Birthday Ball Will Be Highlight In Local "March of Dimes" Campaign

By Bob Rolnik

For the benefit of the Infantile Paralysis Fund, the Navy Pre-Flight school is sponsoring the President's Birthday Ball at 9 p.m. this evening in Woollen gymnasium. In addition to the Navy cadets, the general public has been invited to the benefit dance and 2000 persons, including civilian students and townspeople, are expected to attend.

The admission charge is $1 per person and the tickets are now on sale at the Carolina Inn, the YMCA and at Ledbetter-Pickard. Tickets will also be sold at the door, tonight. It was announced that this year the Ball will not be strictly formal.

Music

Providing the music will be the Pre-Flight orchestra, composed of colored Navy men and featuring a trio of vocalists to be heard for the first time on the campus. During intermission, a Cadet Glee Club of more than 100 voices will sing.

The total door receipts will go to the fund without any deduction for operating costs, which will be paid by the Pre-Flight school. Last year, the amount raised by the Ball was approximately $2,100. More than 400 tickets have been sold already to the Pre-Flight cadets.

Local Aid

The Orange County Infantile Paralysis Commission will receive 50 per cent of the contribution, with which to aid local children who have been crippled by the disease. The remaining 50 per cent will be given to the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation for research work, educational campaigns and epidemic control. The National Foundation also apportions money among various Universities engaged in experimentation and research.

The dance committee is composed of Lieut. Hill of the V-12, Lieut. Leonard Eiserer, Pre-Flight Public Relations officer and Pre-Flight Chaplain George Grewenow, who is acting as chairman of the committee. Representing the town on the dance committee are Mrs.

W. P. Richardson, J. M. Saunders and H. F. Comer of the YMCA. Reverend Charles Jones, pastor of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church is chairman of the Orange County Infantile Paralysis drive this year.

Decorations

Woollen Gym will be decorated for the President's birthday with the flags of the United Nations, the Stars and Stripes and a large picture of President Roosevelt. Navy cadets will act as ushers for the evening.

Here in Chapel Hill, the collection in the Carolina and Pick theatres have gone far above the $200 mark which was set last year. In addition to this amount a sizeable contribution was expected from the local school children who have pledged their individual contributions.

All Military Units Will Stage Review

A military review of all the service units on campus, Pre-flight, V-12, Marine and NROTC groups, will be staged in Kenan Stadium Monday afternoon at 2:15 for the trustees of the University. The ASTP unit will not participate in the review because its students will be on leave throughout next week.

Other highlights of the annual trustee meeting will be a business session in Gerrard Hall Monday morning at 11 o'clock and luncheon at Swain and Lenoir dining halls at 12:30.

Social Groups To Sponsor 14 Favorites In Contest For Selection Of 'Miss Victory' As Bond Drive Enters Initial Phase

A Tar Heel Edit

"Do wear your new suit daughter
But don't venture near the water."

And so a paraphrase of the old jingle becomes a summarization of the action taken on the coed point system question by the latent coed Senate. At the time when every organization on campus is crying for more aid from coed members of the student body, the coed Senate has decreed, from their sagacious sessions over the matter, that coeds at the University of North Carolina are too immature to be expected to step forward and take an equal stand by the side of the male students in the tremendous job of pushing the wheel of the University forward into its third year of war.

Verbatim, here is the bill passed by the Senate on January 26:

1. The point system shall be an advisory evaluation system of coeds on the campus.

2. The chairman of the committee shall be a member of the Senate, appointed by the Speaker, and shall work with the Dean of Women's office and the Infirmary.

3. Any coed who wishes to carry more than the maximum number of points shall appear before the advisory committee, for permission to carry the additional points within a week after any position is offered her.

An analytical evaluation of the tri-point bill shows that, in the eyes of the Senate, the Carolina coed with brains and ability enough to step forward and take over important campus offices is not capable of employing her brains and ability toward regulating the amount of work which she considers herself capable of undertaking. And so the coed Senate "in conjunction with the Dean of Women's office and the Infirmary" has set itself up to play nursemaid—nursemaid to women whom the officials of a University at War consider mature enough to assume full-grown jobs in the workings of the University, women, indeed, whom the United States government considers mature enough to ask to don uniforms in one of the armed forces, or overalls in a war plant.

But if you test it you'll be punished!"

