

Carolina Boxing Team Cinches State Title

Tar Heels Double Score on Their Ancient Duke Rivals

Vaughn, Davis, Sheffield, Goodridge, and Allen Win Bouts; Brown Technically Knocked Out.

The University of North Carolina boxers added another scalp to their string last night, cinched the state championship by defeating the Duke Blue Devils by the score of 5 to 2 in the Devil's gym. The Tar Heels had it all over the Duke boxers, winning the first four bouts to cinch the meet.

The Duke team scored heavily when Captain Carper won over Captain Brown of Carolina by a technical knockout. This was the feature bout of the evening. Early in the second round Carper landed a hard right to Brown's jaw, stunning him for the moment. There was no count, and Brown appeared to be able to carry on the fight as much as ever. However, he disqualified himself when he made the technical mistake of dropping to his knee as Carper was going to a neutral corner.

Vaughn, Carolina bantam, won over the highly touted Saint Amand in the first match of the evening. With a powerful blow in both hands, the little Tar Heel caught Saint Amand in the second round and from then on it was all Vaughn.

Sheffield of Carolina fought a clever fight. Time after time he rocked Martin with hard punches to the head. Sheffield floored his opponent twice in the second round, but he was up before the count.

Goodridge of Carolina put up one of the cleverest exhibitions of boxing that has been seen in collegiate circles this year. The Duke boy could not hit him, and in the third round Goodridge began using uppercuts to good advantage. He is only a sophomore and should make a name for himself before he throws the gloves away.

In the welterweight division Allen won over Wise and cinched the meet for Carolina. Allen used his ring experience to good advantage, cleverly evading the slugging Duke boy and giving him severe punishment in the last rounds.

Davis defeated Hottenstein in the lightweight class for Carolina's fifth victory. Although Davis was outweighed thirty pounds, he was the master of the match from the start. Hottenstein had no way of stopping he left that Davis poked in his face almost continually.

An unusual bout closed the fights, John Warren and Millard Warren, both brothers of Punch-Em Add, fought against one another in the heavyweight scrap. After an extra round the Duke Warren was given the decision over his brother from Carolina. However all thoughts of brotherly love were cast aside and this match proved to be one of the best of the evening.

- Summary of bouts:
- 115-pound class—Vaughn (Carolina) decision over Saint Amand,
 - 125-pound class—Sheffield (Carolina), decision over Martin.
 - 135-pound class—Goodridge (Carolina), decision over Smith.
 - 145-pound class—Allen, (Carolina), decision over Wise.
 - 158-pound class—Captain Carper (Duke), technical knockout over Captain Brown, in second round.
 - 165-pound class—Davis (Carolina) decision over Hottenstein.
 - Unlimited—Millard Warren (Duke) decision over John Warren.
- Officials: Referee: Brockman (Baltimore); Judges: Wilson (Virginia) and Elkins (Davidson).

The University of North Carolina basketball squad, with its state championship securely won, is the sixth Tar Heel team to win the "Big Five" crown in eight years of play. Other Tar Heel teams won the title in 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, and 1928. The Red Terrors of N. C. State broke the rule in 1926, and in 1927 the Tar Heels and Demon Deacons of Wake Forest tied up.

Professor C. E. Cauthen who has been in Durham hospital for several days after undergoing an operation for appendicitis is expected to return soon.

Captain Brown

Charlie Brown, Charleston, S. C. boy, will fight his last fight under Carolina colors when he enters the Southern Conference Boxing Tournament at Charlottesville, Va., next week. The Tar Heel captain will be a heavy favorite to retain his title despite a loss to Captain Carper of Duke on a technicality Tuesday night.

SATTERFIELD AT TOP OF SCORING LIST, AS USUAL

Midget Forward Has Made 153 Points in 21 Games This Year.

Henry Satterfield, midget Tar Heel forward, is leading the University of North Carolina basketball squad in season scoring as his team turns into the home stretch this week. With two more games still on the cards before the Southern Conference Tournament, Satterfield has already rung up 153 points in 21 games. This total tops Captain Rufus Hackney's 132 points, accumulated in a like number of games.

These two veteran forwards, teamed on the same clubs for eight years, have led the Tar Heel offensive in most of the games this year, but they have received able assistance from such young stars as Billie Brown, Artie Marpet and "Puny" Harper, with the veterans George Cathey and "Red" Price chipping in their share.

Billie Brown, rookie guard, takes third place in the Tar Heel scoring with 93 points in 16 games. George Cathey, playing his third year at center and forward, has totalled 81 points in 20 games; while Artie Marpet, sensational young sophomore guard, shows 64 markers in 19 games. "Red" Price and "Puny" Harper are running close races for the next rung on the ladder, Price showing 48 points in 16 games, and Harper 44 points in 15 games. Choate and Neiman, sophomore guard and forward, are the only other Tar Heels to score, having rung 4 and 2 points apiece.

The stellar defensive work and all round play of Brown and Marpet, rookie guards, has perhaps been the outstanding feature of the Carolina season so far. They have been big factors in the comparatively green team's fine record of 11 Conference games won and 2 lost in all battles through the Duke game of last Saturday night. Both are expected to be strong figures in the Southern Conference Tournament.

