

PLAYMAKER
PERFORMANCE
TONIGHT

The Tar Heel

GRAIL DANCE
TONIGHT
BYNUM GYMNASIUM

VOLUME XXXVII

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1929

NUMBER 68

STUDENTS WILL PICK THEIR OWN ENTERTAINMENT

Townpeople and Students to Check Their Choice and Return to Dean Hibberd.

In making plans for next year's Student Entertainment Committee Program, Dean Hibberd, head of the Committee, has asked that the students and townspeople express their opinion on possible attractions that can be secured, so that an intelligent estimate can be made as to what the students really want.

"The Committee can make no promises to engage the attractions receiving the majority of votes," said Dean Hibberd, "but it will be definitely guided by such recommendations."

"The question of balancing the program among musical, dramatic, and lecture attractions and again balancing the program for each quarter presents difficulties of a varied nature. However, the Committee does sincerely ask the recommendations of interested subscribers to the Entertainment Program."

The Entertainment Committee requests interested people to check the following list of possible attractions and send them in to Mr. Hibberd by April 15:

Drama
1. The New York Theatre Guild Repertory Company (65 players) in: O'Neill's "Marco Millions" Jonson's "Volpone" or Capek's "R. U. R."

2. The Ben Greet Players (London Company) in: "Hamlet" "Everyman" "Twelfth Night"

3. Tony Sarg's Marionettes.
4. The Play of Robin and Marion—A Mediaeval Folk-Comedy Opera.

Lecture
5. Lorado Taft—"Masterpieces of Sculpture"

6. W. H. Burnham—"Stained Glass—Mediaeval and Modern"

7. V. L. Granville—"Dramatic Interludes" (Costume Recital)
8. Peggy Wood—"From Musical Comedy to Shakespeare"

9. Lowell Thomas—"With Lawrence in Arabia and Allenby in Palestine"

10. Will or Wallace Irwin—Humor
11. Clarence Darrow—"Crime" or "Voltaire"

12. Hans Weiner—"Dance Artist"

13. Ellery Walter—"Around the World on a Wooden Leg"

14. Carl Sandburg—"American Miscellany"

15. William McGovern—"Secrets of Amazonian Jungles" (Illustrated)

16. Padraic Colum—"Story Telling," "Contemporary Poetry" or "Literary Reminiscences"

17. Bertrand Russell—"Outlook for Civilization"

18. Vachel Lindsay—"Troubadour of Today and Yesterday"

19. Ernest Rhys—"London Writers of Today and Yesterday"

20. Baker, G. P.—"How the American Drama can Contribute to American Progress."

21. E. D. Martin—"What is an Educated Person?"

22. Carverth Wells—"My Six Years in the Malay Jungles"

(Continued on page four)

SENIORS WILL STAGE DANCE

Many Other Gala Affairs Will Be Staged Next Week-End; Many Girls Expected.

The annual senior ball will be on Friday night, April 19, in the gymnasium. The dance will be formal and only seniors will be admitted to the floor.

The dance comes on a week-end of several other dances. The Grail will stage one of their regular dances, and the Theta Chi fraternity will entertain with their annual ball. Jack Wardlaw's Orchestra will play for the affair. A large crowd of girls are expected to be present at these social events.

The figure will be led by Buck Carr, the retiring president of the senior class. He will be assisted by John Henderson and Walter Spearman.

The final plans of the dance will be announced to the seniors at their smoker which will be held in Swain Hall on Wednesday night, April 17. President Chase will speak to the seniors at this time.

Booker's Proposed Plan Of Government To Be Discussed Tuesday Night

Will Be Thrashed Out in Joint Meeting of Di and Phi With Speaker Graham of State Legislature Presiding.

Tuesday night the Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic Assembly will meet in joint session to discuss the plan offered by J. M. Booker for reorganizing student government at the University of North Carolina. The meeting will be held in the Phi Hall beginning at approximately 7:30 with Speaker Graham, of the North Carolina legislature, presiding.

The purpose of this article is to explain the accompanying resolutions without expressing any opinions on the subject of the plan. Due to the fact that the new proposal has been a topic of great discussion on the campus for several weeks Dr. Booker suggests that it would be wise to clip the accompanying resolutions out of this paper and bring them to the meeting. This suggestion is calculated to eliminate much needless discussion of mere technicalities.

