Farris Explains Action Against Sigma Upsilon

Sets Forth Attitude of Student Council in Letter Addressed to Student Body.

To the Student Body:
In reference to the student council action in the publication and sale of the Yellow Journal I wish to submit the following to the student body.

The student council on its own initiative took charge of this affair on the grounds that the offense was committed by students and that correction of the offense was therefore a student responsibility.

Some of the members of the student council had left the campus when the Yellow Journal appeared, but when a few had been assembled, I explained that a complaint against the Yellow Journal had been vested with the faculty executive committee, but that I felt the affair should be handled by the student council. This opinion was held by all the members present. Therefore, I, as President of the council, went before the Executive committee which met shortly afterwards and requested that the matter be handled by the student council.

The Executive committee having taken no action in the affair in any manner and having no evidence affecting any individual concerned, deferred to the council, withdrew from the case, and expressed its confidence in the council.

Because the Sigma Upsilon fraternity had disregarded the previous council's warning and decree, and because the council regarded many of the articles in the Yellow Journal as being indecent, scurrilous, and libelous, the active members and initiates of the fraternity were at once suspended from the University with the right to appeal to the council for reinstatement. The entire fraternity was held responsible until responsibility could be fixed. Also, it was required that certain stipulations be fulfilled before any member of the fraternity should appeal for reinstatement. This action was taken and these stipulations required for the purpose of securing a comprehensive view of the entire situation and for the purpose of obtaining full and specific knowledge in regards to every member's and initiate's participation and responsibility in the issuance and sale of the Yellow Journal.

When all the stipulations were fulfilled and the entire situation was clearly in mind, the student council began to consider the matter of reinstating every individual involved.

Perhaps, it should be explained that in the course of investigations, one member of the faculty appeared before the council at the request of some of the students involved and by permission of the council, to ask information on three points of procedure in obtaining evidence that these students desired. Otherwise, there was no connection whatsoever between faculty and student government in the entire investigation.

The final decisions of the council came after a thorough investigation and with full and lengthy consideration of all the facts and circumstances involved. The student council, the administrative organ of student government, settled the affair in its own way and to the very best of its ability.

Respectfully submitted,
R. S. Farris,
President of Student Body.

Hibbard To Speak In History Series

Dean Addison Hibbard, of the Liberal Arts School, will speak in chapel Monday on the topic "Literature in Contemporary North Carolina." Dean Hibbard will be the fourth of the faculty speakers who are delivering lectures at the Monday morning chapel periods on the general subject "Understanding Contemporary N. C." Those who have already spoken are Professor Frank Graham, Dr. R. D. W. Connor, and R. B. House. The two remaining talks of the series are to be delivered by Dr. E. W. Knight on "Education," and Dean D. D. Carroll on "Industry."

BRILLIANT WEEK END OF DANCES CLOSES TONIGHT

Senior Ball and Four Dances Attract Unusual Number of Girls.

A brilliant week-end of social activities, begun last night with the Senior Ball, will be concluded here tonight when the Order of the Grail gives its final dance of the year. The Grail will give no more dances this year owing to the nearness of examinations. The new officials of the order will be in charge. Alex Mendenhall's orchestra will furnish the music.

The crowning event of the week was the annual senior ball held in honor of the graduating class. The interior of the Bynum gymnasium was artistically adorned in blue and yellow. Jack Wardlaw's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. The dance was one of the outstanding social events of the year.

Buck Carr, retiring president of the class, with Miss Eleanor Ewing, led the figure, assisted by Walter Spearman, with Miss Eunice Glenn. The affair was chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Dey, Mrs. John Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. House, and Dean and Mrs. Addison Hibbard.

In honor of the teams which will participate in the Southern Interscholastic Track Meet here today, a tea dance will be staged in the gymnasium tonight from six to nine by Woodberry Forest, Augusta Military Academy, and Virginia Episcopal School clubs. The Grail dance will conclude the set.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will hold its annual alumni ball at the Washington Duke hotel in Durham tonight. Taylor Bledsoe will lead the figure with his sister, Miss Maurine Bledsoe. Jelly Leftwich's orchestra will furnish the music.

The Acacia fraternity gave a dinner dance at the Carolina Inn last night for members and a few special guests at 7:30 o'clock, followed by a regular evening dance. Alex Mendenhall's orchestra played for the occasion.

