The Carolina baseball squad will journey to Wake Forest to play the Demon Deacons this afternoon on Gore field. This is the second game of the season between these clubs and it will have a very distinct bearing on their standings in the race for the Big Five championship.

The Tar Heels won the first contest from the Deacons by a 4-1 margin earlier in the season at Chapel Hill. This encounter was a pitching duel between Laning of Wake Forest and Ball of Carolina, until the Heels rallied in the seventh to send the former to the showers and score enough runs to win the game. Ball held the Deacons to five scattered bingles, but gave way in the seventh to a pinch hitter. Captain Westmoreland finished the contest on the mound for Carolina.

At present Wake Forest is leading Carolina by half a game for third standing in the state championship battle. The former has four victories and three defeats while the latter has two wins and as many reverses. If the Tar Heels triumph this afternoon they will move into third place behind the leaders, State and Duke. The Wolfpack is at the head of the list with four victories to one defeat. The Blue Devils are second with the same number of wins but one more loss.

Just whom Coach Ashmore will send to the mound against the Deacons is not known. However, it is likely that "Lefty" Ball or Fulcher will get the call. All of the pitchers are available, for none of them have seen action since the Virginia game in Greensboro Saturday, but the Heels meet Duke Saturday and State Monday. The remainder of the Carolina line-up will likely be Mackie at first, Jackson at second, Satterfield at short, Lufty at third, and Coxe, Barnhardt, and Jessup in the outfield. Alexander caught a nice game against Virginia and will start behind the bat for the Heels this afternoon.

The Deacons have Joyner, James, or Laning to start against the Heels. Joyner and James were the two pitchers that tamed State College Wolfpack last Monday. The Wake Forest line-up will probably be as follows: Reynolds, first; Dowtin, second; Clayton, short; P. Joyner, third; Lassiter, Scarboro, and Foust, outfield; and Kuykendall, catcher.

ROYSTER GIVES CHAPEL TALK

Says Tremendous Growth in Graduate Work Due to Economic Security

"The economic security of America, and particularly the growing security of the South, is in a large measure responsible for the tremendous growth in graduate instruction in our leading universities," Dr. James F. Royster, dean of the Graduate School of the University, told the students in an address at chapel period Monday.

"The most significant thing about graduate work in the United States is its enormous growth," Dean Royster said. "During the last 20 years this growth has been of a percent equally as high as the growth in high school graduations and college registration. The whole system of fellowships, grants, and other subsidies for research work has grown up during the last 25 years.

"The doctrine that a man must make up his mind what profession he is going to follow when he enters college seems to be growing," the speaker added. "The general tendency is to force a student to make up his mind too early. So many things have been introduced into the regular A. B. college course that even the students themselves have a feeling that not enough is learned about any one thing. Students who continue their studies on into post-graduate work do so in order to be able to concentrate on some one thing that they are primarily interested in."

Dean Royster said that it has come to be generally accepted that no institution has made greater progress in graduate work during the last decade than the University of North Carolina.

Miss Cobb To Tell Of East Carolina Ballads

Miss Lucy Cobb, a free lance newspaper writer and an assistant in the University Institute for Research in Social Science, will address the Woman's Club of Dunn Thursday on "Ballads of Eastern North Carolina." She gave the same lecture before the Sorosis Club of Henderson earlier this week.

Miss Cobb is well versed in the Ballads of the Carolina coast region, having spent years collecting and arranging these pieces of folk lore. She wrote a thesis on her collection of ballads for an M. A. degree from the University last year, and since that time has been adding to the collection with the idea of publishing the whole in book form.

Fears Youth May Lean Too Heavily on Past Generation

Freshman Hall Is
Debated at N. C. C. W.

Greensboro, May 16.—(C. P.)—A question which has caused much discussion on the campus at N. C. C. W. for the last two weeks is whether there shall be Freshman hall next year or not.

Those who favor the idea say that Freshman hall has its advantages in that it gives the freshman a chance to meet the girls with whom she is to associate for the next four years. Another argument in its favor is that it would bind the class together and develop class spirit. It is also held that a girl would become more easily adjusted to college life in such a hall, because there is a satisfaction in knowing that your neighbor is just as "green" as you are.

On the other hand, those who oppose Freshman hall say that the freshmen are just a bunch of high school youngsters who have no idea of the customs or ideals of the college. Therefore it is advisable that the freshmen come into contact with the upperclassmen as soon as possible in order to get the college spirit more readily. This group maintains that the sooner the freshmen get the college spirit, through contact with upperclassmen, the sooner their enthusiasm for college will develop.

Miss Anne Lawrence has resumed her work after being ill at her home in Raleigh all of last week.

GRAIL DANCE ON SATURDAY NIGHT IS LAST OF SEASON

Is to be Given Under Auspices Of New Officers of the Order

Beginning sharply at nine o'clock in Bynum gymnasium, the last dance of the season to be given by the order of the Grail will take place Saturday night, ending at midnight.

