Max Pendergraft Fatally Injured Last Night When Struck by Student's Car

Many Rumors Extant as to Occupants of Car; Little Definite Learned Before Tar Heel Went To Press.

T. C. BOWIE IS JAILED

Rumored Three Occupants of Car But Other Two Could Not Be Located Last Night.

Max Pendergraft, 13 year old son of Mrs. C. S. Pendergraft, of Pittsboro Road, was fatally injured shortly after six o'clock last night when he was knocked from his bicycle in front of the home of Dr. W. F. Prouty, on Pittsboro Road, by a Buick roadster owned by Tom C. Bowie, of West Jefferson, a sophomore in the University.

According to the best information obtainable last night, the car struck the boy and did not stop. Bowie, one of the occupants of the car, was arrested later in the evening and was being held at the Chapel Hill jail without bail at a late hour last night. Steve Furches, football star, was reported to be an occupant of the car, along with another man whose identity could not be learned. Furches disappeared immediately after the accident, according to available information.

There was some conflict in the stories current last night as to who was driving the car. It was said that Furches was driving, but Chief of Police Featherstone, of the Chapel Hill police department, could not be reached before the Tar Heel went to press and no reliable statement was obtained.

Young Pendergraft was in the fifth grade in the Chapel Hill grammar school. His father died about two and a half years ago, and his older brother, Robert, was killed in an automobile accident about three months later.

Feeling ran high on the streets last night concerning the accident. Crowds gathered about the jail on Columbia street, and considerable excitement was manifested. It was said that the students in the car were under the influence of whiskey, but this could not be ascertained.

Bowie is the son of Tam C. Bowie, prominent political figure in the state. Furches is from Statesville.

NEW EDITOR OF BUCCANEER PLANS SEVERAL CHANGES

Next Year's University Comic Will Undergo Alterations if Perry's Plans Materialize.

"Every editor-elect has many Utopian plans, the majority of which never materialized, and I am no exception," said Bill Perry.

Andy Anderson, retiring editor of the Buccaneer, whose shoes Bill Perry will attempt to fill next year.

When asked by a reporter of his plans for next year.

"There will be a number of changes in the Buccaneer next year of which I am sure," the editor continued. "More space will be given to skits, poems, and humorous prose work of short length. There will be a number of short jokes which will embody every type of humor. I would like to say here that my program of work was lined up before the recent Buccaneer controversy was started and it has in no way influenced my policy in either direction. Because I am making a slight change of policy in another direction does not mean that I am not sympathetic with the present editor's Buccaneer. I think it has been the most successful comic since I have been in college and I feel sure Andy Anderson has been a most capable and conscientious editor."

ALUMNI DAY SPEAKER

A. B. Andrews (above) of Raleigh, President of the General Alumni Association of the University, who will preside over the Alumni Luncheon Saturday, June 9. The luncheon will be one of the features of the Alumni Day exercises, which is always one of the outstanding events on the annual Commencement Exercise programs.

EXTENSIVE PLANS MADE FOR BLUE RIDGE ASSEMBLY

This Summer's Conference Expected to Be Most Successful in History.

Extensive plans are being laid to make this summer's conference at Blue Ridge the most successful ever held, according to officials of the local committee on arrangements. The conference will begin June 15 and last through June 25. Any student of the University is eligible to go, and the cost of the ten day stay is $32.00. All persons desiring to go are urged by officials to get in touch with the Y. M. C. A. office or any "Y" cabinet member.

One of the features of the conference this year will be the vocational counseling division under the direction of President H. W. Chase, of the University of North Carolina, and Mr. Owen Pence, of the New York City Y. M. C. A. selected library on vocational interests will also be available to delegates.

Interest groups will be held daily on such subjects as: "Men and Women Relationships," "The Church," "Southern Industry," "Race Relations," "International Relations," "Politics," "Science and Religion," "Campus Problems," "Vocational Guidance." These topics will be discussed by the conference leaders.

Record Class of 346 Will Receive Diplomas In Annual Commencement Exercises

The 134th commencement of the University will get under way next Friday, June 8, and will continue through the following Monday. A record class of 346 will be awarded diplomas.

Class day exercises will be held on Friday. The seniors will form at the old well at 9:45 o'clock in the morning and march with the marshals to Davie Poplar, where the class day exercises will be held. At three-thirty in the afternoon the Mangum Medal Contest is scheduled for Gerrard Hall, and a reception for the seniors and their guests will be given at President Chase's home from 5:30 until 6 o'clock. The senior banquet is booked for Swain Hall at 7 o'clock, at which time the permanent officers of the class will be elected. Governor Angus W. McLean will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Alumni Day is set for Saturday. At 10:30 o'clock in the morning a "Reminiscence Symposium" will be held, and will be presided over by Judge Francis D. Winston, of Windsor. The annual alumni luncheon comes at one o'clock. The toastmaster is to be A. B. Andrews, of Raleigh,

BIG AND BETTER YEAR BOOK WILL COME OUT FRIDAY

No writeups for Seniors; Thirty-Eight Pages Devoted to Athletics; Statistics of Juniors Are Listed.

