FOWLES TO GIVE AN ADDRESS HERE MONDAY EVENING

Is New Feature of Program Added to Schedule By the University Entertainment Committee; Is Best Modern Teacher of Harmony Through Hand, Ear and Eye.

ILLUSTRATES TALK Plays His Own Illustrations and Will Aid Talk With Lantern Slides.

The next item of interest on the Student Entertainment program for this quarter will occur on Monday evening at 8:30 in Memorial hall in the form of a lecture by Ernest Fowles, lecturer in the appreciation of music at the Training School for Music Teachers, London, England. Mr. Fowles is one of the leading lecturers on the appreciation of music. His name is a household word in England on piano pedagogy. He is much sought after as a judge at the principal competitive festivals in piano playing contests.

At his lectures he plays his own illustrations. He was the first one to give a Brahms concert in England. He was the founder and director of the British Chamber Music Concerts held some years ago, for seven consecutive years, at Queen's hall, London.

For many years he has annotated the studies and pieces issued annually for the examinations of the Associated Board of London. For the year 1928 these annotations appeared in the Musical Times for November and December, 1927. He lectures on the Associated Board music before an audience of several hundred teachers.

He is known as one of the most modern teachers in the teaching of Harmony through hand, ear and eye. His life's work on this subject is to be put in book form and will shortly be published by the Oxford University Press. As a member of the editorial board of the Audiographic Music for the Duo-Art Piano his annotations on Schubert and Schumann have won the highest praise from educators in England and America.

His lectures are illustrated by lantern slides (of which he has a collection of five thousand), gramophone selections, the Duo-Art piano and his own playing. Admission to this lecture may be had through the student entertainment cards and through the purchasing of single admission tickets which will be on sale at the door on the night of the performance.

Ask $2,500 to Erect Monument to King

Was Graduate of University, and Only Vice-President Ever to Be Born in North Carolina.

Rufus King, late alumnus of the University was recognized in the recent appropriation bill of the U. S. War Department by an item asking for an appropriation of $2,500 for the erection of a monument to him at Clinton.

For some years after graduation from the University King practiced law in Clinton. He was elected to Congress while yet a young man, and later continued his notable public career in Alabama. He was elected as Vice-President with President Buchanan from Alabama, being the only native born Tar Heel ever to hold that office.

Dialectic Senate Will Give Dance

Last quarter the Dialectic Senate passed the following resolution by a rather substantial majority: "Be it resolved that the Dialectic Senate give a dance in the Di Hall at some time during the winter quarter." H. J. Fox, president of the senate at that time, appointed a committee to make arrangements for holding the aforementioned dance. It is to be an affair exclusively for members of the Di and those particular ladies whom they may choose to invite. Senators, get ready!

Dr. Dashiell, Miss Margaret Fitzgerald, Mrs. K. L. Barkley, and Mr. A. Bayroff went to Greensboro Thursday afternoon to see the operas given in the N. C. C. W. auditorium that afternoon and night.

Senior Class Will Hold First Meeting Of Year Monday Night

Will Elect Class Officers, Dance Leaders, and Senior Superlatives.

The first Senior Smoker of the year will take place in Swain Hall at 9:00 Monday night, January 21, it was announced yesterday by Buck Carr, President of the Senior Class.

According to President Carr, one of the most important things to be brought up will be that of the Senior Class aiding the editorial staff of the Yackety Yack in selecting 10 faculty members, who will make up the faculty section. This year, it is understood that these faculty members will be selected by the Senior Class instead of by the editorial staff of the Yackety Yack, which has been done formerly.

Elections for class officers, dance leaders, and senior superlatives will be held, and Buck Carr urges all co-eds to be present, as superlatives for the co-eds will also be selected.

President Carr requests every senior to be present, as this will be the most important smoker of the year.

NEW BOOK TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN MILL TOWNS

Miss Harriett Herring Writes Authoritatively on Conditions of Mill Villages.

The University of North Carolina Press, beginning a new year of activity, is planning one of its most significant contributions in the Social Study Series of regional studies of North Carolina which it is building.

Publication of Miss Harriett L. Herring's work on "Welfare Work in Mill Villages" has just brought the series number up to five.

