

Tar Heels to Meet Penn Today on Emerson Field

Nittany Lions Will Come Here After Three Games Series With Duke University

The Tar Heel nine will battle the crack Penn State outfit on Emerson field here this afternoon to begin a three-game stand on the home field. This will be the second of four consecutive Easter Week games, and will find the Tar Heels back home after their Easter Monday classic with Davidson in Salisbury.

Penn State will come to the Tar Heel stronghold after a three-game series with Duke in Durham, and the Nittany Lions will be roaring as they tackle their second "Big Five" opponent.

Fry, ace of the Penn State mound staff, will likely do the pitching for Hugo Bezdek's boys. Fry fared rough at the hands of the Naval Academy nine, but he hooked up with two Duke pitchers in an extra-inning scrap last Friday and looked good. He will have several days rest before the game here Tuesday, and if he draws the call he should be right for Coach Ashmore's youngsters.

Auburn Wright, rookie right-hander, appears the likely mound choice for the Tar Heels. Wright whipped Springfield in the first game of the season last Monday and then came back to defeat Pennsylvania 9 to 5 on Emerson field here Friday. He, too, will have several days' rest.

The remainder of the line-up for the two teams will likely be as follows: Penn State—Musser, ss; Doherty, 2b; Delf, lf; Wolf, 3b; Singler, cf; Diederich, rf; Young, lf; and Saltzman, c. Carolina—Coxe, cf; Satterfield, 3b; Whitehead, ss; Lufty, 1b; Barnhart, lf; Jessup, rf; Rand, 2b; and Maus, c.

TAR BABY NINE LACKS PITCHERS

Will Probably Open Season With High School Team Sometime Next Week

The Carolina freshman baseball squad is beginning to take shape, and Coach Bill Cerney will likely send his Tar Babies into action with one of the State's leading high school nines during the next week. No full schedule has been announced.

The Tar Babies, like their varsity brothers, show lack of capable pitchers, and Coach Cerney may have to follow Coach Ashmore's lead in juggling mound workers, Johnnie Greene, Tar Baby basketball star, looks like the leading pitcher, with a lanky boy named Chapman as his understudy.

The infield is shaping up nicely, with Buck Kushner, former Danville high school receiver, working behind the plate. Either Wall or Longest will hold first base, with McKinnon or Waterhouse on second, the diminutive Johnnie Branch at shortstop, and Jimmie Moore at the hot corner. Branch and Moore both played quarter on the undefeated football squad last year.

Belton, Dunlop, Cozart and Daniels look like the pick of a host of outfield candidates. All four boys played with strong high school teams last spring, and they may pan out into a hard-hitting garden squad. Belton hails from Mount Airy, Dunlop is from Siler City, Cozart is from Wilson, and Daniels played his high school ball at Charlotte.

Carolina Freshmen Meet All-Star Cinder Outfit

The Carolina Freshman track squad will tackle an all-star team from Greensboro and Wilmington High Schools on Emerson Field here on Saturday afternoon, April 6. The Tar Babies used to meet the high schools in dual meets, but Coaches Ranson, Belding and Quinlan have a strong yearling team this season and hunted for a more ambitious task.

Spring Practice
The boxers and wrestlers at the University of North Carolina will follow football precedents this spring and stage off-season practice. Coach Chuck Quinlan will be busy with the Tar Heel track squad, and the spring boxing and wrestling will fall under the directions of Coaches Ed Butler and "Mot" Motsinger. Both were assistant coaches during the winter season just past.

Fetzer on Wrestling Committee
Coach Bob Fetzer, Director of Athletics at the University of North Carolina, has recently been appointed a member of the national rules committee on intercollegiate wrestling. He attended the National Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament held recently in Columbus, Ohio, and afterwards attended the annual meeting of the rules committee.

ISSUES CALL

Coach Ashmore, although coaching baseball at present, announces that regular basketball practice begins tomorrow at 4 o'clock. Practice will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. All applicants for next year's varsity team who are not now occupied with other sports are urged to be present at these practices.

RIFLE TEAM IN FOURTH MEET

Will Hold Practice Friday Night For Meet Soon With Temple University

The University of North Carolina rifle team held its fourth match of the season last Friday night and shot against the University of Cincinnati and Davidson College. The results of the two opposing teams have not been received. The local riflemen turned in a score of 1198, and in case of a win over the University of Cincinnati, Carolina will be tied for first place in the South and West Intercollegiate league. Cincinnati is heading the league at present.