ZIEGFELD PICKS BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

Individual Pictures of Fraternity Houses Appear for First Time.

The Yackety Yack is scheduled to be delivered to the students Friday afternoon, Saturday and Sunday. None will be delivered after Sunday.

All students wishing the year books will form a line on the South side of Alumni building and file by the Yackety Yack window. The names of the students receiving annuals will be checked off as the books are given out. Each man can receive only his copy.

The book this year is reported to be one of the best and most complete in recent years. The color scheme used is blue, black and gray with insert pages of antique laid paper. The cover is silver and blue. This color scheme, with the cover and novel insert pages, makes the book as attractive as one could wish.

Eleven full page cuts of the most beautiful girls who have visited the Hill in the past year compose the Vanity Fair section. These photos were judged by Florenz Ziegfeld out of one hundred and forty entries. The names of the girls whose pictures appear in this section are being held secret by the editor and no one will be able to discover the secret until the Yackety Yacks are given out. Fourteen pictures of girls are in the sponsor section for fourteen campus officers and athletic captains.

For the first time activities of the Juniors are listed under their pictures. No writeups will be given seniors but a list of their activities will appear.

Thirty-eight pages are given over to athletics and the individual members of varsities and each outstanding athlete are published. The coaches and managers appear with their teams. Action pictures of all sport events are spread throughout the section, thus making a larger sport section than before by eighteen pages.

A sixteen page rotogravure section is another feature of the book. Snapshots of all kinds will appear depicting the story of the school year. Pictures of the Cheerios, initiations, and dozens of other phases of campus life will appear in the rotogravure section. The feature section this year deviates from that of last year and deals almost wholly with burlesques of campus types.

DEGREE WILL BE GIVEN IN MUSIC

New Courses Will Go Into Effect Next Fall—First In South.

An entirely new course leading to the degree A. B. in Music, was approved by the administrative board of the University in a meeting Tuesday evening.

The new courses will go into effect next fall, and preparations for giving the required work will begin at once, according to a recent statement by the head of the University music department.

This step marks a new progressive-ness in the University and meets a demand which has long been felt by the music department according to officials. This is the first men's school in the South to adopt such courses, which are being given in most of the reputable institutions for women. Each year the University has been forced to turn down applications for work of this nature, and has referred numbers of students to northern schools; quite a number have left Carolina to get such work also, it is stated in the report.

"The result will be, I feel quite confident, that a number of students will be attracted here who would not attend otherwise," said Professor P. J. Weaver, head of the department.

In regards to the course itself, it is planned in the freshman and sophomore years to have the student pursue courses in history, English and language. During the junior year, the candidate for the degree will take required psychology courses, a major in music and a minor in some other field of his choice. Plans have also been approved for giving credit for applied work in voice, piano, pipe organ, or violin, in connection with the music major requirements.

CO-ED OFFICIALS TO BE ELECTED TODAY

Lib Davis, retiring president of the Woman's Association, announced last night that elections for next year's woman's government officials will be held this afternoon at 4:30 in Spencer Hall. She urged that all co-eds attend. The student government of the co-eds is carried on under the same plan as that under which the regular University student body government functions.

Extra-curricular Work Is Rewarded in Usual Program For Annual Awards Night

ELLIOT WINS MEDAL

Track Athlete Is Awarded Patterson Trophy In Annual Awards Night Exercises

Featured by the awarding of the Patterson Memorial Medal to G. W. Washington, star member of the track and cross-country teams, the presentation of the Grail Cup for the outstanding Intramural Athlete to Wallace Kelly, of Dover, and the Grail cup for the freshman athlete most outstanding in scholarship, to Burgess Whitehead, of Woodville, the annual Awards Night exercises in Memorial Hall Tuesday night were attended by an unusually small crowd.

Awards Night is an annual event that was introduced three years ago and has since come to be regarded as one of the most important days on the University calendar.

Ed Hudgins, president of the student body presided over the meeting. Before the athletic awards were made Coach R. A. Fetzer, director of athletics, stressed the view that "the athletic field is truly a laboratory of character."

Coach Bob Speaks

Reviewing the record of athletic achievement for the past year, Coach Fetzer pointed out in detail many of the mental, moral, and physical benefits to be derived from physical development.

"Education which neglects the physical man and disregards those manly traits of character instilled on the athletic field cannot be complete," he told the students.

Coach Fetzer said that there had been larger squads in all sports than ever before in the history of the University.

Students Go to Polls Today to Decide Fate Of Entertainments Fee

SHERWOOD ANDERSON

Sherwood Anderson, (above) one of the greatest of contemporary authors, who will probably speak here if the proposed Lectures Fee is passed in the balloting today. A number of such men as Anderson will speak here every year if the Fee is passed, in addition to the best of dramatic and musical presentations.

