

Intramural Managers To Hold Meeting Tonight

White Phantoms To Face Their Major Opponents This Week

Cagers To Meet Wake Forest Five Tomorrow Night

By Irvin Smallwood
The White Phantom basketball team returns to active duty after two weeks in Woolen gym tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, entertaining the Demon Deacons from Wake Forest in a Southern conference encounter. It is the first time Carolina and Wake Forest have met in two years.

Coach (Lt.) Ben Carnevale's quint will be gunning for its sixth win in seven starts in the tilt tonight, and will be playing the first of three games on deck this week. Others to be faced include Maryland and South Carolina, and both battles will be on the local courts. South Carolina handed the Tar Heels their first defeat of the season in Columbia December 16. Same Line-up to Start

It is anticipated that the same line-up that has started the previous games this season will get the initial nod tomorrow night, but John Dillon, who has been showing some marked improvement in recent practices, may be in the lineup in place of Bill Allen. Don Anderson, Manny Alvarez and Paxton are also pushing the first-stringers, Jim Jordan, Ira Norfolk, Jim Garvin and Clive Thompson.

Carolina's hardwood performers got down to serious business immediately after returning from Christmas leaves last Thursday, and practice sessions—both of the scrimmage and "skull" nature—were held Sunday afternoon.

Although he hasn't broken into the starting lineup as yet, Don Anderson, sole returning letterman, continues to be among the leading Phantom scorers. Also staying high on the list of point-getters are Thompson, Alvarez and Jordan. Too, Jordan had been looking good under the basket on rebound work.

Play Maryland Friday

Included on the list of victims of the Carolina attack to date are Ft. Bragg, Camp Butler, High Point College, Catawba and Morris Field of Charlotte. Ft. Bragg and Camp Butler were both rated as being among the strongest service teams in this section. The only setback marring the White Phantom record came at the hands of the Gamecocks of South Carolina, but Coach Carnevale's boys will be fighting hard to square things in the clash here Saturday night. Maryland plays here Friday night.

The Duke Blue Devils, who nosed out Carolina in the finals of the Southern conference tourney last season, will not compete with the Tar Heels until January 20, and the second tussle is slated to be reeled off February 14 in the final game of the season in Durham. The Southern loop playoffs will be held in Raleigh March 1, 2, 3.

Graham Stars As Pre-Flight Trims Duke Five, 58-43

All-American Ace Scores 27 Points

Carolina Pre-Flight—and Otto Graham—again proved too much for Duke university last Friday night as the Cloudbuster hardwood crew toppled the Blue Devil quint, 58-43, in Woolen gym.

Graham, who starred in the Pre-Flight gridiron triumph over the Sugar Bowl Duke eleven, accounted personally for 27 points as he turned in his best performance of the year and showing his All-American ability.

Pre-Flight led by only 29-22 at half-time, but during the waning minutes of play, the Cloudbusters pulled ahead of the faltering Devils. Duke missed several good chances during the game to take the lead, but just as the Blue Devils threatened, Pre-Flight got hot and pulled out in front.

On Friday night the Pre-Flight cagers journey to Raleigh to tangle with an N. C. State five and Camp Butler will travel to Chapel Hill on Saturday night to tackle with the once-beaten Cloudbusters. The soldiers incidentally handed the Cadets their lone loss.

FORWARD—Jim Jordan will start at one of the forward posts tomorrow night when Carolina takes on Wake Forest. Jordan is second highest scorer on the team. The lanky NROTC cager is a handy man under the basket.

Jayvee Outfit Tangles With Defense Plant

Mathismen Battle Carrboro Court Foe

Carolina's once-beaten Jayvee squad engages a strong court team from the National Munitions of Carrboro at 7 o'clock tomorrow night in a prelude tussle to the Carolina-Wake Forest contest.

The ineligibility of Clyde King to participate in varsity contests had added needed strength to the "B" crew. King played first string on the varsity five until the Southern conference ruled the diamond star ineligible because of professional contract.

Ray Walters will pair with King to fill the guard slots. Walters has appeared in only one contest this season, but the football and baseball star is a veteran of two seasons on the hardwood.

John Gregory and Huse will be at the forward positions, and, Dewey Bowman will start at center.

