Legislature Slates Election For November 30

University Party Reviews List Of Its Major Candidates

UP To Run Hackney For Legislature

Minor Candidates To Be Announced

The University Party previously made public through the Tar Heel its slate of candidates for the coming election. A review of the candidates is listed below for new students as the first list was printed last term.

Both the University Party and the Student Party will have additional information on the coming elections and each party's respective candidates. The Tar Heel will carry full coverage for both parties.

The University Party slate is headed by Charlie Hackney who is the candidate for Speaker of the Student Legislature. Charlie attended Lexington high school where he was treasurer of the Student Council, a member of the Beta Club and a member of the H-Y. Before coming to Carolina in the fall of 1942, he worked as a page in the Senate, as a Justice Department messenger and also did enumeration work with the Federal Housing Administration. Since he has been here, Charlie has been treasurer of the Freshman Friendship Council, for two years a representative to the Interfraternity Council, sophomore representative to the Student Legislature, a member of Delta Sigma Pi commerce fraternity and is on the varsity tennis team. At the present time he is a member of the NROTC executive council, president of Kappa Sigma and the newly elected president of the University Club.

For the Yackety Yack editor, the University Party has nominated Jeanne Parry, a Tri Delta from Miami, Florida. At Hareum Junior College in Bryn Mawr, Pa. Parry majored in design and worked on the yearbook doing photography and layout. Last year she was on the Yackety Yack staff and this summer on the Kenan House Council. Now she is Chairman of the Subsidiary Organizations Committee of the Coed Senate and a member of the House Entertainment Privileges Board.

A Marine V-12 Charlie Wickenberg, is UP candidate for Tar Heel editor. A Sigma Nu from Columbia, S. C. Charlie helped start the school paper at Doher high school and during the course of his four years there held several editorial posts. At the Citadel.

Military Units Drastically Cut

The number of military personnel remaining on the Carolina campus has just received the most drastic reduction since it was first established here in July 1943 according to an announcement by V-12 officials.

The total enrollment of the V-12 Unit which includes the Navy medical students stationed here now stands at 867 according to the latest available figures.

Of this number there are 451 Navy V-12, 238 NROTC, 134 Marines and 44 medical students, but since further transfers are pending it is likely these figures may be slightly altered in the near future and further reductions may be noted.

The Marine Unit this term is composed almost completely of men who have come in from active duty with the Marine Corps and almost 90 percent of these men have already seen overseas service.

Included in the present group are men who participated in every major battle fought in the Pacific theatre and several of them returned only a few weeks ago from active combat. Of the approximately 100 men who came here from other Marine V-12 Units there were thirty-four men from Duke, thirty-six men from Southwestern Louisiana Institute and one man from Georgia Tech.

The new V-12 students were mostly supply candidates and came in from various other units, as did the approximately 50 new NROTC men who have just reported here for training.

Members of Civil Air Patrol To Get Free Flight Sunday

Four Army liaison planes will land at the Horace Williams airport Sunday, November 19, to participate in an orientation flight which will be offered from 12:00 on to all accepted Civil Air Patrol senior members and cadets. All members under 21 are required to have parental permission for the flight.

With 75 applications in and around 165 in the process of being completed, the University's CAP program is steadily gaining momentum. Wednesday night the first drill of the squadron was held under the instruction of Sgt. Schroeder and Sgt. Brown of the Marine Corps, attached to the V-12 headquarters here.

Classes in navigation and communication will begin next Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock. The Tuesday program will also include another training film on flight theory and weather.

Lt. Col. Frank E. Dawson, N. C. Wing commander, has announced a meeting of all Wing staff officers, group and squadron commanders and staff officers to be held in Rocky Mount on Nov. 11th and 12th. Several representatives from the University are expected to attend.

Enrollment Shows Civilian Increase

With the addition of 200 civilian students over the enrollment of the spring quarter the number of military and civilian students on the campus reached the 2,000 mark according to a report released by dean of Administration, R. B. House.

The Student body now shows an enrollment of 1764 civilian students. Of these civilian students now attending the university 80 are World War veterans enrolled under the Government Aid Bill.

The report issued by Dean House shows that there are 838 V-12 students on the campus, who are attending classes with the civilians. The Pre-flight school makes up the balance of the 4,000 with 1350 in the Pre-flight unit here.