Y. M. C. A. Quartette Features University Program over Radio

The University radio program, broadcast from station WPTF, Raleigh, Monday night, was featured by the singing of the Y.M.C.A. Quartette. Among the first group of campus songs were included: Carolina Boys, Medley (Kitchen Mechanic), Honey, Medley (Blue Ridge Mountains); The second group of popular music contained: Gypsy Love Song, Girl of My Dreams, Among My Souvenirs, and Crossing the Bar.

Members of this quartette are Graham Poyner, first tenor, Elbert Holmes, second tenor, William Downs, first bass, and Thomas Cornwell, second bass. Leroy Smith is the pianist.

At the close of the musical program, Francis F. Bradshaw, Dean of Students, spoke on the subject, "Education and Vocation."

Extra-curricular Work Is Rewarded in Usual Program For Annual Awards Night

Pete Wilson Chosen New President of Wigwe and Masque

Pete Wilson, Chapel Hill; Jimmy Turner, Charlotte, and Leon English, Brevard, were respectively elected president, vice-president and secretary of the Wigwe and Masque at its meeting Tuesday night in Person Hall.

This meeting was the last of the term and was held in accordance with the custom of the organization to hold a meeting after each large production for the elections of new members. The new members elected for notable work in "Whoops M'Dear" will not be announced, but will announce themselves to the campus by their queer antics and appearance.

The initiation of the new men who were elected to membership Tuesday night will be completed Saturday night.

Finals Dances Are Only Social Events Left for This Year

The annual set of final dances sponsored by the German Club is the only thing in the social line left to look forward to during the remainder of this quarter.

As far as is known, no more dances or entertainments of any kind are planned for this year, but officers of the German Club state that the dances on June 11, 12, 13, should be the best in many years. Weidemeyer's Orchestra of Huntington, W. Va., has been engaged for the several dances. The decorations will be done by Doyle of Durham. Several house-parties have been planned, and it is reported that an unusually large number of girls will be present.

DO STUDENTS WANT TO HEAR REAL LECTURES?

Many Prominent Artists Placed On Tentative Programs for Presentations Here.

POLLS OPEN FROM 10:30 A. M TO 4:00 P. M. AT "Y"

Between ten-thirty this morning and four o'clock this afternoon votes will be cast on the referendum as to whether students are willing to pay a fee of one dollar each quarter to secure better lectures, fine music, and drama.

The campus comment on this subject seems to indicate that it is highly favored by all and especially the students in the College of Liberal Arts and the School of Education. It is these schools that will pay the fee under the plan. Other students will buy season tickets if they wish to attend, while arts students will receive their tickets on payment of their quarterly fees.

It is estimated that $5,000.00 will be secured to furnish such entertainment to the University and Chapel Hill, while this year only $500 was available for this entertainment. Approximately $3,300 will be secured from the dollar fees, $1,000 from the University, and from $400 to $800 from sale of season tickets, it has been estimated.

Many outstanding artists have been placed on tentative programs. Lecturers that can be secured on the part of the sum that can be used for that part of the program are Sherwood Anderson, author of many of the best modern novels; Count Felix Von Luckner, German U-Boat Commander who raided allied shipping during the World War; Donald Ogden Stewart, well-known humorist and popular writer; Clarence Chamberlain, trans-atlantic flier; and Carl Sandburg, prominent American poet.

Musical programs which can be secured to make out that part of such a program are Paul Whiteman and his orchestra; Dice Howell, prominent concert singer; Rosa Ponselle, also a well-known singer in this country and abroad; and Mischa Elman, renowned violinist.

REVIEWER LIKES PLAYS GIVEN BY ENGLISH CLASSES

"Cocaine," Bowery Bed-Room Play, Capably Handled By Harrison and Wray.

By Herbert Browne

The annual studio production of the course in play-production was presented on Monday and Tuesday nights at the Playmakers Theatre. The selecting, casting, directing, and mounting of these one act plays was entirely the work of the students in English 34, 35, and 36. The performance was not connected with the playmakers.

On Monday night, before an audience of faculty members and inquisitive, skeptical, students, three plays were produced. Of the three, "Cocaine," by Pendleton King, and "Brothers in Arms," by Merrill Denison, took high honors as judged from the standpoint of audience opinion.

"Cocaine," the Bowery bed-room play, was very capably handled by Mary Margaret Wray and T. P. Harrison. Both characters, because of physical conditions unable to ply their trade; addicts to dope; disgusted with the world in general; bored, bored with the feeling of lonesomeness derived from an unfeeling world, decide to end life by means of gas. The gas jet is turned on—darkness—they wait—wait—the audience, imagination aroused, smells gas—no, it is a state of mind—well—the gas has not been on, the audience breathes—the actors had not even a quarter with which to buy death. Yes, the play was effective and well done. Director: T. P. Harrison; Actors: Mary Margaret Wray and T. P. Harrison.

"Brothers in Arms," by Merrill
