500 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WILL INVADE CAMPUS

Annual High School Week Contests Get Underway Tomorrow.

Over 500 high school students, along with their coaches, chaperones, friends and admirers will invade the University campus Wednesday and Thursday for the annual high school week when the finals in the state wide debating contest, a track meet, and a tennis tournament will be held.

Fifty-nine schools with teams of four members each have qualified to compete in the debate contest. The subject to be debated is the World Court. Things will get underway for the debaters Thursday with a meeting at two o'clock in Memorial Hall to draw lots for sections. At seven Thursday night the first preliminary will take place in fifteen sections over the campus. Winners in the first preliminaries will compete in the semifinals Friday morning to determine the two teams to debate Friday night in Memorial Hall.

The tennis tournament will get underway Thursday morning with singles and doubles and continue through Friday. Schools already entered in this are: Winston, High Point, Durham, Wilmington, Raleigh, Fountain, Dunn, Hickory, Mount Olive, Chapel Hill, Goldsboro, Candor, Spring Hill, and Spring Hope.

Twelve teams have been entered in the track meet which will be run off Friday beginning at ten o'clock. The best high school athletes are trained specially for this meet; many records are expected to fall before the day is over. Those schools sending teams are Aulander, Charlotte, Durham, Edward Best, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Raleigh, Salisbury, Stem, Wilmington, and Winston-Salem.

Preparations are going forward to entertain the army of visitors who will be guests of the fraternities, dormitories, country clubs, and other groups.

This is the seventeenth annual high school week that has been conducted by the Extension Division. Mr. E. R. Rankin of the Bureau of high school relations has charge of all arrangements for the events.

Winners of the track meet and tennis tournament will be presented trophies in Memorial Hall Friday night after the final debate and the presentation of the Aycock Memorial cup, which will be made by Supt. A. T. Allen. At the same time the winners in the Latin, French and Spanish contests will be awarded trophies. Durham won the Latin contest, Lenoir the French, and Albermarle the Spanish.

Those schools sending debating teams are: Charlotte, Gold Sand, Albemarle, Altamahaw-Ossipee, Apex

HAMPTON SINGERS WELL RECEIVED

Famous Negro Quartet Charms Large Audience in University Community.

By MILTON GREENBLATT
The Hampton Institute Quartet gave a program of negro spirituals in Memorial Hall (Thursday night) that was enjoyed by the entire audience, small as it was. The selections were the more popular spirituals, but they were none the less interesting ones.

They began with "My Lord What A Morning," "Zion Weep Low," "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel," and "Roll, Jordan Roll" followed, and the last named was one of the best of the program.

"My Way's Cloudy," "Wade in De Water," "Hard Trials," "Witness," were others. The best of the spirituals were, "Roll, Jordan Roll," "My Way's Cloudy," "Hard Trials," and "Witness."

The Hampton Quartet sings these folk songs quite capably. The individual voices are not of good quality, but they blend well, and in ensemble they achieve very beautiful harmony.

The spirituals are a glorious creation, and equal, if not surpass, the folk music of any other nation. Unfortunately, since they are racial, and to a great extent provincial (originating almost entirely in the south) they are not representative of America. But they are something to be proud of.

Modern Collegian Serious Minded, Dean Doyle Finds

Student Body of Today Has Higher Ideals and Purposes; Many Replies Sent By Deans of Other Colleges.

Henry Gratian Doyle, Dean of Men at George Washington University, who has been making an extensive survey of conditions existing in American colleges of today, made a detailed report of his findings at the annual convention of the Association of Deans and Advisors of Men in Washington, D. C., April 11, 12, 13.

In spite of public opinion and comment regarding the conduct of the modern college man and woman, the Doyle survey shows that in the opinions of the deans and presidents of American colleges, the student of today has higher ideals and purposes, does better and more serious scholastic work, and lives by a higher standard of moral conduct than the student of any preceding generation in the history of the country.

The purpose of the survey, said Dean Doyle, was a desire "to contribute something toward the correction of what I believe to be erroneous public opinion concerning the college man and woman."

Dean Doyle propounded the following queries in his questionnaire on which he will base his detainel report to the convention:

1 (a) Is the 'collegiate' of the humorous press and the vaudeville stage the typical student of your college? or

(b) Is he an exception in the personnel of your enrollment, and if so, what percentage of the total student body is like him?

2. (a) Is a slouchy appearance, as evidenced by garterless socks, rumpled shirt and collar, sloppy shoes and wrinkled suits of clothing, typical of your student body? or

(b) Is neatness in appearance, as evidenced by clean shaving, well-shined shoes, starched linen, appropriate neckties of neat appearance and well-pressed suits of clothing typical of your student body?

3 (a) In the main, does the psychological attitude of your student body approve slouchy and careless habits of dress and conduct, or neat habits of dress and courteous manners?