It will be noticed that the original proposal has been thrown into two proposals framed as two separate resolutions—the first, that a bi-cameral system of government supplant the present council system; and the second, that the Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic Assembly become the two chambers of the proposed bi-cameral system.

For the purpose of a quick joining of the issues and a consequent speeding up of the debate the preambles of the resolutions, which contain the arguments in brief, have been cast in the form of inverted syllogisms with the points of attack exposed. Thus the premises of the first "Whereas," the conclusion of the first syllogism, are indicated by the "because" clauses. These clauses, of course, should focus the attack if the presiding officer of the evening keeps the debaters on the issues offered and postpones all new issues until the old ones are disposed of.

(Continued on page four)

Original Plan of Government Has Been Revised to Constitute Two Separate Proposals; Di and Phi May Undergo Changes.

Resolution I: Whereas a system of government modeled upon that of our Country would induce more of our students to vote more thoughtfully upon the questions that arise out of self-government than does the present Council system, because the large number of elected representatives that take the field for or against any given question disseminates that question more widely than a small body of Councillors can disseminate it; and because the responsibility of representatives to small groups of constituents brings a heavier pressure to bear upon these representatives to explain and defend their positions upon any given question, thereby focussing attention upon it, than does the widely distributed and therefore vague and attenuated responsibility of Councillors to the whole student body;

And whereas practice in the system of national government under which our students are to live would prepare them better for citizenship than does a Council system alien to our national ideals;

Therefore be it resolved that the members of the Di Senate and the Phi Assembly present do go on record as favoring the supplanting of the Council system of student government now in operation with a system modeled on that of our Country, in its main outlines as follows:

1. An Executive consisting of a President and a Vice-President elected from the Senior Class by the Student Body voting as a whole, and of such aids in the form of a Cabinet or of Committees as time and experience develop the need for;

2. A legislative arm consisting of an upper chamber, composed of not more than fifty

(Continued on page four)

Valuable Book Collection Is Given to University Library

Foundation for the Study of Origin and Development of Book Established by Children of John Wesley and Anna Hodgins Hanes as Memorial To Parents.

The establishment of a collection of rare and valuable books in the Library of the University of North Carolina was announced tonight by D. F. M. Hanes of Winston-Salem in an informal address to the Graduate Club of the University. It is to be known as the "Hanes Foundation for the Study of the Origin and Development of the Book," and has been established by the children of John Wesley and Anna Hodgins Hanes as a memorial to their parents.

The foundation is based upon an initial gift of $30,000 and will be developed along appropriate lines by Dr. L. R. Wilson, librarian of the University, Dr. J. F. Royster, dean of the Graduate School, W. T. Couch, assistant director of the University Press, and Dr. Frederic M. Hanes, of Winston-Salem.

The donors of the foundation are Mrs. Robert Lassiter, of Charlotte; Alex S. Hanes, recently acting chairman of the North Carolina Highway Commission; Frederic M. Hanes, a physician of Winston-Salem; James G. Hanes, former mayor of Winston-Salem and president of the Hanes Hosiery Mills Company; Major Robert M. Hanes, vice-president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, and member of the recent General Assembly; John Wesley Hanes of C. D. Barney and Company, bankers and brokers of New York City; Mrs. Thurmond Chatham, of Winston-Salem, and Ralph P. Hanes, president of the Hanes Dye and Finishing Company, of Winston-Salem.

What the Collection Contains
This gift is the first to be announced in connection with the new University Library building to be opened this summer. The University expects to be able to announce a number of similar gifts and endowments for the

(Continued on page four)

Mary D. Wright Tilt To Be Monday Night

Medal Will Be Presented to the Best Speaker on Winning Side.

The annual Mary D. Wright Memorial Debate between the two campus literary societies will be held Monday night in Gerrard Hall at approximately 7:30. The query to be debated is: "Resolved, That the Volstead Act should be modified."

E. H. Whitley and Mayne Albright, of the Phi, will uphold the affirmative side of the argument; Calvin Graves and B. C. Moore, of the Di, will present the negative end of the affair. The Mary D. Wright medal is always presented to the best speaker of the winning side.

