

Burleigh Plans Junior-Seniors

Plans for the Junior-Senior dances next year are already under way, according to Bob Burleigh, president of the Senior Class. Since seniors in the V-12 unit will leave October 27, tentative arrangements are for the dance to take place on one of the early weekends in October. If possible, a weekend in which UNC will play a home football game.

In former years, the celebration has been a set of two dances, but this year plans are to have the senior banquet on Friday night and the Junior-Senior dance on Saturday night.

Ralph Strayhorn, president of the Junior class, is working with Burleigh on arrangements for the event along with officers of the two classes. There will be a meeting Sunday afternoon at 4:00 in the Grail Room of the class officers and chairmen of the various class committees to make further plans for Junior-Seniors.

PRESIDENTIAL

thority are problems that the President has been urged to alleviate. Critical conditions regarding food, labor, gasoline, and manpower are still far from a satisfactory solution.

Another worry to the Democrats is the bitterness of the Solid South. Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina expressed the attitude of many Southern leaders when he said a few weeks ago, "I'm damned discouraged with everything in general—and most of it's because of 'that man' in the White House."

Southern governors, led by Sam Jones of Louisiana and Dixon of Alabama have revived the old cry about differential freight rates favoring the East at Dixie's expense and insist that the Administration has discriminated against the South in the placing of war industries. They further moan that the recent attempts to repeal the poll tax in eight Southern states is proof of intent to destroy remaining states' rights. In addition, they claim that an attempt is being made to bring about a change in race relationships.

However, our great President's swaying tongue has no doubt brought many strays back into the fold. His proposed program for war veterans will certainly figure in the 1944 presidential campaign unless such legislation is enacted by Congress prior to the next election. But the great Democratic campaign issues will focus on the catastrophic result of "changing horses in midstream." "Keep Roosevelt in or invite demoralization."

The Republican party, since it is not in power, cannot be so easily torn apart, but it cannot hope to carry the election unless it convinces the nation that the planning of the post-war world will not be in the hands of "introverted, narrow-minded, isolationist stuffed shirts."

We must continue to march with the best leaders.

dents in medicine and related fields, the period during which students may be accepted by professional schools is left entirely to the discretion of the individual school. "Although no statement is made regarding the time which may elapse between the completion of the regular college course and first attendance at the professional school, it may be assumed to be of reasonable length, certainly not to extend beyond the opening of the next class after the boy finishes his schooling here," said Dr. Perry.

The amendment establishes the quotas of pre-professional students which should be considered for deferment.

Dozens of other stars who played for schools from S. M. U. to Brooklyn are attending Carolina as V-12 students, and the Tar Heel coaching staff is holding daily meetings to organize a program for a great array of talent.

REPRESENTATION

new Town council would not—because of acute decentralization—be more effective than its predecessor in representing town men in the Legislature.

Criticism of the measure questioned this theory, brought up the question of double representation in the case of coeds who live in dormitories—which have legislators—and are majoring in such fields as chemistry or physics.

Town council men proposed a compromise law which would give to both a measure of authority. Final work on the bill takes place tomorrow night with the question looming as "one of the most important decisions the Legislature will be called on to make in relation to student government."

ESCORTS

enough runs to beat the "Sea Bees." All three of the winners runs were scored on walks as was the single run of the losers.

"Admirals" The "Admirals," led by Fitch and Greenbaum, easily overtook the "USSNC" by a 13-2 victory. Scoring in every inning except the last, the winners were never threatened.

The "Pre-Fleeters" lost to the "Longhorns" 3-6. Sharpe of the losers allowed three of the runs on walks, while Moore took batting honors for the game, though starting on the losing team.

"Nor-Westerners"

Left-fielder Marback led the "Nor-Westerners" to a 7-5 victory over "Whitehead Deck No. 2." "Whitehead" pulled ahead in the fifth, but the "Nor-Westerners" tied the score 5-5 in the sixth. Proving too strong for the "Whitehead" boys the "Nor-Westerners" tallied two runs in the last inning, bringing the score up to 7-5.

The "Longhorns" smashed the "Nor-Westerners" 11-4. Cosgrove's batting accounted for three of the victor's runs, while the "Dreadnoughts" won by forfeit from the Phi Gams.

"Sea Gulls"

Taking the lead in the second inning with one run, the "Sea Gulls" failed to hold the "Wasps" very long. Brewer's two-base hit in the third and Pay's single in the seventh helped the "Wasps" to gain their 4-3 victory. The "Sea Gulls" threatened to score in the seventh but the more powerful "Wasps" held them.

The "Sigma Chi's" gained another victory this week by defeating the "Escorts" 8-1. The victors, who scored in every inning, were led by the batting of Ward, and Parker who upheld the losers end in batting honors.

Though the "Pre-Fleeters" were backed by Moore and Sands, they were unable to overthrow the "Hornets." Farrow and Shamberek led the "Hornets" to their 4-1 victory.

