246 Frosh Join Fraternities As Greeks Cease Bitter War

Period of Silence Ends Most Hectic Rushing in History of University.

The final curtain was rung down on the hectic whirl of one of the most exciting rushing seasons in the history of fraternities at the University yesterday afternoon when the end of the two-day period of silence sent 246 freshmen to the Greek letter organizations of their choice, the largest number ever to be pledged here at one time.

After four weeks of concentrated entertaining of freshmen the annual quota of Greek neophytes has at last been selected, and the end comes as a relief to all concerned. Excitement on the campus has run high for the last few days with speculation rife as to the outcome.

The two-day period of silence, in which freshmen were given time to make their final decision without persuasion from fraternity men, began Tuesday night and lasted until yesterday at 2 o'clock when students receiving bids assembled in Memorial Hall to accept the invitation to the fraternity of their choosing.

SMITH COLLEGE LEAGUE BEGINS

Students representing more than 300 colleges and universities have enrolled in the College League for Alfred E. Smith, Frank L. Polk, under Secretary of State in the Wilson administration and head of the league announces. Miss Gertrude Ely, a trustee of Bryn Mawr, who is in charge of women's activities for the league, reports the enrollment has been heavy among the college women. Student members of the league are in many cases assisting county committees as speakers and workers; Mr. Polk says. Dwight Marrow, Jr., son of the Ambassador to Mexico, is active in the Smith club at Amherst in helping Democratic committees in Massachusetts.

The league maintains a speakers' bureau, Mr. Polk points out, that is ready to supply college rallies with speakers of national prominence. Clubs at all the big universities are planning rallies before Election Day.

Engineers Receive Gift of Library

Films and Lectures on Engineering Subjects Given to School.

The gift of the Louis W. Siple Donation to the Mechanical Engineering Department of the Engineering School was announced yesterday. The donation consists of a library of approximately 100 films and lectures on engineering subjects.

The University of North Carolina was selected as one of the schools throughout the United States to be the recipient of the magnificent gift.

The lectures and films were arranged and edited by Louis W. Siple, with the co-operation of manufacturers of engineering equipment. The series covers the entire mechanical engineering field: power plants, machine tools, mechanical transmission of power, material handling, automotive equipment and electrical equipment.

Among the schools chosen to be receivers of the donation with the University of North Carolina are: Bucknell, Lehigh, Lafayette, Rutgers, Villanova, Penn State, University of West Virginia, Carnegie Tech, University of Pittsburgh and Purdue.

Mr. Siple, editor of the library, is a veteran lecturer on engineering subjects and is considered an authority on technical engineering. He conceived and carried out the entire service alone. Through his efforts it has been possible for colleges to obtain the entire equipment at no cost.

Miss Morris Speaks To Forest City Club

Miss Marjorie Morris, of the Community Drama Department, went to Forest City Thursday to address the Forest City Dramatic Club. Ellen Van Volkenburg and her marionettes was the subject around which Miss Morris talked, basing her knowledge on the experience she received from the Van Volkenburg company in London.

Viennese and Austrian puppets were also discussed by Miss Morris. The work of the Chicago Little Theatre, with which Ellen Van Volkenburg was formerly connected, and the Little Theatre Movement in general were taken up in detail.

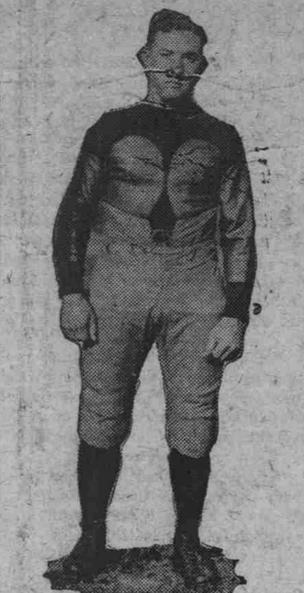

The Delta Sigma Phi fraternity announces the initiation of A. A. Marshall, Wilmington, N. C. and Fred A. Thomas of Ramseur, N. C.

Peake, halfback for the Gobblers, is highly rated throughout the south as a backfield man. He is one of the most versatile of the V. P. I. backs.

Another of the Three Grenadiers is Monk Mattox, half back on the V. P. I. eleven. Monk is one of Coach Andy Gustafson's "shock troops."

Reviewer Says Buccaneer Jokes Range From Verse to Worse; Art Work by Sawyer Features

Brown Derby Is Best Writing in First Issue of Current Year.

