

Snavelly's Men At Camp Lee This Afternoon

Just This And That . . .

The footballers get their first real battle test today in the clash with the unknown Camp Lee eleven. The Army squad is made up of some good performers, and unless the Tar Heels watch their step they may find themselves in hot water indeed. But Coach Snavelly and his crew should bring home a win if nothing unexpected happens.

We were glad to see that Jack Kirkland was chosen as head cheerleader for the coming season. Jack is working hard to build up his squad, and the cheerleading team should be in tip top shape for the collegiate opener here next week-end. Don't forget, it's our responsibility to give the local grid lads all the support we can muster, so be out there giving your best for the Tar Heels.

We also get encouraging news that the University band is coming along fast. The membership has been increased considerably during the past week or two, but according to reports, there is still a need for more musicians. There is just one more week left before the Tech game, so if you can play an instrument and are interested, by all means get in touch with Director Earl Slocum in Hill Music building the first of the week.

The baseball situation is running right on to the bitter end a photofinish. Detroit is hanging on to a slim one-game lead in the American loop, but even though things look hopeless, Washington still has that one chance of winning. The Senators have four games left, three after yesterday, and the Tigers have six yet to play. Says NROTC George Robertson, rabid Sen fan who incidentally hails from the capital city, "If Buddy Lewis had just gotten back from the service in time to get in better shape, things would have been a lot different." We can't vouch for the veracity of that, but one thing we can say, had the Senators had a little more hitting in the Detroit series they could have clinched the pennant. We're still pulling for the Senators, but it looks like they are gone now . . . Carolina's Snuffy Stirnweiss had three for four as the Yankees beat Washington Thursday. The former Tar Heel baseball man hit a single, a double and a home run.

The Cardinals have pulled to within two games of the league-leading Chicago in the National circuit, and with each team having eight games yet to play, it can go either way. We have been supporting the Cubs all the way, but it looks like Billy Southworth's rising Cards may overtake Charley Grims' surprising Cubs . . . It gets closer every day, but we still hope for a Chicago-Washington series!

Softball Tourney Ends First Round

Wide Interest Displayed In Mural Event Means Heated Race For Tournament Crown

After being halted for two days because of rainy weather, the intramural softball tournament finally got going last Wednesday afternoon as eight hopeful teams tasted bitter defeat in the opening round of the popular mural sport.

The interest shown in the first few days of play served notice that a heated race is expected in the tourney before it draws to end in November.

Zeta Psi, Leathernecks, Phi Kappa Sigma, Ringers, Smith, Delta Sigma Pi, Kappa Alpha and 3rd and 4th companies survived the first round contests.

Walt James, director of intramurals, announced that the games scheduled for last Monday and Tuesday would be played on the same days next week.

In League A the Leathernecks and Zeta Psi are in a deadlock for the loop lead after registering first round wins. Zeta Psi displayed power in downing Pi Kappa Alpha by the score of 13-3. Gene Thomas was on the mound for the winners and set the PIKA's down with only three hits. The Zetas made 10 errors, while the losers committed four costly mishaps. Hackney paced the hitting for the winners with two hits. Connelly pitched beautiful ball for the losers in allowing only four scattered hits but weak support spelled defeat.

The Leathernecks topped a combined Vance-Battle-Pettigrew outfit by an overwhelming score of 19-2. Isaacs tossed the Marines in the win column and held the VPB's scoreless for four frames. Hank and Johnson were the big guns for the winners by collecting four hits apiece. Taylor and Sprint slapped two hits each for the dorm outfit.

Sigma Chi fell before a strong Ringers club by the count of 8-6 in a hard fought League B battle. Arnez out-pitched Bowden in one of the top games of the first round. Hagy, playing centerfield for the Ringers, rapped out two home runs to gain hitting honors. Tabboutt also cracked a four bagger, while Carnevale slapped out two singles during the contest.

Phi Kappa Sigma and Smith, pace setters in League C came through with easy victories. The Phi Kaps blasted out a 14 to 3 victory over the Two Brews. Tony Jones allowed only four hits, while his teammates reached Burns for 16 safeties. Frank Martin had a perfect day at bat with four for four, while Stanback and Ludwig got a couple of knocks each. Hayne, Ballance, Bell and Kennedy collected the only hits off Jones.

Smith, along with their ace hurler Bob Fahey, shutout Steele dormitory in a free scoring tilt, 19-0. Fahey allowed only two bingles, while his crew rapped on Callhann to rack up an impressive win. Fahey, Curran, Lyons, Peterson and Bauman were sluggers for the winners. Cansler got four for four for Steele.

