

"Hay! Hay!" Brings Chagrin And Joy to Bewildered and Yellow Journal Awaiting Crowd

By PROMETHEUS

The far-famed YELLOW JOURNAL blossomed out Friday afternoon at the Carolina-Virginia game and lo and behold it was not a yellow journal.

Setting a precedent the Odd Number Chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national literary fraternity whose initiates sell the ochre sheet, stole calmly away from the accepted and expected type of literature and gave only harmless bits of imaginary (supposedly) incidents that had happened to only the members of Sigma Upsilon, Holt McPherson, business manager, and Ed Hudgins.

The initiates of the fraternity garbed themselves in their usual fantastic regalia yesterday morning and proceeded to stroll the streets, campus, and classrooms with an utter abandon. This initiation is generally recognized as the most spectacular of the year, perhaps enhanced by the selling of the journals.

General consensus of campus opinion was that the journal was not coming out, having been squelched by a few students, faculty members, and the student council. When the initiates removed their garb about two o'clock yesterday afternoon in preparation to see the game in civilized clothes, everyone was confident that the YELLOW JOURNAL was a thing of the past.

All went well and the initiates and members were standing about in the stadium when, evidently at a given signal from someone, all suddenly disclosed the sheets of yellow crying HAY! HAY!, the name of the new journal. Men, women and children were tromped in the rush to obtain a precious copy. Police attempted to stop the sale, but all in vain. HAY! HAY! had a program on it and it was being sold in part as a program. Everyone rushed to see his or her name; the game was forgotten in the melee, and Dr. Ab has many patients as a result.

Frantic cries rent the heavens as students attempted to obtain copies of the yellow sheet. All grasped them close to their bosoms and began to scan eagerly the columns for the famed dirty truth about members of the faculty and student body. Many held their breath in fear while a helpful brother kindly looked over the sheet for personal references; signs of relief were audible even so far up town as the New Dorms as boys and co-eds discovered that their deeds had not come under the surveillance of the editors of HAY! HAY!

They all expected something hot and blazing but it was about the best hoax ever perpetrated on the campus. Those who greedily devoured the single page for dirt were disgustingly surprised when they found nothing that even the most dignified Elizabethan could not read to a young daughter; nothing but what even the most pure-minded might peruse in wholesome safety. Preachers pronounced it a success, boys and girls who had been guilty of misdemeanors on the campus proclaimed it wonderful; and the students who had done nothing but who had nervously awaited the expected spicy morsels about their friends and enemies pronounced it "Rotten as hell!"

There was not a single cuss word

TEAM PICKED FOR HOPKINS DEBATE

Men Selected Last Night Will Debate Johns Hopkins
Next Friday.

Tryouts were held last night for the debate between the University of North Carolina and Johns Hopkins University, which will take place here the coming Friday. The subject to be debated is "Resolved: That the United States should cease to intervene with armed force in Latin America." The Carolina team will uphold the negative side of the question.

Efforts have been made for some time to arrange this debate, and it was only recently that an agreement was reached.

As the time for preparation was short, only members of the debate squad who had been working on the subject were eligible. The winning candidates had not been announced when the Tar Heel went to press.

REVIEWERS LAUD PLAYMAKER BILLS

Hickory and Charlotte Critics Pleased With Offerings of Koch's Organization on Western Tour.

The Carolina Playmakers, on their 20th annual state tour, are being enthusiastically received by the audiences of each city in which they are playing, according to newspaper critics. Many critics report that this is the best group of plays and players that has ever represented the Playmakers on an annual tour. The Playmakers are demonstrating on this tour the type of cultural and dramatic art being developed at present in the University of North Carolina.

The three plays given on the tour include "Mountain Magic" by Edith Daseking, "Job's Kinsfolks" by Mrs. Loretto Carrol Bailey, and "A Shot-Gun Splicin'" by Mrs. Gertrude Wilson Coffin.