The next regular admission date for civilian students who are high school graduates, or transfers, or permitted to enter by special examination will be March 1st.

Applications for membership to the University CAP program, which includes a senior squadron and cadet corps, are still being accepted. The CAP program, under the joint sponsorship of the War College and the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of Chapel Hill, offers 200 hours of ground instruction, free of charge, to those students accepted. Students join the CAP on a voluntary basis with no obligation to join any branch of the armed forces and the privilege of withdrawing at will.

Included in the courses offered are navigation, communications, meteorology, and other similar courses designed to give the student a complete pre-flight background program.

Dean F. F. Bradshaw pointed out that all who intend to enroll in the CAP program should complete their applications at once in order to lose as little class instruction as possible. Application blanks may be secured from 206 South Bldg. or from Mr. Honeycutt, Supt. of schools, at the Chapel Hill high school.

University Club Plans Annual Banner Contest For Duke Pep Rally

Attention! Fraternities, sororities, dormitories, and other campus organizations! The University Club announces the annual Dook pep rally banner contests! All interested groups should contact Charlie Hackney or Bill Stubbs immediately.

The traditional cup will be presented to the house that presents the best banner, effigy, or display in the Dook pep rally parade. Also this year a contest will be held for the best house lawn display. These displays will add to the already mounting enthusiasm over the Carolina-Duke game to be held on November 25.

CPU Meets Tomorrow

The Carolina Political Union will discuss "Factors in the November 7th Elections" tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial.

Legislators To Attend Raleigh Meet State College To Sponsor Session

Students from various universities and colleges all over the state will journey to Raleigh next Friday to participate in the fourth annual Students' Legislative Assembly, sponsored by State College in conjunction with the Secretary of State.

This assembly is held in the state capitol. Students are sent into both houses of the legislature and mock law-making takes place. The Governor of North Carolina will address the students Saturday morning.

The University debate council is administering Carolina's delegation to this assembly and will provide free transportation for all students who wish to go. State College is providing free lodging for 10 students, the Dialectic senate is providing lodging for two students, and a representation of from fifteen to twenty students is expected.

Any student interested in attending this assembly should be in the Grail Room next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. At that time certain students will be assigned to the House and Senate, and lots will be drawn to determine the ten students who receive free lodging.

The Assembly starts Friday morning and lasts through Saturday at 4 o'clock. Students wishing to go should contact Bill Crisp, president of the Debate council, or attend the meeting to be held next Tuesday night. Students who make this trip will be excused from all classes.

Debate Tourney Slated This Month

Carolina will have its annual intramural debate tournament the latter part of this month, Rene Bernard, Executive Secretary of the Debate Council and Chairman of tournament activities, announced.

There will be five rounds of debating beginning Monday night, November 27. The organization whose team wins the most debates during these five rounds will be declared the winner of the tournament and will receive a gold cup reward. Winners will also be sent to one of the inter-collegiate debate contests in the spring.

The question to be debated will be resolved: "That the minimum voting age requirement should be lowered to 18 years by the several states."

Six minutes will be granted each debater for his constructive speech and four minutes for rebuttal. Faculty members will serve as judges.

Any team entering will be required to debate both sides of this question. A team may be composed of two or more persons, but no person shall be allowed to debate on two different teams.

This is the third annual intramural debate tournament that has been held at Carolina. Last year CICA's team won the finals and Kitty Kelly and Betsy Ross Howe were the debaters.

Letters will be sent to various organizations with competing details of the debate tourney.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Julia Graves

Graveside services for Mrs. Julia Graves, 88, final survivor of a long line of university professors of the past century, were held in the Chapel Hill cemetery Thursday at 3 p. m.

Mrs. Graves, mother of Louis Graves, editor of the Chapel Hill weekly, and Mrs. Mary Graves Rees, also of Chapel Hill, died here Tuesday night following a brief illness at her home.

Although born in Warren county, she came to Chapel Hill with her father, Prof. John deBerniere Hooper, when the University reopened in 1875. She was the widow of the late Dr. Ralph Henry Graves, professor of Mathematics here at the time of his death in 1889.

Rule Nominations Must Be Submitted Before November 16

In accepting the report of its elections committee the Student Legislature set the date for the general campus elections as November 30. At this time the student body will vote for a speaker of the legislature, editor of the Tar Heel, editor of the Yackety Yack and other campus posts.