Phi Delta Theta dropped a 14-10 contest to the 1st and 2nd Co. Jack Davies faced the ROTC team and issued 10 free passes during the fracas. Davies led the losers at bat with three for four. Don George hit a couple safeties. Dungey and Fontanell starred for the winners.

Delta Sigma Pi and Kappa Alpha won on forfeits.

Attention: Members Of Monogram Club

All members of the Monogram Club who have received award certificates but who have not yet been presented with the awards have been asked to get in touch with Jack Davies, club president, immediately if they desire to get a sweater instead of the medal heretofore given. No meeting of the club is scheduled for next week.

'Fish' Has Been Handy Man Around Track For 24 Years

By Hardinge Menzies

"Fish," as he is called by all the folks down at the track field house, has been the general "handy man" around there for the past twenty-four years. Dressed in an apron with a cap cocked on one side of his head, "Fish" said he had about worked around all the sports but had probably devoted most of his time to track and cross country.

And although he keeps the field house in good condition, he is mostly a "rubbin'" man. Fish says that he's about "the best in rubbin'." He learned his trade from Dr. Lawson and Coach Quinlan and there are many boys today who rather have "Fish" to rub them down than any trainer.

Fish is a native of Chapel Hill, and, besides working down at the field house every day, he helps coach Bob Fetzter around his home. In his spare time, he says he just "messes" around his house.

When asked some of the star cross country men he had known, Fish said he remembered Jimmie Davis, Dave Morrison, Julian McKenzie, Mike Wise and Tom Crockett. He also recalls his day when McGuer was here . . . he still holds the javelin record. Then there was Charlie Farmer, back in 1930 . . . a sprinter, whom Fish would rub down every day.

Concerning the present track and cross country prospects, Fish said: "The track team looks well from what we got around here . . . pretty good cross country." Of course the war took all the good boys away and now the track team is building up again from ground work. Old Fish seems to like "all the sports" . . . and from the experience he's had with so many of them he ought to know the sports field pretty well.

In the Fetzter field house, where Fish is the general supervisor, there is complete equipment of lockers, showers, rub down tables, a whirl pool bath for sprained ankles, etc., and a complete first aid equipment box.

Everybody who has any connections with the sports department, especially in track, knows and trusts "Fish" and it's certain that his unwavering help influences the process of U.N.C.'s track and cross country teams.

Sports Staff Meets Monday Afternoon

There will be an important meeting of the Tar Heel sports staff in the Tar Heel office Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It is requested that all former members of the staff report at this time, and it is also asked that any new boys on the campus interested in writing sports attend. Beats will be assigned then. If you are unable to be at this meeting, get in touch with Irwin Smallwood as soon as possible.

Wanted: Seventy-five boys to work at the Georgia Tech football game as ushers and gate men. Those interested are directed to see Pete Mullis in room 306 of Woollen gym at the earliest convenience.

Wanted: Boys to sell programs at the Georgia Tech football game. It is important that the boys interested get in touch with Marion Alexander at the University News Bureau in Bynum hall as soon as possible.

Navy Riflemen Top Duke Unit

The newly-formed Carolina NROTC rifle team defeated the Duke university NROTC crew in a dual match last Saturday by the score of 874 to 868. The match was carried on through the postal system.

Carolina's 874 points were out of a possible total of 1,000, and although this is not a record-breaking score, it is a good mark. Turning in winning scores for the local lads, who are supervised by Lt. (j.g.) Marker and Gunner's Mate 2/C Joe Greich, were A. H. Toothman, Log Whaley, Blanton Belk, C. Bushong and R. E. Comet. Toothman was the high scorer in the match, recording a mark of 183 points out of a perfect 200.

Other members of the team include John Twohey, R. J. Bryan, D. F. Ryder and P. E. Ludwig. These boys shoot regularly, and all are showing improvement daily. Other matches are on deck for the Tar Heel riflemen, the next of which is to be next week with Rice Institute of Texas. According to Lieutenant Marker, the local Navy men are slated to compete with Oklahoma September 29, and Washington university November 17.

PingPong Champs Must Be Decided

All ping pong champions of fraternities and dormitories must be decided by October 5 in order to enter the intramural tourney, it has been announced by Walt James, director of mural activities. Winners are to be obtained in both singles and doubles.