Miss Herring writes authoritatively out of several years experience as a mill welfare worker, and her accounts gain all the more confidence as further reading reveals her entirely unimpaired either by the sweeping denunciation of mill conditions or the equally sweeping approval of them. She portrays conditions as she has seen them, and she has had the first-hand experience to know conditions as they are.

There are already volumes on public poor relief, welfare work in mill villages, county government, state railroad development, and the North Carolina chain gang, and the Press has promised more to be released at regular intervals.

These books have been brought out after intensive study by members of the University's Institute for Research in Social Science. The Institute is now concentrating on the study of labor unions in the State, history of textile industries, and several other important subjects which will no doubt form the subject matter for additional volumes in the series.

The Social Study Series is an attempt on the part of the Press to fill a real need in the State, to supply accurate surveys and examinations of social institutions, of public welfare, of government, of industry, as they actually operate in the State.

Each of the books in the series is highly authoritative, and each presents an adequate and full treatment of the study with which it deals.

Dialectic Senate To Initiate Men

Smoker to Be Held for Old and New Members Following Session.

President Brown announces that there will be a regular initiation of members into the Dialectic Senate Tuesday night. There are several men who were granted the privileges of membership in the senate at various times during the Fall Quarter but who have not been initiated as yet. These men and all others who desire to join the senate but who have not made known their intentions to do so should be present at the next meeting which will take place Tuesday night in the Di Hall at 7:00.

After the initiation and the other part of the program have been finished the entire senate will hold a smoker.

YALE PUPPETEERS TO APPEAR HERE

Will Play an Afternoon and Night Performance in the Carolina Theatre.

A genuine puppet revue is the prospect for Saturday night January 26. The Yale Puppeteers organization, an offspring of Professor Baker's University Theatre, will make the trip to Chapel Hill to appear in a matinee and evening performance at the Playmaker Theatre.

Puppeteering descends directly from the Punch and Judy shows of itinerant showmen of the middle ages. The Yale Puppeteers travel in a Ford recently purchased with profits that have been accruing from their art.

The organization is composed of two former Michigan men, who studied under Professor Baker at Yale and who are now launching their small theatrical business by a national tour of university centers lasting from now until mid-summer. The men, Harry Burnett, and Foreman, first conceived the idea when Tony Sarg visited the University of Michigan with his marionettes while they were in college there.

The ambition of the little troupe is to have a permanent theatre in New York. They are anxious to have such a theatre so that more elaborate presentations may be made, many of which Burnett has already worked out.

That the work of the two men is occasioning comment and support is attested to by the fact that Norman Bel Geddes, one of America's foremost stage designers, has designed some of the scenery for the fairy tales the men put on.

The program to be presented here includes among other things a sketch from the Latin play, Pyramus and Thisbe, a Chinese fantasy, The Gooseberry Mandarin, and a playlet with Africa as its locale.

Speaking of the program The Yale Puppeteers recently presented at Lafayette College, Albert H. Gilmer, professor of Dramatics says, "The idea of a puppet revue is quite a happy arrangement, for it permits the employment of a great variety of puppet figures and many changes in the program with its delicate interspersing of musical numbers by the miniature masters of their several instruments. The synchronization of the movements of the puppets with the measure of their music is an achievement in puppetry and something at which to wonder."

Try-Outs for Debates Will Be Held Soon

Tryouts for the coming debates with Marquette University and the University of the South will be held within the next two weeks according to an announcement made by the executive secretary of the Debate Council. They will probably be held within the next ten days. The question to be debated is "Resolved, That the public should own and operate the hydro-electric power of the country."

A three man team is to be chosen which will uphold the negative side of the query with Marquette University at Chapel Hill on the night of February 18. A two man team will also be chosen to uphold the affirmative in forensic combat against the University of the South at Sewanee, Tennessee a few days later.

Due to the fact that the debate squad is steadily increasing what was considered a possibility of choosing two winning teams has become a rather definite probability. In addition to four old debaters the present squad is composed of two former presidents of the Dialectic Senate. There are also several new men who are good speakers and who stand an excellent chance of being chosen to represent the University in one of the forensic frays.

Grumman Addresses Charlotte Kiwanis

R. M. Grumman, director of the University Extension department, spoke before the Kiwanis Club of Charlotte yesterday evening at a dinner given by them.

