

CLASS OF 1929 TO TAKE PART IN ALUMNI MEET

Baby Alumni To Attend All Meetings of Alumni during Reunion Week.

The class of 1929 will be a center of interest during Alumni Day of the coming Commencement Week as well as the other days of Commencement. The Alumni Office has been sending out a series of letters to the '29ers, explaining to them the purposes of the Alumni Association and its Central Alumni Office. A blank data sheet was enclosed in one of the letters, and was to be filled out and returned to the Alumni Office for filing in the individual biographical files maintained as a permanent record of the University's alumni.

Commencement begins with Class Day, June 7, and Alumni Day follows. The alumni in charge of the Alumni Day program are taking special interest in bringing '29 into the activities. Members of the graduating class are invited to the general meeting of alumni in the morning, to the annual Alumni Luncheon at 1:00 o'clock, and in the afternoon there will be a special celebration for the class of '29. Alumni officers will appear on that program, and will welcome '29 into the Alumni Association. The permanent president of '29 will respond. At the Alumni Luncheon the class will be seated together and in a central part of Swain Hall.

Copies of the Alumni Review, official publication of the Alumni Association, will be distributed to the members of the senior class this week, according to the announcement of Alumni Secretary Maryon Saunders. This publication aims to give such a digest of University and alumni news as to permit its readers to keep up with the institution and their college and classmates. Subscription to the publication will be cared for next year in the alumni membership.

CAMBRIDGE WILL OPPOSE DEBATERS IN FALL DEBATE

Opening of Next Year's Debate Program Will Be Between Carolina and Cambridge.

The Debate Council announces that in all probability the first intercollegiate debate in which Carolina will participate next year will be a fray with Cambridge University. The debate is expected to be held in Memorial Hall about the middle of November. As yet the query has not been learned.

For several years it has been customary to begin the forensic season by a debate at Chapel Hill between Carolina and some British University. In consideration of the fact that a British team always attracts a great deal of attention, the Debate Council has made arrangements for a Carolina-British fray next fall.

Managing Director Of Taylor Society To Speak Tonight

Dr. H. S. Person, managing director of the Taylor Society, an international organization for the promotion of scientific business management, will speak to the local student chapter of the organization tonight at 7:15 in Bingham Hall.

While in Chapel Hill today, Dr. Person will speak to several advanced commerce classes in the morning, and to the acuity of the School of Economics and Commerce in the afternoon.

The public is extended a cordial welcome to attend the meeting tonight. All who are interested in the subject of scientific management are especially urged to hear Dr. Person.

Only a few Americans have the look of greatness, and most of them are pullman conductors.

Henry Satterfield

Satterfield Wins Patterson Trophy

Durham Boy Is Judged Best Athlete In Senior Class.

Henry Clement Satterfield, Jr., of Durham, was awarded the Patterson Athletic Trophy last night in Memorial Hall at the annual Awards Night. The medal is given to the most outstanding athlete in the Senior Class. A committee composed of Graduate Manager C. T. Woollen, Director of Athletics R. A. Fetzer, and the coaches makes the selection.

Satterfield played freshman football, basketball and baseball. Devoting his time to basketball and baseball his second year he won a Varsity berth on both teams. In basketball he played forward and his consistent work at the position won him mention on several all-Southern teams despite Carolina's failure to win the tournament any one of the three years he played.

For two years "Sat" played regular on the baseball team. His spectacular hitting and equally spectacular fielding made him one of the most valuable men on the Tar Heel nine. This spring he was shifted to third base where he performed brilliantly.

Besides his athletic work "Sat" is active in other student activities. He is a member of the Golden Fleece, Minotaurs, Gimghouls, and Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He was President of his Sophomore Class, Secretary of the Freshman class, and will be a Commencement Ball Manager.

The winner of the trophy last year was Galen Elliott, outstanding trackman.

Dr. Knight Speaks On N. C. History In Last Chapel

Dr. E. W. Knight, of the School of Education, spoke in chapel yesterday as the last of the series of faculty speakers who have lectured on contemporary North Carolina this spring. The meeting yesterday was the last chapel of the present year.

Dr. Knight stated that North Carolina ranks very low in education now, even if tremendous progress has been made in the past twenty-five years. "Public opinion can be aroused to the point where the people will demand the best in educational facilities, and the best is none too good for North Carolina," stated the speaker.

The improvements in the school system of which North Carolinians are sometimes proud, was pointed out by Dr. Knight as only a merger beginning. The $35,000,000 that North Carolina is spending for schools this year should be $70,000,000 to bring the state up to the national standard. One third of the school children of North Carolina are getting only six months of school, but it is not only in the quantity of the education that the state falls short, the quality of the public school work in the state is below the national average.