Art Exhibit Will Extend Into February

By Harriet Dyer Adams

The double exhibition of primitive, African Negro Sculpture and German Expressionist prints is continuing at Person Hall Art Gallery, Chapel Hill through Feb. 9. The sculpture was brought here by the local chapter of the AAUW and is from the collections of the University of Pennsylvania Museum.

The African Sculpture is causing great interest because it is an unusual display of works which are not often seen. The grotesque quality and dramatic vividness of the sculptures may shock the observer who sees them for the first time, but it has a stimulating effect on all!

Sculptures

The exhibition is made up of actual wood or ivory sculptures, enlarged photographs of other famous sculptures, and is supplemented by maps and full explanations of the significance and use of the objects. The material is organized according to geographical location. No North African or Egyptian works are included of course. This is the art of the primitive artist, or possibly recent artist working in the ancient tradition. The culture which is revealed by these sculptures is fast dying out as the European culture encroaches upon the African. But its significance is seen in the mutual interchange of influences between the European and African cultures. For example, the

Di-Senators Will Select New Members

The Dialectic Senate met Wednesday night and formulated plans for a new membership drive. Rene Bernard, Chairman of Membership, told the Senators that "due to the loss of several members during the holidays, there are now 14 vacancies to be filled."

The Di has a maximum enrollment of 40 members. Application blanks were given to three potential visitors and it was announced that during the next two weeks students may seek enrollment either by obtaining application blanks at the regular meetings or by contacting various Senators and applying for membership through personal interviews with the Membership Committee. No student may be voted into the Senate without first having been passed on by members of this Committee.

Constitution

In its business session the Di added three amendments to its Constitution. The Resolution calling for the Di's opposing a fourth term for President Roosevelt was defeated by a slim majority.

Next week the Di will debate the bill Resolved: "That the United States Government, through Congressional legislation, should abolish all state poll taxes which are used as a prerequisite for voting eligibility." The Di meets on the 3rd floor of New West every Wednesday night at nine o'clock.

Tourney Head Makes Public Topic Change

A group of second-round debate winners were surprised Thursday night by the announcement made by Bill Crisp, co-chairman of the intramural tournament, that the debate question for the semi-final rounds was to be changed. Nothing was said concerning this before-hand to any of the teams, therefore no one had the slightest preconception that the debate topic was not to continue as it was.

The new subject is resolved: That the Congress of the United States should pass a National Service Act providing for the drafting of men and women for essential war-production work.

Altering Plan

Crisp explained that this change was not the result of any sudden decision, but was planned over three weeks ago by the Debate Council itself. Apparently, only the co-chairman of the tournament actually knew just when the question was to be altered. He also explained, however, that the Debate Council had not made such a ruling before due consideration had been given to all the circumstances involved.

"Debating," Crisp said, "is not the determination of any particular side of a query as being correct. In reality, it is the art of persuasion, applied for the purpose of convincing opposition that you are right, whether you are or not."

Efficient Way

Crisp went on to say that changing the question would also be a more efficient way of actually determining the better debaters.

One week was given for the preparation of the arguments on the new topics.

Grail Initiates Dozen Students

An even dozen of civilians and Navy students were initiated into the Order of the Grail this week amid a series of initiations.

The following boys, following formal initiation Thursday night, were installed as Grail members: Charlie Benbow, Kenneth Black, Bob Burleigh, Buddy Crone, Jack Fitch, Meredith Jones, Bill Lee, George Lewis, Turk Newsome, Bill Stevens, Charlie Vance and Bee White.

The Grail, founded 20 years ago by Carolina's philosopher Horace Williams, had as its original purpose the establishment of better relations between fraternity and non-fraternity men. Since this objective has already been accomplished to a large degree the Grail has become a service organization. Its members are chosen from among those boys who are prominent for their service to the campus.

Entry Photos Are Displayed In 'Y' Lobby

By Sam Whitehall

Fourteen coeds have been entered in the first round of the pin-up girl contest which will determine the campus war stamp queen, "Miss Victory." Pictures of the following campus favorites went on display in the lobby of the YMCA this morning:

Jeanie Afflick, sponsored by the Pi Phi sorority; Jane Auten, Sigma Nu; Doris Clark, Beta Theta Pi; Dorothy Hawthorne, Pi Beta Phi; Sally Hipp, Tri Delt; Millicent Hosch, Alderman; Mary Payne Jett, Tri Delt; Betty Ma-jette, Phi Delta Theta; Jean Parry, DKE; Kay Roper, ATO; Anne Straub, Yackety Yack; Mary Lou Truslow, Spencer; and Sara Yockey, Yackety Yack.