COURSES OFFERED IN AERONAUTICS

Engineering Department to Offer Air Courses for First Time Next Fall.

According to an announcement by Dean G. M. Braune of the engineering school, the University of North Carolina will offer instruction in aeronautical engineering beginning with the fall quarter of next year. The department of mechanical engineering has been at work on such a course for more than a year, and the preparations are just about complete for adding this course to the curriculum.

A special instructor will be employed to handle the aeronautical subjects. A Liberty engine and various other aeronautic instruments have been acquired from the war department, and such equipment will be added as fast as possible.

The foundation of the new course will be a regular course in mechanical engineering with optional courses in specialized subjects offered during junior and senior years. The co-operative junior year will give students an opportunity to get practical experience at flying fields or with airplane manufacturers.

Journal Case Comes to a Dramatic Close After Week's Deliberation

Elizabethan Period Is Subject Matter Of Graduate Paper

An issue of "Studies in Philology," quarterly publication, has been released by the University of North Carolina Press. This issue is an extra number of the publication and is featuring the Elizabethan age of literature, with emphasis on the prose of that period. Dean James F. Royter, of the Graduate School, edits the magazine with the aid of a board composed of University professors. This issue is composed entirely of articles relating to the literature of the time of Queen Elizabeth.

Included in the issue is "Greenes Funerals," 1594, and Nicholas Breton," by Charles Crawford; notes on Brian Melliancke's "Philotimus"; and a preliminary bibliography of eighteenth century criticism on Shakespeare.

PREP CLUB WILL BE HOST TONIGHT

Visiting Prep School Athletes To Be Guests of Local Club.

The Woodberry Forest, Augusta Military Academy, and Virginia Episcopal School clubs will jointly entertain the visiting prep school track teams with a tea dance tonight in the gymnasium. Admittance to the dance will be given all members of the local school clubs, and the visiting contestants in the Southern Interscholastic Track Meet which is to be held here this afternoon.

Beginning at 6:30 o'clock, dancing will continue until 8:30. Alex Mendenhall's Tar Heel Orchestra will play for the occasion. The dance will be informal. A large number of the prominent southern preparatory schools will be represented at the meet this afternoon, and a large number are expected to attend the dance. Many of the outstanding athletes in prep school circles will be in attendance at the affair.

Officials of the school clubs announce that all students who are members of the clubs will be eligible for admission and urge all members to be present with girls at the opening hour.

STRONG FACULTY TO BE HERE FOR SUMMER SCHOOL

104 Members of Regular Faculty with 29 Visiting Professors Will Comprise Staff.

104 members of the University's regular faculty and 29 prominent visiting professors will comprise the staff of instructors at the coming session of Summer School, according to the catalogue just issued.

Credits both for college graduation and teacher's certificates will be offered this summer. As usual there will be two sessions of the school, the first beginning June 13 and lasting to July 23 and the second from July 24 to August 30.

Eleven dormitories—as well as Spencer Hall, the regular co-ed dormitory—are being reserved for the women students. In fact, all the dormitories on the campus except Battle, Vance, and Pettigrew which, together with the fraternity houses, are expected to take care of the men, will be turned over to the women. One dormitory is being held for married couples.

For entertainment features a regular series of dances and socials is being arranged by the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A. Other events of the Summer School will be the meetings here of the Kinsella Institute, a Public Welfare Institute, a North Carolina Conference on Elementary Education, and a Parent-Teacher's Institute.

Dr. Eric Abernethy, University physician was in Watts Hospital in Durham, the first part of the week. While there he underwent a minor operation.

New Town Officers Chosen By Council

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen last Monday night, the following officers were selected: C. P. Hinshaw, recorder; B. D. Sawyer, prosecuting attorney; and Miss Ruby Ross, clerk.

These new officers will be sworn in sometime before July 1, at the first meeting of recorder's court. The old municipal court room over the City Hall will be used as the recorder's court room.

LAW DEPARTMENT BANQUET TONIGHT

Annual Event of Lawyers Will Attract Many Prominent Barristers.

The Law School will hold its annual banquet tonight at 6:30 o'clock in the Carolina Inn. The banquet will be attended by a number of barristers from the entire state, and a program of speakers and entertainers has been arranged. Invitations have been extended to all alumni of the Law School.

