

Frolics Break Silence Period With Dance

Johnson Featured In Event Tonight

After enduring a one-year silence period on account of wartime difficulties, the annual May Frolics is staging a comeback on campus today with a party scheduled for this afternoon and highlighted with a dance in the Woman's Gym tonight, announced Bill McKenzie, president of the organization.

Freddie Johnson and his orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion. The party will be held at Sparrow's Meadow from 2 to 6 o'clock.

The May Frolics and the German Club are said to be the two largest dance organizations in the South. On this campus the Frolics is made up of seven fraternities: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Chi, Zeta Psi and Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Have 11 Sponsors

A representative of each of these seven organizations, the four officers of the club and their dates will form the traditional figure, and each of the girls in the figure will act as sponsors.

In past years the Frolics has gained the reputation of sponsoring some of the best dances at Carolina. Before the war and before the dance restriction bill was passed in the student legislature the Frolics brought to the campus such top-notch bands as Tommy Dorsey and Shep Fields. Dorsey played in '42 and was the last big-timer that played for the dances.

Was Week-End Event

It was the custom in the past to set aside the complete week-end for the May Frolics. The event began with the first dance on Friday night as a primer. Then on Saturday afternoon it was the tradition of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity to hold a beer party for the group. Saturday night saw another dance and the week-end was concluded Sunday morning with a rum and waffle party sponsored by the Kappa Sigma fraternity on Sunday morning.

In 1942 the German Club sponsored the May Frolics because the club could not get organized and last year the group did not even attempt to hold their dances.

Plans had been made this year to hold the May Frolics in the usual pre-war manner but V-12 restrictions and other difficulties limited the affair to a one-day run.

As could be expected of an active person, Bill has hobbies, habits and interests by the dozen. Such things as playing tennis, dancing, drumming, singing and sleeping come as second nature with him. He was business manager of Sound and Fury this year and has done some jitterbugging and bit parts. He is at his happiest when reviewing his collection of lamps, signs, paddles and pictures, and his prize possession is a life-size photo of Betty Grable, a choice collector's item.

The Head Cheerleader likes most kinds of music, depending on his mood. He praises Tommy Dorsey's band, which has turned out such Stubbs-favorites as "Well, Git It!" and "Opus Number One." Bill's best-liked dreamy tune is "Good-night Sweetheart," but he registers a low Crossley when it comes to opera or "too much heavy stuff."

Enjoying strictly American dishes, Bill can't get enough of ice cream or hamburgers. Other American hankerings jibe with his loud coats, flamboyant ties, and a good bit of party life. Bill refuses to reveal his nickname, but says he gets kidded a lot for trailing his camera-ace roommate, Baxter Sapp, in hopes of being included in any snapshots.

You're likely to meet Bill Stubbs almost anywhere on campus, but his frequent haunts are the "Y," the Pines, the Battle Seat, and the Arboretum, where he has been known to take long walks on sunny afternoons. (Favorite phone numbers—8066 and 8061).

As the Most-Interesting-Character-on-Campus, Bill nominates Sam Lapedis of Washington, D. C. Seriously, Bill names Dean "Pete" Parker, now serving with the American Red Cross Field Service, as one of the greatest guys in the world, and as his political ideal Bill has Bob Burleigh, president of the 1943 senior class at UNC, who was in the Golden Fleece, the Grail, head of Graham Memorial, and also a Phi Delt.

Bill has a brother in the Naval Air Corps, and expects to be called into the Merchant Marine Cadet Corps sometime soon.

ment among my friends, who are inclined to think that I am going a little off the deep end, but otherwise it has not caused too much disturbance. In another three weeks I hope to be able to see part of what the artist saw. Anyway, I decided each month to rent a picture that I am not familiar with to condition myself for greater artistic appreciation. I can only hope that all my experiments will not be quite so painful and so difficult to assimilate.

Anyone interested in undergoing a similar experiment may rent a painting of their choice at Person Hall for twenty-five cents per month. The pictures can be exchanged at the end of each month for others, or they may be kept indefinitely.
