of the world" by those who are unwilling to face the fact of growth and change. On the other hand, he declared, harmony and righteousness can be achieved today only by thinking your way through to a higher level of achievement. And, invoking University students not to close up their minds to the impact of new ideas, he cast to them the challenge

"to hold fast to those things which you have found to be good, righteous and wholesome by thinking your problems through."

MAGAZINE WILL APPEAR OCT. 20

Marshall Plans To Use Faculty and Student Material.

The first issue of the Carolina Magazine will appear on the twentieth of October, according to a statement by John Marshall, editor of the publication. All copy for the initial number must be in the hands of the editor by the first of the month.

Editor Marshall plans to publish material submitted by the faculty, graduates and students of the University and by the townspeople of Chapel Hill. There will be eight issues of the Magazine, one appearing each month as has been the precedent set in the past. This publication is the official organ through which students of the University have an opportunity to exhibit their literary prowess.

The Accident Was Unavoidable

On a fine morning early in June this year the newspapers of the State carried an item headed, as usual, "An Unavoidable Accident." This time the variation in the story was that two children instead of one had stepped out from behind an automobile which had just stopped in a public highway in the country at their home, and were run over and instantly killed by a passing car. The question recurs momentarily to every careful driver of an automobile, when out on the highways, is such an accident, after all, unavoidable?

In our opinion such accidents are generally easy to prevent. The one thing necessary is for the driver of an automobile to always slow down his speed in passing any car or cars stopped in the road, whether he sees any children or other people about the car or not. A child may dash out without a second's warning but in time to be run over and killed. The careful driver will keep his eye and his mind absolutely on the business of driving the car and on the road ahead. He will not let his conversation distract his mind the least particle from the business at hand. Any driver of an automobile with eyesight sufficiently good to be permitted to drive a car should be able to see two or three hundred yards in advance, whether any children are around a car standing still in the road or near the road near which or by which or in which there are children

Caldwells Visited Red Men

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Caldwell camped for two weeks in western North Carolina near the reservation of the Cherokees. They came home laden with art objects, baskets, pieces of pottery, bows and arrows, and many other things. Mr. Giduz was there at the same time.

Venter's Issues New Rushing Regulations

Inter-Fraternity Council and two from the Faculty making five in all, shall act on all cases of alleged violation of the regulations of the Inter-Fraternity Council and their ruling shall be final.

By Laws

1. DEFINITION OF RUSHING: Rushing is defined as entertaining, engaging in social conversation, in written correspondence, or in any form of communication—direct or indirect—(except formal salutations) on the part of any member of a Fraternity or any agent thereof.

2. Fraternities will be allowed to take a Freshman to meals only on Sunday at lunch. At all other times the Freshman must pay for his own meal when taken with any Fraternity Man in or out of Chapel Hill unless such meal is taken while visiting in the home of the Fraternity Man.

3. No Fraternity Man may pay for any entertainment for Freshmen except the picture show on Friday night and Saturday night. Freshmen must pay their own admission to any athletic game in or out of Chapel Hill if accompanied by a Fraternity Man.

4. No Fraternity man will be allowed to accompany, or in any way entertain a Freshman out of Chapel Hill during a period beginning on Friday morning before the Period of Silence, and extending through the Period of Silence.

5. During the Period of Silence every Freshman is considered on his honor not to discuss the subject of Fraternities or Fraternity matters with anyone else—another Freshman, a member of any Fraternity, or any agent thereof. Further, as has been stated above, when he is summoned before the Advisor to receive his bid he must, on his honor, remain absolutely silent about his choice he made before the Advisor until he has reached the house of the Fraternity of his selection and has there received his pledge button.

6. During the Period of Silence no Fraternity member shall occupy a room with a Freshman. If they normally room together, some arrangement must be made so that they will separate during the Period of Silence.

7. Every Fraternity man shall be considered on his honor to see that the regulations are faithfully kept, and to report violations of the same to the Chairman of the Inter-Fraternity Council Executive Committee.

8. The term "freshman" or "new man" in the above regulations and articles includes Freshmen and transfers from other institutions. Upperclassmen or men who have previously attended the University of North Carolina may be pledged at any time after the opening of school in the Fall.

9. When the Freshmen assemble to receive their bids from the Faculty Advisor there will be present a committee of men from the Inter-Fraternity Council, appointed by the President thereof, to help in carrying out machinery of this system, and make sure that the Freshmen conduct themselves as prescribed in the regulations.

10. In order that this system may prove a success, the cooperation of every Fraternity man and Freshman every member of the Inter-Fraternity Council to see that all the members of his chapter are properly informed concerning this system, and that they obey it in spirit as well as in letter. Any question as to interpretation is to be decided by the Inter-Fraternity Council.
