BRADSHAW AND JOHNSTON BACK FROM NEW YORK

Attended Many Meetings and Had Talks With Large Number of Alumni.

Henry Johnston, Jr., Director of the Bureau of Vocational Information, returned Friday from a trip to Cleveland and to New York City. In Cleveland, he and Dean F. F. Bradshaw attended meetings of the National Association of Appointment Secretaries, of which organization Dean Bradshaw is president. Some of the most interesting topics discussed on the program were as follows:

"What a College President Asks of a Personnel Officer," by Ernest H. Wilkins, President, Oberlin College.

"The Placement Phase of Personnel Work," by Francis J. A. Neef, Director of Personnel Research, Dartmouth College.

"Recruiting, Placing and Subsequent Training of College Graduates," by W. J. Donald, Managing Director, American Management Association. Discussion led by General R. I. Rees, Assistant Vice President, American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Mr. Johnston came by New York City on his way home and spent a few days making personal contacts with business and other organizations. The purpose of his visits was to establish closer relations between these organizations and the University of North Carolina and to secure information concerning their policies of employment and training of college graduates. Some of the organizations that were visited are listed below:

National Bank of Commerce, American Institute of Accountants, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, W. T. Grant Company, Standard Oil Company of New York, Price, Waterhouse, and Company, C.P.A., Cassatt & Company (investment securities), National Council of the Episcopal Church, Yale Graduate Placement Bureau.

During his stay in New York, Mr. Johnston saw a good many University alumni, some of whom he talked with about the problems they had to solve in adjusting themselves to living and working in New York City.

Any students who are interested in talking with Mr. Johnston concerning the information gathered on this trip are invited to come by 204 South Building.

DEBATE TEAM TOURING WEST

Carolina Speakers Are Upholding Affirmative Side of Public-Owned Power Plants.

(Special to the Tar Heel) Lexington, Ky., Mar. 12.—The Carolina debating team, J. C. Williams and E. H. Whitley, which is on a trip in Kentucky and Tennessee, last Saturday night debated against a team representing the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. The debate was attended by a large crowd, one-third of the student body of the university being present.

Carolina spoke on the affirmative side of the query: Resolved, that the public should own and operate the hydro-electric power plants of the United States, excepting those plants now under private control. The main contention of the affirmative was that the ownership and operation of the hydro-electric power plants of the United States is a legitimate and expedient function of the American public, in consideration of the failure of private enterprise to meet the needs of the public.

The main contention of the negative was that the government is rightly a referee and not a player in the game of industry, and that government operation of progressive industries has been habitually unsuccessful. This debate, like all those participated in on this trip, are no-decision contests. When the debate was over members of the audience questioned the debaters upon the question.

On Monday morning the team debated with the University of Kentucky team on the same query before a high school audience. The main contention of the affirmative was

Campus Elections To Be Held April 4; Students Nominate Men March 29

Dr. Abernethy Is Improving Rapidly From Operation

Dr. Eric A. Abernethy, University physician, who was operated on Monday afternoon for appendicitis is improving rapidly at the hospital in Durham. It was reported at the Infirmary yesterday that he was "doing very nicely."

During the time when "Doctor Ab" will be away from his office, Doctor Robertson of Durham will come to the Infirmary every night. The usual office hours of the Infirmary will be maintained, however, as the nurses are at the Infirmary all the time.

DEBATING SQUAD TO MEET TONIGHT

Dr. Bernard to Speak on "Loyalty, the Curse of the American College."

The Debate Squad will meet tonight as usual in Room 201 Murphey Building. The meeting tonight will be taken up with preparations for the coming forensic fray with Harvard to be held here April 9.

Dr. Bernard of the Sociology department will speak to the debate class on the subject "Resolved: That Loyalty is the Curse of the American College," which will be the proposition for debate with Harvard. Tryouts at which two debaters are to be chosen will be held the latter part of March. Carolina will uphold the negative side of this discussion.

Official announcement was made yesterday by Taylor Bledsoe, president of the Debate Council, that a radio debate had been definitely scheduled with the University of Virginia to be held in Richmond during the last week of April on the subject "Resolved: That National Advertising as now carried on is Socially and Economically Harmful." No decision as to which side Carolina will take has been reached.

The Debate Council has ruled that all degree men in the law or other professional schools are declared to be eligible to try out for positions on the teams that will debate Virginia and Harvard.

Charlie Mangum, Jr., returned Sunday from Charlotte where he has been undergoing an operation.

Class Officers Will Be Nominated at Special Caucuses March 28; So Far As Now Known There Will Be No Special Provisions to Present to Students.