Following the banquet Mr. Grumman and Mr. Malcolm Little, also of the Extension department, continued on a tour of organization of post-graduate dental courses sponsored by the University.

CHOIR WILL GIVE PROGRAM SUNDAY

Songs to Be Used Are Entirely New in South; Divided Into Two Parts.

The A Cappella Choir will sing a program of Bach choral music tomorrow afternoon, at four o'clock in Memorial hall. This program has been postponed twice on account of influenza, but is definitely scheduled for the coming Sunday. The choir will be accompanied by a small orchestra, and solo numbers will be sung by Mrs. George Lawrence, soprano; Mrs. G. A. Harter, alto; Charles Troxell, tenor; Wesley S. Griswold, bass.

So far as can be discovered, none of the songs to be used Sunday have ever been sung in the South. As a matter of fact there are only about ten choruses in the United States that are singing programs of Bach music. There has been a great revival of this music in England, which is gradually spreading to America, and it is probable that in the course of a few years every chorus will be using this material because of its great variety and inherent beauty.

The program Sunday will be made up of two parts. The first consists of four Extended Chorales in, which choral phrases are answered by instrumental phrases—a type of musical treatment characteristic of the extended chorale. The second part consists of the Church Cantata, "What God Doth, Surely That Is Right." This cantata opens and closes with choral numbers, between which occur solo numbers for the four assisting artists.

An attempt is being made to produce this music Sunday in the same general fashion which was in vogue in the days when Bach was alive, using a small chorus and small orchestra, both of the approximate size of the forces which Bach himself had at his command.

NEW REPUBLIC STARTS CONTEST

Offering Prize to Student Who Writes Best Essay on "What College Might Be."

As a result of a recent controversy in the magazines over who should go to college, and who should not, the New Republic is offering a first prize of a hundred dollars and a second prize of seventy-five to the college student or younger college graduate who writes the best essay not exceeding two thousand words on "College As It Might Be."

This contest is being put on in an effort to find out the student's opinions about higher education and the college man. At present the opinion held by some educators is that everybody should be given a college education and by others that only one half of one percent should go to college.

The contest is open only to members of the college classes from 1926-1930. Papers must be addressed to College Essay Editor care of the New Republic. The contest will close April 1 and the winning papers will be published before the present academic year is over.

Graduate School Enrollment Shows Increase in Number

The enrollment in the graduate school reached a new high peak in the history of the department here when some 210 registered for the winter quarter, Dean James Koyster, Dean of the school, announced at his office yesterday.

A bulletin on the research work engaged in by the members of the University faculty was issued Monday detailing the various enterprises occupying the time of a majority of the professors and instructors of the University.

Grail Dance Tonight

The first Grail dance of the winter quarter will take place tonight in Bynum gymnasium. Dancing will start at nine o'clock. Jack Wardlaw and his orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion.

A large number of girls is expected to attend. Present indications are that this dance will be one of the best social affairs of the entire quarter.

Steals Radiator As Owner Watches Game

Chapel Hill Boy Does Not Discover Loss Until on the Way Home.

Ben Lane, Chapel Hill boy and student of the University, was not troubled with having to turn the water out of his automobile last Thursday night. Lane attended the Gamecock-Tar Heel basketball game, and while inside the Tin Can, some person evidently in need of a radiator for his Ford, kindly relieved Ben of the front part of his vehicle. The thief, to temporarily cover his work, placed the hood back in position. Ben did not discover his loss until after starting his car and driving down the road a few yards, when the hood fell off and disclosed the front end minus the water tank.

UNIVERSITY TO SPONSOR TOUR FOR ENGINEERS

To Cooperate with Rutgers University in Joint Enterprise—Larger Industrial Centers of Europe to Be Visited.

Announcement was made here today that the University of North Carolina will cooperate with Rutgers University in giving an engineering tour of Europe during the summer that will combine effectively a tour abroad with the serious study of engineering and industrial problems.

Courses will be offered in Labor Management and Industrial Administration, with college credit for work done. Prof. N. C. Miller, of Rutgers, will direct the tour. Instructors will be Prof. G. T. Schwenning, of the University, and Prof. G. W. Kelsey, of Rutgers.

Members of the tour will sail from New York July 3 and return August 23. An attractive itinerary, including such industrial centers as London, Birmingham, Amsterdam, Dusseldorf, and Paris, has been arranged so that members wishing to study industrial, engineering and labor problems abroad will be able to get the maximum out of their time.