Late Entries

Organizations or individuals may sponsor their own pin-up girls by buying two dollars worth of war stamps. Before yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock only one dollar in war stamps was necessary for entering the picture of a coed. Late entries will be accepted, however, at the increased price of $2.

"Miss Victory" will be chosen by war stamp ballots. The purchase of one ten-cent war stamp entitles the buyer to one vote, while a bond bought at the post office or the bank is worth 250 votes. When stamp purchases are made in the Y the sales girls will designate on a ballot the number of votes which the buyer is entitled to cast for his favorite pin-up girl:

Alumni Play Big Role In Aiding War Effort

Citations and decorations for action beyond the line of duty have been awarded to 76 Carolina alumni.

Thus far 81 persons have been reported dead or missing as compared to a total of forty for the entire "World War I" period.

Many alumni have shown superior qualities of leadership. The following are new Brigadier Generals in the United States Army: John Elliott Wood, 1911; William L. Sheep, 1904; Ely P. Henson, 1908; James Stevens Simmons, 1913; Early E. W. Duncan, 1916; Luther S. Smith, 1922; and Kenneth Royall, 1914. Major General Allen H. Turnage, 1912, of the Marine Corps, and Rear Admiral O. B. Hardison, 1911, of the Navy, have also distinguished themselves in the service of their country.

First Printing of Yackety-Yack To Be Ready For Distribution to Navy Men February 17

By Boo Leigh

The Yackety Yack will appear on February 17, Editor Carl Bishopric said today.

"We are letting them know in advance to avoid confusion," the editor of the annual said. The first printing will be available to the V-12ers only. The reason for this is that the printers can only get about 300 copies here a day and the V-12 start their exams soon.

Those V-12ers who have not paid for the annual or their senior pictures should contact Harvey Gunther at Gaston Hall immediately. This will prevent confusion when the circulation of the annuals begins. On the next V-12 pay day, February 3, those V-12ers who did not sign for the Yack and who would like to have a copy, can do so by paying $3.50. There will be only a limited number of these orders, so reservations should be made right away. More definite facts about the circulation of the annuals will be given at a later date.

Group pictures of V-12ers taken in October will be delivered to the houses from which they were ordered by February 1. If anyone who has ordered these pictures fails to receive them, he may issue a complaint to the YY office in Graham Memorial.

Absentees

Those V-12ers or civilians who have left the campus may write to the Yackety Yack office for the yearbook if they desire to have a copy. Bishopric urged students here to relay this message to friends who have left and who might be interested in securing a copy of the annual.

For those people who left before Christmas, there is $2.70 left to be paid before they can secure a copy of the YY. Civilian students who came in Christmas must pay $1.40 before they can secure copies of the Yackety Yack.

After publication of the annual anyone who wishes to secure copies of pictures may place their orders with members of the Yackety Yack staff.

YMCA To Sponsor Religious Emphasis Week With Dr. Raines Leading Campus Forums

Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored biennially by the YMCA, YWCA and Chapel Hill churches, will present to the campus lectures and forums under the leadership of ten or more guest ministers during the coming week.

Leading speaker of the series will be Dr. Richard C. Raines of Minneapolis Methodist Church. With students of the University of Minnesota and with his own congregation of 3500 members Dr. Raines is so popular that it is necessary for him to hold two Sunday morning services each week, one at 10 o'clock, another at 11.

Public Meetings

Dr. Raines will speak at four public meetings: tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in the Methodist church, and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock in Hill Music Hall.

Immediately following the evening meetings there will be eleven house forums in the various student residence halls. These 45-minute sessions will begin at 8:45 and will have as discussion topics a list of over 30 questions which students have submitted.

The meetings will be held at the following places tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday nights: Spencer, for Old East, Archer and town students; Alderman, for Old West and town students; McIver, for Battle-Vance-Pettigrew and town students; Kenan, for Smith and town students; Tri Delt house, for Pi Phi's, Chi Omegas, ADPi's and men's fraternity houses; Graham Memorial, for Carr, Steele and all other freshmen; Armory, for Whitehead, Phi Delta Theta and Chi Phi houses; Avery for Branch; Daniels, for Flagler, Craig and Eaton; Gaston Hall for Hewes and London halls, and John Paul Jones for King and Iredel halls. Residents of the buildings which are to be used for meetings places will meet with the groups in their building.
