

Elections To Fill Six Vacancies Slated Today

Changes May Come In IFC Rush Rules

Rushing rules for fraternities will have some major changes by this time next week, as the Interfraternity council committee, appointed to study the fallacies in the present plan, have issued suggestions for alterations which will be acted upon this week.

Bill Crisp Searches For CPU Speakers

Word received here this week indicates that the Carolina Political Union, adjourned for the summer, is making extensive preparations for presenting the campus with a variety of prominent speakers during 1945-46.

Bill Crisp, chairman of the Union, is now on a trip the purpose of which is to secure commitments from men and women of national prominence to come to Carolina this fall and next winter. Crisp is in Washington and New York. He will journey to Atlanta and New Orleans later in the summer.

Crisp has already secured appointments in Washington and New York with several potential speakers, including Clare Booth Luce, Henry Wallace, Harold Ickes, Harry Byrd, Eric Johnson, Sidney Hillman and Phillip Murray of the CIO.

The Carolina Political Union is celebrating this year its tenth anniversary. The Union was inaugurated in the winter of 1936. During the past ten years the Union has had the honor of presenting some of the most famous public figures in the nation to Chapel Hill audiences. Its most applauded success was its presentation of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address from Kenan stadium four years ago. It presented President Truman, then Senator Truman, in 1941.

The Union is composed of twenty-five University students and one faculty member. When it reconvenes in September, there will be eleven memberships open. This is the highest number of vacancies in its history. The Union lost nine members in 1945's graduating class.

Membership is accessible only to those who show adequate enlightenment and interest in subjects of local, state, national and international politics. Rigid examination, both by a membership committee and the Union itself, must be passed before students are admitted. Applications are available at all times at the "Y" office.

According to chairman Crisp, the Union's regular Sunday night discussion meetings will resume around the middle of September.

English Teachers Close Session This Wednesday

Final week of the English Institute, which has been in session here since the beginning of the summer, will feature a variety of programs concerning proposed changes in subject matter and preparation of prospective teachers of English.

Heads and representatives of college English departments will meet with the Institute Tuesday, July 24, to consider changes in certification requirements.

Tuesday's conference will also formulate recommendations to be presented to the North Carolina College Conference this fall. Dr. George R. Coffman, head of the University English department, will preside.

Continuing the session, an interim report on teaching load will be considered by the English teachers' central committee Wednesday, July 25. Action on this report will be followed by a sustained effort on the part of the English teachers' organization to make better teaching possible through time budgeting. Presiding at the Wednesday meeting will be Miss Frances Haywood, Mount Gilead, chairman of the central committee.

See page three for story of the victory of Carolina's swimming team at Tarboro last weekend.

President of the IFC, Walt Brinkley, pointed out that the committee's suggestions were just that, and no changes have been made as yet. However, when the rules do get their new face they will be effective immediately.

The council will convene in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial Thursday night at 7 o'clock to hear the opinion of various representative fraternities. The members of the IFC are selected from each active fraternity on the campus, and the opinion of the respective fraternities will be voiced by these representations.

One of the highlights of the new rushing program under consideration is the plan of a board of control or judicial body to expedite regulation and prosecution of rules constituted by the council.

In the suggestions, there are stipulations which in effect break silence. Fraternity members will be able to be host to new men in their houses, but no new man will be able to partake of alcoholic beverages on fraternity property or with fraternity men. No new men will be allowed to reside in fraternity houses, but they will be able to eat in fraternity house dining halls.

The last stipulation will probably be contested by the greater per cent of the fraternities which do not have their dining halls in operation. Those who have their halls in operation feel the necessity of having as many men eat in their houses as possible in order to meet expenses. It will be a case of the fraternities operating kitchens against the ones which do not operate dining facilities.

Breaking a long time tradition, the IFC suggestions which resulted from committee investigation call for coeds and girls assisting in rushing on Saturday night of a three day rush period which begins on Friday and extends through Sunday. Two nights, Friday and Saturday, rushees may be served refreshments.

The above mentioned suggestions, Brinkley pointed out, may or may not pass the final vote of the council. "They are suggestions and any practice of the above before final passage and approval of the council will be in violation of the present IFC regulations," Brinkley stated.

No Change Or Summer Rules In Coed Halls

A meeting of the Woman's Honor Council was held Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock to discuss and vote on the rules for the summer session. It was decided at the meeting to leave the rules for women students as they have been for the past summer sessions.

All women students will be in their respective dormitories at 11:00 on week nights and 12:00 on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights. There will be no late permission given on week-ends and one hour late permission will be granted for student activities during the week. However, permission must be requested of the house president at least one hour before the closing time of the dormitory. Late permission will be given to women students as a whole on special occasions.

Yack Staff To Meet In Graham Memorial

Yack Editor Fred Flagler is asking that all students interested in working on next year's Yackety Yack meet in the Roland Parker Lounge in Graham Memorial Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

If you've had any experience in lay-out, advertising, photography or writing please attend this meeting in order that the staff positions may be filled and work on the Yack may get underway at once.

