V-12 Gets Extra Day For Christmas Vacation

New Restaurant Will Open Here At Start Of Winter Quarter

NC Cafeteria To Be Located At Pritchard's

Partial relief for strained Chapel Hill eating facilities was assured this week when local restaurant man J. L. Chandler started work on remodeling the Pritchard Drug store for use as the new N. C. Cafeteria.

The building was vacated last week and construction work is being rushed, with the opening date set for early January, 1944. Main renovation includes addition of a 40-foot depth of floor space to be used as the cafeteria's storeroom and kitchen. When it opens, the restaurant proper will run the entire length of the old drug store, with the addition and space behind Lacock's Shoe store used for preparing the food.

Seating Capacity

Seating capacity for the cafeteria was set at approximately 200 by manager D. N. Brooks, with meal capacity estimated at upwards of 1,000 daily.

The N. C. Cafeteria was formerly located in the Franklin Street building now being used by the Hospital Saving Association. It was closed at the end of the spring quarter this year and since that time, Chandler and Brooks have been searching for a suitable location in Chapel Hill. Early this quarter they opened negotiations to take over the Pritchard site, but legal action that dragged through the courts held them up until this month.

Prices Same

Prices, according to Brooks, will for the most part be the same as those charged by the old N. C. Cafeteria when it closed in May.

The owners have completed final arrangements for obtaining sufficient ration points and have the kitchen equipment of the old N. C. restaurant, plus new utensils. Construction material for the remodeling is available since eating places were declared a wartime necessity earlier in the year.

Brooks also said that "at least 30 part-time and full-time employees will be needed to maintain the cafeteria service." He asked that all students—including coeds—who are interested in working at the cafeteria contact him. "We need student workers if we are to have efficient service at our new restaurant."

Gentlemen, The Carolina Queens

CHOSEN BY a faculty jury tried and true, here are the eight coeds judged the fairest of them all in the Yackety Yack's Beauty contest. The campus queens are, top row, Jeanne Afflick, Jane Auten, Eleanor Carroll, JuJu Newsome; bottom row, Millicent Hosh, Dot Hawthorne, Betty Majette, Doris Clark.

CPU-IRC Renew Question Sessions

Reviving an ancient rivalry, the CPU and the IRC will hold an "Information Please" program this coming Sunday night at eight-thirty in Graham Memorial.

Both organizations will cancel their regular sessions to engage in the contest presided over by a faculty member who will moderate the session, and control the participants.

Representing the IRC will be Paul Martin and Wesley Bagby, while Lee Bronson and Bill Britt will uphold the CPU. The questions have been selected by a joint committee, and the program is open to all.

PU Board Will Name New Managing Editor

PU Board representatives announced yesterday that a new Managing Editor of the Tar Heel will be appointed at next Wednesday's board meeting.

The post will become vacant in December when present TH Managing Editor Jud Kinberg leaves school and the appointee will take over his duties starting with the first issue in January.

Students interested in trying out for the post should send applications, stating qualifications and plans, to the Publications Union board, Graham Memorial. All applications must be post-marked before midnight Friday.

Debate Council Holds Tryouts

Tryouts for the debate with Lenoir Rhyne College, will be held next Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial, according to E. O. Brogden, Debate Council head. All interested in debating are invited to come.

Negative and affirmative teams will be chosen to uphold the debate club's query, Resolved: That the United States should participate in an international police force upon the defeat of the axis nations. The date for the debate with Lenoir Rhyne has not been set yet.

Navy Men Eligible for Leave After Classes December 22

Captain Popham and War College Heads Add Monday, December 27, to Holiday

By Sara Yokley

V-12 Christmas holidays were extended yesterday to Monday night, December 27, at 2400 when Captain Popham and officials of the war college met to determine the V-12 calendar for this trimester.

As soon as their last classes are finished on Wednesday, December 22, Navy students will be eligible for leave. Military drill classes on Wednesday afternoon and swimming classes at night will not meet, it was announced.

Newsome Now Vice President

Student council vote last week gave Turk Newsome the important student council post of vice president. Newsome takes over the job as the first vice president not to hold the dual job of vice president of the student body.

He succeeds Frank Alspaugh, former student body vice president who is now in Marine OCS at Parris Island. Last spring Newsome ran on the Student Party ticket against UP candidate Alspaugh for the post of vice-president.

