

State Scores Second Win Over Heels 4-2

Allgood Pitches Great Ball And Allows Carolina Only 5 Hits; Westmoreland Fans 13

Woodworth Leads Wolfpack at Bat; Foard Gets Two of Carolina's Five Hits

The Carolina baseball team closed its 1928 season with a 4-2 defeat suffered at the hands of the North Carolina State nine on Emerson Field yesterday. The Wolfpack hit Captain Westmoreland of the Tar Heels hard throughout the contest, but the big portsider pitched brilliantly, nevertheless, striking out thirteen State batters during the nine innings of the contest. Allgood, State twirler, also turned in a good performance, holding the hard hitting Heels to five bingles.

Carolina scored first by pushing over two runs in the third inning. Luffy first man up lined out a single to left and took third on Foard's single over second. Ed Mackie struck out, but in the meantime Foard has stolen second. Barnhardt then hit a fast grounder to Woodworth who threw home in an attempt to get Luffy at the plate. In the chase that followed, Eatmon threw wild to Seal at third allowing Luffy and Foard to score. Jackson struck out and Burt grounded out to close the inning. This was the last time the Tar Heels were able to tally during the encounter.

State came back in the next inning, however, to knot the count by sending two runners over the pan. Woodworth singled and took third a moment later when Jack McDowell doubled to deep center. Outen grounded out to Mackie, but Kidd cracked another double into center to send over Woodworth and McDowell with the tying runs. Allgood and Eatmon fled out for the last two outs of that frame.

The Wolfpack counted again in the next frame, and thereby went into the lead with a 3-2 advantage. Mayfield singled and took second on a passed ball by Burt. Snipes fled out to Cox, and Seal grounded out Luffy to Mackie, Mayfield taking third on the play. Woodworth, flashy State shortstop, then bagged his third hit of the contest to send Mayfield home. Satterfield made a pretty stop of this blow and cut off a possible extra base hit.

The Pack made their fourth and final tally in the seventh. Mayfield, first man up, struck out, but Snipes hit a single to right center. Seal fanned, and Woodworth got his third hit, a double, to push over Snipes with the final run of the game.

Woodworth led the State offensive with three bingles in five trips to the plate, while Ed Foard gathered in two of the Heels' five hits to lead his teammates at the bat. Satterfield played a pretty game afield for the Tar Heels. In the first two frames Westmoreland whiffed five of the six men to face him.

INTRAMURAL RACE WILL BE SETTLED

Carr Has Dormitory Title; Three Fraternities Play for Fraternity Championship

While Captain Lloyd Cook's Carr aggregation sports the dormitory pennant undisputed, there are three fraternity teams still undefeated, and they must play out their schedule and settle post-season arguments before the "Little World Series" contests between the Dormitory and Fraternity Champions can be carded.

This week's play will definitely decide the Fraternity winners, and the classic struggle for the campus title will be on deck for next Monday or Tuesday. Incidentally, that final battle will go the full nine inning route on Emerson Field.

Kappa Sigma, Beta Theta Pi and Pi Kappa Phi are the three Greek letter outfits still disputed, and both the Betas and the Pi Kappa Phis have crucial struggles to play before they can dispute Kappa Sigma's claims.

The Betas play a postponed clash with Sigma Epsilon on Field Number Two on Wednesday at 5:00 o'clock, while the Pi Kappa Phi and the S. A. E.'s battle on Field Number One or the Freshman Field at the same time.

Those contracts conclude the regular fraternity schedule, and if both clubs emerge undefeated after those games they will draw with Kappa Sigma for play-off positions to be settled in a game on Friday afternoon.

RELAY CARNIVAL SET FOR TODAY

Varsity Men Will Run as Feature of Intramural Track Meet

The annual intramural Horse Shoe tournament and Relay Carnival are scheduled to take place today. Only a few more games remain to be played among the leaders of the two intramural baseball leagues. During the time that is left before the end of school the horse shoe tournament will be run off.

This afternoon the Relay Carnival will be staged. At this time a chance to win honors in track will be afforded the frats and dorms which were unable to put out a full team in the meet held early in the spring. Only four men are needed to enter this meet in contrast to the ten or more needed to give a team a chance in the regular spring meet. The Cake Race and the spring meet brought out some good track material which would possibly never have been found except for competition of this kind. The Carnival today should see some fast time and should show up a few athletes as varsity timber for next year.