(b) Is there any appreciable attitude of disfavor in your student body toward carelessness in manners and dress?

He inquired further whether, in the official's opinion, there was any connection between the attempt to be "collegiate" and such problems as:

- (a) Drinking?
- (a) "Necking?"
- (c) Neglect of class work?
- (d) Dishonesty on examinations?
- (e) Other ethical problems?

Replies were received from a large number of co-educational schools, and without exception they stated

OPEN FORUM ON BOOKER'S PLAN TONIGHT AT 7:15

Further Consideration Will Be Given Plan at Public Meeting of Di Senate.

The Dialectic Senate meets tonight for a further consideration of the plan offered by Dr. J. M. Booker for reorganizing student government at the University of North Carolina.

Officials of the Senate feel that a second discussion of the proposed plan can be easily justified in view of the fact that the joint session of the Di and Phi last Tuesday night was interrupted by the Carolina-Harvard Debate. Certain members of the Senate were connected with the debate and could not attend the discussion.

Tonight the doors of the Senate will be thrown open to the student body at large for a further consideration of the subject. Both opponents and supporters of the bill are urged by Senate officials to attend the meeting.

All persons who attend the open forum discussion tonight will be privileged not only to speak but also to vote on the project.

Several faculty members who are interested in the matter have already signified their intentions of attending the open forum which will begin at seven-fifteen o'clock.

Hamilton Urges That Historical Material Be Preserved Here

Dr. J. G. deR. Hamilton, of the University History Department, made a talk before the literary department of the Goldsboro Woman's Club Thursday evening on the subject of preserving Southern historical and literary materials.

Mr. Hamilton said, "Why not build in North Carolina a great center for Southern historical research? If the present plans for the Southern collection go through it will be the most unique collection of social history resource material in the world."

The latest eclipse seems to be that source material in the world."

APRIL ISSUE OF LAW REVIEW OUT

Contains Excellent Material, Most of It By University Men.

The April number of the North Carolina Law Review, which was distributed to the lawyers on April tenth, features as its leading articles "The Recovery of Damages for Loss of Expected Profits," by Dean C. T. McCormick, of Chapel Hill; "Restraint of Trade in North Carolina," by Professor M. S. Breckenridge, of Chapel Hill; and "The Supreme Court and Commerce by Motor Vehicle," by Professor C. P. Light, Jr., of Washington and Lee University Law School. Dean McCormick, after a careful review of the North Carolina cases, concludes that there is no single, simple principle which will enable one to solve in advance the question of whether the plaintiff can recover for expected profits which have been prevented by a tort or breach of contract, and suggests the combination of factors, not reducible to rule, which will influence the decisions in particular cases. Professor Breckenridge examines the North Carolina decisions and statutes and determines the tests of the enforceability not to compete for a certain time within a designated area. And Professor Light traces the development of the attitude of the Supreme Court of the United States toward the state and federal regulation of motor-bus traffic.

Among the federal notes and comments upon recent cases are discussions of: the admissibility of evidence of the attempted suicide of the accused, based upon the recent Lawrence murder case; the inter-relationships of state and federal control of wild life and human conduct in national parks, military reservations and the like based upon recent United States Supreme Court decisions; the extent to which, under the recent litigation over the Ford Weekly Payment Plan, a company may be held responsible for "lifting" the basic idea of a business scheme submitted for purchase; interference with the jury's province by expert witnesses; the requirement of a bond as a condition to the settlement of a life insurance policy where the insured is not known to be dead but has been absent and unheard of for seven years; the responsibility of the attending physician for injection of an over-dose of silver nitrate in the eyes of a newborn babe.

Mr. C. W. Tillett, Jr., of the Charlotte bar contributes a review of Beveridge's "Abraham Lincoln," and Mr. Mangum Weeks, of Washington, D. C., reviews Holdsworth's lectures on "Charles Dickens as a Legal Historian." The report of the North Carolina Judicial Conference is printed in full as a matter of record. The editors of the Review announce that the June number will contain a detailed study of the public laws of 1929, to be prepared by members of the University faculty.

Packed House Greet Playmakers at Spray

Chase and Shore To Speak at Senior Smoker Tomorrow

President Chase and Mr. W. T. Shore, President of the Alumni Association, will address the Senior class at its annual smoker which will be held tomorrow night at 9:00 o'clock in Swain Hall.

This meeting will be very important as there are several matters to be discussed at the time. The final plans for the Senior Dance will be discussed and announced and the question of the wearing apparel of the seniors during Senior Week, which begins May 20, will be brought before the class. All members of the senior class are urged to be present, according to class officials.

JUNIOR PROM IS SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY, MAY 3

Affair Will Be Formal; Two Local Orchestras Have Been Engaged.