The Campus Elections Committee headed by Ed. Hudgins, Jr., president of the student body, met yesterday afternoon to prepare for the annual campus-wide election of officers who will assume the managerial reins of student government and activities for the year 1929-30. The date for nominating candidates for the thirty-one positions of trust that are open to politically and literary-minded students has been set for the period of Friday, March 29, for all offices with the exception of class officers who will be nominated by class caucus Thursday night, March 28.

Immediately following the nominations the zealous friends of the nominated persons will begin the strenuous campaigning that always precedes the actual balloting, which in this case will be done Thursday, April 4.

The provisions of the Australian secret ballot, which has been in use on the campus for the past few years will be more rigidly enforced than ever before. Members of the Campus Elections Committee will visit the two polling places at intervals during the election day, making tours

Begin Active Work to Increase University Loyalty Alumni Fund

With a view to increasing the financial income of the University, active work has started the Alumni Council to increase the Alumni Loyalty Fund, according to an announcement in the last issue of the Alumni Review.

Daniel L. Grant, '21, formerly alumni secretary has been employed as full time director of the program of the council and will start on a campaign of publicity and appeal for support from the alumni. He now has under consideration a proposal to issue once a month a small paper called the Alumni Bulletin in which he would give the standing of the fund, an explanation of the need and the progress being made. However his plans are only tentative; no definite move has been made to insure the issuance of

"HE AND SHE" WILL BE GIVEN FRIDAY NIGHT

Columbia Town Players to Give Two Performances in Playmaker Theatre.

William Dean, director of the Town Theatre of Columbia, S. C., and internationally known actor, will present his most finished production, a dramatic interpretation of Rachel Crothers' "He and She" for the approval of University students and townspeople of Chapel Hill and vicinity in the Playmaker Theatre tomorrow and Saturday night.

Dean is a brother of the famous English actor, Basil Dean, and has had the following engagements during the time that he has been in America: with George M. Cohan, A. L. Erlanger, the Selwyns, Agustin Duncan, Lee and J. Shubert, B. Iden Payne, Frank Reicher, with Lupino Lane Film Company, the Fox Film Company, Famous Players - Lasky Corporation, Charles Dillingham, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Coburn.

The cast of "He and She" is as follows: Tom Herford, a sculptor, G. E. Whitehead; Ann Herford, his wife, Mrs. Julius Taylor; Daisy Herford, his sister, Miss Epps Jones; Millicent, his daughter, Miss Sarah Quattlebaum; Doctor Remington, his father-in-law, Mr. Alex Martin; Keith McKenzie, his assistant, Edwin Pritchard; Ruth Creel, his wife's friend, Miss Lutes Robertson; and the maid, Miss Daisy Powell.

Rachel Crothers, one of the foremost American dramatists of today, was the first person to seize upon the dramatic possibilities of the theme of "He and She," which is briefly, whether or not a woman should give up her home and its responsibilities for a career. In "He and She" she gets at every angle of the matter, placing the emphasis on the romantic and chivalric side of the question. As a comedy drama the play has a wide appeal since everyone likes a good comedy, and nearly everyone likes a problem when it is presented interestingly and entertainingly.

A few seats may still be obtained for the performance at Sutton's Drug store. Season passes are good for these performances.

Roanoke River Dikes Inspected by Saville and Ray of University

Charles E. Ray of the Water Resources division of the department of Conservation and Development located at the University, and Mr. Thorndike Saville, of the Engineering school, visited the state prison farm at Caledonia last Monday for the purpose of inspecting the dikes at the place. These dikes protect the prison farm from the overflow of the Roanoke river in flood seasons. On account of threatening high waters at the present time, Saville and Ray were invited to make an inspection of the dikes.

They rode along the dikes for eight miles in the rain in order to discover any point of weakness which might prove dangerous. In general, they found the dikes in good condition. Last summer when the Roanoke river was extremely high, the dikes proved capable of holding back the water, and except in a few cases saved the property from immersion.

The program being conducted by the alumni council is in pursuance of the policy suggested by Dr. Chase in his address to the last General Assembly in which he explained the great utility that a constant and substantial income from the Loyalty Fund must have in the life of the University. The council plans to secure support from alumni and friends in the form of insurance, gifts, and wills. A special insurance policy has been issued by the Jefferson Standard life insurance company and will be sold to all alumni of the University at a special rate.

The purpose of the Loyalty fund drive is not solely to secure money;

William Dean

William Dean, director of the Columbia Stage Society which will appear here Friday and Saturday nights in Rachel Crothers' "He and She." Mr. Dean has introduced the Summer Tours into South Carolina. Last summer he toured with his company giving 14 performances.

MARCH ISSUE OF HIGH SCHOOL JOURNAL IS OUT

Contains Four Interesting Articles by Educators Within the State.