Ten men are allowed to compete in each match but only seven members of the team shot last Friday. They were: Holmes, Miles, Kellogg, Parker, Colburn, Mount, and Johnston.

Practice will be held Wednesday afternoon and night of this week in preparation for the final match scheduled for this coming Friday night with Temple University and Asheville Rifle Club. The freshman team will hold a practice Wednesday afternoon in preparation for their match with Boston Tech Thursday night.

The official standings of the members of the South and West Intercollegiate league as released by the National Rifle Association are:

Team	Won	Lost
U. of Cincinnati	4	0
U. of North Carolina	3	1
Sacramento Junior Col.	3	2
Cleveland Tech.	2	3
Temple University	2	3
Lawrence College	0	5

Whitehead Clouts Ball Hard

Burgess Whitehead, sophomore shortstop on the Tar Heel baseball squad, started the season in a flurry of base knocks. "Whitey", as they call him, hammered out five safe blows in his first seven trips to the plate. He hit close to .400 for the Carolina Freshmen last spring.

FROSH-VARSITY CINDERMEN TO SEE ACTION SATURDAY

V. P. I., Wilmington and Greensboro High Schools Will Invade Campus

The University of North Carolina track teams will face their first opposition of the year on this coming Saturday with the varsity locked in a struggle with V. P. I. and the Frosh pitted against a united team representing Wilmington and Greensboro high schools.

No outside competition has as yet tested the strength of the Tar Heels and this initial contest of the season should reveal the possible prospects for southern prominence. The graduating class of last year took with it a number of the veteran trackmen leaving open for dispute positions in almost every event both in the dashes and on the field.

V. P. I. is bringing southward a team full worthy of the strength of the Carolinians. The outstanding man on the Gobbler squad is Peak, whose performance on the football field last year placed him in the southern spotlight. Peak will enter the 440 yard dash and also the jumps. He will be assisted by Penn, who last fall placed second in the Southern Conference cross country trot and finished among the first three in the Conference two-mile competition at Birmingham last spring. These two athletes are the outstanding performers on the invading squad, but they are ably backed by a world of potency in the sprints and field events.

Two world record holders, Harold Osborne and Morgan Taylor, are training at V. P. I. this spring.

Pennsylvania Nines at Carolina

Two Pennsylvania baseball nines appear on the early schedule of the University of North Carolina baseball squad. The teams from the University of Pennsylvania and from Penn State College played the Tar Heels last season on Emerson Field here, and both clubs asked for a return engagement.

Pitching Stars of Old
All the fuss and furor over the Tar Heels' need for pitchers this spring sets diamond historians to recalling Carolina's great mound staff of 1922. Lewellyn, Wilson and Bryson piled up great records that spring winning three shutout victories over Virginia in the annual series.

Rainbow Tracked to Blue Tin

Newton, Ill., Feb. 22, 1923
Larus & Brother Co., Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen:
The tobacco samples you sent me have been received, and they are great. If you can picture in your mind the loneliness of a traveling man in a small town on a rainy night, not a friend in a hundred miles, nothing to do and no place to go:
That was the position I was in when your samples of Edgeworth came. It was like a voice from above when I opened the package and got the old pipe steaming.
I have smoked various brands of tobacco for the past fifteen years, but never in my life have I found a tobacco at any price that will equal Edgeworth. It does not bite the tongue, and a beautiful aroma follows. With the good old friend pipe and a can of Edgeworth you can dream of the rainbow's end.
Please count me in the future as an Edgeworth booster.
Very truly,
(Signed) Al Stanley

Conquering the Cascades

SNOW falls every month in the year where the Great Northern crosses the Cascades. Steep, tortuous grades increase the difficulty of the railroading problem. Nature has stubbornly resisted man's effort to conquer the range.

In January, 1929, the new Cascade tunnel was opened. Man, with electricity as an ally, had conquered the Cascades. The eight-mile bore was driven in three years—a record impossible without electric power. And electrification has been extended to the entire 75-mile route through the mountains.

The conquests of electricity on the land and on the sea, in the air, and underground, are making practicable the impossibilities of yesterday. As our vision encompasses wider horizons, electricity appears as a vital contribution to future industrial progress and human welfare.