Nine events are on the regular program. There is no limit to the number of events that a team may participate in. Besides the regular relays which are open to all men who have not participated in either varsity or freshman meets, the varsity four-mile relay team will run an exhibition four miles against eight freshman half milers. The varsity team recently won the championship of America and should give the eight freshmen some strong competition. Teams entering the meet should report to the clerk of the course at four o'clock to receive instructions. The schedule is:

4:00 p. m.—440 yard relay. (Four men running 110 yards each).
4:10 p. m.—Middle Distance Medley (Four men running 220 yards, 440 yards and 880 yards in succession).
4:40 p. m.—SPECIAL VARSITY-FRESHMAN HALF-MILE RELAY.
4:50 p. m.—Short Spring Medley. (Four men running 100 yards, 120 yards, 220 yards and 440 yards in succession).

5:00 p. m.—One Mile Relay (Four men running 440 yards each).
5:10 p. m.—Shuttle Hurdle Relay (Four men running shuttle formation over the 120 yard low hurdles).

5:20 p. m.—SPECIAL VARSITY-FRESHMAN FOUR-MILE RELAY.
Today also marks the beginning of the intramural department's annual horse shoe tournament. The games will take place on the official courts behind the Law building. The teams will be composed of four men. Each team will play five matches, two doubles and three singles with the winner of three out of the five advancing to the next round. Red Raper will be in charge of the tourney.

SIGMA CHI HELD A WEEK END DANCE

The Sigma Chi house was the scene of a very enjoyable dance given by the fraternity from nine till twelve Saturday night. In spite of inclement weather and the Grail dance, there was a large crowd of students and visiting girls on hand for the occasion. "Jelly" Leftwich's Orchestra of Duke University furnished the music, and it was excellent.

The main hall of the Sigma Chi house was attractively decorated with black and white crepe paper streamers. They radiated from the center of the room to the walls, and the effect was beautiful.

TAR BABIES MEET TECH FROSH TODAY

Today's Game Marks End of 1928 Season for Freshmen

Today marks the end of the season for the 1928 Tar Babies as well as the end of the state title race for this year. To date the Carolina freshmen have won seventeen out of nineteen games and are out in front in the race. Today's game which is the second meeting of the State freshmen and the Tar Babies will be played in Raleigh. Either Hurt or Edwards is likely to take the mound for Carolina while Coach Gus Tabell will likely start Averette for the Techs.

Ed Mackie, leaving Werber out of consideration—is one of the really great players of his time in the state. "Wilcoy," as his team-mates know him, is a versatile veteran who hits both right and left-handed pitching with equal ease and regularity. An All-State outfielder for two years, he stepped into Young's berth at first and rates another all-star post. Because of his longer experience, I pick Mackie to captain the All-State team.

The Team Itself
Of course the reader knows before reading that Werber and Mackie draw their berths at short and first, but the choice of the other seven positions lies between a field of fine young

Captain of All-State Nine

Ed Mackie, pictured above, played his last game in the Tar Heel uniform yesterday against State College. He has played on the Carolina teams three years. Four years ago he started out as a pitcher, but a bad arm kept him from taking up hurling duties the next year. His hitting ability, however, made him too valuable a man to keep on the bench so Duke Duncan, then Carolina coach, sent him to the outfield. His playing earned him all-state berths for two years, and indications are that he will be first choice for first base on the team this year.

Three Carolina Players Make Byrd's All-State Baseball Team; Mackie Is Captain of Nine

Maus, Mackie, and Luffy Picked for Mythical Honors; Duke Also Gets Three

(By LUTHER BYRD)

The play is over, the curtain has fallen, and the players—their parts played ill or well—have cast their togas aside and retired from the stage until the clarion call of the diamond sounds again in 1929.

Now, that the last ball has been thrown, the last bat swung, and the Great Umpire has called the last ball or strike on Emerson Field this year, we can take one deep breath and take a comprehensive glance over the eight weeks just gone to see for ourselves what the North Carolina collegians have accomplished.