Friday, May 3, has been chosen as the date for the annual Junior Dance, which will be held in Bynum gymnasium. The dance will be formal. Admittance will be limited entirely to Juniors.

The Order of the Grail will stage a dance the following night, May 4, and the committees in charge of the decorations for the two dances have engaged Baron Holmes and Frazier Glenn, experienced decorators, to provide the accessories. The same decorations will be used for both dances, and will be appropriate to the occasions.

A novel arrangement has been made for the music. Alex Mendenhall's Tar Heel Boys and Jack Wardlaw's Orchestra will vie with each other in furnishing music since both orchestras have been engaged to play for the affair.

The figure for the dance will be led by Jimmie Connell, assisted by Bud Eskew and Red Green.

The Executive Committee of the Junior class asks that all members of the class who wish to have girls down for the dance make their dates as soon as possible.

Retract Charges of Liquor Making at Virginia Frat House

A committee of three members from the arch chapter of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity last Friday denied and retracted the charges that Beta Iota, University of Virginia chapter of the fraternity, has defied the university authorities in the manufacture and use of intoxicants in the chapter house at the University of Virginia. The committee, composed of Norman MacLeod, national president of the fraternity, F. D. Moore, president of the eastern division, and Frank S. Hemmick, reached this decision after contemplating an investigation of conditions at the Beta Iota chapter house.

The committee explained that the only basis for the report that there had been open drinking was the fact that liquor has been possessed and used by individuals in the chapter house in the past.

The report of the committee states that the chapter, with other fraternities at Virginia, has made earnest efforts to lessen student drinking, with "substantial success."

Action of the entire arch chapter of ten members must yet be taken upon the report, but it is generally believed that the report of the committee will be accepted by the entire group.

First Performance of Annual Western Tour; Move on to Morganton Tonight.

By GEORGE EHRHART (Staff Correspondent)

Spray, April 15.—The Carolina Playmakers of the University of North Carolina gave their first performance of their annual western tour here last night. A packed house greeted the play group. The great amount of ovation given the plays proves that the bill for the western tour is up to the usual Playmaker standards and that a big treat is in store for future audiences as the student actors get down to touring in earnest.

The plays being presented on the western tour of the Playmakers include two by Paul Green—"Old Wash Lucas," and "Quare Medicine,"—and "The Lie," a play of revolutionary days by Wilkeson O'Connell.

"The Lie," the first play on the bill is an interesting attempt of the playwright to portray the life and times of our colonial forbears. The story is based on the Biblical story of (Ananias and Saphirra). The cast includes Pendleton Harrison, Howard Bailey, Whitner Bissell, Peter Henderson, Elizabeth Farrar, Cyrus Edson, and Marvin Hunter.

Paul Green's "Quare Medicine," his first comedy, written for the occasion of the dedication of the Playmaker's Theatre at Chapel Hill in 1925, is the second number of the program. Here the author goes back to his childhood days and depicts the life of the tenant farmer in eastern North Carolina, interspersed with the smooth sayings and wiles of the country quack doctor typical of those days. The cast includes Hubert Heffner, Howard Bailey, Pendleton Harrison, and Helen Dortch.

"Old Wash Lucas," or "The Miser," as it was formerly known, is another one of Green's tragedies. Again the author goes back to his native haunts for the plot. Old Wash Lucas, the miser, holding his now empty money box tightly in his miserly fingers; the overworked daughter and her disappointment on learning that her lover of ten years standing is going to marry another girl; the sick son, thrown out by The Miser seven years before, returning home to ask for money to help his starving family are all brought to a hair-raising climax by the playwright. The cast for this play will be played by Hubert Heffner, Pendleton Harrison, Helen Dortch and George Ehrhart.

The Playmakers are headed by Professors Koch, Heffner, and Selden. They will play in Morganton tonight and will move on for a performance in Asheville Wednesday. The tour will go as far west as Nashville, Tennessee.

UNIQUE ORDER FORMED HERE

Senior Order of Daviens Plans to Attract Highest Type of Students to Carolina.

Announcement was made yesterday of a new organization on the campus which has been in active existence since last October, the Senior Order of Daviens. This organization was founded for the purpose of furthering every interest of the University of North Carolina, and its efforts are especially directed toward keeping up the high quality of men entering the University. This is a unique organization at Carolina, and the only one of its kind in the state.

The Senior Order of Daviens plans to use every legitimate effort to secure as students of the University the best of the students graduating from high schools and preparatory schools of North Carolina and elsewhere. It shall also be the purpose of the order to work with members of each Freshman class to the end that they may develop into the kind of students necessary for a greater University.

It is believed that for some years there has been a slight tendency toward a lowering of the quality of the men entering Carolina. More and more in recent years the best North Carolina high school graduates, who ordinarily should have come to the University, have been enticed to go else-