The "Golden Trojans" trampled the "Dolphins No. 1" 14-2. Ponder of the losers, scored both runs, while Spurlin upheld the winners batting end.

proposes to substitute representation along lines of each civilian male's major. "I believe the unity of interests among such men as physics or chemistry majors provides an excellent basis on which to get interest in student government. Communication, an important and halting factor since the TAR HEEL has gone down to a weekly would also be much easier through the departments than through town."

Webster Sums Up The opposing viewpoints were summed up by Speaker Terrell Webster, AS, USNR, when he classified it as a contest between academic and geographical representation. Also, the Speaker questioned whether the organization of Legislature representatives as envisioned by Wallace would not cut out any method for deciding on non-Legislature matters.

At the meeting's close, it was evident that if any committee report was to be made to the Legislature a great deal more time "would have to be devoted to the new plan and to any method of dovetailing the Wallace bill and the present Town council into a workable body."

TAR HEEL MAN

couldn't have been better,—swell folks, civies and service men alike. But I'm waiting a few weeks before passing judgment.—Girls?—After we get started with our language work we won't have time to even sniff at a female.

Pfe Gerasimos Levetsanos: I guess we were very pleasantly surprised. It's a break for all of us. Wonderful atmosphere—maybe we'll get back some of that culture we lost in rough and tumble Army camps.

Corp. George Levi:

We language and area students are starting out on an entirely unique adventure which will end in one or another of the countries taken over by our fighting troops. Carolina is a swell place to begin from. We don't like to think of ourselves as an Army of Occupation but as a future Army of Liberation.

AS William Mabry, V-12:

I'll be able to give my opinion of Carolina when I get paid my $50. Of course there are no night spots to spend it in and no girls to spend it on.

AS Royce Stutts, V-12:

I often wonder if we V-12ers aren't pampered a little bit too much. The way I feel is that they're giving us plenty of rope and a lot of us will hang ourselves with it!

AS James Howie, V-12:

Carolina agrees with me perfectly. —I wish I could say as much for the chow.

AS Marshall Ward, V-12:

I've been at Chapel Hill for five years but only since rather recently in these R.O.T.C. togs. The college is fine, but I say there ought to be enough girls or none at all.

AS Edward Watson, V-12:

The Carolina water is hot, the Carolina girls are cold but for the sake of the record say Carolina is tops.

caused for not realizing the import of the issue . . . for not realizing what a football, basketball, or baseball outfit has meant to Tar Heels in days gone by. But the V-12 member who previously had thrilled to the Duke tie . . . Hayworth's basketsteering . . . and Carmichael's hurling . . . had little reason for refusing to pay the athletic fee . . . had no excuse.

There remains one more opportunity, however . . . you may still purchase your privilege card before next pay day . . . you may still do your share at Carolina.

Old students should encourage those newcomers who have not paid their fee to do so at once . . . should describe the benefits of an athletic program . . . of intramurals . . . of a fine coaching staff.

New students should remember what a strong athletic group meant to their college or high school . . . what it meant to their spirit . . . to their pride. They should plan now to see every football contest possible . . . plan now to cheer on . . . and join in . . . this certain greatness we call "Carolina."

We have been given another chance . . . let us not fail . . . let us make the most out of the bargain offered . . . let us contribute toward keeping Carolina among the top in the nation . . . let us resurrect that "Carolina spirit!"

Soldier on Duty Asks for Opinion Of Local Professor

Sgt. John F. Butler, graduated at the University of North Carolina in 1935, writes that he has been trying to put into poetic form experiences encountered in fighting Japs in the South Pacific.

Specifically, he asked that Phillips Russell, whom he says started him to "versifying" when he sat in the University professor's creative writing classes several years ago, furnish him with some literary criticism of his verse. Whether such literary aid will be possible through the rigid censorship rules now enforced is a problem not discussed.

Suffice it to say that Professor Russell has written Sergeant Butler, whose home is in Washington, N. C., to offer his services in the "extension education" project.

RALEIGH TEAM

endar, is far from assuring in talks with Tar Heel officials, but claims to be making every effort to field a team.

Davidson Davidson College, long an opponent of Carolina, and an army school, doubts the possibilities of fulfilling the scheduled November 6 contest with Carolina. Official notice has been received from the school that all Davidson opponents should make attempts to fill the date which would be left open if, and when the Wildcats pull out of football annals.

All three of these schools are bound to rely entirely upon civilian material if they are to play football this fall, since the army has yet to release its men for active sports participation.

Official Petition Last week college officials appealed to President Roosevelt to assert influence upon Secretary Stimson, who recently rejected the petition of 256 Senators and Representatives for the army's change in policy. There are no indications, as yet, of any wavering of the army's rigidity.

Until such time as the army decides to give its consent to would-be athletes, or colleges give up all hope of playing football with ASTP members, Carolina's complete gridiron schedule will continue to remain an uncertainty.