Newsome has been a member of the student council since last spring and is "familiar with the duties of his new office." In the past two years he has been active in numerous campus activities and has served as chief marshal, student head of all War Bond and War Relief Fund drives, chief Air Raid warden, chairman of the senior class executive committee, dance committee, freshman adviser, member of the interdormitory council and member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Newsome, who comes from Winton, N. C., is a pre-med student.

The student council reorganization bill passed by the legislature last spring rules out for the duration the office of student body vice president and accounts for Newsome's status.

Tar Heel Staff To Meet Friday

All TAR HEEL reporters and staff members have been assigned to cover an important meeting to be held Friday afternoon at 4:30 in the TAR HEEL office, second floor Graham Memorial. Attendance is compulsory.

Classes Resume on 28th

After the holidays, classwork will be resumed on Tuesday, December 28, and will continue through February 17. Navy examinations for the November-March trimester are scheduled for a seven day period beginning February 18 and ending February 24.

Original Navy and University plans provided for a trimester lasting until February 26, but the period has been cut by two days. This action has lengthened the leave at the end of the second Navy trimester to 7 days, from noon on Thursday, February 24, to midnight March 2.

Registration for the March-July term will be conducted March 3 and 4 and classwork for the third trimester will start March 6.

Phi Beta Kappa Names 15 Students To Campus Chapter

A total of 15 students were initiated into the University's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at its meeting last week.

Among 1944 graduates initiated into the fraternity were: George Walker Blair, Jr., Pittsboro; Samuel Owen Cornwell, Chapel Hill; Charles Thomas Daniel, Durham; Harold Lacy Godwin, Fort Bragg; Weldon Huske Jordan, Fayetteville; Arthur Sanford Kaplan, High Point; Theodore Hall Partrick, III, Raleigh; Elbert Sidney Peel, Jr., Williamston; Lois Phillips, Brookline, Mass.; David Costen Sabiston, Jr., Jacksonville; Thomas Lane Stokes, Norfolk, Va.; Dean Winn, Jr., Clinton, Iowa.

Two 1943 graduates, Ida May Davis of Louisville and Rose Mowshowitz of Hartford, Conn., were also initiated.

S&F And Playmaker Shows Highlight Entertainment Slate

"GADABOUT'S" MALE LEAD, Harold Gould surrounded by a bevy of the beauties that will appear in the chorus line of the S&F musical.

'Gadabout' Starts Three Day Run Tomorrow Night

With final rehearsal called for tonight, Sound and Fury's "Gadabout" shapes up as a musical in the best Broadway tradition, with coeds brightening the chorus line and many of the lead roles.

When the public gets its first view of the production—tomorrow night at 8:30 in Memorial hall—they'll see coeds march across the stage in a military tap routine, float through a modern ballet and get themselves and their men in the wackiest campus situation as they romp through the laugh situations of a weekend.

Feature tunes in a Jack Ellis score that came in for pre-opening night praise were "I Knew You When," sung by Betty Don Sweat; Joan Kosberg's rendition of the title tune, "Gadabout;" and Harold Gould's boogie woogie number, with "variations on a theme by Meade Lux Lewis."

Cast

The cast is headed by Betty Sweat as Judy, a stage-struck and hopeful Playmaker. Opposite her is Harold Gould, playing Tom Richards, football hero extraordinaire. Second leads are carried by Joan Kosberg and Jack Van Zandt.

Directors Huse and Ellis will offer to the Carolina public this Thanksgiving night a musical review with all the component parts in place—song, book, acting, chorus.

Hellman Play Opening Set For Wednesday

Since the first try-outs of "Watch on the Rhine," to be given by Playmakers December 1-4, a long-standing principle of casting has been followed by the directors—with success.

It's always been Playmaker policy to open roles in major productions to students and townspeople alike. In the Lillian Hellman anti-Fascist play this plan has resulted in a first-rate casting job that should go far to put over the play. A variety of parts has been given out to the actors from both groups who showed up best in try-outs.

Varied Lives

Outside of the nightly rehearsals, getting more exacting as opening night nears, the "Watch" characters carry on equally varied lives as their stage counterparts. They include children, Janet Green and Majo Sommer; a V-12er, Sidney Epstein; a nationally-known illustrator and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Prince; an ex-dancer, Foster Fitz-Simons; and a graduate student, Ruth Oncley.

Fitz-Simons has the male lead as Kurt Muller, leader in the German anti-Nazi movement who finds little peace in pre-war America. Miss Oncley is his wife and Green and Sommer take the roles of two of the Muller children. Mrs. Prince has the role of Aunt Fanny, one of the choicest bits of stage characterization written by Miss Hellman.