The reviewing critic in the Charlotte Observer writes, "No pioneer work of the Playmakers organization, even that which brought to light Paul Green, the winner of last year's Pulitzer prize for the best piece of dramatic literature writing, surpassed the bill produced here on the Playmakers' 20th tour of Western North Carolina. Playwriting talent was not only exhibited, but intellectual vigor and imaginative power." This article was written after the Playmakers had given their repertoire of plays on May 5, in the auditorium of the Central High School of Charlotte. The same critic extended favorable comment upon Mrs. Gertrude Wilson Coffin, the author of "A Shot-Gun Splicin'." The reviewer also praised the acting of Miss Enita Nicks, Miss Helen Dortch, Miss Noel Walker, and Shepperd Strudwick.

The players were highly lauded when they played in the Hickory auditorium on May 8. According to the critic writing for the Hickory paper, "the proteges of Professor F. H. Koch clearly portrayed the dramatic possibilities of Carolina life with a skill rarely found on the professional stage." The entire group of players was praised for the performance. Mrs. Loretto Carrol Bailey, the author of "Job's Kinsfolks," starred in the role of Kizzie, the grandmother. "A Shot-Gun Splicin'" had as its star, in this performance, the author of the play, Mrs. Gertrude Wilson Coffin.

Performances were also given in Albemarle on May 4; Gastonia on May 7; Hendersonville on May 9; the Asheville auditorium on May 10; Johnston City, Tenn. on May 11. The organization is playing in Burnsville tonight. A performance will be given in the Reynolds auditorium at Winston-Salem on May 14 and a performance will be staged in the Odell Memorial auditorium of Greensboro on May 15. The Greensboro performance concludes the Playmakers' 20th annual state tour.

CHI PHI ALUMNI HONOR CHAPTER

Dance in Durham Last Night
And Tea Dance Given.

The alumni of the local chapter of the Chi Phi fraternity honored the chapter with a beautiful dance at the Washington Duke Hotel in Durham last night from ten till two. This was one of the most delightful entertainments of its kind given this year, and a large crowd was present. Music was furnished by the Carolina Buccaneers.

The ball-room was beautifully decorated with scarlet and blue colors, emblems of the fraternity, and a large Chi Phi pin brilliantly studded with light. A well planned figure was led by Worth Morris, assisted by Graham Dozier and Eugene McNulty.

Late Wire

A telegram received just before the Tar Heel went to press from Hoyt Pritchett, captain of the Carolina track team, stated that the following men qualified in the Southern Conference track meet at Birmingham; Nims, quarter; Pearson, high hurdles; Stafford, low hurdles; Evans, Horney and Barkley, half; Harper and Adkins, discus. No places were taken in the dashes. Good times were made, with Tech and Auburn especially strong.

Student Council's Action Results in Suppression Of "The Yellow Journal"

Full Details of Controversy Which Lead to Suppression of Yellow
Journal and Issuance of Substitute "Hay! Hay!"
Given By Two Staff Writers.

(By Onward)
Due to the threatening attitude taken by the Student Council, the most interesting YELLOW JOURNAL produced in years was suppressed and the campus was favored with a mild hoax in the form of a Hay! Hay! sheet which was sold on Emerson Field on Friday afternoon. Members of Sigma Upsilon were interviewed for an explanation of such an anticlimax to the eager hopes of the campus.

The second journal was passed out as a program in order that it might not be suppressed by officers of the law which the student council threatened to employ. It would not have been considered objectionable and could have been sold freely in Boston, Zion City or Dayton, Tenn. Many members of the faculty and persons in the student body who had guilty consciences were relieved to see that the members of Sigma Upsilon, the ball team, and Ed Hudgins were the sole recipients of publicity at the hands of HAY! HAY! Others, in which group belong several prominent co-eds, were chagrined considerably when their names failed to appear

(By Anti-Hudgins)
Wednesday night at eleven o'clock at the orders of Ed Hudgins, President of the Senior Class for 1927-28 and recently elected President of the Student Body of the University, Sigma Upsilon Literary Fraternity met in Dean Francis Bradshaw's office to discuss the appearance of the annual YELLOW JOURNAL which has for several years been published by the fraternity or certain of its members and sold by the spring initiates at the Virginia-Carolina baseball game. After being made aware by veiled suggestions that drastic action (likely expulsion) would be the action of the Student Council, representing especially the faculty and somewhat the student body, if the YELLOW JOURNAL were published the literary fraternity decided not to print or sell the paper as it was originally planned.