Henry Satterfield, midget Tar Heel forward, is leading the University of North Carolina basketball squad in season scoring. Satterfield has accumulated 153 points in 21 games already played and leads Captain Rufus Hackney by 21 points for individual honors.

Carolina Wrestlers Point for Conference Title

BASKETEERS WILL MEET WILD CATS TOMORROW NIGHT

Only Two More Games on Schedule before Southern Conference Tournament.

This week will bring to a close one of the most hectic basketball seasons that the Big Five in North Carolina has ever gone through. The race for the state championship was very close and was decided last Saturday when the Heels defeated Duke.

Coach Ashmore's men have only two more games on their schedule before they leave for Atlanta and the Southern Conference tournament. Tomorrow night the Davidson Wildcats will invade the Tin Can for a return game with Carolina. While the Davidson team has showed quite a bit of improvement as the season progressed, the Tar Heels are expected to close their Big Five competition with a win.

Saturday night will see the Carolina team in its final appearance before North Carolina fans. The V. M. I. Cadets will furnish the opposition in a game which will be played in the Tin Can. The pregame dope also favors Carolina to ring up a victory in this battle.

The standing among the members of the Big Five will hardly be altered by this week's play. Davidson is the only team which plays more than one game and it is scheduled to make a tour which will bring it against each of the other four major college teams on successive nights. Wake Forest is counted definitely out of the running since it's poor showing against Guilford. State and Davidson are at present tied for third place but the dope favors Tebell's men to end up in third place while the Cats will probably be forced to drop into fourth position after this week's play is over. Carolina and Duke will more than likely end up in the first and second positions respectively.

The standing among the Big Five at present is:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Carolina	6	1	.803
Duke	4	3	.571
State	3	3	.500
Davidson	1	1	.500
Wake Forest	0	6	.000

Fencers May Strut Their Stuff Against Conference Champs

The Fencing club organized here early last fall is negotiating with the fencing club of the University of South Carolina for a match on or about March 8.

The fencing team of South Carolina is the champion of the Southern Conference and a match with them will show exactly what the team here is capable of doing against competition. If Carolina wins a Southern Conference ranking will be established and future matches will be forthcoming.

According to Manager Galland the team has a very favorable chance of winning. Several good fencers have been developed since last fall and many of the members of the club had previous experience before coming to Carolina.

Practice has been going along as smoothly as could be hoped for. Practically every man in the club has been on hand at the Tin Can every afternoon since the organization of the team last fall and a great deal of interest in fencing has manifested itself among the members.

Captain Hendlin requests that every man on the squad or any who are inclined toward fencing come out today to commence extensive practice for the anticipated match with the Southern Conference champions.

The Tar Heels may present a new heavyweight wrestler against the Duke Blue Devils in their annual battle in Durham on next Tuesday night. Coaches Quinlan and Mot-singer have been grooming Clyde McKinney, 250 pound football tackle, to face Captain Okle Jones, Duke's heavyweight star.

WRESTLING TEAM TO MEET DEVILS IN DUKE GYM

Heels Have Best Record in Four Years on Mats; Duke Last Meet before Tournament.

For the first time in the history of wrestling at the University of North Carolina the Tar Heels enter the field as serious contenders for the Southern Championship crown. Four teams have been met this season and as yet the Carolina colors have not been lowered in defeat. In so far as records can determine, this is the first season that the Tar Heel schedule has gone through four straight contests without being blackened by an adverse score.

During the 1924-25 season under the leadership of Coach Shapiro, under whose guidance wrestling was instituted three years before, the Tar Heels met eight teams and at the end of the season had three victories and five defeats to their credit. Defeats were administered by Davidson, Washington and Lee, Virginia, V.P.I. and V.M.I. For the first time monograms were awarded to the members of the team.

The 1926 campaign was far more successful; the Tar Heels added five victories out of six meets to their score. V. M. I. was the only opponent to gain a victory. State, V.P.I., Virginia and Duke each bowed in defeat before the Carolinians. At the end of this season the University did not hesitate to claim the State Championship.

The 1928 season opened with not a single letter man back; however, the stellar work of Abbott and Thompson managed to chalk up a fairly successful season. Three matches out of seven were won. Again V.P.I. and V.M.I. trounced Carolina and for the first time Duke and Davidson gained victories. As a final consolation a 14 to 9 victory was edged over Virginia.

That summary brings to the fore front the season of 1929 with its possibilities and its already accomplished feats. Already the Tar Heels have avenged some of the defeats of their ancestors by completely subduing Washington and Lee, V.P.I., Virginia, and Davidson. Only three matches remain on the schedule: State, Duke and V.M.I. Not only do these matches contain the hopes of a State Championship but also the dream of a Southern Conference throne. Last year V.P.I. occupied the seat of honor, but their defeat by North Carolina in the early stages of the season will cause them to tumble from this pedestal. The State meet was to come off today in Raleigh but for unavoidable reasons this meet had to be postponed indefinitely. Next Tuesday night the Tar Heels will meet Duke in a meet all important so far as the State Championship is concerned. Following this meet on Saturday night V.M.I. will be met in probably the most important meet of the Southern Conference.

