

FORTY MEN REPORT FOR BOXING SQUAD

Ed Butler in Charge of Practice in Absence of Coach Rowe.

About forty or more men have answered the call for candidates for the boxing team at the Tin Can. Some of these men have already been undergoing light training for the past two weeks, and the addition of later arrivals gives an added boost to the prospects of the squad for having a very successful year in the meets scheduled this season.

Among the men who are out for the team this year are Capt. Charlie Brown, Davis, Vaughn, Sheffield, Weeb, and McIver, who were good boxers last year and who should be even better this coming season. The squad will be hard hit by the loss of such strong fighters as Shuford, Butler, and White, but this will be somewhat alleviated by the addition of such performers as Warren, brother to the unbeatable Ad, Obie Davis, Vaughn, and others.

There are quite a few good prospects for the future among the freshmen who answered the call. Avery and Tom Parsons, the fighter from Woodberry Forest, have been looking splendid for the past several days and will probably give the varsity something to think about during these practice bouts to be held in the near future.

Ed Butler, captain of the team last year, is in charge of the work in the absence of Coach Crayton Rowe and is directing the efforts of the men in a creditable manner. Charles Grimes is manager of the boxing team this year.

KOCH READ 'ROMEO AND JULIET' SUN

Play Appealed to Large Crowd Attending Playmaker Reading.

Before a large audience Sunday night, Prof. F. H. Koch gave an excellent reading of Shakespeare's, Romeo and Juliet. He placed his audience in a realm of personal contact with the eternal lovers in two scenes, those of the balcony and the tomb. This story of love and enduring youth appeals because of its mystery; it was taken from an old Italian tale of two lovers. If Shakespeare had written this play alone, his name would be deathless in the theatre. The play shows that tragedy is not all dark, that comedy is needed to show the shadows. Each year Prof. Koch opens The Playmakers season with a reading of a Shakespearean play. This performance is always looked forward to by many of the students and faculty.

Four Sons Coming To The Carolina Soon

One of the important pictures of the year will be shown at the Carolina theatre soon, when "Four Sons" is presented. The picture has enjoyed an extended run on Broadway. The story of "Four Sons" is interpreted by a well balanced cast under the capable direction of John Ford. James Hall, George Meeker, Charles Morton and Francis X. Bushman, Jr., portray the roles of the four sons, and Margaret Mann, in one of the best performances to be recorded this season plays their mother.

The setting, laid in rural Germany before the war, depicts the tranquil and methodical life of the little village of Burgendorf. Grandmother Bernle, beloved by all the villagers, is happy and content, for God has blessed her with four sons, many sons.

Upon this scene of peaceful splendor creep little ripples of discontent in the form of one son's desire to broaden out and go to America. The little old mother listens to his arguments and agrees to his wishes. After his departure, the maelstrom of war descends on the country he left behind. The family is torn apart. The three remaining sons don the uniform of their fatherland and march forth to death. The courage of the little mother is not to be denied as she tries to reach America to find happiness with her only remaining son.

The acting of the principals is an outstanding feature of the film, and has caused the film critics to break out with unanimous praise. The picture is one of the best scheduled for showing in Chapel Hill during the remainder of the year.

Tar Babies Win over Princeton Freshmen

Carolina Frosh Take Big End of 7-0 Score; Is Second Victory.

The Freshmen from Chapel Hill outplayed the Princeton boys and especially was this true in the line. The only scoring of the game came in the second quarter when Suggs broke through the opposing line and scored a touchdown. A few minutes later he kicked the extra point.

TAR HEELS MEET V. P. I. SATURDAY IN CROSS COUNTRY

Five Lettermen Are on Carolina Team; Time Trial Held Last Week.

The opening cross-country meet of the season will be held on Emerson Field Saturday afternoon with V. P. I. Coach Ranson says that Penn probably is the only man on the opposing team greatly to be feared. He finished well in the conference last year.

In the time trial run off here last Saturday six men finished together, running four and three fourths miles in twenty-eight minutes; which is good time, though not exceptional. The fact that they finished together shows that some of these six men could have done it in less time.

These men were, Captain Henderson, Brown, Cox, Wrenn, Barclay, Baucom, and Lowry, the first five being letter men. Cohen, James, Crane, and Sumner showed up well also. Fisher, outstanding cross-country man, was not in shape to run the time trial with the squad Saturday.

Coach Ranson stated that it is going to be a difficult proposition for the squad to keep up the record that has been made here during the last few years.

to score. French booted the ball through the uprights for the extra point. Those seven were sufficient to win the game, but Harvard was not satisfied. Five minutes later the Crimson quarterback intercepted a pass on his own 35 yard mark and galloped 33 yards before being pulled down. Ten plays and Harvard had scored again. Gilligan entered the game at this point. He showed the crowd why by playing the feature part in Harvard's third and final score.

Things were looking bad for the Heels when the second half opened. They were twenty points behind and their boasted offense hadn't had a chance to do anything. Coach Collins had replaced his first backfield composed of Whisnant, Foard, Ward and Spaulding with one made up of Erickson, Harden, Nash, and Magner.

These four backs got started and, with the line doing great work although greatly outweighed by the Crimson forward wall, soon had the ball on Harvard's ten-yard mark. Magner and Harden added four yards but here the Tar Heels' offense stopped. Gilligan snatched Whisnant's pass out of the air to end the Heels' only real scoring chance. After that it was mostly even between the two teams, although Harvard marched down the field after the touchback and carried the ball to Carolina's five yard mark before the blue forward wall held.

At times the Tar Heel line looked good, holding Harvard for downs, but this last great stand was its best of the game.

Line-up and summary:

ON THE EVE OF THE WORLD'S SERIES

Three Triumphant Yankees conduct the Blindfold test . . . and MILLER HUGGINS picks OLD GOLD

The Babe and Lou here will tell you that there is only one way to choose a pitcher . . . and that's to send him into the box and let him twirl a few innings.

So the best way to choose a cigarette is to put them all through their paces in the blindfold test.

In the test I have just made, OLD GOLD played right into my mitt. Its zippy flavor and mellow smoothness couldn't be touched by the other three brands.

In the dressing room at Navin Field in Detroit, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig gave the blindfold cigarette test to Manager Miller Huggins. The famous Yankee pilot was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked, "which one do you like best?"