Election Lineup

CANDIDATE	PARTY	POSITION	CONSTITUENCY
Bob Fahey	Double Endorsed	CAA Vice-Presidency	Student Body
Banks Mebane	University	Debate Council	Student Body
Les Cook	Student	Debate Council	Student Body
Jack Lackey	University	Legislature	Town Students
Bill McCarthy	Student	Legislature	Town Students
Jane Cromartie	University	Legislature	Town Students
Coline Smith	Student	Legislature	Town Students
Bert Dillon	University	Honor Council	Men Students
Frank Ross	Student	Honor Council	Men Students
Tex Kindred	University	Legislature	Marines
Chuck Heath	Student	Legislature	Marines

University Official Sides With Janitors

By Tom Corpening

"The University is fighting on the side of the janitors; not against them," pointed out a high member of the Administration after reading the heading over the janitors' story: "University Janitors Haven't Given Up Pay Boost Fight."

"We are glad to see the janitors organize and bring their grievances to us," he said, "and we encourage them to do so. We fought for them at the last legislature meeting. As a result, as the Tar Heel pointed out, the old war bonus was consolidated with the old base rate of 37½ cents an hour, to raise the janitors' wages to 45 cents an hour."

One of the janitors, disturbed over the heading, called on the Administration to say, "We aren't fighting anybody. We don't want any fight. We came to you to talk about a raise." Despite the unity of purpose, the janitors want a 50-cent minimum.

The personnel policy of the Consolidated University of North Carolina is stated on a poster now on display in many places on the campus: All staff employees are encouraged to confer with administrative officers of their institution about suggestions, criticisms, and grievances that might lead to happier, healthier, or more profitable working and living conditions.

The janitors held a meeting Monday night in Carrboro to discuss new developments in their situation.

J. A. Williams, speaking for the Administration, said, "The law provides that an emergency salary will be paid if there is a sufficient surplus in the State General Fund. The University Administration has been waiting for the State Budget Bureau in Raleigh to release details as to how this plan will be carried out." Mr. Williams stated that nothing definite could be said until then. The release is expected late this week or next week.

Since it is extremely likely that there will be a surplus in the Treasury, all state employees earning less than $3600 (this includes the janitors and most of the faculty) can be fairly sure of receiving the new war bonus. However, the janitors are asking the University for a flat 50-cent minimum. If granted a 50-cent minimum now, the janitors would be receiving both a raise and a war bonus, if and when

See UNIVERSITY, page 4.

Drama Booklet Pays Tribute To Work Of Late Dr. Koch

The second in the series of publications celebrating the University of North Carolina's Sesquicentennial is "Pioneering a People's Theatre," which completes 17 volumes of the Carolina Play-Book, a quarterly periodical founded and edited by the late Dr. Frederick H. Koch, famed director of the University's Carolina Playmakers.

Just off the press, "Pioneering a People's Theatre," commemorates the work of Dr. Koch and evaluates the activities of the Playmakers over a period of 26 years. It was guest-edited by Dr. Archibald Henderson, well-known mathematician, historian, biographer, and staunch friend of the Playmakers since their beginning.

The Sesquicentennial publications are part of a celebration program being directed by Dr. L. R. Wilson. The Playmaker volume was sponsored by the Sesquicentennial Publications Committee in collaboration with the Department of Dramatic Art and the Playmakers.

Authors of feature articles contained in the Sesquicentennial edition of the Play-Book are President Frank P. Graham, Paul Green, Playmaker Director Samuel Selden, and Dr. George R. Coffman, head of the English Department, as well as reprints from articles by Dr. Koch.

Mrs. Marian Fitz-Simons, wife of

DR. F. H. KOCH

Foster Fitz-Simons of the Playmaker staff and a former student of Dr. Koch, has written a history of Playmaker personnel from the beginning.

See DRAMA, page 4.

Dr. Burton Linker, Former Army Colonel, To Address Veterans

Doctor J. Burton Linker of the mathematics department, former Lt. Colonel in the Army, will give a short talk to the University Veterans Association at the regular meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Horace Williams Lounge in Graham Memorial.

Dr. Linker left Carolina at the outbreak of the war and later served with the 96th division in Europe. His talk should be of particular interest to veterans.

A report of the social committee, which has been planning a party to be held sometime early in August, will be given and the matter discussed. The University Veterans Association is open for membership to all veterans of World War II now on the campus. The organization's president, Jim Booth, urges all veterans to attend what promises to be a very interesting meeting.

Dancing Class Being Sponsored Here By Physical Department

A class for non-dancers and dancers who want to improve their technique is being sponsored by the physical education department and taught by Mrs. Sarah Harrison Evatt every Monday and Wednesday nights from 7:15-8:15 on the terrace behind the indoor swimming pool and in the Women's Gym in case of rain.

The class is purely elective and every student who would like to be sure of the basic steps of the waltz, fox trot, rumba, the various combinations of dips and turns, and other steps popular on campus, are invited to take this opportunity to dance, have fun, and meet new people.

