of 131 feet. Both of these boys will be seen in action on the Hill this spring. Brown will compete in the State High School meet this week-end, and Rhoades will be down again for the Southern Interscholastic games May 12.

With the commencement of the State Intercollegiate tennis tournament this afternoon, Chapel Hill will find more sporting events listed for one week-end than it has seen in quite a while. The tennis matches continue through Saturday. Georgia Tech and Carolina meet on the track Saturday, and on the same afternoon the Heels and V. M. I. meet on the diamond. The freshman trackmen go to Durham this afternoon for a meet with Duke frosh. The High schools hold their track meet during the week-end, and the high school tennis matches are also listed for the same time. A right big order for one week-end.

"K. O." Warren, former student councilman, member of the Golden Fleece, and captain and member of several Carolina teams, has been putting right many heavies to sleep lately. Since he turned pro last fall, Ad has been really fighting and we wouldn't be surprised to see him go a long way in the fight game. Of course, we aren't going to try to say how far he will go, for about a year ago we predicted that Tom Sharkey would beat Dempsey and even if he didn't beat the Mannassa Mauler he

Since we wrote the paragraph on the week-end sport card, we find that the freshman tennis ladder is to be started this week-end. More stuff for sport followers, although we doubt if it will interest anyone outside of the freshman tennis players. The yearling courtmen are scheduled for a trip into the western part of the state sometime in May. Lucky birds!

We wonder just who is going to read this first attempt. But we are leaving it for another week at least, then another. Readers! Prepare for Heel Prints, for it is going to appear just as regularly as Walt Spearman's Random Thrusts and will probably be as interesting. We are not flattering our column, but taking off on Walt's.

State Tennis Meet Will Start Today

Net luminaries of North Carolina collegiate circles will meet here this week-end in the annual State Tennis Tournament to determine the intercollegiate champions of North Carolina. Beginning today, court representatives of Davidson, Duke, State, Wake Forest, and Carolina will go through an elimination series that will culminate in Saturday's final championship matches for singles and doubles supremacy. This tournament will in no way decide the question of a school's claim to State Championship team honors; it will merely determine the individual champions in North Carolina collegiate tennis.

Coach Kenfield has been whipping the Tar Heels into final shape for the mass invasion of State intercollegiate stars. The Carolina team has been showing more speed and stamina lately, which is a woeful indication that they are ready for the test. Captain Waddell is commanding first place in the playing line-up. After him, in order, are Covington, Wilson, Scott, Norwood, and Merritt. Darymple and Cone, of last year's varsity, have been displaced by younger candidates, and now occupy seventh and eighth places, respectively. In the doubles, Waddell and Wilson are on the first team. Covington and Scott will probably compose the second pair. The other combinations are, as yet, undecided.

would some day be heavyweight champion. Sharkey hasn't done much since that seventh round in New York a while back. K. O. might run into somebody who could do the same with him. At present, however, he is eliminating a bunch of fighters and when we say eliminating, we mean that he is putting them out for a long time. Last night he fought in the eastern part of the state, when this is read he probably will have scored another knock-out. News reports say that this is his last fight under Dean Paulsen and the last time he will fight in the state before going North. We repeat he is going a long way in the fight game, or we're way off the game.

This business of building up a sports staff for the TAR HEEL is real work. When the editor first undertook the position, he thought that it would be easy, but he hadn't met all the aspiring sport writers. It seems that most every one of them wants to cover the editor's favorite beat, and none of them want the beats we dislike. The editor of this column wants sympathy and the only person from whom he thinks he can get it is the girl who wanted the space dedicated to her.

HEEL CINDERMEN TO MEET GEORGIA TECH SATURDAY

Henderson, Carolina's Crack Two-Miler, Out of Running.

Represented by a galaxy of Southern Conference stars and, in two instances, by nationally known athletes, the Georgia Tech track team will make their 1928 debut Saturday on Emerson field. This will be the hardest dual meet of the entire year for the Tar Heels.

The Tech roster includes such men as Hamm, the fourth greatest collegiate broad jumper the world has ever known and Southern Conference title holder in the broad jump and 100 yard dash, and Kontz, Conference 440 record holder and fifth ranking national 440 artist. Carolina will pit against the invaders such men as Elliott and Pritchett, long distance men. The meet will be one of distance men versus dash stars and weight artists.

The Heels will be minus the services of Johnny Henderson, crack two-miler, who will be unable to compete, due to a leg injury. "Pony" Harper will be the best bet for U. N. C. in the weights while Hood, who, in a recent meet, threw the shot over 43 feet, will probably add few points to the visitors' score.

State High School Track Meet Will Open Here Tomorrow

The sixteenth annual Interscholastic Track Meet for North Carolina high schools will open here tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. This meet is being held in connection with the annual High School Week sponsored by the University Bureau of High School Debating and Athletics.

The complete list of schools entering the meet as announced by Mr. E. R. Rankin, director of the bureau, follows: Durham, Raleigh, Wilmington, Greensboro, Burlington, High Point, Oxford, Ahsokie, Seventy-First, Bragtown, Condo, Charlotte, Farmville, Kannapolis, Spring Hill, Thomasville, Wendell, and Salisbury.

The preliminaries will start at 9 o'clock and the finals will be held at 2. The meet will be in charge of Coach Bob Fetzer and associates. A beautiful silver loving cup will be presented to the winner.

Tar Baby Track Team Will Meet Duke Imps Today

The Tar Baby track team will meet the Duke freshmen this afternoon on Emerson Field in what will be their first intercollegiate encounter of the year. The Carolina team has already met two of the strongest high school teams, Greensboro and Charlotte, and has defeated them both by safe margins. Coach Ranson's men have been working hard for this meet and should show up exceptionally well. Very little can be learned as to the strength of the opponents from Durham, but a close contest is expected.

Tar Heels Down the Flying Squadron 7-0

"Lefty" Westmoreland, Captain on the Tar Heel baseball team, let the Flying Squadron down with seven hits and no runs to feature Carolina's 7-0 victory over V. M. I. Monday afternoon at Lexington, Va. This game was scheduled for April 11 but as it was rained out the team extended its stay into Virginia an extra day to play the Lexington team.

The Heels hopped on Boxley in the first inning to score two runs. Burt singled and Henry Satterfield drove him home with a four base swat. Mackie followed this with a single, but Gillespie relieved Boxley at this point and Carolina's scoring was over for that inning.

Again in the third, the Heels scored two runs. Mackie cracked out a double and Jessup duplicated the feat, scoring Mackie. Biggs erred Lufty's hit and Jessup was safe at third. Barnhardt sent him home with a sacrifice fly.

Captain Westmoreland held the Cadets well in hand throughout the contest, allowing them only seven hits and sending thirteen men back to the bench via the strike-out route. The big left hander kept the V. M. I. hits well scattered and pulled the Tar Heels out of several pinches with strike outs.