Justice W. J. Brogden, of the North Carolina Supreme Court, will be the principal speaker for the occasion. The first year class will be represented on the rostrum by Charles Price; the second year class by Henry Brandis; and the third year class by Andy McIntosh. Chief Justice and Associate Justices Connor, Adams, and Clarkson will be present at the affair. Professor M. Y. Van Hecke, of the Law School faculty will act as toastmaster.

Entertainers in fields other than the oratorical include Wex Malone, Byerly, Swartz, McIntosh, Mr. McCall, Bryson, Chadbourne, Price, Armstrong, Powell, and O'Brien.

No announcements have been issued concerning either the subject matter or the nature of any of the speeches or entertainment features. However, according to members of the committee in charge, the banquet will be pleasing to all present.

Fraternity Honors Judge W. J. Brogden With High Position

Hon. W. J. Brogden, of Durham, has accepted the position of Associate District Justice of the Phi Alpha Delta Law fraternity, according to word received here by Phil Whitley, clerk of the local Ruffin chapter. The appointment was made by Alex M. Hitz, Atlanta attorney, Justice of the Southern District of the organization.

Judge Brogden became a member of the order while teaching in the Law school here last summer.

Phi Alpha Delta is one of the leading organizations of its kind in the country. Listed among its alumni are the Hon. William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court; Kenasaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball; Senator Thaddeus Carraway of Arkansas and others.

South Campus Will Be Refurbished By Commencement Day

According to Dr. Coker, chairman of the campus committee, the work on South Campus is progressing rapidly, and with good weather, may be completed in time for commencement. The Armstrong Tree Service Co., has charge of the work being done on the trees, which though not quite so large nor so numerous as those of the older section of the campus, are exceptionally beautiful.

Until they were covered with earth a few days ago, pipes might be seen converging at the roots of the trees from all directions. To the casual passer-by these pipes would seem meant for irrigation, but such is not the case; they have been placed there for root ventilation. Around these pipes has been placed a large amount of much-needed fertilizer.

Several paths are well on the way to completion, notably those which extend from Venable to Bingham.

Council Refuses to Divulge Names and Sentences but Investigation Reveals What Is Believed to Be An Accurate and Reliable Story.

The Student Council of the University refused today to make public the names of the eight men suspended last night as the result of their participation in the publication of "The Yellow Journal," a student scandal sheet recently put out by the Sigma Upsilon literary fraternity. The Council based its refusal on the ground that its policy was never to make public names in connection with its findings and that the reputation of the men involved would be needlessly injured through publication of the names.

It was learned, however, through sources considered reliable that the following eight men were suspended for periods ranging from one to seven months:

Hardee Chambliss, Washington, D. C.; Glenn Holder, Greensboro; John Mebane, Greensboro; George Ehrhart, Jackson; J. P. Pretlow, Wilmington; Byron White, Fayetteville; Henry Brandis, Salisbury; David Milne, Salisbury.

The Council also voted to withhold for a year the degree of John Marshall, Wilmington, who completed all work required for graduation at the end of the winter quarter, and to take away temporarily the alumni rights of W. W. Anderson, Greenwood, S. C.

The following three men were placed on probation: Joe Mitchell, Fairmont; Dane Wilsey, Jersey City, N. J.; and J. J. Slade, Chapel Hill.

All other members of the Sigma Upsilon fraternity were readmitted to the University.

U. N. C. PROFS ON PROGRAM FOR Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE

Chase, Bradshaw, Bagby, and Perkins To Attend Blue Ridge Conference.

President Harry W. Chase, Dean Francis Bradshaw, Prof. English Bagby, and Aubrey Perkins, Acting Secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., are scheduled for important addresses and parts on the instruction program at this year's Y. M. C. A. Summer Student Conference at Blue Ridge, to be held June 14-24.

Dean Bradshaw and Professor Bagby are to head discussion groups in personal guidance work for the ten-day period. Students are expected from more than 100 Southern colleges and universities. The University here probably will send a record delegation, more than 20 men already having signified their intentions of attending.