Athletic Awards Are Given To 40 Players During Fall Quarter

Former TH Boss Leaves Hill For Active Duty

Orville Campbell, editor of the Daily Tar Heel in 1941 and 1942 who has been connected with the Pre-Flight school Public Relations office here for two years, has received orders to report for duty in the Southwest Pacific. He left Chapel Hill yesterday.

Campbell, who is a Yeoman in the Navy, hails from Hickory. Before coming to Carolina his junior year, he attended Mars Hill junior college.

Athletic Council Takes Its First Step In Football Reconversion, Hires Snavely

The big news that the Tar Heel sports department has been eager to break blew up when there was no Tar Heel, but there is the old saying "better late than never."

Signing of a five-year contract with Carl Snavely, former successful Tar Heel coach for two years and mentor of the Cornell gridsters for the past nine years, by the Athletic Association on December 20 is the big news which has been a rumor around Chapel Hill now almost since the same time last year.

The board of trustees is to pass on the decision in a meeting this month. Snavely has been heartily recommended by the athletic council, Dean of Administration R. B. House stated. The trustee clique is considered only a matter of formality. As for salary figures, the trustees have passed on a $12,000 per year coaching maximum. However, the exact figure at which Snavely will begin with has not been revealed.

Snavely's contract with Cornell expires March of this year. However, Cornell has already released Snavely, the final arrangements having been made over the telephone from Chapel Hill to Ithaca, N. Y.

Just when Snavely will take over his new position has not been released by the athletic department as the trustee decision on the matter this month is considered a requisite for further planning. Snavely will be here for spring drills, the athletic council stated if the trustees pass the council decision.

Strictly a business man when it comes to football, Snavely is recognized for his unique team organization. He stresses the importance of plenty of rest for his trainees, watching in particular for fatigue among the players. He was one of the first coaches to advocate the use of films as an aid to classroom football. Though he produces from his single wing with variations some tricky offense, Snavely's main dish is defense.

Snavely while here at Carolina in 1934 and 1935 produced the first Tar Heel All-American in George Barkly and almost saw his '35 squad travel out Pasadena way to play in the Rose Bowl, but Duke shattered Tar Heel hopes with a 25-0 shellacking. His '34 club lost only to Tennessee.

The Duke-Carolina classic promises to be quite an affair with Snavely around because Wallace Wade and Snavely would rather match football wits than play in a thousand bowl games.

Invitation Indoor Track Meet To Be Staged On February 10

Carolina, Cadets To Sponsor Event

Announcements of an Invitation Indoor Track Meet, sponsored jointly by the University of North Carolina and the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School, to be held in Woolen Gymnasium here February 10, have been sent to approximately 200 colleges and universities and to all service camps in this section.

This meet is the wartime successor to the Southern Conference Indoor Games, held annually at the University since 1929, and long recognized as the indoor track classic of the South.

The meet is open by invitation only to varsity and freshman college athletes and to men in any branch of the armed services. There will be but one division of competition, which will include the following events:

Sixty-yard dash, 880-yard run, two-mile run, high jump, broad-jump, one-mile relay, pole vault, 70-yard high hurdles, 70-yard low hurdles, 440-yard run, one-mile run, shot put, and the sprint medley relay.

Last winter a powerful team from the United States Naval Academy walked off with first place honors with 46 points. The Navy Pre-Flight School and the University of North Carolina, co-sponsors, trailed in second and third places with 38 and 26½ points, respectively.

Five new meet records were set last winter when 14 college teams and more than 150 college and service stars competed. Officials are expecting another fast field this year.

Medical Lecture

The public is cordially invited to attend a lecture by Dr. D. T. Smith of Duke Medical School on the "Newer Concepts in Tuberculosis." The lecture is sponsored by Sigma Xi and is slated for 8 o'clock Thursday night.

War Board

Phi Gams Win Tag Football Championship

Phi Delta Theta Beaten In Finals

Billy Edwards paced the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity to a 19-6 triumph over a strong Phi Delta Theta squad in the finals of intramural touch football tourney.

The contest was a hard fought battle all the way, but the Phi Gammas grabbed a decided lead after the half and were never threatened.

The running and passing of Edwards featured the play, while Ted Haigler played a valuable role in the victory.