At the beginning of the two hour-and-a-quarter meeting Wednesday night Hudgins with his usual cheerful frankness admitted that the Student Council investigation into the appearance of the YELLOW JOURNAL was

Cavaliers Win Second Game of Annual Series by 5-3 Score When Tar Heels Fail to Connect for Hits in Pinches

Galaxy of Glorious Girls Gather for Game

N.C.C.W. and G.C. Femmes Plan to Attend Annual Carolina-Virginia Game at Greensboro Today En Masse; Special Train Leaves Here This Morning.

What is expected to be the most effective cheering ever behind a Carolina team will be seen and heard in Greensboro today at the big game. With the N. C. C. W. and G. C. girls, Cheerios and Carolina band massed together, and aided by the greater part of the University student body, enthusiasm and cheering such as has never been witnessed before in this section will likely result, according to Cheerio officials.

A special train will take most of the students, all the Cheerios, the band, and probably the team to the Gate City. The Cheerios under chief cheer-leader Petty Waddill, have been training hard for a week for the event, and the Greensboro girls, led by the Carolina cheerers, have been preparing for the show.

More competition will be encountered from the Cavalier supporters since for the first time, a special train will come down from Charlottesville bringing Virginians to the scene. This rivalry between the stands as well as the teams will create much interest of itself.

The train leaves this morning at eight o'clock for Greensboro, and begins the return trip at midnight. The tickets are good only on that train. The tickets, if any are left, are on sale at the Book Exchange.

HELD TO THREE HITS

Virginia Scores Four Runs In
First Two Innings to Win
Contest.

DECIDING GAME TODAY

Student Body Will Descend on Greensboro for Annual Baseball Classic in Memorial Stadium.

Virginia, getting away to a four run lead in the first two innings evened the count with her ancient rivals, the Carolina Tar Heels, by winning a 5-3 decision on Emerson Field yesterday afternoon. Captain Stephens of the Virginians held the Tar Heels to three scattered hits and was given excellent support by his team-mates. Carolina ran the bases well, but was unable to hit in the pinches.

The Cavaliers pushed across three markers in the first frame as a result of Ellison's wildness and a single by Cardwell. The inning opened when Bowen drew a walk and took second on the fielder's choice that got April at second. Ellison was unable to settle down, and Sloan and Close, in turn, drew free passes to the initial sack. Then with three men on the paths Cardwell crashed out a single to center sending Bowen and Sloan home. It was at this point that Fulcher went into the contest, replacing Ellison on the mound for Carolina. Byrd hit a long sacrifice fly to Barnhardt in left, sending Close over with the third and final run of the inning.

Stephens, first man up for the Cavaliers in the second, grounded out, but Bowen got his second walk of the contest. April singled over second to advance Bowen another base. Sloan hit a hot one to Satterfield, but the latter made a beautiful stop and kept Bowen at third. Close was out, Burt to Mackie, but Bowen counted on the play. Cardwell flew out to Barnhardt, and the inning closed with the score 4 to 0 in favor of the Cavaliers.

The visitors failed to tally again until the fifth when they pushed their last marker over the plate. Cardwell and Byrd started the inning with successive singles to center. Dunn grounded to Satterfield, who got Byrd at second but threw wild to first in an effort to double the batter at first. Cardwell scored on the play.

Carolina scored her first two runs in the fourth frame. The Tar Heels only got one hit in this inning, but miscues by Virginia and excellent base running were responsible for the markers. Coxe, first man up, led off with a single to center field. He stole second, and in the meantime Luffy had walked. Mackie was hit by a pitched ball, thus giving the Heels three men on bases.

Barnhardt grounded out, and Jessup hit a hard one to Byrd who threw wild at first in an effort to get Jessup. Coxe and Luffy came home on the play with Mackie and Jessup taking second and third. Satterfield popped up to Dunn for the final out.

The lucky seventh came around to find Carolina again breaking into the scoring column. This time with a single run. Alexander walked after Satterfield was out, Cardwell to Close. Coxe got another free pass, and Alex-

About Two Thousand Attend Engineering School's Open House Held in Phillips Hall

EXHIBITS ARE GOOD
School Celebrates 133 Years of Service to the University and the State.