All in all, the 1928 season has been an unqualified success. There have been better teams in the state, and no doubt there will be better ones in the future. Perhaps there have been greater individual performers, but 1928 has exhibited one or two youngsters who can take their stand alongside the immortals that played "Big Five" ball in past seasons.

My task—always a thankless one at best—is to name the All-North Carolina College Nine, choosing the single players who have shown best in their own positions. Before I begin on the team itself, I shall tackle a more audacious task and pick the one outstanding star of the year.

The choice listens hard to the unacquainted reader, but those who have seen the state's college teams in action this year will agree that the choice lies between two stars of the Duke and Carolina squads. Bill Werber, flashy shortfielder for the Blue Devils, and the veteran Ed Mackie, southpaw first-sacker of the Tar Heels, stand head and shoulders over the rabble.

Of the two I choose young Bill Werber as the outstanding player of the year, and indeed I would almost class him the outstanding performer of the past decade. That kid has class! He is far too good for "Big Five" ball, and makes his competitors look slow in comparison. A wonderful fielder and consistent hitter, he has been worth an untold price to Duke this season.

Ed Mackie—leaving Werber out of consideration—is one of the really great players of his time in the state. "Wilcoy," as his team-mates know him, is a versatile veteran who hits both right and left-handed pitching with equal ease and regularity. An All-State outfielder for two years, he stepped into Young's berth at first and rates another all-star post. Because of his longer experience, I pick Mackie to captain the All-State team.

The Team Itself
Of course the reader knows before reading that Werber and Mackie draw their berths at short and first, but the choice of the other seven positions lies between a field of fine young class Outen in the field, but you can't deny a man who lead the regulars of the Tri-State League with a batting average well over .400 percent.

SHORTSTOP: Why go further when we have Bill Werber?

THIRD BASE: Nap Luffy, another of the sensational sophomores seen on North Carolina fields this year, was easily the class of the season at the "hot corner." Nap led the Tar Heels at the bat with a high average of .420, and covered his territory in veteran style to outrank Boley Farley, Duke sophomore, who was injured in mid-season.

CENTER FIELD: The flashy Johnson who cavorted over the center garden for Davidson was perhaps the outstanding gardener of the year. He will be the pivot of our outfield.

RIGHT FIELD: Scarborough, speed king of the Wake Forest outfield trio, will flank Johnson in right field. He hits, he fields, and he can throw like a bullet. What more need be said?

PITCHERS: And now the pitchers! Here's where the disputes will come up, but we have chosen Key Joyner, Wake Forest's right hand ace; "Lefty" Jenkins, Duke Sophomore southpaw; and Vernon Briggs, who kept Elon on the baseball map all season. Of course there were others who might lay claims, but these three have been consistently good.

Such are the players! Such is the team! I would back it against any college nine I have ever seen and bet my last dime on its winning the game.

"Always The Same" says Pipe-Smoker

Charleston, S. C.
February 10, 1927

Larus & Bro. Co.,
Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:

I've done a lot of pipe smoking. There's hardly a brand or a blend that I haven't tried out at some time or other.

But speaking of smoking tobacco that brings real enjoyment, and never changes, I want to say that there is just one tobacco that gives me real enjoyment in my pipe—Edgeworth. I have used Edgeworth Ready Rubbed and Plug Slice for over five years, in all climates and under all conditions, and I find it always the same. It is always mellow and moist, and its genuine flavor lasts. There is no bite or parch in Edgeworth, and the quality, whether you buy it in small or large quantities, is always perfect.

Thanks to the manufacturers for their wonderful product, and I hope that Edgeworth can always be obtainable by the undersigned.

PLAN SUCCESSFUL ALUMNI DAY HERE

Several Classes to Wear Distinctive Regalia; Hold Bicycle-Mule Race

No pains will be spared to make Alumni Day a success if all the plans made hitherto are carried out. In addition to the bicycle-mule race another rejuvenating feature will be in store. Several of the classes have elected to wear distinctive regalia, so that they may be distinguished from the other classes. This method has proved successful at Yale, Princeton and some of the leading universities and it is sure to go over big here.

The class of '22 decided on Sheik robes of purple and gold; the class of '23 will wear blazer coats of maroon and white, and canes; the '24 class will appear bedecked in Indian bonnets. The class of 1925 are yet undecided and the "baby" class of '27 are considering bottles with nipples and perhaps a toy or two.