The March issue of the High School Journal, which recently appeared contained four articles by educators within the state. There was also a number of short notices and book reviews in the issue.

Teaching History by Units, by A. K. King, of the University, explains the methods of teaching history that have been proven successful. He sums up the general aims of teaching this subject with the statement, "The chief object of this course is to make the social order more intelligible, or simply, to bring about an understanding of the present by studying its development." M. M. Berry, of the Boyden High School of Salisbury, in his article on An Experiment in Industrial Education, describes the lines along which American education has been developing in recent years.

The Historical Approach to Education, by Edgar W. Knight, of the school of Education of the University, gives the results of the various changes which have taken place in education. Mr. Knight stresses the importance of the knowledge of the history of education. He states that such knowledge is almost imperative to the teachers in modern schools. In conclusion he says "The history of education teaches that the social order is not a matter of choice but that it is an obligation binding upon every teacher. It increases respect for sound and disciplined learning and enlarges the desire for excellence."

Mrs. W. P. Middleton, of the Goldsboro High School, in a paper which was delivered before the Latin department meeting of the N. C. E. A. in Durham, describes methods for making second year Latin effective for two year pupils. She says that since not more than 69 per cent of those who begin Latin continue it longer than two years, the work should be so planned that this large percent may secure their returns during that period.

Civil Engineers To Meet Tonight

The William Cair student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers will hold its regular meeting tonight in 219 Phillips hall at 7:30. The student program will be composed of short talks by Messrs. Bennett and Riddick.

Cox to Head Commencement Activities

Mr. William T. Shore of Charlotte, President of the General Alumni Association has appointed General Albert L. Cox, '04, of Raleigh as Commencement Marshal to head up activities of the reunion program. General Cox's class is celebrating its twenty-fifth year reunion this June. In his senior year General Cox was chief commencement marshal for his class.

GIVES OBJECTIONS OF BUSINESS MAN TO COLLEGE BOY

Says Graduate Likes to Sit Back at Desk and Push the Bell.

Stating that the modern trend of business is toward the bigger combine and that the world that the present student will go out into after his graduation will be a world of great amalgamations and combines, Mr. Dave Owens of the J. B. Ivey Company of Charlotte, spoke in chapel Tuesday morning on the subject "The Law of the Wild."

In relating his topic to the modern business world, Mr. Owens asserted: "In the new conditions arising from these great combines a new type of competition has arisen in which only the best man equipped with the best methods is able to survive. In short, it is an application of the old law of the wild. The survival of the fittest."

"In spite of all the stories to the contrary," stated Mr. Owens, "the business man without a college education has a high regard for the man with a college degree. The objection of the business man to the college graduate is that he wants to sit at a desk and push buttons; whereas his place is to answer the bells."

"The only kind of knowledge that is worth anything," said Mr. Owens, "is knowledge that can be applied and put to use. A man may have all the knowledge in the world, but unless he is able to apply it, it is of no value. Your college degree is not worth the paper and ink with which it is written unless you can take the knowledge that it represents and put it to use."

In returning to the general topic of his talk, the opportunities in the retail selling field, Mr. Owens said that the selling world is crying for men who are able to earn a salary of ten or fifteen thousand dollars a year. The man who wants to be a leader in the selling world must make up his mind that at some time he will be a leader in his field, and that he is willing to spend five, ten, or even fifteen years in reaching that position, putting his shoulder to the wheel and working hard.

A person's record is of vast importance in obtaining a job in the opinion of Mr. Owens, for he stated in closing his talk, "When you apply for a job, the man who is doing the hiring will not ask you how much education you have had, neither will he ask you what you are capable of doing. He will ask you what kind of a record you have behind you, and if your record is clean, you will go the greatest success in the field."

POLICEMAN LLOYD GETS AUTO THIEF

Local Dealer Notifies Police When Thief Trades Spare Tire for Gasoline.

James Rubeler, a young white man 17 years of age of New York, was arrested here yesterday afternoon charged with the theft of a Nash coupe belonging to a Mr. York of Pinehurst. Rubeler was lodged in jail pending trial.

The first tip that the car was stolen was when Rubeler pawned a spare tire for some gasoline at Burrough's filling station. His actions were suspicious, and the police at Durham were notified, who stated that a car of that description had been reported stolen.

After leaving Chapel Hill, Rubeler drove the car to Durham and left it in a garage to have some repair work done. He was unable to pay the charges, and returned to Chapel Hill to get the spare tire. In the meantime, however, the police here were waiting for him, and when he called at the garage for the tire he was promptly taken in tow by policeman Lloyd. Chief Rigsbee then went to Durham and brought the car back to Chapel Hill, where it will be held until the owner calls for it.