The Buccaneer rambled onto the campus Thursday night armed with a glittering pair of earrings and wielding a brand new cutlass. The old pirate is nearly as vicious at times as he looks; yet he calms down frequently with a suddenness that both startles and pleases.

Art Work Features

As usual, the art work is the feature of the issue. Deak Sawyer offers the best drawings in the number. In his work there is an absence of the habitual superfluity of meaningless lines which seems to pervade the cartooning of the amateur. To Sawyer the Buccaneer is indebted for its cover which is well done and has an effective color scheme. Henry Anderson, too, offers a number of good drawings characterized by their bizarreness of expression. Anderson undertakes the purely comic type of work, occasionally attempting eccentric lines. Skinner submits one excellent pen and ink sketch, but the majority of his work tends to appear too grotesque. The remaining artists do fair work.

Jokes are Fair

The jokes in the issue range from verse to worse. (We apologize for using that pun.) Part of the poetry is good, but there is no excuse for the (Continued on page four)

A CAPPELLA CHOIR PRACTICE MONDAY

Next Rehearsal Last Chance To Make Place With Singers.

The A Cappella choir which was organized on last Monday evening will meet for its first rehearsal at 8 o'clock in the practice room of Person Hall on next Monday evening. The rehearsal will last for one hour and anyone who is interested in work of this kind is urged to be present. There are 10 places left unfilled in the choir and the several who have indicated that they should like to try out for places in this organization are expected to be present at the next rehearsal. After Monday evening it will be hard for anyone to make a place in the choir owing to the fact that the learning of the Bach chorales and extended cantatas becomes deeper as the practices progress and one must start from the first in order to successfully render these numbers.

The rehearsals are only an hour in length and they are held each Monday evening at the appointed hour and place. It is hoped that a large number of students who are musically inclined will be present at the first rehearsal and continue on through the series. Several concerts will be given throughout the year. Professor Paul John Weaver, head of the University music department will direct the organization.

NOTICE

The Carolina Buccaneer is being circulated under different management from that of the Tar Heel. Complaints concerning delivery of the Buccaneer should be left at the Buccaneer office and not at the Tar Heel office.

DEAN BRADSHAW TALKS ON FRATS

"If you like the crowd and can afford it, join a fraternity, but if you don't like the crowd and can't afford it, go ahead and pursue your own course as a man who can stand on his own feet." was the advice of Dean Frances Bradshaw to the Freshmen in chapel on Thursday morning. "The usual mistake of a Freshman is to take the fraternities too serious. He thinks that his social career is made or marred by whether he makes a fraternity or not, whereas social station depends upon what is inside not on what is pinned on the outside of a vest," was the statement by Mr. Bradshaw.

The men in the local chapter at present is the most important factor to consider, the alumni and other chapters are of no value when considered whether one will enjoy fraternity life.

In introducing his subject Mr. Bradshaw said that he was giving not his own thoughts or his own experiences, but the experiences of ten years of fraternity men, and he was passing on to the freshmen the experiences of others.

FRESHMEN ELECT CHEERIO LEADERS

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Freshman class held in Memorial Hall Thursday night, Jack Barrett, of Durham was elected Chief Cheerio, and R. T. Watkins of Kinston was elected business manager.

Both of these men have had experience in this work. Barrett was chief cheerleader at a Michigan high school last year and is now one of the assistant cheerleaders at the University. Jenkins was Manager of the Kinston high school football team last year.

At the meeting it was announced that all Freshmen are to form at Memorial Hall this afternoon at 2 o'clock and march to the game in a body.

Taylor Bledsoe, President of the Debate Council announces that the team to represent Carolina against the team of three British Women will be chosen Wednesday night at 7:30 in 201 Murphey. The final contest is scheduled for the night of November 5.

The men selected are as follows, listed alphabetically: Jack Crowe, Ed Hudgins, Charles Lipscomb, Charles Rouse, and Walter Spearman. The men listed will compete with men from all the other colleges of the state. Each school is selecting candidates, the names of whom are to be turned in to Dr. Hilley for selection by the Rhodes Scholarship Trust.

Playmakers to Appear in Six Different States and N. Y. City

Many University Students to Appear With Noted Players on Northern Tour.

The list of University students who have been successful in tryouts for the Northern tour of the Carolina Playmakers, which extends from November 16 to December 1, has just been announced by Director Frederick H. Koch and Manager Hubert Heffner.