Twenty two laboratory exhibits, demonstrating the wonders of engineering provided entertainment for some two thousand spectators at the Second Annual Open house held by the Engineering school in Phillip's Hall last night.

Some of the exhibits were in the nature of engineering freaks. An electric bulb, in a magic circle, burned without wires, and thumb tacks were measured by inches when within the magic circle. Numerous other queer phenomena were exhibited. According to spectators, no longer would the electrical engineer, with his magic circle, be called "nature's mistake."

A model hydro-electric development, modelled after St. Francis Dam, was one of the features. Power generated by this mimic plant lighted the exhibits.

Professor H. F. Janda, general supervisor, Messrs. J. W. Bolen, T. P. Noe, C. C. Hazell, Jr., and J. D. McConnell sponsored the entertainment for the visitors.

Refreshments were served by the co-eds.

Engineering courses were offered at the University as far back as 1852, under Charles Phillips, professor of civil engineering. Engineering was a part of the School of Applied Science until June, 1922, when the School of Engineering was authorized. The School of Engineering now consists of the four major departments of Chemical, Civil, Electrical, and Mechanical engineering.

Glee Club Sings At Year's Last Concert

A concert group from the prize winning program used on its recent tour was sung by the Carolina Glee Club at the state meeting of Certified Public Accountants at the Carolina Inn last night.

The program used was made up of three groups and included the contest songs which won the silver trophy for the local club in the recent Carolina-Virginia Song Contest, which was held in Richmond. Approximately 40 men were used in singing the concert number at the Inn.

This program, which was especially requested by the president of the state accountants association, was probably the last appearance of the University Club during the current school year. A group will be chosen from the membership, however, to sing the annual commencement program.

NOTICE

Senior sweaters will be delivered at Stetson "D" Saturday afternoon and Monday.

Literary Fraternity Initiates Eight Men

Sigma Upsilon Makes Annual Selection of New Men.

The University of North Carolina Odd Number Chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national literary fraternity, initiated six men yesterday and announced the forthcoming initiation of two other men who are on tour with the Playmakers. The men initiated were Joe Mitchell, of Fairmont, associate editor of the Magazine; Glenn Holder, of Greensboro, managing editor of the Tar Heel; T. P. Harrison, of Chapel Hill, associate editor of the Buccaneer; Bill Perry, of Elizabeth City, editor of the Buccaneer; Jerry Slade of Mexico; and Leonard Hole of Greensboro. Shepperd Strudwick, of Hillsboro, associate editor of the Magazine; and Alvin Kahn, of Cleveland, Ohio, writer of several recent plays, will be initiated at a later date.

Sigma Upsilon was formed a number of years ago through the combination of a local literary fraternity at Vanderbilt. Since that time the organization has grown rapidly until it now has over twenty chapters in several other states. Men are chosen for it on the basis of literary and scholastic attainment.

Each year the initiates of the local chapter blossom forth in ornate and usually hideous costumes. They usually sell the YELLOW JOURNALS as a part of their initiation, and as the JOURNAL was prevented from making the annual appearance this year by the Student Council they sold copies of "Hay! Hay!," substitute publication of the organization.

North Carolina College Girls Invite University Student Body To Attend Open House Tonight

An invitation has been received by Ed Hudgins, president of the student body, from Ruth Clinard, president of the student government at N. C. C. W., inviting the University students to be present at the "open house" to be given to the Carolina and Virginia teams on the South Spencer lawn on the N. C. C. W. campus from 8:30 to 10:30 tonight.

The "open house" is an annual event in connection with the Virginia-Carolina baseball classic in Greensboro. A large number of the University men always attend the affair, although the annual dance in honor of the two teams, which is scheduled for the King Cotton Hotel in Greensboro tonight, is expected to detract somewhat from the attendance.

Practically the entire student body of N. C. C. W. is expected to attend the game, as well as the Greensboro College student body. The girls from these two colleges will occupy a special seating section at the game, adjacent to the Carolina stands. Their cheerleaders will cooperate with the Cheerios in leading the cheering from the Carolina side of the field.

Members of the University corps of cheerleaders have been in Greensboro for the past several days, teaching the girls the Carolina yells and songs. They usually make a splendid showing linguistically as well as physically at the game, and this year is expected to mark a new level in the cheering of the girls at the big game.