Two years ago a report was issued which stated that the average freshman entering college or university in the state had only the education of a sophomore in high school, and the writing of some of those entering the institutions of higher learning was comparable to that of a child in the

Gerald Johnson Writes Of Dr. Chase's Career In American Mercury

Former Professor of Journalism Here Presents Character Sketch and Reviews Career of Carolina's President.

In an article in the current issue of the American Mercury, Gerald W. Johnson, a native Tar Heel, who is now on the editorial staff of the Baltimore Evening Sun, presents a character sketch and reviews the career of Dr. Harry W. Chase, president of the University.

Mr. Johnson pegs the article which is entitled "Chase of North Carolina," on Dr. Chase's recent refusal of the offer to become a director of a big New York foundation at a $20,000 salary.

"It was," writes Mr. Johnson, who was for two years professor of journalism at the University, "as if a bishop had refused the red hat, or a lawyer an appointment to the supreme bench. Directors of foundations are the shiniest officials in all the pedagogical world; yet, rather than be one, Chase preferred to continue as president of a state university in the south—to continue, that is to say, as the target for all the bricks, bottles, and dead cats which the enemies of intelligence are able to hurl."

Here are some extracts from the article: "Physically he resembles nothing so much as a particularly holy saint done by a thirteenth century sculptor—long, narrow and immensely pious. His prematurely silvery hair gives him the effect of a halo, and his soft voice seems admirably adapted to preaching to the birds. . . . After all, an ascetic appearance is not always proof of ethereal mildness. 'Yon Cassius,' remarked an authority who has no mean judge of men, 'hath a lean and hungry look; such men are dangerous.'"

"Today the University of North Carolina is recognized as the most aggressive and vigorous university in the south, and among the most aggressive and vigorous in the country. It is particularly strong in the social sciences, and its research work in that field now commands respectful attention everywhere. In addition, it has gradually collected a group of literary gems—essayists, poets, dramatists, critics and similar addicts to beautiful letters—whose average level

Dr. Cobb to Preside At Educational Meet

Dr. Collier Cobb, head of the Geography department of the University, has been asked to preside over the Geography section of the annual session of the National Educational Association. The meeting is to be held in Atlanta, Ga., July 3, 1929.

Dr. Cobb, who is a director of the National Council of Geography Teachers, states that the general subject of the discussion this year will be "The need for Geographical open mindedness in the solution of local, national, and international problems." Dr. A. E. Parkins of George Peabody School for Teachers, Miss Willa Bolton of Hattiesburg, Miss., and Dr. Ehrlich Smith of Randolph Macon Academy will be the principal speakers of the gathering.

Pony Show Thursday

An "educated" pony will be exhibited here Thursday night in Memorial Hall at 7:30 o'clock. The pony is being brought here under the auspices of the local Boy Scout troop, and the proceeds of the exhibition will be used for the benefit of the children's library and the Boy Scouts. The admission will be twenty-five and thirty-five cents.

88 Students Received Awards Last Night For Campus Activities

Four Trackmen Win Gold Shoes

Four varsity trackmen were awarded gold track shoes for breaking University records during the past season. The men winning shoes were: Fenton Adkins in the shot, W. L. Harper in the discus, Dave Neiman in the broad jump, and Vernon Cowper in the pole vault.

All men who break records will be awarded gold shoes with the record and the year engraved on the shoe. The men winning shoes contributed many points to Carolina's scores this year and were valuable men in all meets. Two of the men, Neiman and Adkins, will return next year.

WEIDEMEYER TO PLAY FOR FINAL DANCES JUNE 10

German Club Committee Announces Complete Plans for Commencement Dances

Final preparations are now being made for the final dances to be held June 10, 11, and 12. The first dance is to be held Monday night. Tuesday is a rather strenuous day, three dances being scheduled, Tuesday morning, afternoon and night.

As has been heretofore announced, Weidemeyer and his orchestra will furnish the music. This orchestra has grown extremely popular during the past winter and has added one man to its number since playing at the finals of last year. During the summer they play at Wrightsville Beach, one of North Carolina's premier resorts.

Baron Holmes and Frazier Glenn are in charge of the decorations and Swain Hall will be attractively decorated in a futuristic scheme.

Many of the social fraternities have announced that they are having house parties. Many girls from all over the country are expected to attend these, and it is expected that the dances will be the best given by the German Club in many years.

Billy Marshall announces he will be at the Sigma Nu house almost every afternoon until after exams, and that all those who wish to join the German Club and have not done so, will please see him at once. Also, members who have not paid their dues should pay up immediately.