Baseball Schedule In a Short While

According to announcements from the office of the Graduate Manager of Athletics the 1929 baseball schedule will be released shortly.

Unofficial reports have it that the Heels will play a schedule calling for about thirty games. As usual all members of the "Big Five" will play two game series with the Carolina team. Continuance of the Tri-State League, consisting of members of the Southern Conference in North Carolina, Virginia, and Maryland, is planned by the members of the Conference in these three states.

Last year the Cavaliers from the University of Virginia capped the title by defeating the Washington and Lee Generals in a two-game series after winning one of the three games from Carolina. Captain Lufty of the Heels won the individual hitting honors of the league. The Heels won second place in the league last year.

Sophomore Star

Clearly outpointing Saint Amand of Duke Tuesday night, Evan Vaughn, sophomore boxer, showed himself the class of the 125-pound weight in the South. The clever, hard-hitting Pennsylvania boy is yet to lose a match and is picked to win the Conference title at Charlottesville.

THE SPORT PAN

By YARBOROUGH

THE "DEAD BALL" RULE

A majority of the football coaches throughout the country seem to favor the recent "major" revision of football rules, the "dead ball" rule. According to the decision of the Inter-collegiate Football Rules Committee, henceforth a fumbled ball is "dead" where the defensive man covers it. If an offensive player recovers the ball, we understand, he has the privilege of running with it.

Practically all of the Southern Coaches favor the rule. In the East the sentiment is predominately in favor of the ruling, except in New York city where the newswriters are divided equally over the rule.

From the midwest comes the most pronounced sentiment against the rule. While many of the Western coaches favor the ruling, yet we find there some well known figures in football opposed to the change. A. A. Stagg, University of Chicago coach and member of the rules committee, Hanley of Northwestern, Glenn Thistlewaite of Wisconsin, and Walter Eckersall, famous grid player in years past and well known as an official and sports writer today, form the bulk of the opposition.

There is a great deal to be said for both sides. There is no doubt but that a very spectacular phase of the game is removed. No longer will the enthusiastic sports writer be able to "get off his words" about the spectacular recovery of a fumble and run for a touchdown by some player. The element of chance that has sometimes sent good teams down to defeat is eliminated by this change. The ruling penalizes the weaker team in that there is little regard for an alert linesman other than the recovery itself. His chance to cover himself with glory in that way is gone. He must play the game according to the orthodox method and his glory will come from being outstanding in play rather than from a spectacular run.

INDOOR TRACK CARNIVAL HERE MARCH FIRST

Invitations Have Been Sent To Leading Schools in South Atlantic Section.

Indoor track is to be re-introduced to North Carolina track followers early next month, according to announcements made by athletic authorities yesterday.

Several years ago indoor meets were held regularly, but for the past few years the practice has been discontinued until Carolina track authorities decided to try the plan this year. The Tin Can will be utilized for the purpose.

There are to be three divisions of the carnival to be held March 1: Collegiate, Freshman, and Interscholastic. Ten events will be run off for the varsity men. They are the 60 yard dash, 60 yard high hurdles, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run, mile run, two mile run, one mile relay, pole vault, high jump, and shot put. Special sawdust pits are to be used for the field events, while the size of the Tin Can will call for only ten laps to the mile run.

Freshman events call for the 60 yard dash, 60 yard high hurdles, one mile run and one mile relay. Only four events are listed for the high school division, the 60 yard dash, 60 yard low hurdles, 880 yard run and sprint relay.

Invitations have been sent to the leading institutions in the South Atlantic states and a large number of entries are expected. Somewhat the same plan will be followed this weekend at the University of Virginia when an indoor meet will be run off. The meet has become quite an event at Virginia and this year the Cavaliers expect a record number of entries.

Intramural Basketball Schedule

- (Fourth Week: Feb. 18-22)
- THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21
- 4:00 P. M. 1. Delta Sigma Phi vs. Chi Tau. 2. Old East vs. Manly. 3. New Dorms vs. "F".
 - 5:00 P. M. 1. Delta Kappa Epsilon vs. Kappa Psi. 2. "J" vs. "I". 3. Carr vs. Mangum.
- FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22
- 4:00 P. M. 1. Kappa Sigma vs. Beta Theta Pi. 2. Pi Kappa Phi vs. Delta Sigma Phi. 3. Old west vs. "J".
 - 5:00 P. M. 1. Chi Phi vs. Kappa Alpha. 2. Phi Gamma Delta vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon. 3. Old East vs. Ruffin.
- WE HAVE ONLY ONE REMARK TO MAKE concerning the fight Tuesday night between Carper and Brown. We regret that the fight ended as early as it did. It started off too good to end so abruptly. Perhaps three full rounds will be fought at Charlottesville next week. While we do not know Carper's sentiments, we believe that the Duke captain would like to have finished the fight. There will always be doubt as to the better man unless they happen to meet in the tournament.