University students who have already signed up include: W. K. Blair, of Greensboro; J. C. Connelly, Taylorsville; S. E. Crew, Pleasant Hill; Clyde Dunn, Kinston; J. C. Eagles, Wilson; C. H. Farrell, Dunn; R. M. Gray, Statesville; W. F. Humphries, Asheville; P. A. Hunt, Pleasant Garden; E. R. Hamer, McColl, S. C.; J. D. Idol, High Point; F. M. James, Wilmington; J. R. Knott, of Florida; J. A. Lang, Carthage; Henry London, Pittsboro; T. E. Marshall, Jr., Rocky Mount; John Miller, of Salem; J. A. Park, Jr., Raleigh; H. N. Patterson, High Point; K. C. Wright, Topton; J. C. Williams, Greensboro.

Instructors Return From Law Institute

Dean C. T. McCormick and Profs. R. H. Wettach and M. T. Van Hecke, of the University Law School have returned from Washington, D. C., where they attended the meeting of the American Law Institute.

Chief Justice W. H. Taft, former Attorney General George Wickersham and Attorney General Mitchell were among the distinguished men on the program. A reception for the members of the Institute was given by President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House.

SENIOR WEEK TO CLIMAX YEAR OF SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Annual Week Will Be Celebrated From Monday through Friday By Seniors; Class of '29 to Have Special Costumes.

Beginning Monday and continuing through Friday the Seniors will observe "Senior Week." For many years now one week toward the latter part of the Spring Quarter has been set aside for "Senior Week." During that time the members of the Class wear regalia of the class colors.

This year the seniors will wear straw hats with black red-striped bands, the class of 1929 colors. Black and red ties, black and red handkerchiefs and canes will also be in order.

Every night during the week the seniors will gather beneath Davie Poplar for speeches by some member of the faculty. The tentative order of speakers is: Monday night, Dr. Horace Williams; Tuesday night, Dan Grant; Wednesday night, Frank Graham; Thursday night, Dean F. F. Bradshaw; and Friday night, Dr. Chase. With the exception of Dr. Chase all the other speakers have accepted.

In addition to the exercises beneath Davie Poplar, Wednesday night at eleven o'clock the entire Senior class will be given a midnight show at the Carolina Theatre. Alice Terry in "Three Passions" will be shown. The same night Mr. Charley Gooch will give all seniors drinks and sandwiches.

Buildings Department To Keep Boys Off Roofs

Screens have been put on all the fourth story windows in Mangum, Manley, Grimes, and Ruffin buildings. The building department explained yesterday that these were not put in to keep out the flies, but to keep the boys from getting on the roof. The roofing and gutters of these buildings are guaranteed by the company that built the buildings, and it is to protect this company from having to repair the roof and gutters after boys have been walking on the roof that the screens have been installed.

Engineers Receive Five Volumes from Professor Emeritus

William Cain, professor emeritus of the school of Engineering, has recently presented five of his own books to the departmental library to complete its collection of the books he has written. These books are on the general topics of earth fills and bridge arches, on both of which Mr. Cain is the acknowledged authority.

Professor Cain who was connected with the school of Engineering for the last thirty years before his retirement was the recipient of an unusual honor last winter when his portrait was presented to the school of Engineering.

The titles of the books which he presented to the library are: "Earth Pressure, Retaining Walls, and Bins," published in 1916; "A Brief Course in Calculus," 1907; "Maximum Stresses in Framed Bridges," 1914; "Practical Designing of Retaining Walls," 1910; and "Theory of Voussoir Arches," 1910.

Noted Artist Will Show Painting at Steele Home Here

Ten brilliant canvases depicting charming glimpses of Central Park, Wall Street with Old Trinity in the background, as well as beautiful vistas of Connecticut landscapes are being shown at a private exhibition in the studio of William Steele on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

The paintings are the work of Guy Wiggins, A.N.A., one of the best known landscape painters of America who will visit Mr. Steele during the exhibition. The paintings, each of different aspect, are admirable examples of the artist's ability to catch the unobtrusive, and unassertive spirit-meaning of typical native scenes, the beauty of which does not force itself on one's attention but must be sought out.

Mr. Wiggins is a native of New York and for many years he has lived and painted during the summer near Lyme, Connecticut, a particularly sequestered part of New England, and most of his canvases are interpretations of that varied countryside. He is associate member of the National Academy, president of the Connecticut Academy of Fine Arts, member of the National Arts Club, Allied Artists of America, Lyme Art Association and the Salamagundi Club.