The elections committee announced that all nominations must be in its hands on or before November 16. It was also agreed that an open meeting will be held on the night of November 29, at which time all major candidates will be given an opportunity to speak to the student body.

The Legislature also amended the elections bill to allow for additional expenditures for candidates for the student body vice-presidency and secretary-treasureship. These candidates

The Tar Heel apologizes to the Student party for announcing that Marine Bill McKee is a candidate for the Student Council. McKee is running for Marine representative to the Student Legislature under the Student party banner.

Donations Mount For Campus War Chest Campaign

No Official Count Made Yet

Have you made your contribution? Is the appeal being made on the Carolina campus today. Although no official reports have been tabulated as yet, dorm chairmen report a whole hearted cooperation from the student body in the giant campus war chest drive which began Wednesday.

Each student is asked to contribute at least two dollars toward the drive which will be received by the World Student Service Fund and the National War Fund in the proportions he designates. That is, a contribution can be sent entirely to either one of the two organizations or 75% of the amount going to the WSSF and the remainder to the NFS.

The contributions received for the National War Fund will be sent to USO clubs and community chests while money collected for WSSF will be used for students in war torn countries.

On the eve of the campaign a mass meeting consisting of representatives from the barracks and representatives from men and women's dorm as well as sororities and fraternities was held in Graham Memorial. Miss Eliza Coffin, representative worker on WSSF all over the nation explained the need for the student funds. She told how war prisoners were being sent to school, refugees were receiving aid in war torn countries and interned students were obtaining food and materials from college students' contributions. Miss Coffin supplemented her talk with actual photographs. Short talks were also made by Bill Potent, YMCA representative and Kay Ferrell, YWCA representative. Posters and folders were given to the solicitors for distribution.

Sorority Rushing Gets Underway

At a meeting of all the girls interested in sororities held at 5:00 p. m. in Gerrard Hall Monday Mary Payne Jett, President of Pan-Hellenic Council made announcements concerning the rushing period which began this week.

Informal rushing when sorority members visited rushees in their dormitories was held Tuesday through Friday from 2:00 p. m. until 6:00 p. m. After the mass meeting Monday rushees were invited to visit the sorority chapter houses on Sunday and Monday afternoons from 3:30 until 6:30 p. m. Invitation parties are scheduled for the coming week. The last party of each sorority will be given on Sunday, Nov. 19.

Rushees will fill out preference blanks on the day following the indication parties in the office of the Dean of Women between 9:00 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. and will receive bids in their dormitories on Tuesday, Nov. 21. Since the rushing began with the mass meeting on Monday and will continue through the period of formal rushing except during hours of sorority parties.

Yack Collection For Pictures Starts Monday

As announced previously in the Tar Heel all students are being asked to pay a picture fee of $1.25 to Yackety Yack, a fee which was formerly collected by class organizations. Money from the town students will be collected Monday through Wednesday at a table in the YMCA.

All town students are urged to pay the fee now since the publication of the Yack depends upon the collection of fees for both graduates and undergraduates.

Appointments for Yack pictures will be made starting next week and only those students who have paid the picture fee will be called for appointments in dormitories and for sorority and fraternity members has been set for Friday. All money must be turned in to the collectors by that time. Students are urged to cooperate fully since the class sections of the Yack cannot be organized until all the money has been collected.

Cookie Marrett, acting editor of the Yackety Yack has asked that individual organizations assume the responsibility of informing the Yack office of important activities in order that the Yack photographers will be able to cover them.

Pharmacy Dances Set for Next Week

Freddy Johnson will play for the annual dance honoring pharmacy graduates Friday and Saturday nights, November 17 and 18. Admission to these final formals to be given at Woolen Gymnasium from nine until twelve midnight will be by bid only.

Persons wishing to attend the dances are asked to contact Doc Dameron, Phi Delta Chi house, or Lucy Lee Kennedy, McIver Dorm, phone 8066.

Playmakers Need Technical Assistance

There will be a short meeting for all people who wish to take part in the technical operations of Thornton Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth" next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Those interested in writing, scenery construction, makeup, costuming and stage-crew work are asked to attend this meeting which is to be held at the Playmaker theatre.