The Playmakers will give their folk plays in cities in six different states—Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Connecticut. They will play four engagements in New York City and one at Yale University.

The tour will feature two folk comedies by Paul Green, University professor of Philosophy but better known as a playwright, and a tragedy by Loretta Bailey, a member of the Playmakers. Paul Green's comedies are "Quare Medicine," which centers around a country quack doctor, and "The Man Who Died at Twelve O'clock," a negro comedy. Mrs. Bailey's play is "Job's Kinfolks," a tragedy of mill people.

Professor Heffner and the following students make up the casts for the three plays: Howard Bailey, Loretta Bailey, Helen Dortch, and T. P. Harrison, all of Chapel Hill; Nettina Strobach, Yakima, Washington; Laurence Thompson, New York; Lois Warden, Louisville, Ky.; Arthur Ashburn, Winston-Salem; Charles Bland, Charlotte; George Dannenbam, Wilmington; Fred Greer, Montgomery, Ala.; Joseph Holt, Greensboro; Norman Klein, Cleveland, O.; David Nims, Mount Holly; and Sydney Rothenberg, New York.

All three plays have been presented by the Playmakers in Chapel Hill but this is the first time that they will have been taken on tour.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity announces the initiation of Albert M. Rhett of Charleston, S. C., William Beechman Huger of Savannah, Ga., and Cunningham W. Constantine of Birmingham, Ala.

Three Grenadiers May Cause Carolina Team Trouble; Both Have Great Offensive Teams.

Two smart coaches will send two smart teams against each other this afternoon on Kenan Field. Coach Andy Gustafson at V. P. I. has developed a team at the Blacksburg Institution that can give almost any Southern Conference team trouble, while Coach Collins has turned out the best team Carolina has seen since the days of Grady Pritchard's famous South Atlantic champions.

The crowd, whatever may be its size, will witness a good football game. Both the Gobblers and the Heels lost their inter-sectional clashes Saturday, and both are a bit sore over losing them. The Collegians have the satisfaction of knowing that they ran a couple of touchdowns against the big Maroon eleven from Colgate, while the Heels were unable to counter once against the Crimson of Harvard. However, whatever those scores may mean to the spectator, they mean little to the twenty-two men who will face each other across the field this afternoon.

The Three Grenadiers, the shock troops of the Blacksburg team, are not likely to run together this afternoon for Monk Mattox hasn't fully recovered from the rough handling he received in the Colgate game and may not line up with Frank Peake and John Looney. However, if the flashy V. P. I. halfback is unable to begin his place will be filled by Phil Soear, one of Coach Gustafson's fast second string backs. The power of this second backfield is rated stronger than that of the first, as they have outscored the Grenadiers in the games played to date.

Just how the Virginia team will line up back of the line is uncertain, but Coach Gustafson has Hooper, or McArthur to call signals, Frank Peake, one of the greatest half backs in the south, or Muddy Rule at right half, and John Looney at full, the other position will go to Spear it Mattox is out.

DEAN BEARD TO EDIT SYLLABUS

Dean of Carolina Pharmacy School Elected to High Position.

Acting Dean J. G. Beard, of the School of Pharmacy, has just been notified of his election as editor of the 4th revision of the Pharmaceutical Syllabus and as chairman of the Syllabus Committee. He succeeds Dean T. J. Bradley, of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

The Pharmaceutical Syllabus is issued jointly by the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, and the American Pharmaceutical Association. Each of these organizations elects seven of its members to serve a five-year term on the Syllabus Committee. The twenty-one committeemen thus selected name one of their own members to act both as chairman of the committee and as editor of the Syllabus. The chairman appoints an auxiliary committee of fifteen teachers to serve in an advisory capacity.

The first edition of the Syllabus appeared in 1906. Its purpose is (a) to provide a descriptive outline of a minimum course of pharmaceutical study that will be broad enough and sufficiently well balanced as to be acceptable to schools of pharmacy as a basis for the instruction of their students, and at the same time will be satisfactory to state boards of pharmacy as a basis for preparing examinations for candidates applying for license as pharmacists; and (b) to furnish colleges offering advanced degrees in pharmacy an outline of basic graduate courses that will be acceptable for credit in other accredited colleges.

The next edition of the Syllabus is scheduled to appear in 1930. It will be based on the recently adopted four-year course of study that all colleges holding membership in the A. A. C. P. must shortly put into effect.