People of all ages are enrolled in the class and more are wanted. Toward the later part of the summer it is hoped that the class will become, not so much a period of learning to dance, but a time for informal get-together dances.

Library Microfilm Saves Day For Sgt. Klenz

Microfilm saved the day for Sgt. William Klenz, renowned cellist and former staff member of the University Music Department, who is now stationed in Paris with the job of writing and performing on music programs broadcast to the soldiers of the American Army.

Last March, Sgt. Klenz was asked to play one of his own compositions, but unfortunately, he had left all of his manuscripts in the United States.

Shortly thereafter, Mr. Jan P. Schinhan, of the Music Department, received a letter from Mr. Klenz urgently requesting that the manuscript of his composition "Te Deum," which Mr. Klenz had left in the care of Mr. Schinhan, be sent to him immediately. However, music in manuscript of that size could not be sent to Europe by mail; so the only way out was to put the music on microfilm.

Mr. Schinhan made frantic inquiries at Foister's and at commercial agencies in Durham, but all in vain. As a last resort, he approached the Physics department and from there he was directed to the University Library.

Library

Mr. G. F. Shepherd, head librarian, told Mr. Schinhan of the Library's microfilm laboratory and agreed to film Mr. Klenz's composition.

In less than an hour, Mr. Shepherd had the entire manuscript of some forty-odd pages on microfilm. Soon after, the film was on its way to Europe, sent air mail and registered for a total of forty-six cents.

The film, once received by Sgt.

Klenz, was enlarged, printed on paper, and a short while later performed by a chorus and orchestra.

Mr. Shepherd, in speaking of the library's microfilm laboratory, said that at present there are more calls for filming material than can be handled, but in the future, if and when the laboratory is expanded, he hopes to be able to do work for other libraries.

Sgt. Klenz has been widely applauded by the people of Europe, particularly by the British. Every composition that Klenz has ever written has been performed over the BBC. Among the numerous cello recitals and concerts which Klenz has given while overseas were two concerts at Cambridge, and a Thanksgiving concert at Westminster Abbey.

Three Voting Booths Open For Election

Report On Returns At GM Lounge

By Robert Morrison

Six student offices will be filled Tuesday by student elections. Ballots will be cast in the YMCA and Kenan Dormitory precincts from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and in Swain Hall during Navy chow hours, 12:30 to 1:30 and 6:30 to 7:30.

Members of the elections committee of the student legislature will begin tabulation returns as soon as all Swain Hall ballots have been cast. Counting will be under the direction of Walt Brinkley, chairman of the election committee. The Tar Heel, in conjunction with the Graham Memorial Student Union, will present its customary elections party in the main lounge of Graham Memorial from 9:30 o'clock Tuesday night until all returns are in and the official results are announced. The entire student body and faculty are invited to the elections party. Under the direction of Graham Memorial Manager Harvey White, a public address system will be set up to broadcast the returns as the ballots are counted.

According to Roy Thompson, chairman of the Student Party, and Allan Pannill, chairman of the University Party, the two political parties have double-endorsed Bob Fahey for vice-president of the Carolina Athletic Association. Last week the University Party had presented Bob Fahey to the student body as a candidate for the presidency of the CAA, but a decision of the student legislature placed Del Leatherman, formerly vice-president of the CAA, into the presidency.

Leatherman claimed the presidency when the former president, Bill Ward, was transferred from the V-12 Unit to the V-5 Pre-Flight School. A compromise between the legislature's two factions made Leatherman president and Fahey vice-president. Fahey is running without opposition in Tuesday's race.

The only office which will be filled by a vote of the entire student body is that of representative to the Debate Council, left vacant when George M. Lilley, a Marine, was transferred from Carolina. Banks Mebane, a civilian, is running on the University Party platform against Les Cook, a Marine, on the Student Party platform.

All students living in the town district will cast ballots for town representative to the student legislature. The University Party has presented Jack Lackey, a civilian and member of Chi Psi fraternity, to compete with Bill McCarthy, also a civilian and a

See ELECTIONS, page 4.

Di To Discuss President Order Of Succession

President Truman's suggestion that the order of succession to the United States' Presidency be changed, will be the topic of the evening as the Dialectic Senate discusses this question of top current interest next Wednesday night in the Di Hall on the third floor of New East at 9 o'clock.

This week the Di discussed rights and responsibilities of the editor of the Tar Heel, and a crowd of seventy students and faculty members attended the meeting which developed into a free-for-all debate between Editor Bob Morrison and Legislature Speaker Doug Hunt.

The importance of deciding the successor to the Presidency in the event of Harry Truman's death cannot be overestimated. It is clearly illustrated by the fact that when President Truman and Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes left the United States for Europe and the Big Three Conference they left separately lest an accident take both the President and the next man in line.

Discussion will be opened after Senator Banks Mebane moves the adoption of the bill on the docket for the evening with a short factual address. Students interested in taking part in the discussion are urged to attend.