The tournament is now being planned and these individual champs from each frat or dorm will compete for the title of the University champion.

It was also announced that the horseshoe champion of the fraternities and dorms should be decided by the same date for the contest in that sport to be held in the same way as ping pong. Both singles and doubles winners will be entered in the tournament.

James pointed out yesterday that all fraternities and dormitories without facilities for the sports should contact him immediately and he would make arrangements for the use of horseshoe pits or ping pong tables of someone else.

Swimmers To Begin Practices Monday

With 10 lettermen and six former squadmen expected to report, Coach Willis Casey will open his fall swimming practices Monday afternoon. In addition two returning war veterans who were members of the frosh team of 1941 will be back.

Bill Ward, who was a member of the Blue Dolphin crew until he entered Pre-Flight school last June, may be back with the Tar Heel swimmers in November, according to Coach Casey, who also stated yesterday that other prospects were in sight. Veterans of the 1941 team back are Ed Shumate and Alex Wilson.

Tar Heels Facing Tough Army Club In First Game

Bill Voris, Bill Walker, Bob Oliphant And Tom Gorman To Start In Backfield

By Irwin Smallwood

Today is D-Day for Coach Snavelly's Tar Heel football men, as they go to Petersburg, Virginia, to battle the Camp Lee Army eleven in the opening game of the season. Kickoff is slated to be at 2 p.m.

The entire squad, varsity and Jay-vee alike, is being taken on the trip, and it will be the first real appearance of the Tar Heels under actual game conditions this season. According to the Camp Lee newspaper the game will be witnessed by some 12,000 army onlookers in the enlarged stands of the Camp football field. The game is also slated to be broadcast over station CLEE in Petersburg.

This tilt is an official game, and although Coach Snavelly and his lads will definitely be out to win it, the Tar Heels will likely be working very hard to get their offense and defense in the best possible order in view of the collegiate opener here in Kenan stadium next Saturday with powerful Georgia Tech. However, should the locals get their minds too much on that Tech game, things will be rough indeed, for the Camp Lee eleven boasts some rugged players.

The lineup for Camp Lee includes two men who formerly performed for Brown university, one who played with Notre Dame, one who played with VMI, one who played with Arkansas, and several others of college calibre. Standouts for the soldiers are Paul Shu, All-Southern man from VMI, who is at tailback, Bill Berta, 205-pound end from Notre Dame, and Jay Fidler, 220-pound tackle and ex-captain at Brown.

Carolina has a big job on its hands today, that of getting keyed up to a peak for one day against Camp Lee and then again switching its thoughts back to Georgia Tech immediately. And to do this job, Coach Snavelly has tentatively picked a backfield of Bill Voris, Bob Oliphant, Bill Walker and Tom Gorman to start. However, two more almost complete backfield will be on hand and likely see a lot of action.

The line for the affair will see Max Cooke and Chuck Ellison at the flank positions, with a possible change to Bob Cox in place of Cooke at the last minute; Leon Szafaryn or Ted Hazelwood and Stan Marczyk at the tackles; Ed Golding and Ed Twohey at the guards; and Burl Bevers at center.

Coach Snavelly is expected to send his boys through a last minute drill at Camp Lee today before the game, the team having been there since last night. The locals left Chapel Hill for the Virginia city yesterday about noon.

Several of the promising men on the squad have been slowed up a little with minor injuries during the past week or so, but the only real casualty left behind was Del Leatherman, a monogram guard who was hurt in practice earlier in the week. Two other men have been lost, though, because of a new Marine rule against participation in extracurricular activities until a man has been in the unit one term. This pair is Ed Mead, 200-pound first relief at end, and Ralph Widell, reserve guard.

Nonetheless, the loss of Mead was Pictured above are the Tar Heel flankers slated to start in the season opener today at Camp Lee. Both of these lads have shown up very well in practices and have good possibilities for the coming season. (News Bureau photos.)

offset by the reporting of Michael Rupish, ex-all-state high school end in West Virginia. Rupish, a veteran of the army and the Battle of Midway, and he played with the Third Air Force football team in Hawaii for two years.

Ed McGee, another veteran who has entered school at Carolina, is also adding to the offensive punch of the Tar Heel aggregation at the fullback spot. McGee, of Hamlet, was in the paratroopers and was wounded twice, and during his army career turned in quite a few enviable boxing performances.

Said the coed to her roommate, who was getting ready for her date: "If I'm still studying when you get back, wake me up."