Highsmith Gives Talk to Whitehead Medical Society

Dr. J. F. Highsmith, prominent surgeon and head of the Highsmith Hospital at Fayetteville, delivered an address on "Life Extension" before the Whitehead Medical Society in Caldwell Hall last Saturday evening.

In his talk he traced the progress of medical science from early times to the present, and made some predictions as to the type of medicine that will be practiced in the future.

Debate Council to Meet Monday Night

Taylor Bledsoe, retiring president of the Debate Council, announces that there will be a meeting of all old and new members of the Council Monday night in 210 Murphey Hall at 7:30.

In addition to several matters of present importance there are certain problems to be solved regarding next year's program which as yet is indefinite.

SAYS METHOD OF ADVERTISING IS DOUBLY HARMFUL

Makes Statement in Discussion Of National Advertising Before Debate Class.

Professor Garfield, of the department of Economics, addressed the debate class Thursday night on the query which is to be used in the coming Carolina-Virginia radio debate: "Resolved, That national advertising as it is now practiced is both socially and economically harmful."

Due to the fact that this was the first discussion of this proposition Professor Garfield attempted to give the class a broad understanding of the scope of the question rather than to develop either side to a logical conclusion. This task will probably be undertaken at the next meeting of the class.

In order to clearly differentiate between the various methods of advertising Professor Garfield showed the class several types of advertising matter. He called attention to the valid contention that there is an enormous waste connected with the advertising business. The speaker maintained that in many cases the amount of money spent in advertising an article is much greater than the actual cost of manufacturing that article. He also contended that unusually large expenditures for manufacturing are usually made at the expense of the quality of the goods advertised. Professor Garfield cited as a proof of this statement the case of McKay tire chains—an example of a very highly advertised article which is really of only mediocre quality.

"This question of national advertising is so closely bound up with the process of acquiring a living in many cases that its harmful aspects are often overlooked," declared the speaker. None the less, he contended that there is some very strong evidence to the effect that national advertising is both socially and economically harmful. Professor Garfield was of the opinion that the harmful aspects of national advertising are more evident, however, in the social world than in the economic world.

Order of Grail Will Stage Dance Tonight

The Order of the Grail will open their spring social program tonight with a dance in the gymnasium. Alex Mendenhall's Tar Heel Boys will furnish the music. The dance will begin at nine o'clock and will close at midnight. Tickets will go on sale at eight in the back of the gymnasium.

Shenk to Address Lutheran Students

The Student Lutheran Club will meet in Gerard hall at 11:00 o'clock tomorrow morning to hear the Rev. E. A. Shenk of Greensboro deliver a sermon on a post Easter subject as yet unannounced.

Sunday school will be taught at ten o'clock the same morning by one of the professors.

Barristers Elect Officers; Gholson to Head Association

The Law School Association, composed of all the students in the University Law school, met in the first year room at chapel period on Friday, April 5 and held election of officers for the next school year. The meeting was presided over by Phil Whitley, present president of the association.

Andy McIntosh was elected secretary-treasurer of the third year class to fill the unexpired term of Miss Susie Sharp, who graduated at the end of the last semester. He becomes, ex officio, secretary-treasurer of the Law School Association for the remainder of the year.

In a hotly contested election George McDaniel defeated Skinny Wallace for the position of representative on the Student Council from the Law school.

John Lewis proposed a new plan for the election of the officers of the association. In the past it has been the custom for the officers of the third year class to also act as the of-

Large Number of Votes Cast Thursday; Brown To Edit Yackety Yack

Tar Heel Staff To Hold Meeting Saturday Night

There will be an important meeting of the Tar Heel staff tonight at 7:00 o'clock in the Tar Heel office in the basement of Alumni building. At this time the beats will be re-assigned and the new personnel of the staff announced. All men interested in promotion must be present.

GLENN HOLDER.

GIRLS OUTNUMBER BOYS IN DEBATES

Fair Sex in Slight Majority in First Preliminaries of Hi School Tilts.

The fair sex will be in slight majority when the 800-odd school debaters entered in this year's North Carolina High School Debating Contest engage in the first preliminaries to be held throughout the State Friday night, April 5.

Of the slightly more than 200 schools entered, 189 have reported their representatives' names. These show 398 girls and 358 boys, it was revealed today by E. R. Rankin, in charge of high school relations for the University Extension Division, which sponsors the contest jointly with the Di and Phi Literary Societies of the University.