This is the first dance to be given under supervision of the new officers of the Grail, and indications are that the coming hop will be one of the best given by that organization in some time. Special features are being arranged for the entertainment of the guests. Micky Block's Buccaneers will play, coming directly to the gym from a fraternity dance which will be given just preceding.

For the last several dances, the hour of the real commencement of activities has become later each time, but care is being taken to have the music and moving begin very nearly on time Saturday. As usual, the building will be decorated.

Numerous girls have been asked up for this occasion. Quite a number of boys, particularly seniors, who have planned all along to have girls here for a dance sometime, have realized that this is their last chance, except the finals and private dances, and so are making plans to be collegiate in regard to having their girls up to a dance.

These dances are always crowded, and to relieve congestion in getting tickets, stag tickets are put on sale from eight-thirty on at the booth at the rear door of the gymnasium. No stags may purchase entrance cards at the front door, as this practice would make it inconvenient for couples. Only a limited number of single tickets will be sold, depending on the attendance of others. No spectators, either, will be allowed.

Dunn Is Elected Next President Of Freshman Council

At a meeting of the Freshman Friendship Council Monday night, Clyde Dunn, of Kinston, was elected president of the group which automatically becomes, next year, the Sophomore Y.M.C.A. Cabinet. Others also elected to serve next year are: Ellis Crew, vice-president; H. N. Patterson, secretary; and Sam Gorham, treasurer.

After the election of new officers, plans for the annual Freshman Council banquet were discussed. Although plans are only tentative, all members including those who attended only the first few meetings as well as new members, are expected to be present.

Dean Bradshaw Points out That 13,000 Boys and Girls Will Graduate From High Schools of North Carolina Next Month

"The leaders now in control of affairs in this state and section who that control by their ability to meet tragic necessities, both economic and political, from 1868 to the end of that century," Francis F. Bradshaw, dean of students in the University, said in an address before the Greensboro Lions Club yesterday.

"Our leaders since the Civil War have been leaders because they have had tasks that seemed to them worthwhile," he declared, "and because of an added energy given them by the fresh and vivid specter of a recent and tragic past. It has not been the competition of the South that has troubled the textile industry of the North in recent years, nor has it been any certain economic law; the trouble is that the textile mills of the New England states have fallen into the hands of rich men's sons."

The speaker pointed out that 13,000 boys and girls will graduate from North Carolina high schools next month. "A majority of these will go directly into the business and industry of the state, and of those who go on through college at least two-thirds will turn to business and industry rather than to a profession. Section of University Women

Representatives of state and local chapters of the American Association of University Women from six Southern states will gather here at the Carolina Inn on Friday and Saturday of this week for the purpose of forming a South Atlantic sectional branch of the organization. The meeting will be attended by delegates from North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia, and Florida. The North Carolina state branch will meet on Saturday after the organization of the sectional branch has been perfected.

Several prominent speakers have been secured for the two day program, among whom are Dr. Harry W. Chase, president of the University; Dr. Lois Hayden Meek of Washington, D. C., national educational secretary for the association; and Dr. Elbert Russell of the Duke University faculty.

The recreational part of the first day will include a 5 o'clock tea and a drive to Duke University. A dinner at the Carolina Inn will close the activities of the day.

On Saturday reports will be made, the possibilities of a fellowship fund will be discussed, and President Chase will address the luncheon meeting. In the afternoon there will be a tea in Spencer Hall, the dormitory for women students in the University.

The state meeting that follows the sectional convention will be presided over by Prof. Catherine Allen of Meredith College, Raleigh, president of the state organization. Mrs. W. E. Curlee Will Head Glee Club Next Year

E. L. Curlee, of Burlington, was elected president of the University Glee Club at the annual business meeting of the organization in Person Hall Tuesday afternoon. F. A. Jacobs, Tarboro, and E. E. Stauber, Rural Hall, were made vice-president and secretary, respectively.

The new officers of the glee club fill the offices for next year which are being vacated by Gene Erwin and W. L. Hunt, ex-officio officers of the organization. Bob Foltz, Jr., Winston-Salem, has been re-appointed to the position of business manager.

The recent meeting of the club is the last regular meeting of the year and will be followed by one called meeting before the annual commencement concert given by the club. During the regular business session a report, made by the business manager, showed the financial condition at the conclusion of the year's activity and tabulated the results of the recent tour through eastern North Carolina and into Virginia.

U. D. C.'s Give Party

The Leonidas Polk chapter of the U. D. C.'s of Chapel Hill gave a benefit bridge in the drawing room of Spencer Hall Tuesday afternoon and evening. Confederate flags with red, white, and blue flowers blended most attractively into the patriotic color scheme.

The chapter realized a very desirable sum toward the support of its numerous benevolences.

