Newsome Replaces Hammond As President Of Student Body

Council Selects Traynham, Gray And McNeely

Turk Newsome became acting president of the Student Body this week, replacing Danny Hammond who has been ordered to Parris Island for naval hospital training.

As the third president of the student body this year Newsome will head the Student Council and fulfill other presidential duties until the spring elections. He has been a member of the Student Council since last spring.

At Carolina Newsome's position and honors have been many. This fall he was chosen for Who's Who among American Colleges. He is exchequer of the Grail, a member of the University Club, of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, the Freshman Council, the Interdormitory Council, the Freshman Orientation Committee, the Graham Memorial Board of Directors and is chairman of the Executive Committee of the senior class. Last year he headed a successful war bond drive and was chief marshal at graduation.

One of Newsome's biggest problems as acting president will be the orientation of 300 new V-12 men who arrive at Carolina Wednesday, March 1. These men, 75 per cent of whom will be from the fleet or naval shore stations, must be made familiar with the Carolina honor code and the Carolina way of life.

Newsome will head a Student Council composed of 15 members. The civilian membership was brought to its complete number this week when the student legislature approved the Council's suggestions for three new civilian members.

The new men are Howard Gray, Bill McNeely and James Traynham. They were chosen by the Council in a series of interviews and meetings at which a committee of the legislature was present.

All three men are qualified for their positions. Howard Gray, who leaves Carolina in June, 1945 was representative to the Student Council nominating committee at Reynolds. See NEWSOME, page 4

Harvey Hamilton Elected Speaker Of Legislature

Harvey Hamilton was elected temporary speaker of the Student Legislature by the members of that body Tuesday night to replace Reid Thompson who leaves Carolina today with NROTC first and second classmen.

Hamilton, a third year law student from Morehead City, has been a member of the legislature for two years. He has been serving this year as a holdover member and chairman of the legislature's most important committee, the Ways and Means Committee from which all bills originate.

Hamilton has been a student at Carolina for five years and is now president of the Law School. He will complete his course in June and leave at that time.

The first problem which will come before the legislature during the coming quarter is the report of an investigation committee appointed to investigate the TAR HEEL, the Coed Senate and Spencer house council. The committee will have its final meeting next week and report its findings to the legislature.

When questioned about his plans for the legislature Speaker Hamilton said that he hoped to have a bill drawn up concerning the discussion of bills introduced on the floor. He desires a bill which would require all proposed See HAMILTON, page 4

The Navy plans concerning these tests are unchanged, therefore, the V-12 and A-12 qualification tests will be given as previously planned.

All pre-med students who plan to go into the Army must take the A-12 examination to qualify for the advanced medical programs.

Admiral Jacobs Tells Graduates Sea Fighting Is Mounting in Ferocity; Long Way to Tokyo

Bigger Invasions To Come in Future

"The major part of the fighting at sea will not be over before you men are ready for duty," said Vice-Admiral Jacobs yesterday afternoon at the graduation and commissioning exercises of 300 Navy men in Memorial Hall.

"No officer with whom I have talked," said Jacobs, who is Chief of the Bureau of Naval Personnel, "expects anything but a bitter struggle of mounting ferocity. Gradually we are assuming the offensive on a scale that has hitherto been impossible. But we are still a long, long way from Tokyo."

Not Too Late "You who are about to leave Chapel Hill for further training elsewhere will not be too late for the fight, he stated. "Before victory is won you will be experienced competent officers in the most powerful Navy in history. You will know hardships and utter fatigue as thousands of Naval officers and men already know them. You may know fear, but you will learn to disregard it as they disregard it."

"Best of all," continued Jacobs, "you will know the enduring satisfaction of active participation in conquering the enemy and in achieving his final destruction. When this accomplished, you will have completed the job to which you dedicated yourselves by entering the Navy's college program. The challenge is unmistakable; the opportunity for service unlimited."

Magnitude The magnitude of the job ahead was emphasized by Admiral Jacobs, Under certain conditions, he pointed out, to put ashore a single regiment of army troops may require an equal number of naval personnel in the landing operations alone. Moreover, not included in this estimate are the personnel required to man the many combatant ships of the fleet which must be present for protection throughout the attack.

Landing operations on a far greater scale are planned, he stated. The landing craft program already announced entails the production of 80,000 vessels, miscellaneous small craft and rafts. This staggering total is an index of the Navy's mounting personnel requirements, and of the need for accelerated training in the Navy's college program.

Superior Teamwork Teamwork can be decisive, said Jacobs. Individuals may shine in sports, but it is superior teamwork in combat that is winning victories for the Navy. Never underestimate the part pride in your unit plays in the quality of teamwork, Jacobs advised the departing Navy men. Strive to excel in mastering detail. Ohio Governor To Speak Over Southern Network

By Sam Whitehall

Governor John William Bricker, of Ohio, candidate for the Republican party nomination for President of the United States in the November elections, will arrive in Chapel Hill Saturday morning, March 4, for an address in Memorial Hall Saturday evening, under the sponsorship of the Carolina Political Union.

Acceptance of the Union's invitation, issued to Bricker several weeks ago, was confirmed last Monday by a long-distance telephone call from the Governor's office in Ohio, announced Harvey White, chairman of the CPU. Plans, as yet incomplete, are being made for a banquet to be held at the Carolina Inn immediately preceding Bricker's speech in Memorial Hall, and for an open reception in Graham Memorial after his speech. The Governor's speech, which will be directed mainly toward the South, will be broadcast through radio networks covering most of the Southern states.

Question Period "We are working on tentative plans for a proposed question period after his broadcast", added Chairman White. "Such a question period would follow the same order as those of previous CPU programs in which we presented well-known speakers, with members of the audience writing their individual questions on cards provided for that purpose, and these questions being handed to the speaker by Union members acting as ushers."

Bricker, who has served as Governor of the state of Ohio for three successive terms, announced his candidacy for the presidential nomination on the Republican ticket several weeks ago at a Lincoln Day dinner speech in Washington, D. C. He has made only one major political speech since that time, and his address here will constitute his second major speech.

Three Major Republicans Governor Bricker, Wendell Wilkie, and Governor Thomas Dewey of New York, constitute the three major republican hopefuls as candidates for the presidential nomination to be made at the Republican National Convention during the spring.

GOPolitical trends from major party leaders are looking more and more favorably toward Bricker as a "dark horse" for the nomination in the event of a Dewey-Wilkie deadlock at the convention. The Governor from Ohio is a strong supporter of the state ballot in the soldier-vote con-

After spending two summers at the Marie Ouspenskaya Studio of Dramatic Art in Hollywood, he returned to Carolina as a graduate student in the Department of Dramatic Art. He has written and directed his two one act plays, "Listen, My Children," and "Scuttlebutt," both of which recently appeared on experimental bills.