Pioneer Locomotive To Visit Here Soon

Charleston's "Best Friend", first locomotive built in the United States for actual service, will be brought to Chapel Hill June 5th by the Southern Railway. The old locomotive is making a tour of the Southern States and Chapel Hill is included on the schedule of stops. However, those interested in seeing the locomotive will find that the stop at Chapel Hill is only for part of the day as Durham is also to share June 5th.

The Locomotive will be brought to University Station June 4 from Greensboro. From Chapel Hill it will be taken to Durham and thence to Raleigh.

The "Best Friend" was built at West Point Foundry in New York in 1830 for the South Carolina Canal and Railroad, now the Charleston division of the Southern Railway. It was transported to Charleston by ship, there being no connecting railroads at that time.

The original "Best Friend" made its first schedule trip on Christmas day of 1830, and rendered good service until June 1831 when it was destroyed by the explosion of its boiler. The pioneer locomotive and its train have been reproduced by the Southern. It is running under its own steam over the South.

It attracted much attention last fall when a tour was made over the Southern System in South Carolina. It was placed on display in Union Station, Washington, D. C., last winter.

Dr. Archibald Henderson Speaks At Annual Awards Night Exercises; Tar Heel, Buccaneer, Magazine, and Yackety Yack Men Get Charms.

University students who have done outstanding work in extra-curricular activities during the year were awarded medals or certificates at a mass meeting of the student body last night in Memorial Hall. The occasion was Awards Night, an annual event that comes near the close of the scholastic year.

Dr. Archibald Henderson, head of the Mathematics Department, was the speaker and Ray Farris, president of the Student Body, presided.

A total of 45 charms were awarded students for work on the four publications, and three awards were made to the student members of this year's Publications Union Board. Twenty-eight awards were made in debating, and the Order of the Grail presented the six trophies it gives each year to the best student-athletes.

The four Grail medals for the athlete in each major sport having the highest scholastic average went to R. M. Gray, football; Henry Satterfield, basketball; John M. Henderson, track; B. U. Whitehead, baseball. The Grail Cup for the freshman athlete having the highest scholastic average was awarded to E. K. Graham, Jr. E. W. Eubank received the Grail Cup for the best intramural athlete.

The Tar Heel awarded charms to eighteen men. They were: on the business staff, B. M. Parker, Leonard Lewis, Sidney Brick, T. R. Karriker, Ben Aycock, Jim Harris, and Harry Latta; and on the editorial staff, Clyde Dunn, Dick McGlohon, Joe Eagles, Joe Jones, Donald Wood, J. C. Williams, J. E. Dungan, J. D. McNairy, E. F. Yarbrough, W. H. Yarbrough, and C. B. McKethan.

Buccaneer keys were presented to eight men. They were: C. M. Edson, J. K. Sawyer, J. H. Skinner, D. T. Ricks, P. S. Gilchrist, on the editorial staff, and Garland McPherson, H. N. Patterson, and H. D. Brainard, on the business staff.

The Carolina Magazine awarded seven keys. The men receiving them were Dane Wilsey, C. B. Wood, J. J. Slade, Jr., J. Q. Mitchell, and John Marshall on the editorial staff; and

Bandmen Get Keys For Making Music

At the annual Awards Nights for the University Band Members, the following were awarded gold keys for their services in the University musical organization: J. H. Brunjes, '30, B. F. Wade, '29, C. H. White, Jr., '30, E. C. Hunter, '29, E. S. Eskridge, '30, T. E. Faires, '30, D. R. McGlohon, '30, R. C. Byerly, '31, and H. G. Grier, '30. The requirements for obtaining a band key are active membership in the band for two and a half years, except in cases in which the students are taking two year courses, and then two years of work in the band will entitle them to the gold award.

At this meeting, officers were elected for the coming year. H. G. Grier, of Gastonia, was elected president of the band while J. H. Brunjes was chosen vice-president and J. W. Clinard as secretary. The manager in ordinarily appointed by the director of the band and this will be done when the band meets for work next year. Immediately following the election of officers, the retiring officers made short talks expressing their pleasure at being connected with the band during the past year. Professor T. Smith McCorkle, director of the organization, complimented the members on having been so faithful throughout the year and especially lauded the ones to whom awards were given for their distinguished work in the band. It was announced, that though the campaign to raise funds for the purchase of uniforms has not been very successful, it is still hoped that the uniforms will be obtained through the benevolence of some agency before the football season of next year.

About 30 or 40 members have volunteered to remain through commencement and play concerts at various times through the week.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that students wishing to make application for the removal of GRADE E should do so this week at the Registrar's office.