Literary Clubs Meet in Joint Session Tuesday Night to Discuss Subject

HEATED ARGUMENT

Senator Lewis is Hooted as He Speaks in Favor of the Fleece;
Motion is Carried by a 3 to 1
Vote

Meeting Tuesday night in a joint session, the Dialectic and Philanthropic literary societies sent the following letter, after carrying a motion to abolish the Golden Fleece, to the president of Carolina's alleged highest honor society:

We have been officially requested to inform you that the Philanthropic Assembly and the Dialectic Senate assembled in joint session have gone on record by an overwhelming majority as favoring the immediate abolition and disbanding of the Golden Fleece.

The letter was signed by Taylor Bledsoe, Ralph Noe, Carter Studdert, J. A. Lang, Wyeth Ray and A. G. Whitner, the committee appointed to write and send the letter.

The session met jointly at 7:15 in the Dialectic hall in New West, Ben Eaton, speaker of the Di, presiding. Both societies were well represented and the discussion was one of the most heated and lively of the year. There was never a pause between speeches for as soon as one speaker or senator finished, another was up craving permission for the floor. Arguments flew back and forth for over an hour and a half when a vote was taken on the bill, Resolved: That it is the opinion of the Di and Phi in joint session that the organization of Golden Fleece has become useless and should be abolished.

The result of the voting showed that the two societies favored the bill by a three to one majority.

There were more speakers who were not in favor of the senior order than there were men protecting it. The discussions and arguments became heated and fiery and senators rose to eloquent heights in their controversy over the bill.

A. G. Whitner stated that the Fleece had become enveloped in veiled hypocrisy and that the Fleece drew its men, for the most part, from the Y. M. C. A. which had become a fertile breeding ground for that organization. He argued in an effective manner that the Fleece elected its men with biased opinions.

"The Golden Fleece has fallen short of its purpose," said Taylor Bledsoe. "They have failed to pick representative men." He maintained further that if the honor group did not, in the future, correct this error, it should cease to function. He said that if the Fleece did not revamp itself into the type of organization that it was originally intended to be, it would be a disgrace to the campus and to every member of the Fleece.

Ralph Noe had a word of praise for the order. He said it was a good organization—in that it brought obscure men into the campus limelight and thus made them known to students who had never heard of them before. He reiterated, in a way, what Bledsoe had said.

Senator Bost remarked that the Fleece was useless and superfluous. He argued, as many of the other speakers had done, that the organization had no place on the University campus.

One man said "evidently the wool is being pulled over somebody's eyes" and another infuriated senator called the Fleece "gutless wonders." Time and again the senators rose to their feet fired with blazing words of condemnation only to be motioned to their seats until the man speaking had finished with the floor.

Wyeth Ray and Garland McPherson spoke against the Fleece and Charlie Price said "the only thing the Golden Fleece has done in the last six years is to keep a national honorary organization, O.D.K., away from the campus. He was backed up in his statement by various senators who added fuel to the additional fire kindled behind the plate. (Continued on page two)

Dr. R. L. Pittman to Address Med Students

Dr. R. L. Pittman of Fayetteville will speak to the Medical Society on the subject of "Surgery of the Prostate" Saturday night at 7:30, Caldwell hall.

Dr. Pittman has given a number of interesting lectures to the medical students on other occasions, and we feel sure that he has something of interest this time. Pre-medicals and others are urged to attend.

Miss Stearns Is to Wed Dr. Wilson Next Month

Invitations have just been received here for the approaching marriage of Miss Dorothy Stearns of Cedarhurst, and Park avenue, New York, to Dr. Thomas James Wilson, III, of Chapel Hill.

The wedding is to take place Saturday, June 9, in Trinity church, Hewlett, Long Island. Immediately after the ceremony there will be a reception at "Kewaydin," the home of the bride.

Miss Stearns is the daughter of Mrs. Cooper Stearns. She has visited in this state a number of times and has been accorded many social distinctions. She attended the Shipley School at Bryn Mawr, Pa., and finished in Paris. She made her debut two years ago at a dance at Rockaway Hunting Club.

Dr. Wilson is the son of Dr. Thomas J. Wilson, Jr., who is University Registrar. He was selected as a Rhodes scholar to Oxford University, England, in 1924 and was graduated there last June with the D. Phil. degree, returning here to become assistant professor of French. He is a graduate of the University of the class of 1921, and was instructor in French until 1924 when he received his A. M. degree. He is a member of the Zeta Psi social fraternity and of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity.

After July 1 the couple will be at home in Chapel Hill.

Westmoreland Will Take The Mound Against Wake Forest

Captain Joe Westmoreland, left-handed ace of the University pitching staff, will likely go to the mound for the Tar Heels when they face Wake Forest at Wake Forest this afternoon.

The Demon Deacons put a new turn to affairs when they defeated State last Monday, and now Coach Jim Ashmore will try to make sure of winning today's game. The defeat of State put Carolina back into the running for the "Big Five" title, and makes a win on today almost imperative.

Backing Captain Westmoreland will be much the same team that defeated Virginia in Greensboro last Saturday. Roy Alexander, rookie catcher, will probably continue behind the plate. (Continued on page two)