Bob Koonts and Dave Nichols were the big threats for Phi Delta, but the strong defensive performance that the Phi Gams offered hindered the usual impressive offensive play of the losers.

Phi Gamma Delta reached the finals by whipping Kappa Sigma and Med School No. 2, while Phi Delta Theta advanced to the play-offs by defeating Med School No. 3 and S. A. A.

By copping the touch football crown, the Phi Gams lead in the point system, but several events are still on the mural program before the cup is awarded.

The line-ups in the finals were as follows:

Phi Gams	Phi Deltas
Holcombe	Mallard
Bissette	Rowe
Holt	George
Lathrop	Kerns
Stockwell	Koonts
Haigler	Winslow
Edwards	Nichols

Substitutes: Phi Deltas: Waldern and Al Williams.

Quinlan Whipping Squad Into Shape For Duke Scrap Team Drills Hard For Opening Bout

Carolina's wrestling squad resumed heavy work last week immediately following Christmas leave, and the first meet of the season—slated to be with Duke—is not quite two weeks away. The local matmen will tangle with the Blue Devils January 12, but it hasn't been decided whether it will be here or at Durham.

Approximately 30 boys are out for the mat sport, and the prospects are promising, although only one man who wrestled last year, Laurie Hooper, is back this season. He is in the unlimited class.

Coach Chuck Quinlan, who is in his 19th year of coaching at Carolina, plans to take his team to Annapolis for a match and also to Newport News for a clash with a navy school there. The Camp Lejeune marines may be added to the slate later in the season, but no definite meet has been arranged.

Practices are held each afternoon from 6 to 7 o'clock, and Coach Quinlan has requested that all boys on the roster be present for all drills. Roll is being taken every day, and boys who are not there will be turned in as absent from class.

In the next issue. This team will be chosen by the team managers... later in the season a similar team for hockey will be announced. With a hockey season drawing to a successful close, intramural coed basketball will open up soon. A large field of participants is expected to take part in the cage tourney.

A large field of entries are expected to flow into the intramural office during the coming week and court play will open on Monday night, January 8.

The contests will be played at 7 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights with seven games being whipped off each night. Suitable arrangements will be made on the nights of varsity games.

Many teams have been practicing regularly for the last two weeks and the total number of fraternities, dorms, town units or other groups entering the play may reach 45 or 50. A student living in a certain frat house or dormitory will not be allowed to participate on any other team. The town boys are encouraged to organize independent clubs to compete in the mural program.

Some of the rules expected to be enforced by the intramural officials are that only students with a medical rating will be able to engage in the sport. No students who are being excused from physical education will be allowed to participate. Also no member of either the "A" or "B" basketball squads is eligible.

The purpose of the meeting of all intramural managers tonight is to discuss eligibility rules, system of refereeing, review of basketball rules and other obstacles that generally need comment before such a program is launched. Plans for the boxing, wrestling and volley ball mural events will also be mapped out. The managers will undertake the difficult task of choosing an all-campus football team at tonight's important session in Woolen gym.

Daniels Hall, composed of V-12 trainees copped the basketball crown last year by defeating Old West outfit in the finals by the score of 40-36.

Teams that entered play last year and are expected to compete this season are: Town All-Stars, Old East, Bainbridge Aces, Whitehead No. 1 and Pettigrew.

Boxing Team Hopes To Equal Record Of Last Year's Ringmen

Candidates for the UNC boxing team, which is piloted by Joe Murnick, are back at work after a short layoff as the first match of the season draws near.

A meet sometime in the middle of January is anticipated, but no announcement of the schedule has been made.

Captain Walter Kraus in the only returning letterman back from last seasons unbeaten team, but Coach Murnick has several veteran ringmen on hand and the boxing mentor is pointing for another perfect campaign.

Workouts are held daily and according to reports the ringmen are making rapid progress.

Debate Council, Squad Will Meet

The Debate squad will meet Tuesday evening at 7 in the Grail Room. Final plans for the intramural tournament, postponed until the last week in January, will be made at that time.

Following the Council meeting, there will be a meeting of the Debate squad at 7:30. At this meeting a squad member will be elected to the Council. The members of the squad will also be notified of the planned forensic activities for the 1945 debate season. All interested students are urged to attend this squad meeting.
