Farewell Assembly Given Pre-Flights At Memorial Hall

By Billy Kornegay

Many North Carolina dignitaries bade farewell to the Pre-Flight at Memorial Hall on Thursday night. Chancellor Robert B. House presided and Lt.-Governor L. Y. Ballantine, President Frank P. Graham, Honorable Josephus Daniels, Captain E. E. Hazlett and Commander James Raugh spoke. Chaplain Alexander of the Pre-Flight made the invocation and the benediction.

Chancellor House said that Navy

Hall was to be preserved in honor of the Pre-Flight after they left. The Monogram Club will be guardian of the hall, where Pre-Flight trophies and awards will be preserved.

President Graham, who gave the first farewell talk said, "You have been a member of the University family for the past three years. 1700 of the fittest men in America have come here and thousands of them have left here to go to the battle fronts of the war. It was the Pre-Flight boys such as you that made way for the land forces to capture strategic islands and lands in this war."

Lt. Gov. Ballantine said that North

Carolina is proud to have had a part in the war effort and in furnishing training grounds for all types of armed forces.

"It is my hope that you go forth with the same zeal and determination in the post-war world for peace as you went forward for her in the winning of the war."

Ronald Gurney, program committee head, will give a brief report on the original Selective Service Act in which the clause pertaining to job priority was written by Congress. The Union has several veterans among its present enrollment and a lively debate should be forthcoming. The question of Labor rights involved in this rule by Congress is an explosive one which has already begun showing itself in various national industries.

All veterans on campus who were former union members, are especially invited to attend this meeting.

CPU Plans First Fall Open Forum Tomorrow Night

The Carolina Political Union will open its doors to the public tomorrow night for the first roundtable discussion of its tenth anniversary year.

Chairman Bill Crisp, just returned from vacation and a speaker-securing trip to Washington and New York, will preside over the meeting. Topic of the session will be: "Should returning veterans be given super-seniority in receiving jobs?"

UNC Veterans Elect Officers; Delegation Visits Governor

Governor Gregg Cherry told a delegation of ten Carolina veterans Thursday that he will use his influence to procure revision of the present ruling that surplus war property can be sold only to veterans who have at least one-half interest in some business.

He said he will contact the state's Senators and Representatives requesting the change. The delegation was sent by the University Veterans Association.

A special meeting of the University Veterans Association is called for next Monday, where the delegation, which included Bill Smith, president; John Fowler, vice-president; Dewey Dorsett, chairman; Veteran Affairs Committee; Lloyd Gardner; and six other

IFC Votes To End Rushing On Sunday

The Interfraternity Council voted by a large majority to end the rushing period Sunday night, at a special meeting Thursday called by President Walt Brinkley. The bill was previously defeated at the regular meeting on Monday.

The new ruling provides that there shall be a silence period last night from 8:00 to 1:00 Sunday afternoon. There is also a silence from 5:00 to 7:00 Sunday. The shaking up period will last from 7:00 to 12:00 Sunday night, at which time no refreshments may be served and no girls are allowed in the houses.

The IFC dance which was originally scheduled for October 12 was moved to October 19. A move that voting on the council be carried on by fraternities instead of delegates was brought up at Monday's meeting and the delegates are taking it up with the members of their respective fraternities. A vote will be taken at this Monday's meeting.

Socialism Topic Of First Thipa Forum; Glenn Moderates

The Tar Heel Institute of Public Affairs sponsored student forum discussed "Capitalism vs Socialism In the United States" Wednesday in its first meeting. Vincent Williams and Roy Thompson defended capitalism, and Harrison Tenney and Bill Crisp supported socialism.

Thompson, leading for capitalism, said that socialism is weak politically because it takes away the political liberty in the system. Tenney retaliated for socialism, stating that there is no political liberty in a society in which capitalists control the majority of the avenues of information.

The question of getting jeeps for the veterans was brought up at last Monday's meeting of UVA, when John T. Fowler was elected vice-president; Dewey Dorsett, chairman of the Veteran Affairs Committee; J. B. Spillman, chairman of the Social Committee; Bob Hamburger, chairman of the Housing Committee; and Jack Lackey, publicity director. The members also instructed Blount Stewart, UVA Secretary, to wire Representative Rankin, chairman of the House Veteran Affairs Committee, requesting an increase in monthly subsistence allotment for single and married men in college under the G.I. Bill.

Capacity Crowd To See Opening Grid Encounter

Fourteenth Tilt In Carolina-Tech Series Scheduled For Kenan Stadium At 2:30

By Irwin Smallwood

Carolina's 1945 football eleven officially launches its collegiate season here this afternoon when Coach Carl Snavely's lads lock horns with a highly-favored Georgia Tech aggregation in Kenan stadium at 2:30 o'clock. A capacity crowd of more than 20,000 is expected to witness the all-important encounter.

The battle will be the 14th in the Carolina-Tech series, and the Tar Heels will be seeking their fourth triumph. The locals have downed the Engineers from down in the deep south only three times in 13 attempts, but two of these three wins came while the Tar Heels were under the tutelage of the present coach—Carl Snavely.

It will be a matter of a mystery team of Carolina pitted against a vaunted team from Tech already rated by the experts as one of the best squads in the south. Tech has some 25 men returning from the roster last season, and their big line, coupled with a combination of flashy backs is expected to reign triumphantly in most of southern and southeastern circles. However, the Tar Heels are not counted out yet by any means, and to put it in the words of returning head Coach Snavely: "If what we hear about Tech is true, we should lose, but the score is still 0-0."

From the time Coach Snavely and his assistants, Russ Murphrey and Max Reed, arrived on the campus for work July 1, the practice field here has been a scene of great activity, and much water has gone under the bridge since then. The boys worked and worked hard, under the blazing sun of July and August and all, and four full-game scrimmages were held even before the season was officially opened last week with Camp Lee. These scrimmage games were played with Pre-Flight, N. C. State, and PDC of Greensboro, two being with Pre-Flight.

During those hard days of drilling, all the candidates, which included only six returning lettermen, were looked over well, and all were given a chance to show what they could do. The scrimmage games showed up weaknesses, plenty of them, but practice sessions, held six days a week since September 3, have constantly been turned over to the ironing out of mistakes made in these tilts.

It has been a hard road for the Tar Heel mentor and his assistants, which now include Charley Jamerson, Stretch Howell and Peanut Doak, but they have done a good job and win or lose, it can well be said that they have put in a maximum of hard work to build a winning team.

The Tar Heels opened the season last week with a 6-0 win over a potent Camp Lee eleven, and this week has been turned over to the correcting of mistakes made in that game and running against the 'T' to be used by the Georgia Tech crew. Several lineup changes have been made for the game today, including the possible inserting of a new GI, Mike Rubish, into the starting eleven after but one week of drills.

Tentatively set to take the field for the opening kickoff this afternoon are: See TAR HEELS, page 3.