Dean D. D. Carroll of the University School of Commerce announced the tour and recommended it highly. "The student of industrial and labor problems could not get a better chance to study conditions as they are in Europe. He will visit power plants, factories, industrial and labor organizations, and will see first hand the problems of personnel and labor organization abroad. It is a fine opportunity."

A special feature of the University section on Labor Management is the two-day stop which will be made in Geneva, where members will study the work of the International Labor Office and see at first-hand the work of the League of Nations.

The tour was instituted and sponsored by Rutgers last summer and proved such a success that it was decided to continue it along the same lines this year with co-sponsorship from the University.

There will be constant and intimate contact between members of the tour and instructors, and due to the lessons learned last year, this year's tour is expected to be even more valuable and interesting.

Complete information regarding the tour may be had from the University Extension Division here.

Junior Smoker Will Be Held Next Friday

Next Friday night, January 25, the Junior Class will hold a smoker in Swain hall beginning at nine o'clock, it was announced yesterday by President Ray Farris. The executive committee of the class met Thursday night and formulated plans for a number of business matters to be brought up at the smoker.

After the smoker the class will be the guests of the Carolina theatre at a special midnight show through the courtesy of Manager E. C. Smith.

House To Speak On General R. E. Lee

Secretary House will speak on General Robert E. Lee in chapel Monday, this being the anniversary of Lee's birthday. Mr. House speaks Monday under the auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

ADVISORY BUDGET COMMITTEE CUTS APPROPRIATIONS

Funds for Permanent Improvements for All State Schools Reduced from $11,061,000 to $2,000,000; University to Receive $31,900 Less for Next Fiscal Year.

WANTS GYMNASIUM Slight Hopes Are Retained That Legislature Will Not Remain in Economical Mood.

The newly elected Governor, the Hon. O. Max Gardner, and his commission have recommended to the legislature that the requests made by the educational institutions throughout the state for permanent improvements be reduced from $11,061,000 to $2,000,000. Of this amount the University is listed with $264,000 approved by the body, to be used for permanent improvements during the next two years.

Provided that the recommendations of the budget commission are approved by the legislature, the University will receive $31,900 less for the next fiscal year for maintenance than for this year. The University was granted $880,000 to operate on this year, but the advisory budget committee has pared this down to a recommended $848,100 for next year.

The University alone did not suffer recommended retrenchment at the hands of the committee, for no single institution was granted nearly as much as it had counted upon.

There remains but the slim hope of the legislature's reversing the report of the commission in favor of the institutions of the state, thus permitting the building of a much needed School of Education and a gymnasium; but the chance of such an occurrence is highly improbable according to general opinion which seems to be that the legislature will remain in an economical mood.

The proposed cut in the maintenance fund is a more serious matter than the drastic cut in permanent improvements. Most certainly the University would be forced to cut down on the service that it is at present able to furnish the residents of the state. Naturally it would be able to struggle along, but its present facilities would be very greatly impaired.

Warning Issued To Students Who Bum

Mayor Council Says That the College Boys Must Realize That He Means Business.

For the benefit of those who are accustomed to "bumming," below is given a copy of the ordinance which has been the means of knocking several students loose from three bucks:

Section 1. That no pedestrian shall be permitted to take a stand on the motor vehicular portion of any street in the Town or in any manner obstruct motor vehicular traffic, and that in crossing the street all pedestrians shall keep in motion while in this portion of the street.

Section 2. That any person guilty of willfully violating this ordinance shall be subject to a fine of $50 in the discretion of the court.

"The purpose of this measure," announces Mayor Council, "is not to make it hard on anyone. So many objections have been coming in recently that we have been forced to take some action. Numerous students occupy positions in the street just opposite the Post Office which makes it difficult for traffic to proceed, and also causes some embarrassment to the occupants of the car. In order to eliminate this trouble, we have decided to enforce this measure strictly, and although the recent action was merely a warning, students in the future must realize that we mean business."

Steven Marsh To Head Sophomores

In a spirited run-off election Thursday, Steven Marsh was elected treasurer of the class of '32 by a margin of 10 votes. E. Craig Wall the other candidate for office received 141 votes to Marsh's 151.