Twenty-one schools, it is interesting to note, will be represented by teams composed wholly of girls. Fifteen schools will be represented wholly by boys. The other teams will be mixed.

The teams will debate throughout the State on Friday night in triangles and pairs, and teams winning both affirmative and negative debates will meet in the finals here at the University April 18 and 19 for the Aycock Memorial Cup and the State championship.

The subject of this year's debate is the World Court, and to timeliness of subject is attributed much of the increase in participation and interest in the contest this year. A total of 195 schools took part in the contest last year.

Several Appointments In Chem Department

Eleven assistant professors and three teaching fellows have been appointed and placed on the faculty list of the Chemistry department for next year, according to Dr. J. M. Bell, head of the Chemistry department.

Out of about fifty applicants the following men were chosen as assistant professors: W. J. Mattox, D. R. Ergle, H. A. Ljung, S. M. Martin, J. B. Gallant, R. F. Abernethy, J. G. Augenstein, A. E. Couch, E. S. Gilreath, A. E. Hughes and T. L. King. W. W. Williams, D. W. Weaver, and Haywood Parker, Jr., were appointed as teaching fellows.

Spirited Contest Waged for Seats on P. U. Board; Parker, Dungan and Dunn Are Victorious; Greene to Head Seniors.

Disproving that they were uninterested in campus elections, the student body went to the polls Thursday from nine to six o'clock and piled up 1251 votes, the third largest that has ever been cast in a campus election, and this despite the fact that instead of the usual thirty offices only nine remained to be voted upon because of a scarcity of candidates for the other 21 offices.

Ed Hamer, one of two candidates for the position of treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. led the ballot with 882 votes the highest number obtained by any candidate during the course of the election. He was opposed by Wade Gholston who secured 163 votes.

Red Green was victorious over Bob Zealy opponent for the presidency of the senior class by a vote of 152 to 110.

The most spirited competition for the offices was in the selection of three men to compose the membership of the Publications Union Board for next year. Five men ran for office resulting in the choice of Clyde Dunn, of Kinston who secured 690 votes; J. E. Dungan of Chapel Hill, who came second with fifteen less, or 675 votes and B. Moore Parker who ran third with a vote of 641. Harry Galland with five votes less than his nearest competitor came fourth, while Joe Jones the other candidate cornered 467 votes.

Another point of contention was the election of an editor for the Yackety Yack. Travis Brown, however, showed enough strength to win a majority of the total votes cast on the first ballot, he counted as follows: Brown 599; Linwood Harrell 320; and Bob Hovis 210.

The Debate Council composed of two men elected from the student body at large will be made up of Mayne Albright and Bill Speight. The vote on this office was: Mayne Albright 718; Bill Speight 650; and John Wilkinson 470.

Jimmie Williams ran away from John Lang, his opponent for the presidency of the Y. M. C. A. to the tune of 802 votes to 420.

One week earlier Ed Hudgins, retiring president of the student body and chairman of the elections committee, announced the automatic selection of a list of twenty-one officers because of the fact that all candidates for the offices except those automatically chosen refrained from running. They are as follows.

President student body, Ray Far-

(Continued on last page)

SOPH'S DANCE OPEN SEASON

Second Year Men Staged Elaborate Affair in Bynum Gym Last Night.

Last night the sophomore class held its annual dance in Bynum Gymnasium from nine until one. This dance opened the social season for the spring quarter. The Grail will give the first of its four dances tonight. Following the Grail affair dances will follow in close order every week-end.

The figure at the sophomore affair was led by Bill Carbine assisted by Pete Wyrick, president of the class, and Jimmie Hudson, president of the rising junior class. Others in the figure included the dance committee, composed of Will Yarborough as chairman, Malcolm Seawell, and Evan Vaughn, all officers of the class, and all officers elected for the coming year. The gym was decorated with class colors mingled with Carolina colors. Shortly after intermission a no-break dance was held for officers and the incoming officers of the class. Confetti was showered on the dancers and paper hats were distributed following the figure.

Jack Wardlaw's Orchestra furnished music for the occasion, rendering several select numbers during the course of the dance.

Members of the faculty and their wives were chaperones for the occasion.